MR. SECRETARY REDFIELD AND HON. CHIEF JUSTICE HAZEN ADDRESS BOARD OF TRADE

MEMBERS OF INTERNATIONAL FISHERIES COMMISSION ENTER-TAINED LAST EVENING IN HOTEL PRINCE RUPERT
BY CITY'S BUSINESS MEN--SPLENDID SPEECHES DELIVERED

The members of the Board of Trade are indebted to Mr. J. D. MacAulay, of the G. T. P. They have been so particularly since last evening. When the Fisheries Commission left this city for Ketchikan on Wednesday afternoon Mr. MacAulay accompanied them to the Alaskan port. To enable Mr. MacAulay to get back to Prince Rupert, the United States tender "Cedar" with the members of the Commission on board, touched into the wharf last evening between nine and ten o'clock. Late yesterday afternoon, upon learning this was to happen, the executive of the Board of Trade quickly arranged for the entertainment of the distinguished members of the Commission by a late supper in the Hotel Prince Rupert. Hurriedly as the function had been arranged, the large dining room of the hotel was filled with interested listeners. Mr. W. J. Smithers, president of the Board of Trade, called upon Mayor McClymont to preside, who again welcomed the members of the Commission on this unexpected visit. Referring to the importance of the fishing industry in connection with the city, Mayor McClymont said that this was only second in importance to the great stock and shipbuilding industry, which remark made even the members of the Commission smile. After mentioning briefly the attitude of President Wilson and the great nation to the south in connection with the war, the mayor called upon the Hon. Mr. Redfield, Secretary of Commerce to the United States government.

The Hon. Mr. Redfield said he would speak very frankly upon matters of mutual concern. He gave many of the facts and reasons of what seemed the long hesitation and delay on the part of the United States entering the war, and he told much of what is going on in his own country now. He explained that when the treaty of London was signed, to which Great Britain, Germany and the United States were signatory, the United States signed with a reservation which is not generally known. This express exception was that the signature of the United States did not affect the United States in any way to any action in the continent of Europe. The United States was not a guarantor of the independence of Belgium as it considered that matters of continental politics was outside of its province, and this definite exception was recognized by every one of the powers signing the treaty.

Emphasis was laid upon the philosophy from what George Washington called "entangling alliances," which permeated the whole being of the people of the United States, and had become a fundamental doctrine. The Monroe doctrine carried the principal even further. What it meant to the people of the United States when the crisis arose was that the time had come when that which for five generations had been accepted, had to be laid aside. They were going to interfere with European public life, which meant a complete upheaval of thought. And to change the opinions of the mass of the people took time. Also for long there was no real excuse for entering the controversy. They were not attacked in any sense for some considerable time. The problem was a moral one. The absolute failure of Germany to keep her pledged word became a true cause belli.

Mr. Redfield gave a picture of the moral convictions of the United States people. They were highly individualistic. They believed that the less government the better. Government assistance or control they did not like. To take a people of that training and of these political convictions and to get them to do the very thing they had been taught all their lives not to do took some time. On an issue which involves morals, he said, which goes to the root of convictions, you can weld a free people together. In the end, the people of Britain went into the war to keep their pledged faith. The honor of Britain was the supreme law.

"In the United States the pacifist had to be taught that because he was a pacifist now was the time to fight. The Socialist had to be made to see that the brutal course of Germany was the antithesis of all his ideals. The contest was for something which appealed to conscience. That will hold us together, and it is enough."

Regarding what the United States is doing Mr. Redfield asked his hearers to picture a road of ordinary width stretching across the Atlantic and on it soldiers marching. That was the rate at which the American troops were arriving in France. When war was declared all their factories were engaged in contracts for the Allies which had to be fulfilled before supplies for their own troops could be produced. They had to get the men, and they did so upon the assumption that everyone was willing, and proceeded to select them. Ten million men registered on one day. Their rifle was changed to the Lee Enfield, while their factories were still working on contracts for overseas. They needed machine guns, while their field piece was the famous French seventy-five. Now these are being turned out for themselves in their own factories and blocks of thousands at a time. "I want you to rest content that the old gentleman I hope you are going to call 'your Uncle Sam' is getting ready. When we sing, 'We won't come back until it's over over there,' we mean exactly what we say."

The corner of the veil covering the operations in France was slightly lifted by Mr. Redfield, when he told of some of the difficulties to be overcome and the feats accomplished in so doing. There were no suitable ports for the disembarkation of the American troops when they went over first. These had to be made. Harbors dredged, miles of wharves built, and a double track over six hundred miles long right across France was constructed to take the American troops and supplies up to the firing line. This railroad's equipment consisted of 700 locomotives and 10,000 cars. Incidentally, the people of the United States had to be trained to become investors. The war had to be financed, and loans made to the allies. These loans so far

GREAT WAR VETERANS ASK FOR COMPULSORY RATIONING

New Westminster, May 4.—The Great War Veterans Association at yesterday morning's session of their conference passed several resolutions of importance, one of which called upon the government to introduce and enforce a compulsory rationing measure, similar to that obtaining in Great Britain, and to fix the prices of all necessities.

amounted to something like $5,280,000,000 and more was still available. "When President Wilson said that Germany had appealed to force, and she would get force 'without stint or limit,' you may be entirely comfortable because we have come to this conclusion that the German ideal and the American ideal cannot get along together, in this world side by side.

"It is quite conceivable that if all the causes for which other nations entered the war," continued Mr. Redfield, "were to be granted them, yet the purpose for which we entered the war would not so much as be touched. I want to make that clear. It is basic. We did not enter the war to restore Alsace-Lorraine to France, although we will see that that is done. Or that Belgium be rehabilitated and compensated, although we shall see that done also. Or that Serbia gets a chance to live her own life with a port on the open sea, and that will be accomplished too. There is one thing deeper than all these things. We are on our way to destroy the Prussian military system, and we intend to do it with your help." (Cheers).

Mr. Chief Justice Hazen.

The Hon. Mr. Hazen was next called upon, and he gave a delightful speech upon the war from the Canadian point of view. He said that many thousands of Americans had come over the border to join the Canadian forces in the fight for human progress and democratic institutions. He told of the work which had been accomplished at the outbreak of war for which Canada, like the United States, was quite unprepared, yet within seven weeks from that time, seventy large ships, the mightiest armada that ever crossed the seas, left the shores of Canada to take their place in the fight to make the world safe for democracy. Since that time, over 400,000 of Canada's sons have crossed, and their deeds have been a matter of pride to every Canadian heart.

The matter of financing was also touched upon by Mr. Hazen. Up till this time, Canada was financed from abroad, but since then, has been able largely to meet her own requirements from her own people. Her first two large public loans were subscribed twice over, and the third loan much more than that. Canada has accomplished much, and can accomplish much more and is going to do so. Mr. Hazen told of meeting Major General Jack Stewart over in France and had some good tales to tell of him; how he built a railway in five days with the Canadian railroaders, which the Engineer officers there said would take six weeks. The Nisson hut, which is proving to have solved the question of housing the soldiers over there was an invention of a Canadian. The close co-operation which existed between the two countries had largely helped to keep down any attempts which were threatened against Canada in the early days of the war. The United States would not stand for their country being made a party to an attack

A second resolution asked that all officers and non-commissioned officers and men, who enlisted during the early days of the war, and who had not yet been overseas, be supplanted by soldiers of the corresponding rank who have seen service at the front, and who are now no longer physically fit for field service.

MESSAGE FROM THE SEA FOUND AT SHAWATLANS

A bottle containing the following message was handed into the police office here last evening by Mr. C. Embleton. The bottle had been found at Shawatlans last Sunday by Mr. H. S. Parker. The message reads:

The Aleutian Islands, October 5th, 1916.

Ship Ivanhoe wrecked near Atka. All going down. We hope this message in bottle if found notify my wife, Mrs. Sam Thurston, 888 Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco.

CAPTAIN THURSTON.

Investigations are being made regarding this matter. The bottle must have travelled many miles during these last eighteen months, if it were thrown in the sea at this outermost of the Aleutians. The currents along the coast here all travel northerly, and it must have come south at some distance out to sea.

on her northern neighbor. What the United States had done was beyond all praise, and she will still send as many million men as are necessary to bring the war to an end.

Mr. A. M. Manson, M.P.P., also spoke for the city and British Columbia. He said that while British Columbia and Prince Rupert had done their goodly share in the fight for freedom, they wanted to do still more. Prince Rupert wanted to help further and all she could. Prince Rupert wanted to build ships that are so badly needed at the present moment. We have the appliances, and will provide the men when the word came to go ahead. Mr. Manson hoped that out of the visit of the Commission to B. C. would come a closer relation than yet existing, and that the two nations would be comrades forever in everything that pertains to the progress of the world.

Judge Young and Mr. Hanson, the United States consul here, moved and seconded a vote of thanks to the speakers. Their speeches were both in a most delightful and happy vein, and were very much appreciated.

Mayor McClymont then proposed a toast to "The Allied Forces," after which the gathering sang "My Country 'tis of Thee" and "God Save the King."

HUNS ATTEMPT REPAIR DAMAGE AT ZEEBRUGGE

Channel to Canal Remains Blocked by Ships Sunk in Raid—Admit U-boat Campaign Satisfactory.

London, May 4.—The latest reports brought in by the British airmen are to the effect that the Germans are displaying great activity in endeavoring to repair the damage caused at Zeebrugge, the German submarine base on the Belgian coast by the recent British naval raid. Although the channel leading to the Zeebrugge canal, whereby Germany has another outlet to the sea, is still blocked by the sunken ships, operations have been attempted to open the way through. This will prove to be a difficult matter, and may take the enemy engineers many months of hard work to remove the concrete laden hulls of the sunken vessels without damaging the banks of the canal itself.

Extensive operations have been observed taking place at the breach which was effected in the mole, and in order to keep the harbor serviceable the German engineers are very busy doing their best to have the great hole filled up, thus keeping the sand from filling up the harbor.

Meantime, during the past week, the anti-U-boat campaign has produced satisfactory results, although the weather has been such as to be very unfavorable for such operations.

LOCAL COMMITTEE OF Y. M. C. A. WORKED WELL

"I want to come back to Prince Rupert," said Mr. W. Boulton, the organizing secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Red Triangle Campaign which is on today, when spoken to this morning as to the progress of the work. Notwithstanding the weather, "I consider that success should crown the efforts being put forth by the local committee, in this campaign. They have been working steadily, and so well that this campaign has been a distinct pleasure."

"The assistance which I have got from your mayor and the ladies' societies, has been invaluable, and I can perceive little which would afford me greater pleasure than to come back to Prince Rupert and to be associated with the same people once again. And I hope, too, some of these days coming."

"THE CRIMSON DOVE"

The difference between the apparent and the actual, between church-going and Christianity is strikingly exemplified in the photoplay to be screened this evening at the Westholme Theatre. Some people fail to descry any difference whatever between these, and for those, it may be that the play this evening will have some educational effect. That the Kingdom of God is within you, and cannot be attained by regular attendance at church, nor by the giving of much alms is a fact which is but too often lost sight of. In this play tonight, there is that to be seen which will make people think, and think deeply on their own conduct. Wealthy people, broad minded and narrow minded, sons and their foolishness, actresses, ministers, love affairs and so forth, get somewhat tangled and to see the outcome, you will have to see the play. It is a good one. The play is a good one, and the actors are stars. There is also a gazette and a fine comedy.

HUNS KEEP UP BIG CANNONADE IN FLANDERS

Strong Bombardment near Merville West of Arrmentieres—Local Fighting at the Somme Front.

London, May 4.—Dispatches from British Headquarters tell of a tremendous cannonade in the Lys region, which may be taken to mean that part of the battlefield near Merville, where the Germans made their greatest effort after the evacuation of Arrmentieres.

Can't Take Ypres.

London, May 4.—Articles appearing in the German newspapers which would seem to indicate that efforts are being made to prepare the German people for the announcement that there will be no immediate attempt to take Ypres. What may be considered as inspired views are expressed on the situation and the statement is repeatedly made that nothing would be gained by the capture of the ruined city.

More Responsibility.

London, May 4.—The authority of General Foch has been extended so as to include the forces of the Italian front under his command. The whole western front in Europe, from the North Sea to the Adriatic is thus under one central command.

On the Somme.

London, May 4.—In local fighting last night to the south of Villers Bretonneux, says Field Marshal Haig's statement, our troops co-operated with the French and secured a few prisoners.

What Berlin Says.

Berlin, May 4.—Partial attacks by the enemy followed strong preparations of artillery fire to the south of Villers Bretonneux and on both banks of the Avre. We took some prisoners in counter attacks. In the Ukraine, our troops marched from Ekaterinoslav-Kharkov line into the Donetz region. We occupied Taganrog at the head of the Sea of Azov. In southwestern Finland, we have overwhelmed and defeated the enemy during a five days battle near Lahhti, capturing some twenty thousand prisoners.

Bolsheviks Come Back.

Zurich, May 4.—The Bolshevik troops in the Crimea, equipped with armored trains and heavy artillery desperately attacked the German forces on the railway between Theodosia and Drankoi. It is reported by the Frankfurter Zeitung that the Bolsheviks are massacring the German colonists.

Peace Offensive.

London, May 4.—It is the personal opinion of Lord Robert Cecil that the failure of Germany's knockout offensive on the western front will result in a big peace offensive which will be directed mainly against Great Britain.

The Red Triangle Campaign.

So far as Prince Rupert is concerned, this has been a busy week. Culminating as it does today in a house to house canvas for the Y.M.C.A. it may well be called Red Triangle week. There is little doubt but that the amount which has been set for Prince Rupert to aim at will be realized, and had conditions here been as they ought, and as most of us expected they would, by this time, the amount set for Prince Rupert would have been very much higher. But even without the payroll from the dry-dock and shipbuilding yards, Prince Rupert can always be depended upon to do its share.

The work and thought which a campaign of this nature entails, is not always appreciated by the general public. In this one city of Prince Rupert, behind all the activities of the past week, there has been an organizing brain at work. On almost every public occasion for days past the Y. M. C. A. has been mentioned. If you attended any of the churches or any of their meetings throughout the week, some thing was said about the Y. M. C. A. If you went to the show, you were given a pamphlet stating what the "Y" was doing for the boys, and between the reels, two slides at least appeared on the screen calling attention to the work of the "Y" and the campaign of today. Everyone who attended the Hon. T. D. Pattullo's meeting got one of the "Y" leaflets. If you attended a lodge, or a dance somebody was reminding you of the "Y." It mattered not where you went, either along the business streets, the residential sections, to Seal Cove, or to Section Two, you could not escape seeing the Red Triangle poster reminding you of today's campaign. The readers of the newspapers have for five nights in succession looked upon a different announcement and read new facts regarding the work of the Y. M. C. A. There is hardly a person in the city either young or old who has not during the week conversed with someone about the campaign, and talked of the good work being done by the "Y" among the boys at the front.

To mention the publicity part of the campaign, as an observer sees it, is merely touching half of it. Every organization in the city is actively interested in the movement. Hardly has there been such unanimity among all the different organizations of this city. From the mayor and council down, every active organization has been sympathetically enlisted. The movement was first of all endorsed by the G. W. V. A.; the three chapters of the Daughters of the Empire; the Red Cross; the W. C. T. U.; the Women's Auxiliary of the G. W. V. A., and the business men as well have supplied canvassers. Every church in the city has its representative in the movement and it is a source of gratification that such a cause as the Red Triangle should be so heartily backed by the citizens of our city.

But before all this publicity came about, and before the sympathy of these various organizations was enlisted, the details of how the campaign was to be worked were stored away in the brain of Mr. W. Boulton, the district organizer. His well built figure and genial face have become popular along our streets during these past days. Mr. Boulton has been in Prince Rupert many times previously, but this time, he has shown that he is not only a powerful platform speaker, but is also a careful organizer. Those who are already acquainted with Mr. Boulton and his educational attainments will realize that while "Tis not for mortals to command success," he, like another classical figure, "deserves it."

Although Mr. Boulton has been the mainspring of the Prince Rupert campaign, his name has never once been mentioned in connection with any of the public announcements. Interrogated regarding his organizing ability as well as that as a public speaker, with becoming modesty he declares that he is only carrying out the suggestions of the local people, and that if there is any credit going, it is theirs. While the military committee of the Y. M. C. A. in Prince Rupert have not been idle either during these last days, there is distinctly great credit attaching to the manner in which the campaign has been organized by Mr. Boulton.

A Clergyman's Wife Wants Women to Know Advantages of Internal Bathing

If women could only see the thousands of letters Dr. Tyrrell has received from grateful women in all parts of the world, thanking him for his wonderful invention for internal bathing, they would soon discard the medicine bottle and look to the cause of their trouble. 95 per cent of all human ills are due to accumulated waste in the Colon or Large Intestine. Warm water, properly used with the "J. B. L. Cascade," will relieve the cause of your troubles and perfect health will follow.

A Winnipeg clergyman writes: "My wife is naturally sensitive about having her name appear in public print, yet is anxious that others should know what the 'J. B. L. Cascade' has done for her. It has really given her a new lease of life. For years she had been doctoring for constipation, which became worse every year. Since using the 'J. B. L. Cascade', first about 4 years ago, she has not been sick a day, and has become robust and strong again. Should any person wish this letter confirmed, you are at liberty to give my name in private."

The "J. B. L. Cascade" is shown and explained by Cyril H. Orme, Third Avenue, Prince Rupert, B.C.

The "J. B. L. Cascade" is an invention, perfected by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, and has done more during the past few years to restore health, and lessen disease than all other means combined. Ask for booklet explaining all about internal bathing and what it has done for others." It is free.

Some Sidelights on Y.M.C.A. War Work

The "Walking Wounded"—A Village Without a Y.M.C.A. Can the Need Be Measured?

"I think of the Y.M.C.A. emergency work when a great push is on," writes Francis B. Sayre in "Harper's," "and the wounded soldiers are streaming back from the front literally by the thousands, maimed, and torn and bleeding. The numbers are so vast that the stretcher-bearers can only attend to the prostrate wounded.

"All those who can manage to walk or crawl, known as the 'walking wounded,' must make their own way as best they can to the first aid stations. By the side of these first aid stations the Y.M.C.A. takes its place; and all the walking wounded who come in are given hot coffee and made as comfortable as possible while they wait, sometimes for hours."

Can Need be Measured?

Referring to the Y.M.C.A. huts, the writer says: "I have seen the halls so crowded on the occasion of some religious talk that after the benches were all filled and the standing room taken, soldiers kept crowding in through the windows to sit on the floor of the platform, and others remained outside to listen to the speaker through the windows."

A Village Without Y.M.C.A.

Here is the writer's picture of a French village without a Y.M.C.A.: "With only evil ways in which to spend money burning in their pockets, with nothing to relieve the dull monotony of idle evenings, many of them began to get lonely and homesick, or to drift along dangerous paths.

"It was not many days before officers began to send hurry calls for the Y.M.C.A.: 'For God's sake come down before it's too late and do something for my men.'

Death of a Y.M.C.A. Secretary

"One shell, dropping not ten feet from the dug-out, churned up the earth, the next went crashing through the steel sheeting. A party left the battery to search for the Non-Combatant (Y.M.C.A. secretary). Clambering through the shell-hole, they saw the fruit cans gashed as if by a hundred chisels; the stocks scattered and destroyed; the mugs broken; the cocoa-urn over-turned; and when they had thrown the debris aside they found the Non-Combatant (Y.M.C.A. secretary), with a dark red stream oozing from his head, still smiling, but sleeping his last sleep."

SAYS GERMANS ARE GUILTY OF SACRILEGE

Washington, May 2.—Cardinal Mercier, the Archbishop of Malines, Belgium, has issued to the clergy and adherents of his diocese a stirring circular letter of protest against the forcible seizure by the German authorities of Catholic Church property in Belgium. The Cardinal's letter, copies of which the Belgian Legation received today, is in part as follows:

"The painful tidings, announced semi-officially on February 8, by the occupying power, have been confirmed. The bulletin of laws and edicts dated February 21 requires an inventory of the bells and organs of our churches. Informed by experience, we need not delude ourselves; the inventory of today is the signal for the requisition of tomorrow.

"The repeated protests of the Sovereign Pontiff, our appeal to the Chancellor of the Empire, appear thus to have been in vain.

"In the execution of this duty of our pastoral office, we protest, dear brethren, against the injury which the forcible seizure of church property will cause to the liberty of our Holy Mother Church.

"We add that the removal of the bells, without the consent of the religious authorities, and despite their protests, will be a sacrilege.

"Yes, the seizure of our bells will be a profanation; whosoever assists in it will lend the hand to a sacrilege."

WINNIPEG JITNEYS ARE ABOLISHED

Vast Issues Depend Upon the Welfare of Our Boys

TRY to picture yourself in the muddy cold trenches after exciting days and long nights of mortal danger and intense nervous strain. Rushing "whiz-bangs" and screaming "coal boxes" are no respecters of persons. You are hit! But despite shock and pain you still can face the long weary trudge back to dressing station. Weary, overwrought and depressed you are prey to wild imaginings of that other coming ordeal with the surgeon. There are other "walking wounded," too! You must wait, wait, wait. And then—

Up comes a cheery Y.M.C.A. man, the ever present big brother to the soldier, with words of manly encouragement. Close beside the dressing station the good, generous folks at home have enabled him to set up a canteen. He hands you biscuits, and chocolate or coffee.

"In thousands of cases," writes an officer, "it was that first hot cup of coffee that dragged the man back to life and sanity!"

The tremendous helpfulness of the Y.M.C.A. as an aid to the "morale," or fighting spirit, of the soldiers is everywhere praised. No wonder the Germans make every effort to smash the Y.M.C.A. huts out of existence.

Cheer Up, and Thank God for the Y.M.C.A.!

Y.M.C.A. Red Triangle Fund

$2,250,000, May 7, 8, 9

Canada Wide Appeal

The Y.M.C.A. is everywhere. You first met the helpful manly Y.M.C.A. worker in camp, then on train and boat, at camp in England and in France, close to the firing line. Often he risks his life to reach you in the trenches. He has won the warmest praise from military authorities, statesmen—the King!

Have you a precious boy at the front? You cannot be "over there" to guide him away from fierce temptations of camp and city. You cannot comfort him in his supreme hour of trial. Your parcels to him are necessarily few. But the Y.M.C.A., thank God, is "over there," going where you cannot go—doing the very things you long to do—doing it for you and for him.

Will you help? This vast organization of helpfulness needs at least $2,250,000 from Canada for 1918. For your boy's sake be GENEROUS!!

MANY PRISONERS IN SIBERIA OPERATE WITH BOLSHEVIKI

Harbin, Manchuria, May 2.—German and Austrian war prisoners in Siberia are estimated to number more than 100,000, and in official circles here it is held they constitute a grave menace to the allied position in the Far East. While the number of released prisoners bearing arms under the Bolshevik flag is not great, even a small number might prove a potent danger if they were permitted to become the organizing and directing force behind the Bolsheviks.

In League With Bolsheviki.

It is known that in Irkutsk and western Siberia the Germans, especially the officers are working with the Bolsheviks. Some released prisoners also are with the Bolshevik forces now fighting against General Semenov, the anti-Bolshevik leader in eastern Siberia. He is holding an important part of the Siberian Railway between Vladivostok and Irkutsk.

Those who have visited the prison camps say that the officers and men keep themselves in excellent physical condition, and that they believe a day is coming when their services will be used in the Far East, and that a German force will come to their assistance over the Siberian Railway.

To Neutralize Danger.

Allied sympathisers here declare that the only way to prevent the Austro-German prisoners from doing any further damage is to support any movement that would enable the Allies to secure control of the prison camps, or, better still, to have the prisoners removed to a safer locality.

"The food crisis is grave and urgent, beyond possibility of exaggeration."—Sir Robert Borden

City and Town Labor Must Save The Food Situation

THE heart of the food production problem is labor, and the heart of the labor problem is the city dweller. City people must produce food if Canada is to do her full duty in support of our soldiers and Allies.

Men who are needed on farms must come from the cities and towns—there is no other source. The Provincial Departments of Agriculture co-operating with the Canada Food Board, can place thousands of men on good farms in this Province. They are needed at once.

Those who remain at home must also Grow Food

A War Garden will not excuse the man whose rightful place this year is on a farm. But War Garden service is needed from those who can do no more.

Every pound of home-grown vegetables, produced on city land by city labor, will be a positive addition to the food supply. Home Garden and Vacant Lot cultivation will leave the farmers free to grow more food for export.

The vegetable garden offers an opportunity for service to men whose circumstances make it impossible for them to work on a farm, to women, to boys and girls—to city people generally.

Be a Food Producer This Year

If there is a garden or vacant lot movement in your community, associate yourself with it. If no organization exists, do what you can to interest your neighbours in the War Garden campaign. Write to your Provincial Department of Agriculture for pamphlets on gardening and additional information.
