DESPERATE FIGHTING IN STREETS OF SOISSONS BEFORE THE GERMANS TAKE POSSESSION—FOCH HAS SITUATION WELL IN HAND—ALLIES COMMENCE COUNTER-ATTACKS ON WINGS

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, May 30.—The German attack across the Aisne apparently is slowing down as the Franco-British troops begin counter-attacking on the wings and the French reserves are rushing to stem the enemy onslaughts in the centre, where he has reached the Vesle river. Around Fismes, about half way between Soissons and Rheims, and the centre of the Allied positions, a desperate battle is being fought. Berlin claims the Germans crossed the Vesle on either side Fismes but French troops are still in the town and holding it stubbornly, while reserves come up.

New Lines.
On the west, the French lines have been withdrawn to the easterly outskirts of Soissons, which town lies about seven miles south of the nearest point of the battle line as it existed before the new German drive begun on Monday. On the east the Franco-British line pulled back from St. Thierry, northwest of Rheims, where it rested yesterday, to the heights southwest of that town. Heavy fighting continues all along the front from south of Pinon to almost north of Rheims.

Overwhelming numbers enabled the Germans in this first attack to penetrate the allied lines to beyond the Aisne and capture more than half a score of villages and fifteen thousand prisoners. The greatest advance was made in the centre four miles to the Aisne, then six miles to the Vesle, a total of ten miles.

Well in Hand.
Paris, May 30.—General Foch has the situation well in hand. French troops are beginning to gain on the German advanced forces in the contest for speed. No important line of communication has yet been threatened by the advance of the German Crown Prince.

Those on the scene declare that it is not too much to say that another forty-eight hours will see the German drive definitely stopped. High praise is given to the French reserves for the perfect order with which they are coming into the fighting line. The Echo De Paris says today the German advance at certain points on the Aisne front reached a depth of fifteen miles.

Ten Thousand More.
Berlin, May 30.—The number of prisoners taken by the Germans on the Aisne front has increased to 25,000. The prisoners include one French and one English general.

Soissons Evacuated.
Paris, May 30.—After desperate fighting in the streets last night, the French troops have evacuated Soissons, which the Germans occupied, according to the official statement issued by the war office.

Airmen's Good Work.
Washington, May 30.—Allied airmen brought down and destroyed 252 German airplanes during the week between May 16 and 23. Operations include only the western front.

In Mesopotamia.
London, May 30.—A Turkish official communication received here says: "On the Irak front the Turkish left wing occupied Kirkuk, the British withdrawing southward."

DESTROYER FOLLOWED THE WAKE OF TORPEDO AND GOT SUBMARINE

London, May 28.—The resourceful commander of a British destroyer recently accounted for a German submarine by following up the wake of a torpedo to its apparent point of launching and then dropped depth bombs. A bar to his Distinguished Service Order has been awarded the naval officer.

The German torpedo aimed at the destroyer passed under it. The British vessel swung around and hurried to a point near where the wake of the torpedo was first seen. Depth charges were dropped and soon the bow of the submarine came out of the water. The destroyer tried to ram the enemy boat, but the submarine suddenly listed and sank like a stone. Other bombs dropped by the destroyer brought up oil.

CHIEF JUSTICE HANDS BACK SUM OF $5,000 TO OTTAWA GOVERNMENT

Ottawa, May 28.—The Ottawa Journal-Press states that it is informed that Sir Charles Fitzpatrick has handed back to the Government the sum of $5,000 which he had drawn from the Treasury for expenses to attend sittings of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, but which sittings he did not attend.

AT THE WESTHOLME

"The Flower of No Man's Land" is the title of the photoplay to be displayed at the Westholme this evening. Viola Dana is to be the star actress, and she is an actress of no mean repute. The play itself is a fine one which will be well received. It is one of these kind of plays that most people like, and in the capable hands of Viola Dana, the most is made of the situations as they arise. Then there is Billie Burke in the sixteenth chapter of "Gloria's Romance." During the screening of this serial, Billie Burke wears some $40,000 worth of gowns, and tonight she appears in a new one. It is one which will interest the ladies greatly.

The K. P. Hall was the scene of a farewell dance last evening, given in honor of Miss Greta Kelly who is leaving next week for Vancouver. Miss Kelly has been stenographer for the firm of Peck, Moore & Co. There were about fifty guests, and the occasion was much enjoyed by all who were present. Harvey's orchestra supplied the music, and dancing was kept up until a late hour.

AMERICANS BREAK UP ENEMY ATTACKS

(Special to The Daily News.)
With the American Army in France, May 30.—Yesterday the Germans launched three determined attacks against the American troops, who were successful the day previous in capturing the village of Cantigny and adjacent territory. The German counter-attacks were delivered fiercely, evidently showing that the High Command prized this terrain in Picardy wrested from them very highly. Each of the enemy advances, however, was broken up in the face of the tremendous and accurate fire from the American batteries, and the heroism of the infantrymen. The American lines remain intact, the enemy being unable to shake their hold of the captured territory.

Washington, May 28.—More than 200,000 American troops will be sent abroad during May, and that number probably will be much exceeded next month, members of the Senate Military Committee were told today at their weekly conference with Secretary Baker and his assistants. Great satisfaction with the speed with which troops are being sent abroad was expressed by the Senators, who stated that looking at production as a whole and excluding aircraft alone, the manufacture of war material was showing considerable improvement. The aviation situation shows no appreciable betterment.

HUNS SUCCEED MOVING THE OLD VINDICTIVE

London, May 28.—The Germans have succeeded in shifting the concrete laden cruiser Vindictive, sunk in the harbor of Ostend on May 10 by the British raiding forces. The Vindictive according to The Times, is now lying close alongside the eastern pier, leaving a passage about eighty feet wide. This is enough to allow destroyers to go in and out, but nevertheless, the Germans are not using the harbor.

Unsuccessful attempts have been made by the Germans to dredge a passageway between the old cruisers sunk in the harbor of Zebrugge. A German destroyer, sunk this week by bombs dropped by the British naval airmen, lies close to the cruisers.

The basin at Bruges, which is connected with both Ostend and Zebrugge, is full of German shipping, but the canal is not being used.

FOOD MERCHANTS MAY CUT DOWN EXPENSES

Cash System and Co-Operative Delivery Discussed at a Meeting Last Night in City Hall.

At the meeting of grocers and butchers in the city called for last evening, certain matters involving considerable economy in the matter of foodstuffs were discussed. The meeting arose out of a letter from the Mayor to Mr. D. G. Stewart, representative of the Food Board, in which certain considerations were recommended to the attention of the retailers, particularly of foods. With a considerable restriction in deliveries, a great saving would take place in labor, in expense, and in gasoline, to say nothing of the cars. This is being successfully done in other places, and his worship saw no reason why some such similar arrangement could not be come to here. In bringing attention to the cash system, it was pointed out that the Food Board requires all purchases of groceries to be upon a cash basis. Upon a cash basis, it is possible for the dealers to turn over their goods at a smaller profit, and besides, it is not fair that cash customers should have to pay for the interest and losses on credit accounts. The subject of community or co-operative delivery was also broached.

Mr. G. H. Munro presided over last night's meeting, when considerable discussion took place upon the points raised. Everyone present seemed to agree that some considerable saving could be developed in the present system of deliveries. It was the consensus of opinion that deliveries should only be made at stated times daily and any orders received after the time set would have to lie over until the next run. The matter of only delivering a certain weight of goods was also touched upon. In view of the fact that it is the law for wages to be paid twice monthly, little difficulty was anticipated regarding cash payments, although Alderman McMeekin seemed to consider that thirty days credit was cash. It is safe to say that the interest for thirty days on all the open accounts in Prince Rupert at this present moment must represent a certain proportion of profit, which the cash customer has to pay for the credit customer.

The delivery question seemed to be the one which was of the greatest interest. In wet weather the extra paper for wrapping, string, and the time so utilized, it was considered, would offset to a certain extent the cost of delivery. It was considered that with the system used to the best advantage, instead of being abused, it would be the more economical. An instance was given of three cars calling at one house, and the total value of the three being $1.25, while the customer doubtless would consider that the three merchants were getting a share of business.

It was decided that a committee of three be appointed, consisting of Messrs. McMeekin and Gavigan, for the grocers, and H. Atkins for the butchers, to go into the whole question thoroughly and exhaustively, and to report back to the meeting next Wednesday night. It was also considered that it was necessary for the butchers and grocers to organize to consider collectively the numerous regulations issued by the Food Board, and as every merchant would be under licence, it would be to their own interests to get together.

RECOMMEND BRANDS OF FLOUR BE ABOLISHED

At the meeting of the food merchants last night, a resolution was passed recommending to the Canada Food Board that the various brands of flour at present on the market be abolished during the time of food scarcity, and that a standard sack be used. This matter was brought up by Alderman McMeekin who said that the merchants had to carry some six or eight different brands of flour at the present time, although the flour was all of the same grade. In order to purchase properly, the merchants had to buy ten barrels of each brand which meant the keeping of a much larger stock on hand than was really necessary at one time. To the consumer it did not really matter which brand they bought, as the government required all millers to produce the same grade, and this course would relieve quite a lot of flour, which at present is being held up in the merchants' stores, in transit, and in the wholesalers' warehouses. The quality of the flour was made to standard, and what was wanted is a standard price and a standard brand. "The merchants in this town might then be able to purchase a whole carload among themselves instead of in small quantities as at present," went on Alderman McMeekin. "We could purchase direct from the east and bring the goods in over our own railroad instead of being dependent on Vancouver. That place is the biggest knocker we've got at present. I believe that the dry-dock would have been working today had it not been for certain interests there knocking the proposition, for their own sakes."

Changing a People's Habit.

When people are asked to save food, they should not hastily jump to the conclusion that they are expected to eat less than their accustomed quantities. That's not the idea at all.

What is desired is that they should cut out certain ordinary articles of diet, such as wheat and beef and bacon. When this has been done, there are still plenty of other foods from which the human body can obtain abundant nourishment.

The chief difficulty in the way of making the change is the taking of thought as to acceptable substitutes. Man is a creature of habit. He resents being shaken out of his routine. For this reason, the food controller has been compelled to go slow.

The first step was a campaign of education and persuasion. Then came the obligatory regulations on public eating houses and the orders against hoarding certain articles, such as flour and sugar.

Presently, as public opinion becomes reconciled to the necessity, the government will screw its courage to the sticking point and will adopt some system which will amount to the rationing of private houses.

Not improbably, this will be brought about in part by taking possession of the whole of this year's wheat crop—sending as much as can be spared to Europe and dividing the rest among the cities and towns of Canada in proportion to population.

What is quite sure, is that this country must prepare itself for regulations considerably more drastic than have yet been put into force. It has to be done. The Allied armies must not be stunted. The fighting man has to be kept in shape. The civilian populations of Great Britain and France and Italy cannot be allowed to suffer from famine.

MR. COPP'S CHARGES.

Mr. Copp of Westmoreland made a series of charges in the House reflecting on Commanding Officers, Deputy Presiding

Officers, and Poll Clerks concerned in the taking of the votes of the soldiers overseas. Two of his accusations are particularly grave:

"That military electors were threatened with removal to the fighting line if they did not mark their ballots for the Government in the presence of and in the manner prescribed by the Deputy Presiding Officer."

"That military electors who refused to vote as they were directed in the manner referred to in the preceding paragraph were accordingly immediately removed to regiments proceeding to the fighting line."

These charges alone, made upon the responsibility of a member of Parliament, would justify the demand for a searching investigation. If they can be established no punishment will be too severe for the guilty officers or officials. Mr. Copp makes many other allegations of fraud and irregularity. Some of these are serious and circumstantial; others, such as the complaint that the Government's campaign literature was untruthful, belong to the ordinary election polemics. The whole indictment is one that no Government can ignore.—Toronto Globe.

EVERYBODY SHOULD WORK

The law forbidding idleness is being applied with some effect in Canada and the United States against the class of persons upon whom the police are accustomed to keep an eye. The individual with a precarious income from mysterious sources is being dealt with adequately.

It should not be forgotten, however, that the law, in theory at any rate, is intended to apply to men and women at both ends of the social scale. Idleness at the top is just as deleterious to the community as idleness at the bottom.

Indeed, it may easily be more so, because the rich loafer, who consumes without producing, arouses envy among the unreflecting, whereas, his impecunious imitator is merely a despised nuisance.

In the regenerated world which optimists are predicting to arise after the war, will everybody work? Will it become unfashionable for the sons and daughters of the rich to do nothing but amuse themselves? Will everybody have some useful occupation, and nobody be overburdened with toil?

Perhaps. But, in the meantime, how many men and women of large means have been taken before the magistrate and ordered to find themselves something to do?—Vancouver "Sun."

Insomnia Cured Without Drugs

Internal Bathing Relieves the Cause

If you do not sleep there is always some cause. Don't start dosing with drugs. Nerves can't consume them. Relieve the cause and a good, sound sleep will be the result.

The system cannot be right if the Colon or large intestine is not kept clean and free from all waste matter. Bathe internally if you want perfect health.

Mr. F. C. Voigt, Rapid City, Man., writes:—"For several years I suffered from indigestion, Nervous Debility, Insomnia and Constipation. Had no appetite, and doctors did not expect I would live throughout the winter. Your book interested me. I got a 'J. B. L. Cascade' and in a few days obtained remarkable results. I now sleep and enjoy my meals better than for years before. I regard the 'J. B. L. Cascade' as a Godsend to me."

The "J. B. L. Cascade" is a perfected appliance for internal bathing, invented by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, and has been the means of restoring thousands to perfect health. It is shown and explained by Cyril H. Orme, Druggist, cor. 3rd Ave. and 6th St., who will be pleased to give you an interesting book called "The What The Why, The Way of Internal Bathing" on request. "The food crisis is grave and urgent, beyond possibility of exaggeration."—Sir Robert Borden

City and Town Labor Must Save The Food Situation

THE heart of the food production problem is labor, and the heart of the labor problem is the city dweller. City people must produce food if Canada is to do her full duty in support of our soldiers and Allies.

Men who are needed on farms must come from the cities and towns—there is no other source. The Provincial Departments of Agriculture co-operating with the Canada Food Board, can place thousands of men on good farms in this Province. They are needed at once.

Those who remain at home must also Grow Food

A War Garden will not excuse the man whose rightful place this year is on a farm. But War Garden service is needed from those who can do no more.

Every pound of home-grown vegetables, produced on city land by city labor, will be a positive addition to the food supply. Home Garden and Vacant Lot cultivation will leave the farmers free to grow more food for export.

The vegetable garden offers an opportunity for service to men whose circumstances make it impossible for them to work on a farm, to women, to boys and girls—to city people generally.

Be a Food Producer This Year

If there is a garden or vacant lot movement in your community, associate yourself with it. If no organization exists, do what you can to interest your neighbours in the War Garden campaign. Write to your Provincial Department of Agriculture for pamphlets on gardening and additional information.

THE IRISH HARP

It has been said that Irish enemies are perpetuated because Ireland lives more by memory than by hope. And it is her past wrongs rather than her past glories that are mostly before her. The national emblem of Ireland has lost its significance. The harp has been exchanged for the shillelagh. An Ireland, harp in hand, might be persuaded to a life of peace and harmony even with an ancient foe. An Ireland, armed for offence, is beyond argument. If the modern Irishman would study the history of his harp it might teach him much. In the story of the old Crusade conducted by Godfrey of Boulogne we learn that "all the concert of Christendom in this war would have made no music if the Irish harp had been wanting."

Ireland has not been without her enthusiasts for national art and customs, and much that is valuable in the old harp music has been preserved. Perhaps in a new Ireland the harp will be heard once more. But meantime there is little sign of revival. Its voice, one imagines, is too modest for the Sinn Feiner. The harp has allowed itself to become genteel and sophisticated. In its best days it was the companion of the greatest, and was nowhere more honored than in Ireland. Irish composers go back as far as the fifth century, and the fame of the Irish school of harp playing spread over all the world. The last appearance of the Irish harpers was a curious one. On a day in July, 1792, there was a great procession through the streets of Belfast, a review, a convention, and a banquet. The Irish Volunteers were celebrating the fall of the Bastille and declaring themselves in favor of Catholic Emancipation and the Rights of Man. In the midst of all this political turmoil ten harpers, mostly old and blind, were gathered in the Exchange Rooms before a select and curious audience. They were the last custodians of the traditions of the Irish harpers, and had been drawn from all parts of the country by circular and advertisement with promise of honors and prizes. The festival was one of the most important events in the musical history of Ireland, for by its means Edward Bunting, musician and antiquarian, was able, as his friends said, "to restore a page in the history of man." Various societies were formed in Belfast, Dublin, and elsewhere to popularize the harp and preserve the new-found enthusiasm; and among widely scattered subscribers were Thos. Moore and Walter Scott. But after a few years the majority of the societies broke up from lack of funds. Bunting's volumes contain all that was valuable in the festival and its resulting activities.

Bunting himself protested against the view that Irish music was plaintive, melancholy, and complaining, and "partook of our national feeling at the state of country." He noted that all the melodies of the harpers at the 1792 festival were played "with a great degree of animation, quite different from the common adopted mode, . . . a spirited, animated, and highly lively style, which certainly and in truth accords more with the national character of the Irish than the drawing, dead, doleful and die-away manner in which our airs are played and sung to this day by our public performers." So Ireland requires not only to take down her harp, but to strike it to a manly measure. Irish music has been much in the moonlight, and tends to sentimental brooding. Inspired by hope the harp of Ireland may find its soul again in a new song.—G.H.
