SIR HENRY THORNTON

Sir Henry Thornton, the spectacular head of the Canadian National Railway system, has resigned his position and thus passes from the picture, so far as the railways of Canada are concerned. He undertook a difficult task on coming to Canada and, undoubtedly, he succeeded beyond all expectations. He united the various systems and brought about a spirit of esprit de corps which was remarkable.

It was only when the hard times hit Canada and the railway began to lose money for the country that criticism commenced. He was accused of extravagance and, possibly, he was rather slow to adapt the system to the changed conditions, thus laying himself open to greater criticism than might have been the case.

In regard to Sir Henry's attitude toward Prince Rupert, there is little to say except that so far as could be seen, this terminal point was promised much but received little. Whether that was the fault of Sir Henry or of the powers behind the scenes, no one can be sure. It is certain that, during the ten years of Sir Henry's presidency, this city made little progress and a few of the railway offices left by a former regime were taken south. The opinion was general in Prince Rupert that the port might have received much greater encouragement than it did from the railway head.

In spite of this purely local view, it must be said of Sir Henry that he was a great man in his way—spectacular, realizing the value of publicity, autocratic, but a man with vision much beyond the ordinary. Some think that he was overpaid but he did good work and has earned the respect and gratitude of the people of Canada.

THE UNIVERSITY OF B.C.

The University of B.C., like other educational institutions, has been much under fire of late. In the time of curtailment the university was slow to change and the somewhat radical professors proved to be intensely conservative in regard to themselves, their pay and their work. They hated to change. Under these circumstances, friction prevailed at the seat of learning and Judge Lampman of Victoria was appointed to investigate. The full text of his finding has been received by the Daily News and it seems to exonerate the president of blame and to place the cause of the trouble chiefly on the cumbersome system of administration by which there is divided control between the senate and board of governors. The Judge recommends that there be only one governing body and that the number of members be greatly reduced.

The commissioner mentions in his report the great cost of the department of agriculture with 19 professors and only 50 registered students, the province having to pay for this $128,000 a year.

The activities of the student body come in for rebuke. The Judge says:

"A body of students is not likely to be very appreciative of the financial condition of the taxpayer." And again, "The man who is worried over the question as to whether he can save his house or his business or whether he can buy food for his children is not likely to take much interest in the plight of his neighbor's son who is likely to lose his chance of obtaining a university education." Once more the Judge remarks later in his report: "I think it would be much better if both board and senate let the students know that they are there to be instructed and not to dictate or meddle and that those students who do not want to continue on that basis should go elsewhere."

Another interesting criticism was that of the movement to increase the cost of the home economics department. He mentions that, at a time when the life of the university was in the balance, it was surprising to find a movement for increased expenditures in this department. In this connection he says: "In the art of getting associations to pass resolutions there is no one to equal the person whose salary is in jeopardy. I am suspicious of all such resolutions."

A decision by Scotland Yard affecting the Metropolitan police and causing considerable surprise in London is that, from September 26, the sale of tickets for police sports, boxing tournaments, dances and athletic club dinners to members of the public at their homes will be prohibited. No reason is given for the order.

Whether the Saskatoon collegiate board is responsible for accidents to pupils engaged in games on the school grounds is being tested in an action for $500 brought in district court by Mrs. Eliza Thoday for her son Gerald, who suffered a fracture of both bones in his right leg above the ankle in a game of rugby on the Saskatoon City Park Collegiate grounds on October 19, 1931.

For two nights in each week during the summer months a portion of one of Montreal's streets in a congested district is thrown open as a playground for the boys and girls of the neighborhood. Here the children enjoy their games under the direction of volunteer workers without danger from traffic which is directed into other channels by the police.

FIGURES IN SPORT
WILLIAM MULDOON, BOXING COMMISSIONER

William Muldoon, a link binding the earliest days of the Marquis of Queensbury rules in boxing with the present, has become known as the "solid man" of sport by his leadership of the New York State Athletic Commission, one of the most powerful regulating organizations in the commission in 1921 and, since then, has served with an iron hand, several times as president. A big man, proud of his years and until lately as mighty as in the days when he ruled as the world's Greco-Roman wrestling champion, Muldoon is a strict disciplinarian. He wrote the rules of the New York Athletic Commission, now copied in almost every state where boxing is legal, and forced fighters, managers and promoters to stay within the code.

Aside from codification of the rules, Muldoon brought about adoption of the "no smoking rule" in all New York fight clubs, has eliminated guarantees for boxers and substituted percentages and, by severe punishment, has driven sharpers, fake fights and fouls from New York state rings.

Muldoon fought many a heated battle with the late Tex Rickard and stood as a rock against Rickard's efforts to promote a match between Jack Dempsey and the negro, Harry Wills, in 1925. He was instrumental in forcing the promoter to give Gene Tunney his chance. His friendship for Tunney prompted Gene to set up the Muldoon-Tunney heavyweight trophy when, in 1928, he retired as undefeated champion.

Aside from his outstanding work on the boxing commission, Muldoon originated the health farm idea whereby business and professional men are put through hard physical routine in the open to overcome the effects of sedentary pursuits.

Born a farmer's son at Belfast, N.Y., May 25, 1845, Muldoon served

NEWS OF THE MINES AROUND PRINCE RUPERT

Big Things Predicted For McConnell Creek—Preparing For Fiddler Creek Mill—Premier Stock Still Strong

Giving his considered opinion following a careful examination of a territory extending twelve miles on the mineralized zone, C. M. Looney, mining engineer representing United States capital in a reconnaissance survey of the McConnell Creek country, stated at Smithers that the McConnell Creek district represented the largest area containing gold in commercial and profitable quantities that it has ever been his pleasure to examine up to the present time. Apart from acting for outside capital, Mr. Looney has several claims of his own in the district. Mr. Looney stated at Smithers that his work had consisted of an examination over the wide territory extending from a point at the head of Snowslide Creek to where McConnell Creek joins the Ingenika River, a distance of eleven miles. At no point in the entire distance did he fall to pan gold in paying quantity. A similar test of the Ingenika River for a distance of one mile disclosed equally satisfactory results. While the service of airplanes was a great convenience, Mr.

Looney stated that a ground transportation system was essential to permanent work on a large scale and he advised interior communities and organizations to concentrate on obtaining at least a tractor road to the McConnell Creek country. Such machinery and equipment as was required for preliminary tests could be handled through the air but the huge plants required when the field was definitely established would call for land transportation. Mr. Looney predicts that many large companies will enter the McConnell Creek field within the next five years. Mr. Looney was one of the passengers coming out on the Junkers monoplane of the Airland Manufacturing Co. piloted by Capt. McCluskie which landed at Lake Kathlyn a few days ago. Other passengers were M. J. Brown, one of the promoters of the McConnell Creek undertaking; H. J. Skinner of San Francisco, who is acting for substantial capital which has become interested in the field, and K. K. Langford of Los Angeles, who was making examinations in the McConnell Creek area for another syndicate. Capt. McCluskie was the first pilot ever to set a plane down on Lake Kathlyn and, as such, he picked up a prize of $50 offered by Charles Wilson of Lake Kathlyn for the feat.

"Black" Olsen has been engaged by P. O. Peterson, Vancouver mining engineer, to look after work which will have to be carried out on the road from Dorreen to the Tredway gold property on Fiddler Creek on which the establishment of a mill is being planned. Mr. Olsen is awaiting further instructions from Mr. Peterson in Vancouver before proceeding with the work. Considerable preparatory work will have to be done before any mill construction can commence.

Premier Gold stock has been an outstanding performer during the last few days on the Vancouver Stock Exchange. Rising steadily from its low level of a few days ago, Premier has been lately turning over at 49c and is in steady demand at that price. Strength of the stock is induced by improved reports of operation. Big Missouri has been somewhat firmer lately at 8 1/2c.

THREE STAR ON MARKET

Ethylized Gasoline Has Arrived and Proves To Be Peppy Product

The new Three Star Ethylized gasoline advertised by Imperial Oil Company has arrived and is for sale at all Imperial Oil pumps and stations. It is a new anti-knock product and gives a car plenty of pep, especially in hill climbing. It is said to make second gear unnecessary in many cars.

Many people have been wondering what was meant by the display of bunting on the Imperial Oil stations. It is Three Star that has done it. The Three Star has put pep into the management and staff and is said to be a real winner. George Woodland, local head of the Imperial Company, says the new gas is of a light green shade but there is nothing pale about the quality. He warns against buying it unless the purchaser wants more miles, less knock, more efficiency, more pep. Three Star will almost make an old car into a new one.

Twenty Years Ago

In Prince Rupert

July 20, 1912

A great reception was accorded Premier Sir Richard McBride, Attorney General W. J. Bowser and other members of the provincial government who arrived in Prince Rupert from Victoria on the steamer Princess May. The government wharf, where the steamer landed, was gaily decorated under the direction of Shef Thomson of the Longshoremen's Union. Launches went out to the mouth of the harbor to meet the steamer as she came in.

Evelyn Wrench, organizer of the Overseas Club, addressed a meeting here in the McIntyre Hall. The chair was occupied by Mayor S. M. Newton and F. A. Ellis, president of the local Overseas Club, was among those on the platform.

Hon. Frank Cochrane, federal minister of railways, has been paying a visit to the city in the course of a tour to the Pacific Coast. He was accompanied by H. S. Clements, M.P. for Comox-Atlin. They returned to Vancouver on the Prince Rupert.

TOUR WITH FAIRBANKS

Two Outstanding Pictures Being Offered on Double-Bill at Capitol Theatre This Mid-Week

Jerome Carver, well known Canadian moving picture critic, who, generally, is anything but liberal in his comments, speaks very highly of both "Around the World in Eighty Minutes" and "Street Scene" which are being offered on a grand double bill at the Capitol Theatre here the middle of this week. Of "Around the World in Eighty Minutes" Carver says: "Be sure to see it. Anyone from eight to eighty will find entertainment in it. As for 'Street Scene,' Carver says: 'It's well worth seeing.'"

"Around the World in Eighty Minutes" may be called a travelogue but it is entirely different from any other travelogue. Says Carver: "Douglas Fairbank has given us a travel picture that is interesting without being too serious, instructive without being heavily didactic, amusing without being doggedly facetious. There is a delightful informality about it and, in a light-hearted manner, views of real places are interspersed with fantastic scenes of Mr. Fairbanks floating about on his 'Thief of Bagdad' magic carpet. Mr. Fairbanks' running comment throughout the film is amusing. Every moment of the picture is interesting and entertaining and many of the sequences could only have been obtained by a man like Fairbanks who is so well known and so well liked the world over. I am glad—and you will be too—that he did not forget to take his camera with him when he went on his world tour.

"Street Scene" is the film adaptation of Elmer Rice's Pulitzer prize-winning play. The stars are Sylvia Sidney, William Collier, Jr., and Estelle Taylor. The picture is very highly spoken of by all who have seen it.

Secure Cash During Hard Times

The Classified Ads.

Many people have something in the house they would like to sell which could be turned into money if they knew of a customer. Try a classified advertisement. Most people read the classifieds. For about fifty cents you can let them know about it and it may prove a profitable transaction.

Renting the House

There are a number of houses in the city not rented yet and many people make little effort to secure a tenant. Others who are wise to their opportunities try a classified advertisement in the "For Rent" column and often get results. As one satisfied customer said recently: "Those little ads certainly do bring results."

Some Like Reader Ads.

Some people after trying other kinds of advertising decide to try a reader among the locals and personals. Then they have got results. The cost is a little higher but they have been well satisfied. When conditions are like they are today the newspapers can often help. The price is not very high. Do not lie down and bemoan your hard fate. Try a different kind of advertisement and if that is not successful try again.

Mothers Tell How BABY'S OWN TABLETS Relieve Children's Distressing Troubles

"My baby was so bad with summer complaint that we despaired of saving her", writes Mrs. Hazel Allard, Whitby, Ont. "A friend advised Dr. Williams' Baby's Own Tablets. After the third dose baby fell asleep. By noon the next day she took the usual bottle feeding".
"At the first sign of baby's peevishness or illness in the trying months of summer, I give him Baby's Own Tablets, and in a short time he is well, and smiling his thanks", writes Mrs. Alton Parcher, Glenalmond, Que.
