TERRIFIC FIGHTING ON WESTERN FRONT

KEMMEL HILL REPORTED CAPTURED -- BRITISH MAKE GAINS EAST OF AMIENS

BATTLES ARE AGAIN RAGING IN FLANDERS AND PICARDY

HEAVY GERMAN ATTACKS LAUNCHED AGAINST MOUNT KEMMEL AND EAST OF AMIENS--VIGOROUS BRITISH COUNTER ATTACK REGAINS VILLERS-BRETTONEAUX TEN MILES FROM AMIENS

With the British Armies in France, April 25.—Strong German attacks against the Franco-British lines on the northern front are continuing. The chief point of attack in the line from the village of Dranoutre to Kemmel. The enemy's attacks on this sector have been renewed with great force, his objective evidently being the strong natural position on Mount Kemmel. This hill is the dominating feature on the sector west of Messines Ridge, there being no higher point further to the north. The British are holding their ground with great tenacity, and are exacting a great toll in casualties for every attack the enemy makes. The German losses in these continued attacks are equally great with those of last week.

In Picardy.
Vigorous British counter attacks in the vicinity of Villers-Bretonneux, which is only some ten miles due east of Amiens, resulted in the recapture of that village, together with considerable territory in the vicinity, which the Germans succeeded in gaining temporarily yesterday. Intense fighting is still in progress, and the German high command in throwing his troops forward with a total disregard for losses. Tremendous execution has been inflicted by the British Lewis and Maxim guns with which the troops are well armed. Heavy fighting is taking place over the entire Amiens sector, and both the British and French lines have had to withstand strong pressure from the Germans. The enemy gained a footing in the Daquenne Wood, and were later counter-attacked by the British who drove them back to the fringe of the wood. Southeast of Amiens, attack after attack was made against the French lines, and the French troops were forced to give up the village of Hargard. This village was regained during a brilliant counter attack. Hand to hand fighting took place for its possession, and there were no prisoners to take on the French becoming masters of it again. Being exposed, however, to a tremendous German bombardment, and after other strong attacks being made by the Germans, the Frenchmen were once more compelled to give it up.

London, April 26.—Villers-Bretonneux has been recaptured by Australian and English troops, along with some six hundred prisoners, according to the statement of Field Marshal Haig, issued by the War Office here. A considerable part of the territory lost to the Germans yesterday has also been regained. The fighting is still in progress and has reached to a great pitch of intensity. Some five tanks were employed on each side in the Villers-Bretonneux fighting, as supports for the infantry. The crews of the British tanks were experienced in the handling of their charges, and when two of the British tanks got among the enemy troops, they crushed their way forward, shooting down the hostile infantry with rapid fire guns, and doing great execution.

In Flanders.
London, April 26.—The German attacks against the French and British lines on the northern front on the Dranoutre-Kemmel sector are continuing. The Teuton assault here was intended to pave the way for the capture of Kemmel Hill. The French positions north east of Baillieu were violently attacked yesterday by the Germans. The French were able to maintain themselves, while causing large losses to the attackers. Early this morning, after an intense bombardment, they renewed their attacks in this sector and again at the British positions further east.

Bottled Up.
London, April 26.—All the enemy's onslaughts hitherto have failed to attain their objective on account of the impossibility of the German reserves being utilized. All the enemy attempts to widen the salient to permit of this being done, have ended in failure. According to a Reuter dispatch, the result is that the enemy have one million and a half men bottled up in the triangle formed by Hazebrouck, Amiens and Noyon. These troops were originally supplied with rations for one week, and are now virtually starving in the devastated regions, which it is very difficult to revictual. There are no roads left, and transport is a very hazardous matter.

KEMMEL HILL CAPTURED.
Vancouver, April 26.—(Flash, 2 p.m.) The Germans have captured Kemmel Hill in Flanders.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY IS ADDRESSED BY MR. FRED STORK

Last evening in the St. Andrew's club rooms, Mr. Fred Stork delivered the closing address of the season, in the series which the Society had arranged. Looking back over the syllabus, the St. Andrew's Society can point to one of the best, most interesting and educative series of addresses yet delivered in this city. Their open evenings have become most popular; both among the members of the society and their friends, and these by-monthly meetings have been looked forward to during the past six months.

Mr. Stork took as his subject last evening "Thirty Years' observation in the Canadian West," and his address was in a very happy vein throughout. Possibly in no country in the world has development proceeded at such a rate as in Western Canada during the past thirty years, and many great changes have taken place during that period. The picturesque features of the earlier days have now given place. The large ranches, the exuberant cowboy, the Red River carts with their steers and attendant Indian each, which used to line the streets of Winnipeg have all gone, and no longer do the Indians hold their two weeks races in Calgary as they were wont. A definite chapter in the opening history of Western Canada seems to have just recently closed. It is practically there are no shrines of tradition whose history extends into the dim lights of past centuries. The immediate past is as far back as Western Canadian history goes.

Mr. Stork gave many little sketches of some of the outstanding figures of that immediate past in this western country, who have left their mark in the remembrance of their fellows. He told of Donald Smith, who arrived in Canada a poor Scots lad of sixteen years, and who died, full of years, as Lord Strathcona, and possibly one of the richest and most powerful men Canada produced. His connection with the Hudson's Bay Company and the C. P. R. were strikingly told. The circumstances leading up to the founding of the Royal North West Mounted Police were most interestingly brought to the attention of the listeners. There were tales of John Black, of Fort MacLeod, Uriah Nelson of the Cariboo, Soapy Smith of Skagway, who was "boss" there until his duel with Frank Reade. Coming nearer home, there were stories of Port Essington, and Port Simpson, when these were the important places in this then northern part; of Archdeacon Collison, Father

ENGINEER M'INTYRE INJURED WHEN HIS LOCO. HITS MUDSLIDE

A journey of one hundred and foggy-six miles was performed during the night by a locomotive with a caboose attached, in record time, to bring Engineer McIntyre to the hospital here. The injured man was engineer of the train which left here last Saturday for the east. It was first held up by slides at Kitwanger, and eventually made its way into New Hazelton. Being unable to get any further on its way east, the train was being brought back to Prince Rupert last evening, when around Woodcock, the locomotive ran into another gumbo slide. On feeling the footplate beginning to rise beneath his feet, showing that the heavy locomotive was going to turn over with the impact Engineer McIntyre prepared to jump to save himself, with the result that his right leg got broken in two places. Less than a year ago, Engineer McIntyre spent three months in the hospital here with a fracture of his left leg. This time it is the right one which has sustained a compound fracture. The locomotive is now standing at an angle of forty-five degrees to the track, stuck in the stiff gumbo slide.

Mrs. Norrie-Lowenthal, who happened to be on the train, being a doctor's daughter and having medical training, immediately took charge of the injured man. Another engine and caboose were procured and the patient and his nurse came to town, picking up Dr. Cairns, of Terrace, on the way. Taken immediately to the hospital here, Engineer McIntyre is progressing as well as can be expected this morning.

Duncan, and Dr. Robertson, the missionary, John Houston, of newspaper fame right here in Prince Rupert, and the Rev. Dr. Grant, as the prototype of Ralph Connor's novel, "The Syk Pilot," were also among the men who had made their mark in this country, and whose names would always be recorded in the history of the pioneers in this Canadian West. The attraction which this country has for novelists such as Service, Jack London, Kipling and others consisted largely in its virile manhood.

Mr. Stork's address was well received and it was with a certain measure of regret that it was realized that, with his speech, the series of addresses was closed for the season. As usual, the evening was enlivened with music and song, contributed by the members which so largely helps to make St. Andrew's open nights the best entertainments possible.

HUN INVASION OF HOLLAND IS FEARED BY THE DUTCH

London, April 26.—Germany's mailed fist threatens to drive Holland into the maelstrom of war. Strong forces of German cavalry have appeared along the Westphalian borders of Holland, although in the past this section of the border between the two countries has been guarded only by German Landsturm or home defence forces.

A strongly worded note demanding a quick reply to the Teuton demand for the transportation of war materials and supplies through Holland for the Flanders front has reached The Hague, says a dispatch this morning, and considerable apprehension exists in Dutch diplomatic circles.

Yesterday, the Hetvolk announced that the German minister to the Netherlands had departed for Berlin, and that the Dutch minister at Berlin is on his way to The Hague.

From this state of affairs, it has been considered that diplomatic negotiations are in danger of breaking, which may be the prelude to warlike actions. The Dutch army has been mobilized since the first months of the war, and the entire border is well guarded.

GERMAN PRISONERS IN SIBERIA CONSTITUTE GRAVE MENACE

Harbin, Manchuria, April 26.—The German and Austrian prisoners of war now at large in Siberia are estimated to number more than one hundred thousand, and in official circles here it is held that they constitute a grave menace to the allied positions in the far East. With the German organization controlling the Bolsheviks, it would be possible for a huge army of Russians, stiffened by these German forces, to be raised in Siberia. It is held here that such a force would be in a position to do incalculable damage.

It is not known exactly just how the relations are between the Bolsheviks and the Germans, but enough is known to make their co-operation in warfare a matter of extreme difficulty for the allies. German officers are known to have penetrated throughout Russian and Chinese Turkestan far to the south of Siberia in an endeavor to stir up the tribes in these regions to make trouble on the Indian border, and in a few instances, Bolsheviks and German soldiers are already known to have combined in some of the military actions recently. Should this course of action become general throughout Siberia, the military machine of Germany might cause very much trouble.

S. S. ADMIRAL FARRAGUT COLLIDES IN ALASKA

Seattle, April 26.—The Pacific S. S. Co.'s passenger steamer Admiral Farragut was in a collision early today near Petersburg, Alaska, while en route to Anchorage, according to a wireless message received here. The message did not state the exact nature of the accident. Company officials asserted they believe the boat had hit an ice berg.

SHIPPING SECURED FOR UNITED STATES

Tokyo, April 26.—Negotiations which have been in progress for some time between Roland S. Morris, the American ambassador to Japan, and the Japanese government and ship builders, have been concluded. Sixty-six steamers, aggregating 514,000 tons deadweight, will be turned over to the United States for use in the war.

Deliveries of the ships will begin in April of this year and will continue until June, 1919.

FIGHTING IN ARMENIA

London, April 25.—Reuter's Moscow correspondent says the Bolsheviks' Armenian information bureau has received a wireless despatch through Tabriz saying that the Armenians have recaptured the town of Van, in Turkish Armenia, after heavy fighting. The despatch says also that Musselman attacks on Baku have been repulsed by the Armenians and the populace of the town.

AT THE POLICE COURT

Before Magistrate Carss this morning in the police court, Oscar Strom, a naturalized British subject, was charged with failing to register under the provisions of the Military Service Act. The accused had been apprehended while living out in the bush, and located some way up the inlet. He had a plentiful supply of provisions with him, enough to last for several months. On being asked by the magistrate if he were willing to join up, the accused answered "no."

THE Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN IS ENDORSED BY THE GREAT WAR VETERANS

An address was delivered to the local branch of the Great War Veterans Association on Wednesday night by Mr. William Boulton, military secretary of the Y. M. C. A. for northern British Columbia. The War Veterans endorsed the mission of Mr. Boulton by the following resolution:

"The Great War Veterans Association of Prince Rupert heartily endorse the efforts of the Military Department of the Y. M. C. A. in its attempt to raise the $2,000 required from this city for work among the troops overseas, and pledges its co-operation throughout the campaign."

AT THE WESTHOLME

The star actress in the photoplay at the Westholme Theatre this evening is Valeska Suratt, one of the great favorites. The photoplay, "The Soul of Broadway," is one in which most people will take a great interest, and with the stellar role in the capable hands of Miss Suratt, the best which the opportunities afford may be looked for. It is one of those plays which stimulates the imagination and which helps to make people see things as they really are, quite apart from what they would want them to be. Then there is as well one of the two-reel Fox comedies. This is another of the series which have been running every week for some time past, and which many of the patrons of the Westholme would not miss for anything. These two-reel comedies have certainly become popular and "His Merry Mix-up" tonight, fully justifies the appreciation of the audience.

THE UNIVERSE AT STAKE

Close contact with the Kaiser has unexpected effects. The All Highest is never weary of informing his hungry subjects and his battered legions that he is the most pacific and the least acquisitive of monarchs, and that it was merely a happy accident that when the Entente made their treacherous assault on his dominions the Fatherland found itself able to employ about twice as many men and three times as much munitions as its assailants.

But we have Dr. Julius Vogel, Almoner to the All Highest, who gives quite a different version of war aims in the Berlin Lokalanzeiger. Possibly he has been too busy to read his master's speeches, for this is what he says:

"The object for which this great war is fought is not Alsace-Lorraine, nor Belgium, nor the Freedom of the Seas, nor anything of the kind." (These are only tactical objectives; the strategic objective is very wide indeed). "What is being fought for is the mastery of the universe."

The rival combatants are rapidly and roughly defined as follows: "The flaming greed of the hordes of Asia, the faithlessness and bitter revengefulness of the Latins; the envious hardness of a mercantile race subject to King Dollar, to the most brutal form of Mammonism, to the hideous beast, the path of which is strewn with human corpses."

In this adjectival and unnerveing combination, we seem to miss any reference to the British Empire, Japan, France, Italy and the United States are easily identified. This omission must be due to sheer inadequacy of epithet; that alone has prevented us from getting a really stunning verbal cameo of Britain and her company of nations.

Opposing all this grim galaxy we find "The translucent figure of the Archangel Michael, the embodiment of the earnest profound Germanic conscience, imbued with the fear of God and with respect for the sworn faith of German idealism, of all the virtues, in fact, with which Germany has dowered the world, and which cannot be absorbed by the world except through her alone."

The subject of these modest claims might feel slightly nervous at the prospect before him. His virtues are so very unarmylike. Flaming greed and Envious Hardness are stiff propositions to meet with Earnestness and Profundity. It would seem only too probable that the figure would become only more translucent, even evanescent and evaporative: that his conscience would temporarily make a coward of him, and that he would take a leaf out of Hindenburg's book and come to the conclusion that the cause of German idealism and all the virtues would be better served by a slight strategic retreat according to plan.

Not at all, according to the Imperial Almoner. The translucent one, (and one was inclined to believe this already) has provided himself with a very effective suit of armor and some potent weapons of destruction.

"Germany is the heart of Europe, the conscience of the world. If we would guard within us that incorruptible principle of life, if we carry out our mission and communicate the principle to the world, if by contact with the German genius the universe is to cure itself of all its evils, we must, even while our sword is annihilating our enemies, lead a life of introspection, and purging ourselves of these moral ills that still survive amongst us, still further purify and enable our being."

The performer of these versatile feats changes rather rapidly, but surely only "Gabriel," the "Conscience of the world" and "WE" could contemplate without misgiving the simultaneous annihilation of foes and vices; surely introspective slaughter is a spiritual refinement seldom attempted before. But the result, however testing the means of attainment, will be well worth while.

"Then before our living supreme moral force, the enemy will flee, as did Adam and Eve before the flaming sword of the Lord and the world at large will bow the head in reverence and almost in adoration."

An ambitious curtain, but at least we can promise that, though the world is not at the moment prepared to fulfill this programme in its entirety, it will certainly congratulate the All Highest on the fervour, if not upon the prose style of his official. His office does not sound very warlike, although he probably wears a uniform, and he at least, of his countrymen has murdered probably nothing more sensitive than language. The hordes of Asia, the faithless Latins, and the envious mercantilists will appreciate this piece of verbosity not merely for its essential humor, but as affording an enlightening commentary on the mental condition of the authors of the deeds which have shocked the whole world during the last four years.

Mark Twain, so the story goes, was walking on Hannibal street when he met a woman with her youthful family.

"So this is the little girl, eh?" Mark said to her as she displayed her children. "And this sturdy little urchin in the bib belongs, I suppose, to the contrary sex."

"Yessah," the woman replied. "Yessah, dat's a girl, too."—Christian Register.

Internal Bathing Relieves the Cause

If you do not sleep there is always some cause. Don't start dosing with drugs. Nerves can't consume them. Relieve the cause and a good, sound sleep will be the result.

The system cannot be right if the Colon or large intestine is not kept clean and free from all waste matter. Bathe internally if you want perfect health.

Mr. F. C. Yoigt, Rapid City, Man., writes:—"For several years I suffered from Indigestion, Nervous Debility, Insomnia and Constipation. Had no appetite, and doctors did not expect I would live throughout the winter. Your book interested me. I got a 'J. B. L. Cascade' and in a few days obtained remarkable results. I now sleep and enjoy my meals better than for years before. I regard the 'J. B. L. Cascade' as a Godsend to me."

The 'J. B. L. Cascade' is a perfected appliance for Internal Bathing, invented by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, and has been the means of restoring thousands to perfect health. It is shown and explained by Cyril H. Orme, Druggist, cor. 3rd Ave. and 6th St., who will be pleased to give you an interesting book called 'The What, The Why, The Way of Internal Bathing' on request. Ask for it.

"WE'RE NOT DONE YET" IS THE NAVY MOTTO

H. M. S. Mary Rose left a Norwegian port in charge of a west-bound convoy of merchant ships in the afternoon of October 16th. At dawn on the 17th flashes of gunfire were sighted astern. The captain of the Mary Rose, Lieut.-Commander Charles Fox, who was on the bridge at the time, remarked that he supposed it was a submarine shelling the convoy, and promptly turned his ship to investigate: all hands were called to action stations. The Mary Rose had increased to full speed, and in a short time three light cruisers were sighted coming towards them at high speed out of the morning mist; the Mary Rose promptly challenged, and, receiving no reply, opened fire with every gun that would bear at a range of about four miles. The German light cruisers appeared to have been nonplussed by this determined single-handed onslaught, as they did not return the fire until the range had closed to three miles. Then they opened fire, and the Mary Rose held gallantly on through a barrage of bursting shells until only a mile separated her from the enemy. Up to this point the German marksmanship was poor, but as the British destroyer turned to bring her torpedo tubes to bear a salvo struck her, bursting in the engine-room, and leaving her disabled, a log on the water. All guns, with the exception of the after one, were out of action and their crews killed or wounded; but the after gun continued in action under the direction of Sub-Lieutenant Marsh, R. N. V. R., as long as the gun would bear. The captain came down from the wrecked bridge and passed aft, encouraging and cheering his deafened men. He stopped beside the wrecked remains of the midship gun, and shouted to the survivors of its crew—"God bless my heart, lads, get her going again; we're not done yet!"

The enemy were now pouring a concentrated fire into the motionless vessel. One of the boilers, struck by a shell, exploded, and through the inferno of escaping steam, smoke, and the vapour of bursting shell came that familiar, cheery voice—"We're not done yet."

As the German light cruisers sped past, two able seamen, who alone survived among the torpedo tubes crews, on their own initiative laid and fired the remaining torpedo. Both men were killed immediately after, and as one of the German cruisers closed in to administer the coup-de-grace, the Mary Rose sank with colors flying. The captain, first lieutenant, and gunner were lost with the ship, while a handful of survivors were picked up later.

(It may be recalled that on October 17 a convoy in the North Sea was attacked by German raiders. Two British destroyers, the Mary Rose and the Strongbow, were sunk, as also were five Norwegian, one Danish, and three Swedish vessels.)

One, two—it's good to chew.
 Three, four—they all want more.
 Five, six—it comes in sticks.
 Seven, eight—the flavor's great.
 Nine, ten—come again

Mr. John Currie, Jr., was among the passengers leaving last evening for Vancouver, where he will join up with the Royal Flying Corps.

Mrs. S. M. Newton, accompanied by Miss Newton and Mr. V. S. Newton, were among the passengers sailing for the south last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Norrie-Lowenthal, of Hazelton, are paying a visit to the city for a few days, and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bazzett-Jones, of Emmerson Place.

Mr. and Mrs. Bazzett-Jones who have been visiting in Hazelton for the past week or two, managed to return to town late last evening, after being held up for days by the slides up river.

A full muster of the Cadet Corps will take place Friday, April 25, at the Exhibiton Building. All intending members should join now, as time for entering closes April 30.

When hungry timber wolves infest the townsites in greater numbers, and really become a menace, there will always be one refuge for the citizens, when the pontoons of the drydock will find a real use, at last.

Independent Fishermen and Boat Owners meet Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the City Hall. To prepare data to lay before the Fishery Commission due here on Tuesday. We invite anyone interested to attend. 98

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Macleod, of Second Avenue, West, were among the passengers for Vancouver last evening. Accompanying them was their daughter, who has been ill for some considerable time past, and a specialist will be consulted in the south.

Mr. W. Balagno, the violinist, is hoping to leave town in the near future, just so soon as his application for admission to the Royal Flying Corps is accepted. He is but nineteen years old, and hopes to join as a cadet. Prince Rupert will miss him, as well as his violin, very much.

There is little definite information to be got regarding the train situation. The slides up river have been more troublesome than was at first expected, and one or two more small ones have come down, making the work the more difficult. The arrival of the stalled trains has been expected daily. Everything possible is being done to get them released.

"The food crisis is grave and urgent beyond the possibility of exaggeration."—Sir Robert Borden

Help To Feed Yourself

Are you only a "destroyer of rations" when you might be a food producer?

Every pound of food that can be grown in Canada and made available for export, will be desperately needed by those who are bearing the brunt of the fighting and the suffering.

The amount of food produced this year will be absolutely limited by the extent to which people in cities and towns become food producers—there is no other labor reserve.

WHERE DO YOU BELONG?

On the Farm?

Thousands of men are urgently needed on farms in this province to make possible increased production of food. Those who could go and yet hold back, should not forget that, unless production is greatly increased, hundreds of thousands of people will die of starvation.

In the War Garden?

By growing vegetables in home gardens or on vacant lots, and thus helping to feed themselves, city and town people can leave the farmers free to grow more food for export. All that is produced in this way is gain and a net addition to the national food supply.

War Garden service is not sufficient for the man whose rightful place is on the farm. But the War Garden does offer an opportunity for tens of thousands of people, whose circumstances oblige them to remain in the city, to have at least a small part as food producers. Interest the boys and girls in the War Garden, for they too can help to grow food.

If there is a garden or vacant lot movement in your community associate yourself with it. If no organization exists, do what you can to interest your neighbours in the War Garden campaign.

Write to your Provincial Department of Agriculture for additional information.

ROYAL STANDARD FLOUR

STILL THE FLOUR DE LUXE—DELIGHTFULLY PALATABLE, FULL-BODIED, FIRST IN NUTRIMENT AND BODY-BUILDING ENERGY.

"ROYAL STANDARD" is the choice of discriminating housewives today for the reason that there has been no lowering of its superb quality as milled under the present food regulations.

The marked pre-eminence of "ROYAL STANDARD" as a Baking Flour is not a matter of mere chance. Milled in a model plant, the various processes that make it the dependable flour it is today, are the result of years of exacting study.

WHAT IS TRUE of "Royal Standard Flour" holds equally true as to "Royal Standard Rye Flour." Its use by so many women nowadays as a substitute Flour in conjunction with "Royal Standard Wheat Flour means not only true economy for the home, but a patriotic saving of wheat that looms large in practical results.
