BRITISH FORCES PROGRESS IN PALESTINE

ITALIANS HOLD BACK AUSTRO-GERMAN ADVANCE—ANOTHER LONDON AIR RAID

BRITISH TAKE BEERSHEBA IN PALESTINE

Concentration of German Troops on Paschendale Ridge is Dispersed—Norway Protest to Germany.

London, Nov. 2.—The city of Beersheba has been taken by the British troops operating in Palestine. Lying fifty miles southeast of Gaza on the River Gaza and near the foot of the hill country, the operations against this point have been of a protracted nature. It is known that valuable assistance has been given to the British by the Arabs, but the dispatch does not give any information regarding the flight of the enemy.

French Front.

Paris, Nov. 2.—Raider parties of French troops have penetrated into the German lines at several points and brought back many prisoners. An attack was made by the Germans northwest of Rheims, which was repulsed.

British Front.

London, Nov. 2.—The Germans had a great concentration of troops ready in Paschendale, presumably for an attack. British aviators reported this immediately when our artillery got the range to a nicety. The effect of our fire dispersed the enemy in all directions, inflicting severe losses.

Norway Protest.

Norway has sent a note to Berlin about the sinking of Norwegian ships in the convoy attacked in the North Sea.

Italian Front.

London, Nov. 2.—The latest dispatches received from Italy are to the effect that the Italian troops have successfully checked the advance of the Austro-German forces seven miles west of Udine.

STEAMER ALTAI BEEN WRECKED IN ALASKA

Seattle Steamer Went Ashore in a Blinding Snowstorm Yesterday Afternoon—All Passengers are Safe.

Yesterday afternoon about 1:20 the steamer Altai went ashore one mile west of Point Augusta, which lies between Sitka and Juneau in Alaska. The steamer took the ground in a blinding snowstorm, when it was impossible to see two yards ahead. There was a strong northwest wind blowing, and a fairly heavy sea running. The back of the vessel was broken in, the fire-room and her hull was badly holed just abaft of the main rigging. The battering of the heavy seas have wrecked all her upper works to pieces, and her foremast is standing fifteen feet out of line. The vessel will probably become a total loss, unless salvage operations are taken in hand immediately.

Luckily, there have been no accidents among the passengers or crew. The vessel has been left without any watchman in the meantime, but the crew will endeavor to return later to salvage the baggage and other freight that they can handle. If it is found possible they will stand by in the meantime, but the full extent of the damage can be ascertained. The Altai belongs to the Border Line Transport Co., of Seattle.

SHORTAGE OF SUGAR IN CANADA IS REAL

Toronto, Nov. 1.—Food Controller Hanna declared here today that the sugar shortage in Canada is real and soon will result in drastic restrictions if the situation does not improve. One evidence of this shortage is the fact that eleven cars of sugar consigned to an eastern port for shipment to Newfoundland were stopped yesterday and held in this country.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Trade this evening at their rooms, Second Avenue. All members are specially requested to be present. This is important.

PORT EDWARD SHINGLE MILL IS BLOWN DOWN

One of the results of the gale which has been sweeping over the Skeena district for the last few days is the destruction of the shingle mill at Port Edward. What was left of the machinery is now at the bottom of the bay and the mill building has been floating to and fro in the harbor of Port Edward. Constructed about four years ago, chiefly upon hopes of the future, this mill has seen different changes in management, and for the past two years, has stood idle. The teredoos have been busy on the piling during this time, and with no one in attendance to repair the ravages of the weather, etc., the weakened piling gave way before the gale a few days ago.

The strong tides running in Porpoise harbor, together with the high winds, have broken up all that remained of the mill premises and the different parts of the building are scattered all over the harbor at high water mark.

THE SCHOOL CONCERT

In addition to being an artistic success, the concert put on by the pupils on Wednesday evening at the Borden Street School has also been successful financially. The total receipts from all sources were $197.25, expenses $6.40, leaving $190.85 net balance, which will be expended on the prisoners of war and in sending Christmas cheer to the Rupert boys in the Trenches.

Prof. Alex. Graham Bell The inventor of the telephone, who says some day people may be able to see as well as hear over the telephone wire.

WORDS HEARD BY MAN 5,000 MILES AWAY

St. Catharines, Ont., Nov. 1.—In a speech last night to the Canadian Club here, Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, said:

"If the telephone has reached its extreme limits, what next? I cannot say what next, but I can tell you of something that happened in Washington about three weeks ago. The telephone has been applied to wireless. A man in Arlington, just across the river from Washington, talked with a man on the Eiffel Tower in Paris by telephone without wires. But that is not all. A man in Honolulu heard the conversation. From Honolulu to the Eiffel Tower is 8,000 miles, one-third of the circumference of the globe. Does it mean that we can talk from any part of the world to another and without wires?"

SLIDES AND WASHOUTS DELAY G.T.P. TRAINS

Train Due Last Night not Yet in—Another Washout Near Sockeyes at Mile 15.

While little information of a definite nature can be got regarding the state of affairs up the line, it appears that the slide at Kwinitsa has been a more serious one than was at first apparent. Yesterday afternoon it was hoped that the line would be cleared in time to let the trains from the east get in and to permit of the train which left here yesterday get past for the east. However, up till 1 p. m. today, the train had not pulled into Prince Rupert. Arrangements were then being made to get boats sent out to the scene of the block to convey the passengers to the city. It is said that there are about forty passengers on the train for the steamer Prince Rupert. The vessel ought to have sailed last night at midnight, but she is still here awaiting the arrival of the passengers from the east. She will leave immediately the launches arrive with them.

In addition to the slides at Kwinitsa, there is also another washout about fifteen miles from here. The heavy rains of the past week have converted the rivulets in the mountains into swollen torrents, which have done quite a bit of damage.

KING'S CHAMBERLAIN TRADES IN CONTRABAND

Conjugal Troubles Disclose Secret of Storehouse for Supplying Germany.

London—From Switzerland comes strange news concerning Prince Adolf von Wrede, Chamberlain to the King of Bavaria. Since last winter, it appears, he has been living in a well-conditioned apartment at Territet with his wife, a wealthy Argentine lady.

As the result of conjugal disputes she recently disclosed certain facts to the police. It seems that for months past people of Territet noticed that great quantities of all kinds of food were constantly delivered at the residence of the Prince. The continuation going and coming of his automobile laden with packing cases, had also been remarked. Subsequent to the quarrel with his wife the Prince left Territet, and later his apartments were raided by the police. It has now transpired that he rented also a chalet near St. Croix, where an enormous quantity of provisions has been discovered. It is stated that the Prince carried on a regular contraband trade. Besides taking goods from Territet to Germany by automobile he had also his vast storehouse in the mountains to draw upon.

An important item in the story is that Prince von Wrede is believed to be the chief of the German espionage in Switzerland. Becoming alarmed he returned to Territet seeking to cross the German frontier in his motor car. He failed in this, and has been arrested. It is said there are other Germans implicated in the affair.

GERMANS MAKE ANOTHER AIR RAID ON LONDON

Eight Persons Killed and Twenty-One Injured—Attack Made by Five Groups of Enemy Aeroplanes.

London, Nov. 2.—Another air raid was made by the Germans upon the city of London last night. In this latest raid eight persons were killed by the falling bombs, and twenty-one were injured. The German aeroplanes tried to get over London in five groups, but their purpose was frustrated by the anti-aircraft gunfire, and the efforts of the British aviators. On the alarm being given, the streets were cleared, and the people, as many, as possible, took shelter in their cellars and basements.

Bombs were dropped in the outskirts of London, and also in the southeastern district over which some of the raiders succeeded in flying for a few minutes.

The raiding squadrons were made up of about thirty machines and this raid is one of the most determined that has yet been made.

A few bombs alighted over Central London, where they did slight damage. Three of the German aeroplanes appeared over that part of the city for an instant, before they were driven off.

GERMANS STILL MAKE SLAVES OF BELGIANS

London—Reuter's Agency has learned from a Belgian official source that it is now confirmed that all the men of Bruges between 14 and 61 years of age are compelled to work for the German army—rich and poor, workmen and professional men are taken without any discrimination. Only teachers, doctors, and priests are spared by the German gendarmes, who organize regular raids to carry out their object. The Comité National d'Alimentation for the province of West Flanders, which works in connection with the Commission of Relief for the re-vegetation of the population, has been ordered to reduce its staff by 75 per cent. in order to release more men for German requirements. The people seized are sent immediately to German works or to works under German control, where they take the place of German laborers, who have been removed elsewhere.

DON'T GET DOWNHEARTED

The reverse which the Italian arms have suffered at the hands of Mackenzien, while serious enough to Italy, is hardly likely in any way to make any great difference in the ultimate ending of the war. The Italian armies have been occupying what may be termed and rightly so, the right wing of the western front. They have been compelled to give ground, through their line being broken at the weakest point, thus giving the Germans an opportunity for their favorite tactics in outflanking. This has compelled the Italians to retire from all the dearly-won territory they have taken from the Austrians since the beginning of the war. But notwithstanding their losses, the Italians are still fighting the Germans.

With their backs to the swollen rivers, unable to cross, thousands of the Italian troops had no other alternative than surrender. This is a loss which is not irreparable. The loss of the guns is a more serious matter. Italy has reserve forces of man power of great strength still, but she has to rely upon her allies for her further supplies of artillery and munitions. British batteries of guns have been operating with the Italian forces for months past, and in the retreat from the Isonzo, it is specifically mentioned in dispatches that these British gun crews have been able to save their guns from capture. The British guns do not number among the hundreds which the German War Office state were captured.

Communication between Italy and France is quick and convenient and it may be taken for granted that the tremendous reserves which the Allies have at their disposal in France at the present moment will be utilized for the assistance of Italy.

Notwithstanding this reverse, Italy is still an active fighting factor. There is no use in rushing to the conclusion that because General Cadorna has lost in a few days that which he has spent so many weary months in attaining, and even more, that Italy is down and out. Neither on the other hand is there much use in overestimating the resources of the Central Empires. The German High Command only last week saw fit to make a large withdrawal on the Riga front. The German lines were shortened. This released a large number of troops. In any case, the Russian line, apparently requires to be held but lightly. By stripping her eastern front, and by Austria withdrawing her troops from Roumania, Mackenzien was enabled to make this great concentration to attack Italy. Pursuing the same tactics, which were successful up to a point in August 1914, in France, by striking an overwhelming blow and a series of them, and following up each victory swiftly before the broken elements of the retiring army had time to reform, Mackenzien has been able to overrun the northern portion of Venetia. That the German forces will be able to invade Italy proportionately as they did France is unlikely. This time the allies are ready and are better supplied than even the Germans at the present with munitions, men and guns.

But on the other hand, the morale of the German troops and of the people at home, will be strengthened by this further proof of the invincibility of the German arms, although at the same time, every time Haig or Petain say the word in Flanders and France, the Germans have to let go their hold of just so much more territory.

On the western front, the position is reassuring. The Allies there have got the Huns on the go. They know that they are outmanned, outnumbered and out-gunned. Man to man, the Germans could have no hope even for a drawn battle. They know they are beaten. Now the United States troops are in the front line trenches, the first of ten million. As the Americans take over more and more of the line as their present numbers increase, this will release more of the French and British troops for other service. The Canadians have been given the job of clearing out the Paschendale ridge, which is the last predominating position left in the Ypres region in the hands of the Germans. Lens is apparently to wait a little longer. There seems to be no cause for apprehension.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The president of the Winnipeg Conservative Association declared the other day that the "Conservative party no longer exists. We are all Unionists." The same old party with another name. Canada wants to get rid of that same old party which has been such an expensive luxury to the Dominion for the past six years. If the Conservative party machine is to dominate the affairs of the Unionists, what better off will Canada be?

How much better off would Prince Rupert be with four aldermen instead of eight?

How much better off will Prince Rupert be with four hundred and sixty feet of waterfront instead of about a thousand feet of mud flat at low tide in Cow Bay?

How much better off would Prince Rupert have been with a Liberal Government at Ottawa during the last six years? The drydock might have been working all the time since its completion.

These are three questions which the electors will have to answer in the near future. They are matters worthy of consideration.

One thing always to be kept in mind is that Prince Rupert drydock and the National Transcontinental Railway were projects of the last Laurier Government; Prince Rupert owes its existence to the far sightedness of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. What did the Borden Government ever do for Prince Rupert anyway? True, they bought a post office site. What else?

The idea that by voting for any one particular candidate at the next election, the winning of the war was going to be assisted, having been exploded, together with the fact that the new name for the old Conservative party is now "Borden Unionist" will help to clarify the situation for the ordinary voter. Wonder how many more camouflages will be put up before the election?

The principle of Union Government in a time of national stress is right and proper. The time of national stress started three years ago, but it took a long time for the Borden Government to talk about it. A distressingly long time!

The Hon. Robert Rogers is said to have refused the nomination as Unionist candidate in Winnipeg. The idea of not being able to do things as he would like apparently does not commend itself to the Hon. "Bob."

TIRPITZ STILL AFTER A PRUSSIAN PEACE

Zurich.—Tirpitz continues his campaign in favor of a Prussian peace. In an interview with Hungarian correspondents he said:—"The first condition of a strong peace is to establish a protectorate over Belgium and the coast of Flanders. The Dual Monarchy needs a strong Germany, and has a vital interest in the abolition of Anglo-French predominance in the Mediterranean. Austrian Slav ambitions are endangering the safety of the Monarchy. Hungary too, needs German support, for the Russian menace may reappear at any time. The Central Powers must hold together till the U-boat decides the war, which it soon will. American help is and will remain mere bluff."

The democratic movement in Hungary causes the Admiral great annoyance, and he frankly tells the Hungarians that the Russian revolution has got on their nerves. Entente statesmen are nothing but dictators. In any case British must be utterly crushed. Tirpitz was a rival of Michaelis for the Chancellorship, and the whole militarist and reactionary bloc are very active in Switzerland. Many competent critics think that a decisive political coup may be attempted by the military party to silence the Reichstag.

EXEMPTION TRIBUNALS.

Exemption Boards have been chosen in such a way as to make them absolutely independent and removed from all influence. There are over 1,250 boards throughout the country, each composed of two men, one appointed by the county judge in the district concerned and one selected by a joint committee of Parliament. Being familiar with local conditions where they sit, the members are well-fitted to appreciate such reasons for exemption as are put before them by men called up.

Exemption will be granted to those who can establish that it is in the national interest that they remain in civilian life. This is for the Exemption Board to decide after having received full information in each case.

The grounds on which exemption may be claimed (which are similar to the grounds recognized in Great Britain and the United States) are as follows:—

- That it is expedient in the national interest that the man should instead of being employed in Military Service, be engaged in other work in which he is habitually engaged.
- That it is expedient in the national interest that the man should instead of being employed in Military Service, be engaged in other work in which he wishes to be engaged and for which he has special qualifications.
- That it is expedient in the national interest that, instead of being employed in Military Service, he should continue to be educated or trained for any work for which he is then being educated and trained.
- That serious hardship would ensue, if the man were placed on active service, owing to his exceptional financial or business obligations or domestic position.
- Ill health or infirmity.
- That he conscientiously objects to the undertaking of combatant service and is prohibited from doing so by tenets and articles of faith, in effect on the sixth day of July, 1917, of any organized religious denomination existing and well recognized in Canada at such date, and to which he in good faith belongs.
- That he should be exempt because disfranchised under the War Time Election Act.

No Claim for Exemption should be put forward unless one or other of these grounds in fact exists, and no loyal citizen should assist in, or allow himself to be made a party to, any Claim for Exemption unless thoroughly satisfied that it is made in good faith.

Exemption may be applied for by the men selected themselves or by their parents, near relatives or employers. Application for exemption must be made on printed forms to be found at every post office, which are to be filled in and left with the postmaster if exemption is desired. The postmaster will forward the form to a Registrar, who will send it to the appropriate Exemption Board. In due time, then, the Applicant will get notice as to when he must present his case before the Board.

USE SILK TO AVOID BLOOD POISONING

New York, Nov. 1.—The fact that troops of the Entente are wearing silk as a protective armor against blood poisoning from wounds, has partly accounted for the huge shipments of American silk fabrics abroad since the beginning of the war, in the opinion of silk trade authorities who have just returned to this country from France. The destination and use of this silk heretofore has been regarded as a trade mystery. It was learned early in the war, according to these authorities, that if soldiers wore silk next to their skin there was less danger from blood poisoning if the silk were driven into the wound than in the case of cotton or wollen fabrics. This discovery resulted in the manufacture of a special silk, prepared by a secret process, which is now generally used by the Allied armies.

Silk also was found to possess, when woven and prepared in a certain way, extraordinary resistance to certain German explosives. Powder bags and cartridge belts also are protected by a non-inflammable silk.

WESTHOLME THEATRE

Virginia Pearson, the famous Southern beauty, is to be the star actress at the Westholme Theatre tonight. She appears in a play entitled "A Tortured Heart." The story of the play is one of particular interest, and with Virginia Pearson in the stellar role, ably supported by Fuller Mellish, the distinguished English Shakespearean actor, a very fine film is the result. There will be also a Pathe Gazette, and a fine comedy.

GERMANS PREPARING TO RETIRE FURTHER

Move Great Hospital Behind Their Lines Miles to the Rear, Expecting Further Loss of Ground.

Amsterdam, November 1.—The Telegraaf here has received advices from the frontier which indicate that the Germans are evidently expecting to make another move to the rear in the immediate future. At Moorseele the Germans have maintained one of their greatest and largest hospitals. Its position close to the front has been a central one and casualties from both north and south have been concentrated there for attention. This hospital station has now been removed many miles rearwards to Waseghem. Previously stationed not far from Gheluelvnt on the Courtrai-Dadesele tramway line, this hospital was most conveniently situated and thousands of wounded were treated here last year. The Flemish sisters have been obliged to follow the hospital to its new location at Waseghem for nursing service.

In the city of Bruges, every householder is compelled to keep a card displayed in the front window stating just how many men and officers can be quartered in the house, and the burghers must take care of the rooms allotted, and the billets must always be ready. The reserves behind the front, are numerous and measures were taken to have them conveyed quickly to Waseghem. With the Allies taking another mile of territory every day almost, the Germans are taking every precaution in the event of their line being pierced and a general retirement necessitated.
