GERMANS LOSE GROUND ON ARRAS FRONT; FRUITLESS ATTACKS WITH GREAT LOSS

FIGHTING SUNDAY RESULTS IN GAINS FOR ALLIES AT ARRAS AND IN OISE VALLEY--GERMANS DIGGING THEMSELVES IN OVER ENTIRE INVADED TERRITORY--COMPARATIVE LULL REIGNS.

(Special to The Daily News)

London, April 1.—The German attacks on the British front in the neighborhood of Arras on Saturday and Sunday have resulted in their complete discomfiture. Instead of making any progress, the British troops have thrown them back from their positions they already held. Four miles East of Arras, where the Huns have been established for so long, the British were successful in driving the German forces back further. The enemy made several fruitless attacks, during which he suffered extremely heavy losses, according to the statement issued by the War Office, before the British drove him out of his own position.

The attacks launched by the Germans were made with extreme violence, but they broke before the steady and steady fire of the British guns. Machine gun and fire wreaked havoc with the attacking lines of the grey coat enemy, while the artillery barrage behind them prevented their return to their own lines or reinforcements coming up to their aid. Several strong attacks were repulsed in this manner, before the British drove forward irresistibly upon the demoralized Germans in a swift counter attack, which attained all that was expected of it.

French Make Gains.
Paris, April 1.—The German attacks are becoming less violent and less numerous, as the French stiffens and refuses to give more. The enemy is now feverishly digging himself in, particularly in the neighborhood of Arras, immediately south of the British line. Fighting was continuous on Saturday with undiminished violence, the German batteries renewing their attacks incessantly, although cut down by the concentrated fire of the French troops. Tremendous destruction was done among the German enemy battalions which were hurled time after time against the French line in a desperate effort to break through. In the Oise valley, however, the French troops refused to give up any ground, and commenced counter-attacks seriously. The village of Moreuil, which was captured by the Germans was regained by the French forces. The fighting was furious in the southern battlefield, where the French also recaptured Ayencourt and Monchel. Considerable ground was also gained in the region of Orvillers. The increased opposition which the French troops have been putting up has already caused the Germans to desist somewhat in throwing away their battalions to the French guns.

Berlin's Reports
Berlin, April 1.—The official statement dealing with the fighting on Saturday says:—On both sides of the Lucebrook, we penetrated the foremost British lines, which were strengthened by French regiments, and took by storm the villages of Aubercourt and Demium.

A report from Headquarters says that there have been local successes between Lucebrook and the Ancre. French counter-attacks both west and south of Montdidier failed with heavy losses. The Laon Cathedral, which has been considerably damaged by the continuous bombardments, is threatened with destruction from the fire of the French guns.

The King at the Front.
London, April 1.—The King left London on Thursday morning, according to an announcement, and after visiting the troops on the Western front, returned to Buckingham Palace last night.

The Food Situation.
Washington, April 1.—The German drive in Picardy has compelled the destruction or abandonment of much of the food supply in the Oise and Aisne districts, adding to the difficulty of the food situation in France.

U. S. Forces Available
Paris, April 1.—General Pershing's entire force has been given into the hands of General Foch, who is to use the men where he desires. More than a hundred thousand intensely trained American troops are available for immediate service.

Paris Again Bombarded
Paris, April 1.—An official note issued last night says that the German long range guns continued during the day to bombard the Paris district. One person was killed and one injured.

Seeing Double
London, April 1.—A German official statement declares that since the offensive began, 70,000 prisoners and 4,100 guns have been taken.

TURKISH FORCE ANNIHILATED IN MESOPOTAMIA

British Capture or Destroy Enemy Troops Northwest of Hit, on Euphrates in Palestine.

(Special to The Daily News)

London, March 30.—The entire Turkish forces in the Hit area in Mesopotamia have been captured or destroyed by the British, the War Office announces. Three thousand prisoners were taken.

The statement follows:—
"On March 26 a highly successful operation was carried out by our troops operating on the Euphrates north west of Hit, which resulted in the capture or destruction of virtually the entire Turkish force in that area. Early in the morning our columns advanced to the attack against Turkish positions about Khan-Baghdadi, 22 miles north west of Hit. Our cavalry made a wide movement around the Turkish positions towards Aleppo, in rear of the enemy.

"By nightfall the enemy's main positions north of Khan-Baghdadi had been carried by assault. Pursuit of the remaining fugitives already has been carried beyond Haditah, 45 miles north-west of Hit.

"Our casualties were slight. Hit is on the Euphrates river, 100 miles west of Baghdad. The town was evacuated by the Turks on March 9. The Turks fell back to Khan-Baghdadi, 22 miles above Hit, before the British columns operating along the Euphrates which has been conducting a strenuous and successful campaign.

A further advance by the British forces which have crossed the Jordan river in Palestine is announced by the War Office. The statement follows:

"Yesterday afternoon our forces east of the Jordan converged on Amman. Our mounted troops are within a mile of the town. (Amman is about 25 miles east of the Jordan). We took 200 prisoners, drove down four enemy airplanes, and heavily bombarded enemy troop trains on the Hedjaz railway. Many direct hits were observed.

"Last night successful raids were carried out between the Jerusalem-Nabulus road and the Jordan valley.

ALLIED LINES STRENGTHENED DURING LULL IN FIGHTING

(Special to The Daily News)

With the British Armies in France, April 1.—The situation today from the viewpoint of the entente, is reported to be more satisfactory. Along the British section of the battlefield last night was comparatively calm.

The British lines have been strengthened rapidly on every quarter along the front, where there is a most heartening display of determination and optimism. In the vicinity of Albert, the Germans today were reported to be digging themselves in along the

U. S. GOVERNMENT IS DOING UTMOST

Washington, March 30.—Mr. Lloyd George's appeal for urgent haste in American troop movements to France, read in New York last night by Lord Reading, British Ambassador to the United States, was viewed here today as a call to the American people.

The British officials already are fully advised as to the situation here and know that the American Government is straining every resource to get men to the front and has confident hopes of placing a force of a million more men in the field during the present year. The untiring enthusiasm of the American people as a whole, officials point out, must back these efforts, however, if they are to be successful.

Ships Needed.
The task of moving men rests as much with the shipbuilders, both employes and employees, as with any government agency. The rate at which troops are expected to go forward can not be stated, for military reasons, but it is largely dependent upon the supposed speed with which ships are turned out.

VANCOUVER LOSES FIFTH HOCKEY GAME

(Special to The Daily News)

Toronto, April 1.—After a slashing defeat of the Toronto team on Friday evening by 8 to 1, the Vancouver Hockey team evened up the score, making two games for each team. The deciding game was played here on Saturday, under Eastern rules, when Toronto won, the score being 2 to 1. This leaves Toronto the victors of the series.

B MEN IN CLASS ONE TO BE CALLED UP

FISHING ARRIVALS

The Tom and Al was in yesterday with 24,000 lbs. halibut: Alameda 3,000 lbs; Roald 2,000; Washington 18,000 lbs; Nakano 12,000 lbs; Deborah 2,000 lbs; Ringleader 1,000 lbs; Margalice 4,000 lbs; Lincoln 12,000 lbs; Troy 4,000 lbs. These catches were all sold yesterday when the price varied from 13c to 17c. The bad weather which has been prevailing outside for the last several days is reflected by the small catches of halibut which the vessels have brought in.

NEW THRUST BETWEEN ARRAS AND LENS IS HALTED AND FAILS TO PROCEED, ALTHOUGH GREAT LOSSES SUFFERED.—WHOLE GERMAN LINE AT A STANDSTILL, WAITING ARRIVAL OF ARTILLERY.

(Special to The Daily News)

Paris, March 31.—Along the battle front of the Oise, there has been a noticeable diminution of fighting during the day, according to a statement issued by the War Office tonight. During eight days, in which it has swept forward over the rolling hills of Picardy, at times like a tidal wave, the enemy's progress has been checked in all but one of the sectors of the front, and there it has been merely creeping for the last two days.

VON HINDENBURG SAYS HE IS FIGHTING FOR A "STRONG GERMAN PEACE"

Amsterdam, March 30.—Chancellor von Hertling has telegraphed to Field-Marshal von Hindenburg expressing "sincere admiration for the splendid deeds of our army," and saying he found lively satisfaction because of the decorations conferred upon Hindenburg and General von Ludendorff by the Kaiser.

"The entire German nation," the message added, "rejoices with me. It looks with well-founded confidence to Your Excellency, knowing that if von Hindenburg and von Ludendorff lead, victory is a necessity."

Replying, Field-Marshal von Hindenburg telegraphed: "The army will not relax until, with God's help, it has won for the homeland the good victory which it needs as the foundation for a future based upon a strong German peace."

front of the battered city of Arras, which, according to the reports sent out by Berlin, netted thousands of prisoners, has apparently come to a stop before Orange Hill, Telegraph Hill, and the Labyrinth, which are the strongholds held by the British in this sector.

Situation Satisfactory.
London, March 31.—(Associated Press).—The situation in the Western front in France today, from the standpoint of the allies, is reported to be very satisfactory. The night has been comparatively quiet along the British front. It is reported that the Germans are digging themselves in from Thiepval to La Boisselle. In the Albert region, the British lines have been strengthened at all points.

The Canadian artillery have been intensely active carrying on a terrific bombardment against the Germans on that front. North of the Somme, we were forced back from Meyiers, but took many prisoners in the counter-attacks. German attacks made upon Deder broke down. The Germans are now twelve miles from Amiens, but their advance has been greatly retarded, and the situation is regarded as hopeful.

Big Guns Slow.

London, March 31.—The Germans are still experiencing great difficulty in bringing up their artillery. Meantime, there is quite an apparent lull in the fighting practically in all sectors, broken only by local counter-attacks made by the allies for specific purposes. This lull on the part of the Germans is probably preceding further attempts of greater intensity, in their endeavor to break through to Paris and to the coast. The driving rainstorms and the high winds that have been prevailing for the last day or two have again turned the roads into mud, and the troops in the field have not even the shelter afforded in trench warfare. The allied line, however, is prepared and ready for the next rush by the Germans, who have half of their strength on the Western front right on the fighting line. They have scoured their whole line at other places for reinforcements, so that they may be strong enough to break through by their overwhelming weight of numbers.

TO ASSIST PRODUCTION.

Already the question of whether the duty shall be removed upon agricultural implements so as to assist greater production of food stuffs in Canada, or not, has caused the Free Trade and Protectionist sections of the Union Government's supporters to clash in the Dominion Parliament. This is one of the questions upon which the West has been practically united for a long time. They feel too keenly the necessity for the introduction of agricultural implements into Canada as cheaply as possible. The payment of a large import duty, over and above the cost of modern machinery is one of the things that the farmer kicks about, and with good cause, too.

If the Canadian farmer could purchase agricultural implements manufactured in Canada at the same price as they are sold for in the United States, it would not matter much what duty the Government imposed, but the trouble is that the Canadian manufacturer charges nearly as much as the United States goods cost with the duty added. This duty on implements is frankly a protective duty, designed so that the Canadian manufacturer may be enabled to soak the Canadian consumer by just the amount of this duty.

The removal of the duty from not only farming implements, but on many other things, which are so necessary for the development of a new country like Canada, is one of the things which will have to be faced, and faced bravely in the immediate future, no matter which or what government might be in power. The continued welfare of the Dominion demands quite a lot of changes in the effete tariff system which is at present in vogue between this country and the United States.

The same argument applies to the coast, which is so much interested in the fishing industry. Take for instance, the duty imposed upon gasoline engines, with which nearly every fishing boat is, and has to be fitted. Marine gasoline engines, and the other fittings for fishing boats are as necessary to the Pacific coast as tractors and agricultural implements are to the prairie farmer. And the Pacific fisherman can vie with the prairie farmer in the production of food stuffs. Cheap production is equally necessary in each case, and the argument for the remission of the duty upon agricultural implements applies with equal force to fishing appliances.

DUKE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

Even the London Times has a correspondent who is protesting against the granting of hereditary titles to the citizens of the various overseas daughter nations of Great Britain. "Does the government realise the very strong feeling existing in Canada, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand against these old world frills being tacked onto their citizens?" the correspondent asks.

This matter has been already voiced in the provincial parliament, and in the House of Commons at Ottawa. The practice of bestowing knighthoods to eminent citizens is not objected to so much. It is when a knight becomes a baronet, and his title becomes perpetual until the family dies out, that is objected to. This particular writer is curious why "earldoms," "marquises," and "dukedom" should not also be created for deserving citizens overseas from the court of St. James, and wonders whether in the year 2,000 there will not be a Lumberman called the Duke of British Columbia, or some big farmer on the prairie dubbed the Marquis of Saskatchewan.

It is a pretty speculation, because if the thing is started at all, the overseas dominions of the empire have as much right to boast of marquises, earls and dukes as they have to the humbler baronets.

It will not do, however, in this twentieth century A.D. The world has been pestered with dukes since the early chapters of Genesis—how many people know of the first duke?—and in this year of enlightenment, there are fewer people who "dearly love a lord," for his lordships sake.

It has to be remembered that a very great number of the emigrants who left the shores of the old countries of Europe did so just to get rid of this "class distinction" which is made so evident in the older established countries. Many of the revered institutions of the "old country" are laughed at by the sturdy democracies which have developed across the oceans, and in many instances, rightly so, too.

The spirit of the age is against the perpetration of such invidious distinctions, and the sooner the powers that be recognise this, the less ridicule they will have to put up with.

AMID ANCIENT SCENES.

The progress of the British arms continues to maintain its rate in the middle East, the cradle of our civilization. East of the Jordan, and West of the Euphrates the contest between the descendants of Jacob and Esau still goes on, and the Edomites are getting the worst of it. From the first time in history, the "land promised to Abraham and our forefathers" as chanted in our churches so often, seems about to come under the domination of one race. From the river of Egypt unto the great river Euphrates, the promised land was to extend, but never even in the time of the glory of Solomon, when ancient Israel attained to the height of her power, did her borders extend so far. It seems as if in these latter days, the ancient prophecy is coming to its fulfillment.

From the time of Semiramis, that vague shadowy figure, dimly outlined at the dawn of history until the blighting influence of the Turk fell upon this land, this was one of the choicest and richest lands known. It was capable of, and did support millions of inhabitants in former ages, and its wealth was famous over the then known world.

With the removal of the corrupting influences of the Turkish administrators, and by the application of modern methods of irrigation and farming, there is no doubt that the waste places will again blossom, and the rough places be made plain. Although there is little information coming through as to the progress of the vast irrigation scheme under the supervision of Sir John Willocks, sufficient is known of the results of what has already been done to justify the belief that the work will be pushed forward with all speed, and extended as far as possible.

With the total destruction of the Turkish forces in the Hit areas of Mesopotamia, the way will be opened for a further advance northwards, and before long it may be that Mesopotamians will be enabled to join hands with the Palestine forces of General Allenby for the advance upon Aleppo.

WHEAT CONSUMPTION MUST STILL BE REDUCED

Washington, March 27.—Further reductions in the consumption of wheat was asked of the public tonight by the food administration that the scant supplies available before the next harvest may be required to meet the needs of the army, domestic consumers, and the Allies. Every American is requested to cut his average ration of wheat by fifty per cent, which would reduce the total monthly normal consumption to 21,000,000 bushels. That gives a ration of not more than one-and-a-half pounds of wheat products weekly for each person. Flour sales will be cut to one-eighth of a barrel for a town customer and to one-quarter of a barrel for a country customer, that retailers' stocks may be distributed to as great a number as possible.

They are skilled men and capable of earning the highest wages, yet many of them have walked out of the ad. alley and others have pushed back their chairs from the Mergenthalers to follow the flag.

Reports made up to November 15, 1917, showed that 1,518 members of the typographical union had enrolled in the army. Enlistments have been much greater during the weeks since that date and no doubt several hundred more have gone to the colors. It is safe to say that 2,000 or more would come nearer the actual figure. Not all the Unions had filed reports when the list was compiled in November. The organization claims only the actual number reported, however, and prints the service flag with 1,518 stars upon it.—Okmulgee Democrat, (Okla.)

The train from the East which was due last evening has been stalled at Kwinitza by another slide. Its arrival has been expected hourly all day, but the soonest it is now expected is between 5 and 6 o'clock. Today's train left on time, as it was expected that the line would be cleared up upon its arrival at Kwinitza. For the next month or so, slides caused by the thaw up river may be looked for.

MARY PICKFORD IN THE ROLE OF REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM

The Westholme Theatre is certain to be crowded this evening, when Mary Pickford appears playing in Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm. The story itself would be a great attraction because it is one of those ones which once read, sticks to the memory like Uncle Tom's Cabin, or the Wide, Wide World, and other household tales. Mary Pickford, however, lends an added attraction because of her own distinctive personality. "I own Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" great because it makes an undying record of the wonderful story. I have enjoyed every minute of this production, because I run around in short dresses, and act the little kid I always wanted to be" says the star herself. "I have seen houses when I was a little girl, just like the home of the aunts I visit in the picture. Everything covered up to keep out the dust and dirt and everything scrupulously clean and I have always wanted to go around and muss things up, and this I did in 'Rebecca'—not because it was in the story, but simply because I felt that my opportunity had come when I could get even for the times I had to wipe my feet on the door mat and be careful not to leave finger marks on the chairs."

Quality First

QUALITY has always been the big outstanding feature of "ROYAL STANDARD FLOUR." This quality has its genesis—its origin in the selection of the golden-ripe Canadian Hard Wheat from which "ROYAL STANDARD" is milled.

QUALITY is the goal sought in all the exacting laboratory tests through which "ROYAL STANDARD" passes at our modern model local mill plant. And it is the same dependable QUALITY that makes—the choice of so many discriminating housewives today. "ROYAL STANDARD" as milled under the Government Regulations is as much superior to other Flours as it was in the past. It is still the Flour de luxe—strong, full-bodied, first in nutrition and body building energy.

ROYAL STANDARD RYE FLOUR.

FOR the housewife who wishes to practice still closer conservation in her bread making the addition of 25 per cent. of "Royal Standard Rye Flour" will produce a delightfully wholesome loaf and correspondingly reduce the amount of other Flour used.

Ask for "Royal Standard" today.

Look for the "Circle V" on every sack.

The cost of meat is the heavy item in the food bill.

Poultry and Eggs will help take the place of meat.

The food that goes to the garbage pail from the average table will provide one-third the feed for a flock of 8 to 10 hens.

Poultry will thrive where vegetables will not grow. The outlay is small. A few minutes a day is all the time required.

A small flock in your back yard will go far to keep you supplied with eggs, broilers and roasters.

How to go about it

BUY eggs for hatching or day-old chicks; borrow or buy a broody hen or an artificial brooder. A slatted packing-box will house the hen and chicks. Feed the chicks bread crumbs soaked in milk and squeezed dry. Feed five times a day, alternating with prepared chick feed, only as much as they will eat up clean. Remember that a hungry chick is a healthy chick.

CAUTION: Chicks must not be fed until at least 48 hours old, and then only sparingly.

If you can, start now with eggs or chicks; if not, arrange at once with the local poultry association for pullets in the fall.
