King Charles of Austria Quits SOCIALISTS WANT WILHELM BEFORE ALLIES DISPOSE OF HIM

WHAT SHALL BE DONE WITH WILHELM, EUROPE IS ASKING

WHAT ACTION BY POWERS NECESSARY TO INCARCERATE
WILHELM IN ISLAND PRISON, OR HAVE HIM STAND
CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS—GERMAN PEOPLE
ALSO WANT TO GET HIM

(Special to The News via G.T.P. Telegraphs.)
London, November 13.—The sending of the Kaiser to the island of Elba, or to St. Helena as a prisoner is being widely discussed throughout Great Britain, as is also the fact of his being sent to criminal prosecution, as the result of four different trials by four different juries. It is pointed out by British statesmen here today that either of these courses would be a matter of joint action of the powers interested in the peace terms imposed upon Germany. Absolutely no anxiety is being felt regarding the possibility of Wilhelm ever again interfering with the peace. He is regarded as impotent for further evil, particularly in view of the very drastic terms of the armistice imposed by General Foch and the Allies.

Wanted in Germany.
Washington, November 13.—That the German factions may demand the extradition of their former Kaiser from his haven of Holland so that he may stand his trial before a Socialist court in Berlin is suggested in diplomatic cables received here from Europe. The feeling against Wilhelm is declared to be strong throughout the army and also in Prussia, where such action might be least expected.
Before a court of German Socialists Wilhelm would stand already condemned, and even at the hands of his own countrymen, who are but now beginning to find out how things really are, the ex-Kaiser would receive short shrift.

Prince Rupert has done her part nobly both in providing men and money.

WILL OCCUPY LARGE SLICE OF GERMANY

All West of Rhine Will Be Controlled By Allies Until Peace Terms Are Agreed to By Germans.

(Special via G.T.P. Telegraphs.)
London, Nov. 13.—Concerning the evacuation of the left bank of the Rhine, it is pointed out that pending the final adjustment of the new boundary between France and Belgium with Germany, the Germans will be required to relinquish control not only of Alsace and Lorraine, the two former French provinces wrest from France after the campaign of 1870, but the remainder of the German provinces which lie west of the Rhine. These provinces include the Rhine-Palatinate, Rhenish Prussia, part of Hesse, and the German state of Luxembourg. Included in these territories are the important cities of Mayence, Coblenz, Bonn and Cologne. These are all large manufacturing cities, and this occupation...

ANYONE CONTRIBUTES BIG SUBSCRIPTIONS TO VICTORY LOAN

Four hundred and two thousand dollars is the amount subscribed to the Victory Loan at Anyox up till Monday night. The good folks at Anyox have been making a spurt. On Saturday evening they had 522 subscribers there, who altogether had taken out $224,800 and by Monday this amount is very nearly doubled.

Anyox is one of the places on this coast where there is money, and it is being put to a good use. They have still some time to go, and if it is at all possible, they intend to double Monday's amount as well. Anyox is enthusiastic regarding the Victory Loan, and there is nothing like enthusiasm to make popular measures successful. Anyox is over the top.

Auditing, J. F. Maguire, box 973.

Pied territory also includes the most important coal and iron fields in Germany. Pending the imposition of the final peace terms, this part of the former German Empire will be occupied by the Allied troops.

KING CHARLES OF AUSTRIA- HUNGARY GIVES UP THRONE

REVOLUTION AND ANARCHY PREVAIL THROUGHOUT THE HETEROGENEOUS HOLY ROMAN EMPIRE—
NEW PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENTS ARE HELPLESS

(Special to The News via G.T.P. Telegraphs.)
Copenhagen, November 13.—The abdication of King Charles of Austria-Hungary is officially announced from Vienna. The young king and his empress have found their period of rule to be extremely exacting. They have fled from Vienna to one of their estates, where they are living in seclusion, so far as seclusion is possible within the borders of the disrupted Dual Monarchy.

Karl Quits Cold.
Paris, November 13.—The late Emperor Charles of Austria has issued a manifesto declaring that he is forsaking all participation in public affairs of German Austria, as well as in the other portions of his empire.

Austria Seething.
London, November 13.—From reports received here from various parts of Austria-Hungary, the conditions of the population of these countries is desperate. Famine, revolution and anarchy are rife everywhere. The poor are without food and the new provisional governments of the various states into which the two countries are now divided have so far been unable to relieve the situation to any appreciable extent, notwithstanding all their efforts.

New States.
Bohemia, Hungary, the Tyrol, and the Slav provinces have each set up independent governments already, and in Austria proper the people are seething with revolution and no stable order has yet arisen out of the turmoil.

LOOK A SHOT AT THE KAISER WHEN FLEEING

Lord Said to Have Been on His Way to Surrender to Halt—Revolutionists Were After Him.

PRINCE ALSO IS REPORTED SHOT

London, Nov. 12.—According to a special dispatch received here from Holland, an attempt was made upon the life of the Kaiser as he was fleeing before the revolution which cast him from the throne. Shots were fired at him in which he was traveling in a motor car, smashing the windows, but without inflicting any casualties on the party. The ex-Kaiser, however, preferred to complete his journey to Eysden in Holland rather than risk a further attempt. Reports received here state that the German Crown Prince was also shot at, but no details nor confirmation have yet been received here.

British for Preference.

Amsterdam, Nov. 12.—According to reports current throughout Holland, the ex-Kaiser had no intention of taking refuge in England. He was travelling to the Netherlands to surrender himself to the British commander, General Haig, and the German revolutionists were off. When Wilhelm found that he could not carry out his intention, he changed his course and fled to Holland rather than fall into the hands of his former subjects.

$303,000 AND GOING STRONG

Victory Loan Canvassers Busy
Yesterday and Bring in Good Reports—Last Few Days Now.

PRINCE RUPERT DISTRICT EXCEEDS ITS ALLOTMENT

Prince Rupert District investments in the Victory Loan totalled $303,000 up till last night, which makes a showing of $21,350 for yesterday's canvass. This is fairly satisfactory, and as half of the city or thereabouts has still to be covered, there is every hope that this amount will be very largely increased.

The Prince Rupert District has already oversubscribed her quota, which shows that those good people who allocated the amount to this district underestimated its capabilities in the matter of cash available. It is up to Prince Rupert, then, to set its own mark, largely in excess of the $300,000 asked, and go right after it. Half a million dollars would be none too large an amount for a city like this. There is none other of course, but that should not prevent this city from setting its own standard. With $27,500 rolling in every year as interest, this amount ought to add to the prosperity of the whole district, as well as to the wise investors in Victory Bonds.

It is good business to invest in Victory Bonds rather than let money lie in the bank. The cash is equally accessible, for Victory Bonds command a ready market, almost at any time. Five and a half per cent is better than three, any time, so buy Victory Bonds for all you are worth.

IMPERIAL WAR CABINET TO RESUME SITTINGS

London, November 13.—Reuters Agency learns that the Imperial War Cabinet will shortly resume its sittings in order to deliberate upon the terms of peace. There will also be important conferences and discussions in London between the Imperial and Dominion statesmen.

"I am the Man in the Trenches."

When the call came, I went out to fight the common enemy of mankind. I sought no other reason, asked no proof. The Empire's call was for men, and I went. I entrusted you with a task. I demanded of you that you care for those near and dear to me, and foot the bill for them and for me. For more than four years I have stood between you and desperation. I have been through hell and suffered the tortures of the damned; have been succeeded and again gone forth to drive the enemy back.

On foreign soil I am greeted by one and all, poor and rich, as the savior of mankind.

When I return to Canada, I shall call upon you for an accounting of your stewardship. I shall ask of you, "How have you kept your trust," and woe betide those who have failed me—those who have been mere boasters whilst others and I have paid the price. I AM coming back from a land where Men poured out their wealth till told to stop—till there was none to pour, but there the wealth was blood, not gold.

My account lies with a man named Foch. But yours is due to me, and unless you can look me straight in the face and cry, "I fought with you," and show me your bonds, I shall deem you have been the Kaiser's friend and no quarter will be shown. I will judge, not by your cheers or the flags you waved when peace came, but by the aid you gave—the Bonds you bought. There is yet time for you to make good and I warn you that if you have not, then waste no time in doing so. Because I, the Man from the Trenches, am in no mood for dealing with traitors and slackers. There are only four more days to do your bit. If you meant those cheers, when you heard of peace, buy your bonds today.

THE MAKING OF MUNITIONS WILL STOP GRADUALLY

Ten Per Cent. of Workers Will be Let Out at a Time—Shipbuilding Continues
Uninterruptedly.

(Special via G.T.P. Telegraphs.)

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—In planning the cessation of war activities in Canada, while the manufacture of rifles and ammunition will finally stop, there will be no alteration in the Dominion's shipbuilding program for some very considerable time. Very many contracts have been let at the various ports for the construction of new vessels, and there are many vessels still in the stocks under construction sufficient to keep the yards busy for quite a long time.

In the manufacture of munitions, while the demand for rifles and shells at the front has ceased, the output of the munition factories will be lessened gradually. The employees engaged in the production of these articles will be released in lots of ten per cent at a time, which will prevent the labor market from being overcrowded all at one time, and permit of the first numbers being absorbed into other lines of occupation before the succeeding ten per cent are released.

The process will be a gradual one to minimize the disturbance of conditions as much as possible. With the scarcity of labor prevailing at the present time, and continuous demands being made upon Canada's productive capacity for Europe, it is not considered likely that there is much danger of unemployment in Canada.

We have the victory; now let us buy the bonds.

ALLIED PRISONERS IN GERMANY WILL TRAVEL VIA HOLLAND

(Special via G.T.P. Telegraphs.)

Paris, Nov. 13.—Holland has consented to carry on the work of repatriating all the Allied prisoners now held captive in Germany. The many thousands of prisoners will be drawn from the various detention camps throughout Germany and sent to their own countries as fast as it is possible. Those who are in good physical condition will naturally be able to travel fastest and will be evacuated first. It is considered that it will take some considerable time to get all the sick and wounded cases moved from the interior of Germany and brought to Holland before they can be dispatched home.

TOTAL OF VICTORY LOAN IS CLIMBING

(Special via G.T.P. Telegraphs.)

Toronto, November 13.—The total subscriptions to the Victory Loan 1918 to date amounts to $367,864,150. Of this total the province of British Columbia has contributed the sum of over $18,000,000.

DAILY EDITION.

Wednesday, Nov. 13, 1918.

Big Celebration is Promising Event.

The big celebration which is expected to take place next week is an important event and will be entered into with zest doubtless by all the people. The time of year is not very suitable for some of the events if the weather happens to be bad, but at any rate some of the events can be pulled off.

This is a boat town and it would have been a pity to leave out the boats. It will be a pretty sight to watch them if the weather is at all kind. It is to be an all-day holiday for most people and the day being one of public rejoicing he who will not close up his premises for the occasion will not be counted much as a citizen.

Now is Learning What War Means.

At last the Kaiser is learning something of what it means to be hounded and shot at. Perhaps even yet he may learn what war means and what the suffering is like that he has brought on his dupes and even more on his enemies. It may not be any good for the late Kaiser to suffer and yet would not seem like justice if he got away free without bodily hurt.

Those especially whose families have been the victims of the Hun brutality must feel intensely bitter against not only the ex-Kaiser but against the whole brood of those in authority who perpetrated or allowed to be perpetrated such awful atrocities. They have sown the wind and are reaping the whirlwind as the biblical scholar would say. Retributive justice it is to be hoped will not pass them over lightly.

Cruelty of Nature Crops Out in Kaiserdom.

Nature is cruel. That is her way. From the earliest days men have killed each other, and in the lower orders of life one feeds on the other. The kitten tortures the mouse before killing it and yet the sweet thing is the ladies' plaything. In the bird world there is the same cruelty as in the animal world. The butcher bird catches its prey and pins it alive on a spike in order that it may keep fresh until needed. So it is all along the line. Even in social life the outcast does not get much consideration. Business is cruel for the weak are crowded to the wall and the strong dominate and live on the fat of the land. It is just an outcropping of this natural cruelty in the animal world that seems to have urged the Kaiser on. He read the psalms of David and other scripture writings and they justified much of what he did. The later messages of love and tolerance and unselfishness and real courage were forgotten or probably never learned. The Kaiser was a moral pervert and he seems likely to suffer the fate of most perverts.

Could Trust The British.

That the Kaiser was on his way to surrender himself to the British is the latest fact, according to yesterday's dispatches. The German revolutionists, however, headed him off, and compelled him to take refuge in Holland.

The Kaiser had the choice in surrendering, and that he should choose the British commander is significant of the standing of the British name on the continent of Europe. That Kaiser Wilhelm would be just a little distrustful of the first French or Belgian forces his party came across may well be imagined. While the British soldiers have little reason to love Kaiser Bill, the Frenchmen or Belgians have still less reason. But at the same time it was against Britain that the Kaiser and all Germany vented the hatred which was the strongest feeling in Germany since the beginning of the war.

Notwithstanding it all, Wilhelm knew he would get a square deal from the British, and that he would not be disposed of out of hand. That he will get a square deal and all that is coming to him, Britain and the British people will doubtless see to.

After the War—What?

Now that actual hostilities have ceased, and although it will be some considerable time yet before peace conditions will prevail generally, those changes which must follow the four fighting years are causing great interest. The period of reconstruction will be an interesting period, although fraught with danger, too. There is the demobilization of the troops to take place. And there is the army of working women to be considered, who so efficiently stepped into the places left vacant by the fighting men. What of them? They have proved that they are fit for a man's work in many lines. Having proven their worth, and tasted the bitter-sweets of the alleged independent life, their former occupation of dishwashing and housecleaning is not so attractive. They will want to retain their new duties. Still, there is always room for producers.

NEARLY THOUSAND WHALES ARE CAUGHT

Only One Short of Round Number By Whole Fleet; Most Successful Season in History.

Lacking one whale to total a round thousand for the season, all the steam whalers of the Consolidated Whaling Corporation are now back to port for the winter.

From the number of mammals captured the past whaling season has been one of the most successful in the history of the whaling industry. Nine hundred and ninety-nine whales have been taken this year, the catch of the various stations being as follows:

British Columbia stations—Kyuquot, 246; Rose Harbor, 140; Naden Harbor, 114.

At the Bay City station 189 mammals were taken; the Akutan station, located in the Aleutian Islands, taking the plum with a catch of 310.

The whalers stayed on the grounds longer than was scheduled in an effort to land that elusive whale and thus round out the year's catch to the thousand mark, but the weather became bad and they were forced in.

The steam whalers White, Blue, Black and St. Lawrence are already in port at Point Ellice, the William Grant is at Naden Harbor awaiting coal, while the three whalers, the Brown, Green and Orion, are still patrolling the waters south and east of Cape St. James in search of bodies from the Galiano.

The Kodiak, blue ribbon vessel of the fleet, which bagged a total of 111 big mammals during the summer, has arrived in Seattle from Akutan. The vessel's crew killed twenty-nine blue whales, eight sperm whales and seventy-four finbacks and humpbacks during the season. Officers of the Kodiak said that unfavorable weather was experienced early in the summer, but later in the season the weather improved and a fine record was made.

The Unimak bagged eighty-seven, the Tanginak forty-two and the Paterson seventy-eight of the big mammals. The vessels operating off the Aleutian Islands in Behring Sea and the North Pacific near Unimak Pass. The largest mammal killed during the season was a blue whale eighty-nine feet in length which weighed more than eighty tons.

The Kodiak, Tanginak and Unimak are owned by the Consolidated Whaling Corporation.

The season just closed is the most prosperous in the history of the whaling industry on the North Pacific. One of the officers of the Kodiak, which was paid off a few days ago, received more than $3,000 for his summer's work in the North.

CANVASSER HAS AN UNIQUE EXPERIENCE

How one lady "put it over" on her beloved spouse is told by a Victory Loan canvasser who was a party to an interesting experience the other day.

It seems that a lady had signed up for a $50 bond on her doorstep in the absence of her husband. All went well, and the application took its usual course until the morning of the next day. As the officials at headquarters were sorting out the numerous application forms collected by the canvasser the day before, the telephone rang in a most peremptory manner. The voice of an outraged man at the other end wanted to know if that were the Victory Loan office. If it were, why in the name of all that was holy had the officials robbed his home, deluded his wife and brought ruin on his head?

After some further conversation of the same character, the officials discovered that the party was the husband of the lady who had purchased the bond the day before. In obedience to the oft repeated and rather warm requests of the husband, the application was sought among the piles of others and at last discovered. The husband would not hang up until he was told that the fatal paper had been destroyed.

The incident was forgotten un-

And she did. The veil has not been lifted from subsequent developments yet.

In the Letter Box

To the Editor,

Mr. Montgomery and the members of the City Council are still living in the past. Whenever Cow Bay is mentioned they at once return to the days when the city was trying to work out the beginnings of a city. I have not been here more than a year and yet if I say Cow Bay I am at once deluged with a mass of semi-historic fact or fiction all of which I am asked to believe.

Now sir, I know that the local engineer has received orders to proceed with the work and I also know that he was not very keen to give out his information to you. Sizing up all the arguments for and against each scheme I find that it comes down to this: Does the city own Cow Bay or does the Provincial Government own it? If the Government owns it they have a right to exchange it for other property.

I may say that I have inquired about it a good deal from those who ought to know and I can find no record of the city owning any part of it. If that is true they have no rights there.

But, Mr. Editor, I want to go farther than that and say that even if they have a right of way over it, which I very much doubt, that is no excuse for holding up the development scheme which the engineer is about to start. Let that place be tied up for the next few years, as it may probably be if the Council stands pat, and the city will lose much more than the cost of a piece of waterfront. The Provincial Government represents the people just as much as the Council does. It represents the visitors here as well as the citizens. If it is willing to shoulder the burden of keeping up the floats, why not let them. That is the stand I take and I think it is reasonable. This other stuff the councillors peddle is just so much election dope, but I don't think it will work. The fishermen know what they want.

"CHEECHAKO."

Red Cross Notes

C. V. Evitt, who is a prisoner of war at Grauden, West Prussia, writes that since receiving parcels of food from the society he is able to take short walks, and his wounds are gradually healing.

Will Mrs. Harry Brown, who won a potted palm at a recent Friday sale, please call and claim the same, or telephone the convenor, phone 230.

The following letter has been received from Pte. Arthur Bristow of Queen Charlotte City, who is a prisoner in Germany:

"Dear Friends,—Your kind letter of the 23rd May to hand. I have been receiving parcels from you regularly, and I thank you very much for them and your kind interest. I always acknowledge each individual parcel. I thank you all for your kindness very much.
(Signed)
ARTHUR BRISTOW, No. 430047.

It is hoped that it will not be necessary to look after prisoners of war much longer, as one of the first stipulations of the armistice terms is the release of the prisoners. All the same it is a good thing to know that these parcels have been reaching the men regularly, and that the boys have been saved by the food sent by the Red Cross Society.

Many people are under the impression that it will no longer be necessary to do Red Cross work, now that it is hoped peace has come, but there has never been more need of help than at the present time, when the allies in their onward march have released thousands of civilians in these devastated countries. A call has been sent to the Red Cross for all kinds of clothing for these refugees, who must be cared for this winter. In Toronto the Society is already engaged in this work and it is expected that this city will be asked to do the same, as well as continuing to look after the wounded who have been put out of action in recent weeks.

Buy bonds and get rich. The man who saves and invests is the man who gets ahead.

Anyox is saying: "Watch my smoke, Rupert."

U.S. RELATIONS WITH CANADA

More Closely Knit Than Cousins,
Says Financial Man in New York.

STUDIED EACH OTHER
SINCE WAR BEGAN

To predict Canadian-American relations, with exactitude, for the after-the-war period would be presumptuous guess work, though in the main it appears certain to close observers that the very friendly associations of the past four years particularly must be further cemented, says J. Herbert Hodgins, statistician of the Union Bank in New York.

The futures both of Canada and of the United States are too closely interwoven to be otherwise for mutual advantage. Reciprocity, because of its pre-war political connections, is not a happy word to choose, but when all is said and done it will be admitted that it has been the reciprocal spirit or community of action that has fostered the new spirit of comradeship.

Canada and America, as near-neighbors and as allies in the struggle for democracy, are more closely knit than cousins. Thomas W. Lamont, one of the J. P. Morgan partners, has aptly expressed it by referring to the United States as Canada's "big sister."

Canadian-American Trade.

Possibly there will be a measure of reduction in the trade over the international boundary when peace comes, for it cannot be overlooked that the figures of trade between Canada and the United States have been tremendously increased by reason of the heavy volume of essentially war business, but it is equally conceivable that peace times will bring about conditions to supplement any decline in present trade figures, induced through the cessation of war commerce.

Nine years ago Canada bought from the United States goods worth $163,000,000, and the United States from Canada $79,000,000. The trade grew, grew by leaps and bounds, until in the twelve months of America's last fiscal year Canada bought from the United States $778,500,000, and the United States from Canada $434,000,000. Think what a gigantic increase! The total trade between the two countries growing from $242,000,000 to $1,212,000,000 in the year just ended—an increase of 400 per cent.

Greater Respect.

"It goes without saying," to quote Mr. Lamont's address to the Canadian Society in New York early in the year, "that if we Americans have increased our business with you and our investments in your great country, we have at the same time studied you more, studied your resources and the character of your development, and I want you to appreciate that the increase in our attachment to Canada must not be measured simply in the cold figures of our growing trade and the increasing investments with her. On the contrary there has been an expansion of our respect and of our affection for Canada, far more important than that indicated by the barometers of trade."

This must not be put down as the utterance of one man. It was said by one man it is true, but it represents the comment of one big man, a man big in the affairs of America.

AVOID PNEUMONIA

During Convalescing Period.

When convalescing from the flu a powerful blood-making tonic is an absolute necessity, and one that is accepted by the most delicate stomach should be available.

It is a reliable restorative and is enjoyed when other medicines disagree.

BRITISH COLUMBIA TO LEAD

British Columbia has contributed more fighting men in proportion to her population than any other Province in Canada—about one in ten as against one in nineteen for all Canada.

And British Columbia has backed up her boys with her money.

The Victory Loan 1917 was subscribed to by one in 7.8 of the population of British Columbia as against one in 9.62 for all Canada.

British Columbia has produced nearly all the lead and zinc, most of the copper, all the canned salmon, all the aeroplane timber, and most of the ships used in Canada's war effort.

British Columbia has a splendid record of fighting, serving, producing and lending, to maintain.

And now British Columbia has an opportunity to excel herself in lending—buying Victory Bonds 1918.

Let British Columbia lead all the other provinces in both the number of subscribers and the amount per capita—only two other provinces tied her in the amount per capita for the Victory Loan 1917.

British Columbia will lead this time if every man, woman and child will lend and work—will buy bonds and "rustle."

Let British Columbia tower above all other provinces in lending as she does in fighting.

STRUCK SNAG

Canvassers at Victoria Discovered German Sympathizer and Reported Him to Military Authorities.

Victoria, Nov. 12.—Canvassing for the Victory Loan yesterday, Kenneth Ferguson and C. Bishop discovered an old man who thought an invasion of this country by Germany would be advantageous to Canadians. He had never bought Victory Bonds, he did not intend to, and he did not care how the war ended.

The two canvassers entered the grounds of the man's residence. They were greeted by the owner who refused point-blank to have anything to do with the Loan. "I never bought any bonds," he said, "and I don't intend to."

In reply to the arguments of the canvassers, the old man stated his conviction that the Government was "rotten." The canvassers pointed out that they were not there to talk politics, but Victory Bonds.

He did not believe in sending Canadian troops to fight overseas. To this Mr. Ferguson pointed out that if the Canadians were not in France there might be a German Government here.

"I don't know but we would be better off if there were a German form of Government here," said the old man turning away.

The canvassers were quite taken aback. When they further questioned him concerning his nationality, he told them he was English.

"You don't seem to be very English in your ideas," remarked one of the canvassers, and he added that his sentiments savored strangely of Prussianism. The canvassers told the man that they intended to report him to the military authorities. The latter began then to stammer something about how he had not said anything which was wrong, but he gradually lapsed back into the same vein. The Victory Loan officials are leaving the matter in the hands of the military authorities.

Howard Campbell, who has had a long spell at the General Hospital, left that institution yesterday and returned to his home in Hazelton this morning.

Mrs. Morte H. Craig was among the passengers returning to the city today from Seattle and Victoria, where she has been visiting for the past four or five weeks.

Passengers arriving in town this morning tell of Vancouver having a great celebration on Monday when the armistice terms were authenticated. The streets were jammed, all places of business were closed and "mattacking" was the order of the day.

Word has been received from Smithers that they are away over their quota there with Victory Bonds. They were allotted some $17,000 and already have well over $25,000 subscribed, and hope to make it $30,000 before the end of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. C. Williams returned to the city last evening from a visit to Port Essington. This is Mr. Williams' last visit up river this season as inspector of fisheries, as Mr. and Mrs. Williams leave at the end of the week for their home in the south.

Just Camouflage

There are alleged to be robbers, thieves, pickpockets and possibly sandbaggers around trying to hike off with a muddy creek at Cow Bay which will soon be spanned by many G.T.P. tracks. These thieves are wanting to make the steal so they can build some floats for horrid fishermen.

Constable Adams has a good nose for bootleggers but whether he would be able to grab a man getting away with Cow Bay in his jeans is doubtful.

Alderman Casey says the city has not opposed the Cow Bay transfer, but it has given notice that it wants to say something. Possibly it will remark to the chairman that the weather is pleasant.

WAR MORTALITY

Insurance Claims During 1917 as Large as for Previous Three Years.

In examining the report of the superintendent of insurance on the operations of life insurance companies during 1917, attention is naturally attracted to the statistics of war mortality which have been a feature of the last two or three volumes. These indicate that the claims incurred on account of the war in 1917 were not far short of the total claims for the preceding three years. For the companies licensed by the department—not including those operating under provincial license—the claims for the year amounted to $5,629,232, as compared with $6,518,088 for the preceding years. These claims, it might be added, represent approximately 34.30 per cent. of the total death claims incurred, which shows how serious has become the burden imposed by the war on the life insurance companies.

Of the $5,629,232 war claims, $5,011,994 represent claims incurred on the lives of enlisted soldiers killed in action or dying from wounds—the actual military casualties; $375,760 represent claims on enlisted soldiers dying from other causes; the balances, $241,478, were claims on the lives of other persons engaged in war service or civilians dying as a result of military operations.
