GERMANS STILL TRYING HARD FOR AMIENS

ALL ATTACKS REPULSED, ALTHOUGH SOME GROUND GIVEN -- BITTER FIGHTING

GERMANS RENEW EFFORTS TO FORCE WAY TO AMIENS

ALL THEIR EFFORTS TO WIDEN THE MONTDIDIER SALIENT FAIL—FIERCE FIGHTING SOUTH OF ALBERT—CANADIAN ARMORED AUTOMOBILES CHARGE AND SCATTER ENEMY FORMATIONS

(Special to The Daily News)

London, April 6.—The Germans concentrated troops early this morning near Albert, when the British artillery took them under fire and wrought great havoc among the close ranks of the enemy. In the neighborhood of Buequoy, and in the Scarpe valley, there was further artillery fighting during the night. Strong attacks were launched against the British line on a wide front extending from Dernancourt, a few miles south of Albert, to Moyenneville, north of the Somme. The chief points of attack were Dernancourt, Menin, Beaumont, Hamel, Briegury and Moyenneville. The Germans were repulsed with heavy loss, except at Dernancourt where they made a slight gain. There have been no attacks south of the Somme so far today.

Attempt Fails.

London, April 6.—The Germans who yesterday resumed their attempts to reach Amiens failed to separate the Anglo-French lines, and are still fighting for their objectives, have, according to an official report, thus far failed to widen the salient, which is necessary for their security. The Teutons, however, made a slight advance at the tip of their salient, on the direct road to Amiens.

One of the features of yesterday's fighting was a charge by Canadian armored automobile units. Armed with sputtering machine guns, they charged directly at the advancing German lines, cutting up and scattering enemy formations, and inflicting great losses. The terrain at the point of this attack lent itself admirably for the operation, the ground being level and comparatively smooth. Only one of the Canadian cars was captured. Both the French and British official statements admit some slight withdrawals southeast of the city of Amiens, but on both sides of the battle front the allied troops have succeeded in repulsing all the German attacks.

THE BOARD OF TRADE AND THAT STEEL PLANT

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade was held last evening in the boardroom, Mr. H. S. Wallace, the president, presiding. The report from the committee appointed to act with a committee of the City Council to obtain finances to compile data of the resources of this district was received, and there was considerable discussion around the matter. Copy of a letter written by Acting Mayor Dybhavn to Premier Borden drawing attention to the resources of the district was read. This gave particulars of the large iron deposits at Copper River, which have already been reported upon by the Canadian Geological Society; Pit Island, Porcher Island and on the Queen Charlottes. These, together with the coal, power and sites available made an almost irresistible argument in favor of this part of the province. Mr. S. E. Praker moved that a follow-up letter be sent to the Premier endorsing the views expressed by the acting mayor, and at the same time asking the intentions of the government in this matter, so that fuller information might be obtained and placed before them for consideration.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY WELCOME OLD MEMBERS BACK FROM OVERSEAS

The open meeting of the St. Andrew's Society held last evening was made the occasion of a very hearty welcome back being extended to two of their old members, Pte. Bob Davie and Pte. Bob Gibson, who returned this week to the city after doing their bit in France. Pte. Breen, who is also paying a visit to Prince Rupert, was also entertained. The evening passed quickly with song and story, in the course of which the presentation of a cheque was made by the members of the Society to Pte. Gibson. Mrs. Gibson is expected to arrive in town today, where they will take up their home again.

The impromptu speeches from the visitors were much enjoyed. Supper was served in the course of the evening and the celebration was kept up until a late hour. The musical talent of St. Andrew's Society members is sufficient in itself to make their open nights the most enjoyable.

NORWAY'S LOSSES

(Special to The Daily News.)
Washington, April 6.—The losses to shipping suffered by Norwegian owners through German ruthlessness, and other war operations, continue to grow. During March 19 ships of some 34,895 tons were lost.

POLICE COMMISSION DISCUSS GAMBLING AND DRUNKENNESS

Yesterday afternoon the delayed meeting of the police commission was held in the City Hall, the mayor presiding. Many matters of considerable importance were discussed among which was the question of gambling, which is reported to be prevalent. The city clerk reported an increase in the number of clubs, there being now seven in town. "There is a lot of talk of gambling in the city," said Commissioner Hill, "and also a lot of talk that the police are doing nothing in the matter." The matter was discussed very fully, and what was gambling and what was not was made clear, and what may be done in a club, and what may not was also defined. "Black-jack" is gambling pure and simple, while poker is allowed. The matter of obtaining search warrants was also gone into.

Drunks.
"At some part of the day, there can be seen men under the influence of liquor on the streets, and sometimes coming out of hotels," said Commissioner Macdonald. "Whisky is being sold right and left in this city, and if any of the hotel men are permitting drunkenness upon their premises, I want to know it." The police will look after this matter closely.

Regarding the quantity of liquor being held in the police office, the inventory of the present stock was at hand, also the previous inventory taken. "There is a lot of talk of liquor being removed from the police office," intimated Commissioner Macdonald, who was informed that certain quantities seized before the coming into effect of the Prohibition Act had been sent to the hospital. "I am prepared to swear," said Chief Vickers, "that since the 28th of January no liquor has been removed from the police office. I carry the key personally." Commissioner Macdonald thereupon moved that the liquor seized prior to the Prohibition Act becoming law be destroyed, the commissioners to be present. This was seconded by Commissioner Hill, and the deed will be perpetrated on Monday evening. This liquor in question consists of several barrels of beer.

SAILORS OF BRITAIN HOSTILE TO GERMANS

Cardiff, April 5.—The attitude of British sailors with regard to Germany's submarine campaign was shown by J. Havelock Wilson, General Secretary of the National Seamen's Union, who, speaking at a meeting of sailors here, asked those who had been torpedoed to stand up. One hundred and seventeen men of the 390 present arose. Mr. Wilson then remarked: "You men who are standing have had some experience with German kultur. Are you prepared to follow the advice of some of our Labor leaders and shake hands with the pirates? All those who are willing to shake hands with the Germans will remain standing."

Not one of the 117 men remained on his feet.

GERMAN FLEET EXPECTED TO MAKE A SALLY

British Navy Ready and Hoping For a Scrap—May Come if the Military Action Favors Germans.

(Special to The Daily News)

London, April 6.—There is a growing feeling among naval men that the German High Seas Fleet will come out for action, should the military developments on the western front in the near future turn further in the favor of the Germans. Nothing could better please the crews and commanders in the British fleet than this long awaited occasion.

The opinion has been expressed in authoritative quarters that it is probably true that some of Germany's capital ships were in the fleet which recently was reported to be cruising off the upper coast of Holland, but the Germans on this occasion were not looking for trouble.

GREAT WASTE OF LOGS IN GETTING SPRUCE ON THE Q. C. ISLANDS

Last evening at the Board of Trade meeting here, the attention of the board was drawn by Mr. W. E. Williams to the wasteful manner in which the logging operations for the getting out of spruce for the Munitions Board were being conducted. At the present time, only spruce trees are being felled, and in the getting at these, for every log got, other two trees were left, and in many cases had to be felled to get the spruce logs out. In a year or two, it would not be worth while logging these limits over again, as many of the standing trees were barked, and as the light got in would die.

Mr. Williams contended that clean logging of the land would save something like $3,000,000 worth of timber on the areas presently being exploited, but that if conditions such as obtain at present continue for a year and a half, when the spruce is expected to be exhausted, logging on these areas, which would provide an industry for the next two generations otherwise, would be a thing of the past.

Mr. Williams was of the opinion that clean logging was the only way to save this large amount of money for the province, and was of opinion that these pulp logs should be utilized. If the present pulp mills on the coast were unable to handle this added output it would in the interests of the national economy which is being preached at this time with such vehemence, that a new mill be established.

Mr. S. E. Parker agreed with Mr. Williams, and moved that the board prepare a memorial calling upon the government to take care of the waste. A committee consisting of Messrs. R. Grant, S. E. Parker and W. E. Williams was appointed to attend to this matter.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY HEAR DR. GRANT ON SCOTTISH HISTORY

There was a large gathering of Scotsmen—and many of their friends who were not—in the St. Andrew's Society's clubrooms last evening, when the Rev. Dr. Grant addressed the meeting, taking as his subject "Some Leaves of Scottish History." Commencing with the illustrated pages of volume one, Dr. Grant had necessarily to turn over the leaves quickly, and could only dwell upon some of the biggest pictures. From the quality of last evening's address, his hearers, and more particularly Scotsmen, would like to hear Dr. Grant further upon the same subject, but taking but one leaf at a time.

Going right back to the years before Christ, successively through the stone, the bronze and iron ages, the evolution of this nation—"a small but prickly one" as one prominent writer resolutely called it—was traced. Pict, Scot, Saxon and Norse blood were intermingled in the make-up of the modern Scot, although the characteristics of each of these ancient races are still evident in the different parts of Scotland to this day.

Dr. Grant was more explicit about the genealogy of the reigning house than of the Scottish people. Philologists connect the Scots with the ancient Scythians, who took their name from Succoth in Palestine. Those who know what happened there can connect that temporary characteristic with the Scythian history, which has been repeated in the Scot of the later centuries.

One of the most interesting leaves which Dr. Grant turned over all too quickly referred to "Liafail" and Tea Tephi and constitutes one of the most romantic and significant episodes, affecting not only Scottish, but British history up to the present time, and for the years to come. Tea Tephi, daughter of Hezekiah, the king of Israel, the "tender twig" spoken of in Holy Writ, brought to Ireland by the prophet Jeremiah, married Eochaid the Heremon there, whence is descended Kenneth McAlpine, the first Scots king to be crowned upon the Stone of Destiny, "Liafail," and now forming part of the coronation chair in Westminster Abbey. This stone, reputed to be Jacob's pillow, fell into the hands of Edward I. "Longshanks." "The hammer of the Scots," as he was proud to call himself, early in the fourteenth century. This self-imposed title, however, was not hereditary, like his kingship.

The brilliant pages referring to Alexander III, who finally ejected the Norse invader at Largs in Ayrshire, and of Wallace and Bruce, who were responsible for Scotland's independence as the result of the climax in 1314, received due attention, but somehow or other, the Stewart pages would not open.

When the union of the two countries came around, Scotland and England became one kingdom each upon an equality, and of their own freewill, although possibly it were best not to look too closely at the political actions leading up to 1703, when the union of the parliaments took place. Although finally resulting for the best, at least up to the present, that is one page, although interesting, Dr. Grant wisely refused to discuss. In fact at this stage, the book was closed.

The worldwide success of Scotsmen in every walk of life, Dr. Grant accounted for by their national history. As a nation, for everything they got, and had, they had had to fight, and oftentimes suffer grievously, even as they are

BOLSHEVIKI LOSE TRACK OF BLACK SEA FLEET

Don't Know Where Their Ships Are, Nor Have They Any Information re the Southern Cities of Russia.

(Special to The Daily News)

London, April 6.—The Bolsheviki government of Russia is anxious to learn the whereabouts of the Black Sea Fleet, which was reported to have moved out of Odessa when that city was captured by the German forces operating there. This is in accordance with a wireless statement sent out from Petrograd on Tuesday.

The statement which is signed by the Navy Department, is as follows: "To Sabin, Fleet Commander Sebastopol:—Wire us position of Black Sea Fleet, especially as concerns Odessa, Nikolaiev, Batoum and Trebizond. We have no recent information as to who is in possession of these places."

According to the last information received of these places, both Odessa and Nikolaiev, with its immense naval yards, were in the possession of the Germans, while Trebizond and Batoum are both in the territory which Lenin and Trotsky agreed to return to the Turkish empire, but which was not agreed to by the people living there. The Russian troops in these districts had already started upon evacuating this territory, and during this process were attacked by the Turkish forces.

BELIEVE AUSTRIA AND U. S. ARE TREATING

(Special to The Daily News)

Zurich, April 6.—Austrian Parliamentary circles believe that negotiations have been opened between President Wilson and Count Czernin, the Austrian Foreign Minister. A telegram from Vienna to the Neuste Nachrichten of Munich says: "Czernin's speech has created a profound impression in Austrian political circles, where it is believed that communications have been opened between Count Czernin and President Wilson, which have already reached further than Count Czernin's statement shows."

fighting today. The result was that the individual Scot was at all times prepared to fight, wherever he went, and he went far, while the poor barren country of three hundred years ago, has now become the "milk cow of the Empire."

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Dr. Grant at the close of his address.

NEW INDUSTRIAL IDEALS

British business ideals are changing their form upon the anvil of war. To make as much money as possible in the shortest possible time was a very common conception of business success before the war. The fortune so won was usually devoted to buying an estate, founding a land-owning family, and gradually rising into the aristocratic caste. Labor's ideal was the largest wage that could be wrung from unwilling employers and an output governed by the knowledge that an overstocked market meant loss of employment.

W. L. Hichens, Chairman of the great Sheffield firm of Cammell, Laird & Co.—which is to the British steel trade what Krupp is to the German—has been putting forward a very different set of industrial principles. In the Watt Anniversary lecture—recently published by Nisbet & Co., London—he told his Scots audience that "no man can serve two masters; he cannot serve himself and the community; for then the kingdom would be divided against itself; he can only serve himself by serving the community, and this is surely the only sound foundation on which industry can rest."

Having thus condemned the get-rich-quick employer and the "ca' canny" employee, Mr. Hichens proceeded to declare his belief that no business is entitled to make unlimited profits; that the principle of the business tax should be retained after the war; that a standard rate of interest should be fixed for the capital invested in each class of trade or industry, and that, after provision for depreciation and reserves, excess profits should go to the State.

Opposed as he is to unlimited profits, Mr. Hichens holds equally strongly the view that "Labor has no more right than Capital to make a corner in its own commodity and hold the community up to ransom." He therefore favors the fixing of wage scales by the employers and employees sitting together, with the right to the State of intervention. He believes that under these conditions a greater output could be had, an eight-hour day could be established "as a first installment to further reductions if experience shows that this is possible consistently with the material requirements of civilized experience," shop conditions could be greatly improved, strikes eliminated, and holidays under pay provided for.

One of the chief means of obtaining these boons would be economies in material and in power. By a comprehensive system of distribution of electric power produced at the pit-mouth a direct saving of 55,000,000 tons of coal a year could be secured, the value of which, combined with reduction in transportation and economy through the utilization of by-products, would make possible a national saving on power alone of £100,000,000 a year.

These are big ideas, and startlingly novel, but business men in Great Britain are soberly discussing them. Canadian business men also will have to discuss them before long. Why not now?—Globe.

PEACE

"There be three things which are too wonderful for me, yea, four which I know not." Agur the son of Jakeh lived too soon. If he had been our contemporary he would have known all about the way of an eagle in the air. But the way of a pacifist with a phrase would have staggered his Oriental calm. Could anything, indeed, be more wonderful than the dogged tenacity with which, for example, two ex-Lord Chancellors keep on repeating "Peace by negotiation" and Socialist enthusiasts cling to the same arrangement of syllables, as if it were the one raft to save a drowning world, when Germany is doing her utmost to demonstrate that the peace which cannot be extorted by stronger methods than those of the Parliamentarian is not worth spelling? Is not the Russian situation today a conclusive argument against the possibility of a settlement being reached, that would give humanity even a colorable imitation of peace, which is not securely based on the material as well as the moral forces of the Allies? In one of La Fontaine's fables an old woodcutter, bowed with age and many sorrows, throws down his burden and calls on Death for relief. Death comes at once and asks what he can do. "Just help me on with my load of faggots," stammers the frightened peasant; "it won't take you a minute." Lenin and Trotsky, staggering under the weight of their own follies, called for Peace and then, like the peasant, tried to excuse themselves. But the Germans, more inexorable than Death, have compelled them to take what they did not want, and the sequel to a "peace by negotiation" is that Russia in Europe can hardly be said to survive as a geographical expression. That is the German "will to peace" which as Hertling has just told the Reichstag, Russia has recognized. It is not calculated to excite admiration even among the strangely constituted people who talk as if Germany had one face turned towards Russia and another towards the Western nations. In the majority it is bound to stiffen the will to resist until a peace can be gained under which Europe and the world may begin a new and brighter chapter in progress and civilization. But how that peace is to be won only the soldier and the sailor can tell us.—G. H.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

Appendicitis Operations Not Always Necessary

Internal Bathing Relieves the Cause
Your physician will tell you that Appendicitis is an "inflamed condition of the little sack called the Appendix at the lower right-hand corner of the Colon or large intestine. By cleansing this Colon with purified warm water by the "J. B. L. Cascade" this sack is cleansed and the inflammation subsides. Hundreds of operations have been avoided by using the warm water cure for Appendicitis. Mr. Jas. McLaughlin, 91 Evanston street, Winnipeg, writes:—
"I had spent over fifty dollars with doctors trying to cure Appendicitis. Finally the doctor said I must go to the hospital at once for an operation. Your advertisement interested me. I bought a "J. B. L. Cascade," which relieved me at once, and am now completely cured. Never felt better in my life; all pain and soreness gone, and I eat and sleep like a boy. I am grateful to Dr. Tyrrell for this wonderful health-giving invention."
95 per cent. of all human ills are caused by accumulated waste in the Colon. Internal Bathing with the "J. B. L. Cascade" keeps this large intestine as free from all waste and as clean as nature demands it should be for perfect health. Ask Cyril H. Orme, Druggist, corner 3rd Ave. and 4th St., for booklet called "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient." It is free. He will also be pleased to show and explain the "J. B. L. Cascade" to you.

FRIENDS THOUGHT HE WOULD DIE

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Conquered Dyspepsia and Restored His Health.

MR. ROBERT NEWTON.

Little Bras d'Or, C. B.
 "I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation for years. I had pain after eating, belching gas, constant headaches, and did not sleep well at night. I lost so much weight—going from 185 pounds to 146 pounds—that I became alarmed and saw several doctors who, however, did me no good. Finally, a friend told me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'.
 In a week, there was improvement. The constipation was corrected; and soon I was free of pain, headaches and that miserable feeling that accompanies Dyspepsia. I continued to take this splendid fruit medicine and now I am well, strong and vigorous". ROBERT NEWTON.

GERMANS PAY TRIBUTE TO BRITISH TROOPS

Amsterdam, April 5.—The semi-official North German Gazette of Berlin pays this tribute to the bravery of the British troops in France:
 "The British soldier defended himself heroically. His batteries fired until our riflemen overpowered the men serving their guns. His infantry stoged their ground firmly and engaged in hand-to-hand fighting. Not only was every fortified base and every trench and every railway embankment defended with the greatest stubbornness, but Britain's brave mercenaries even nestled in the last crumbling places.
 "But all this bravery only contributed to increase the enemy's losses. Truly our opponent has not made victory easy for our troops. The enemy battalions immediately assembled for counter thrusts wherever an opportunity appeared favorable. Even the cavalry threw themselves in resolute onslaughts against our storming battalions to prevent them breaking through, but all in vain."

GERMANS THROW IN NAVAL DIVISIONS

London, April 5.—A hopeful view of the situation is given by The Morning Post's correspondent at the front who telegraphs:
 "The greatest crisis is thought to be over. Fresh troops are coming up steadily and new batteries are laying the foundations of formidable protective barrages.
 "There are signs that the enemy is being pushed for reserves. He has thrown in one of his naval divisions, which he has not done hitherto unless caught short-handed in an exciting situation. The men of this division, according to prisoners, were told that they would not be called upon to fight hard, as they were opposing tired troops who could not make much resistance. They have already learned to their sorrow that British battalions, although tired may fight as well as ever, and the lesson has cost them heavily in casualties."

The cost of meat is the heavy item in the food bill.

Poultry and Eggs will help take the place of meat.

The food that goes to the garbage pail from the average table will provide one-third the feed for a flock of 8 to 10 hens.

Poultry will thrive where vegetables will not grow. The outlay is small. A few minutes a day is all the time required.

A small flock in your back yard will go far to keep you supplied with eggs, broilers and roasters.

INFORMATION BUREAU

THE DOMINION DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,

OTTAWA

HONOURABLE MARTIN BURRELL, Minister.

How to go about it

BUY eggs for hatching or day-old chicks; borrow or buy a broody hen or an artificial brooder. A slatted packing-box will house the hen and chicks. Feed the chicks bread crumbs soaked in milk and squeezed dry. Feed five times a day, alternating with prepared chick feed, only as much as they will eat up clean. Remember that a hungry chick is a healthy chick.

CAUTION: Chicks must not be fed until at least 48 hours old, and then only sparingly.
If you can, start now with eggs or chicks; if not, arrange at once with the local poultry association for pullets in the fall.
