Ships of Allies Anchor in Golden Horn—Take Possession of All Turkey's Strategic Positions.

CONDITIONS OF PEACE BEING IMPLEMENTED

(Special via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)
London, Nov. 14.—The Allied fleet arrived off Constantinople yesterday, having passed safely through the Dardanelles. The announcement is made by the Admiralty here. All the British and French troops occupying the straits, which extend all the way from the Mediterranean Sea right into the Sea of Marmora, paraded on the ships of the fleets passed through the narrows. The Golden Horn, Constantinople's wonderful harbor, is presenting an unwonted sight now. Part of the Allied fleet has passed the Bosphorus into the Black Sea, where they will take over from the Germans whatever naval equipment they have there, either belonging to Turkey originally or taken from Russia.

The active carrying out of the agreement made by Turkey and the Allies is now in progress.

U.S. BUDACIOUS SANK OFF COAST OF IRELAND

Announces the Loss of Battleship Four Years Ago; Fact Kept Secret Till The Present.

(Special via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)
London, Nov. 14.—The British Admiralty has just made its first announcement that the battleship Budacious was sunk by striking a mine off the north coast of Ireland on October 27, 1914. The loss of this battleship has been kept a secret up till the present, in answer to the urgent request of the commander in chief of the Grand Fleet.

LUMBER EXEMPT

Whether it is likely to be a decision among all branches of industry in Canada for twelve months after the war, the lumber industry in B. C. will be exempt from this, in the opinion of John McClary, head of the firm which bears his name in Eastern Canada, expressed in an interview. The world will require this product, Mr. McClary stated, and there would be plenty of shipping capacity to carry it to the four corners of the globe.

ACTING MINISTERS NEEDED AT OTTAWA

To Handle Trade and Customs Departments While Ministers Are Gone Away Overseas.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—Acting Ministers of Trade and Commerce and of Customs are to be appointed today. Hon. A. K. Maclean probably will be given the Trade and Commerce Department during the absence of Sir George E. Foster overseas. Hon. J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways and Canals, will probably take charge of the Department of Customs in the absence of Mr. Sifton.

His long Sir Robert Borden and his party will remain overseas will depend on the progress of the peace negotiations. It is regarded, however, that as an accepted fact here that should the negotiations be prolonged, Parliament would be called in their absence, probably in January. In this regard a curious situation has arisen. As a result of official appointments, three Government departments are now without direct representation in the House of Commons—the Department of Labor, the Postoffice and Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment. On the formation of the Union Government the likelihood was intimated of the appointment of a Parliamentary Under-Secretary of Labor. So far, however, no such course has been taken and the resignation of Mr. Crothers as Minister of Labor, with the subsequent appointment of Senator Robertson to the vacancy, results in direct representation of the Labor Department in the upper House. In view of the importance of post-war labor problems, it is considered altogether likely that a Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Labor will be appointed in the near future.

A similar situation has arisen in regard to the Postoffice Department. Before his appointment to the Senate, and previous to the general election, Hon. P. E. Blondin sat in the lower House. Next session the Postmaster-General will sit in the upper House, although the Department might be represented in the Commons by some other minister, as was the case last session.

Princess Mary is coming on Monday. It is officially announced that the C. P. R. steamer Princess Mary will call here on Monday next bound north to Alaska, and that on her return she will call here the following Saturday. She will then make regular sailings every two weeks.

The calls of the C. P. R. steamers had been missed since the sinking of the Sophia. The boats brought mail and passengers from Alaskan points to this port.

The Mary is not quite as large a boat as the Sophia, but she is a good, seaworthy craft.

H. Dube and M. Furluch are recent arrivals in town.

VICTORY BONDS ARE POPULAR

Nearly Everyone is Buying a Bond of Some Denomination—The Best Security in The World.

The total amount of subscriptions to the Victory Loan 1918 up till last evening aggregated $351,400 for the Prince Rupert district. Of this amount the city itself has contributed $297,100. Yesterday's reports showed that the sum of $28,400 was gathered in, for the day, the canvassers being fairly busy. One single subscription in yesterday's total was for $20,000 and was made by Peter Black. And this morning there is another large subscription of $10,000 received from Robert Kelly, of Kelly, Douglas & Co., Ltd.

The various canvassers are still busy and are meeting with good success in their endeavors. There are still, however, many people who are putting off until the last minute before buying bonds.

For people who have money, they should buy Victory Bonds. For people who have no money, they also should buy Victory bonds and save some. The answer is the same both ways.

The fact remains, however, that it is everyone's expressed intention of buying a bond. There is hardly anyone who cannot purchase one at least. And the number of purchasers of the small denominations is proof of the popularity of Victory bonds.

THEFT AND EMBEZZLEMENT

In the police court this morning the hearing of the charge against A. Anderson was resumed before Magistrate Carss. The charge this morning was amended from theft to theft and embezzlement of the sum of $12.45. The complainant was J. C. Gavigan, who was represented by W. E. Williams, while the accused was defended by L. W. Patmore. A plea of guilty was tendered and the accused chose to have the case disposed of in the police court. The maximum penalty being fourteen years, there was some discussion by opposing counsel as to the length of the sentence. For the prosecution it was urged that the offence was a serious one, and that as the accused was receiving good wages, $42 a week, he had no need to steal. Such action was a menace to the whole community, as the theft took place while Mr. Gavigan was off sick with influenza. Magistrate Carss reserved judgment until tomorrow.

Albert LeBlanc, charged with the theft of $60 from Laval Doulette, was sentenced to four months' imprisonment in Okalla Prison Farm by Judge Young in the County Court this morning.

The hearing of the charge against Harry Lascelles, charged with the theft of two slabs of bacon from George Frizzell, was further adjourned this morning, owing to the accused still being in the hospital.

GOVERNMENT FAILED ON SOLDIERS' ALLOWANCE

All organizations of returned soldiers are entering protest at the action of the Union Government in not making the promised increase to dependents of ten dollars a month, but reducing it at the last minute to five dollars. Besides the soldiers practically all public bodies have taken the matter up and are urging the Government to make the change even yet. The curious thing is that while the privates are given only five dollars increase the Lieutenants are given ten.

Rates of separation allowance are increased as follows with effect from September 1, 1918. Rank and file from $25 to $30 per month. Warrant officers, first class, from $30 to $35 per month. Lieutenants from $30 to $40 per month. You will include adjustment in December cheque which is to be issued not later than the 16th of December. In cases where the soldier has already been discharged adjustment may be made as convenient and where soldier subsequently discharged, adjustment may be made on date of discharge. In cases of men returned to Canada whose separation allowance has not been transferred to the district, adjustment will be made from Ottawa. In the case of returned men where the account has been closed in Ottawa and transferred to district the adjustment will be made locally.

The seat of government being in the east it is difficult for the members of the Government, most of whom are eastern men, to understand the conditions in the west and they do not make much effort to try.

NO CONFIRMATION OF WILHELM'S DEATH

(Special via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)
London, Nov. 14.—The British Foreign Department has received no further word whatever confirming the rumors of the assassination or attempted assassination of the former Emperor of Germany.

This morning in the police court before Magistrate Carss, F. Biddlecomb was bound over to good behavior in bonds of $1,000 and two sureties of $500 each. He was charged with using threatening language. A charge of a similar nature was laid against the accused some two months ago. In this case he informed several people that he intended to "fix" B. McEvoy, assistant at Sol. Mussallem's store on Fifth Avenue. Several witnesses gave evidence, and in the accused's pocket when apprehended were three 30-30 rifle cartridges.

OLD TIME YUKONERS LOST ON THE SOPHIA

Frank Slavin, Ex-Prize Fighter, Tells of People He Knew Who Went Down.

Frank Slavin, former champion heavyweight prizefighter, writes an interesting letter to one of the coast papers in which he speaks of some of the people who were lost on the Princess Sophia. He says in part:

Oh, it does make one sad when one thinks of such excellent people as the following men and women, and in many cases with little ones, sent to their doom without a chance for their lives. William Scouse was a most excellent man and a fortunate miner who came out of the North every fall. Mr. Scouse had the reputation of having hoisted the first bucket of gravel in the Klondike, and was just as good a man as his luck. Mrs. Scouse resides in Seattle. William O'Brien was a member of the Yukon Council, with wife and five interesting little children—how sad. Mr. O'Brien was looked upon as a coming man; he had positions of trust, and was looked upon as one of the reliable men of Dawson. Mr. O'Brien was a nephew of the late Thomas O'Brien, who was even; since 1887 to the day of his death looked upon as one of the builders of the Klondike. Walter Burns and brother Allan were two excellent men, and fortunate miners; they owned a very good hydraulic mine about four miles from Dawson; it is too bad to lose such men. Edward S. Ironside, collector of customs at Dawson, with his mother; it would be difficult to find a more capable person to fill such a position, and obliging withal. Mr. Ironside was on an official trip to Ottawa. John Zaccarelli, a Dawson merchant, and an obliging one. He will be missed. Albert D. Pinski and wife, merchant; Mrs. Pinski was a niece of former Governor Geer of Oregon. Sam Henry, a well-known merchant and highly respected member of the city. Murray Eads, a prominent Dawson man, and his wife; neither Murray nor his wife had been out of the country for two decades. Mrs. Eads wore about $6,000 worth of diamonds. Mr. Eads was a nephew of that celebrated engineer who improved the mouth of the Mississippi so much. Oscar Tackstrom was a pioneer business man of Dawson and Ruby, Alaska. Jack Chisholm and wife, a logging contractor; a man to be proud of in any community. David Williams was a Dawson business man of excellent standing. Joe Segbers and wife, an hotel man who had an excellent hotel burned down a few years ago in which Mr. Tabor, one of the leading lawyers of Dawson, and a driver on the White Pass stage lost their lives. Mr. Tabor was a most trustworthy limb of the law. Capt. Bloomquist, one who guided steamers on the Yukon river for many summers from White Horse to Dawson, always with satisfaction to the company and pleasing to the traveling public. His home was at Shawnigan Lake. His folks are to be pitied. What a disappointment! Charley Owen was a pioneer of Atlin, B.

GRAND FLEET CELEBRATES

Thirty Miles of Warships of Every Description Illuminated In Honor of the Armistice.

WONDERFUL SCENE OFF THE SCOTTISH COAST

(Special via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)

London, November 14.—One of the most marvellous scenes ever witnessed anywhere was that which appeared off the Scottish coast, when the Grand Fleet celebrated the signing of the armistice terms by the German plenipotentiaries. The line of warships extended for a distance of thirty miles. There were war vessels of every description congregated, and in the darkness every ship was illuminated and sparkling with points of light. The spectacle was visible for many miles and thousands of visitors journeyed from the nearby towns and cities to take in the sight, which was one of unexampled beauty.

WAR EXPORTS MORE THAN THREE BILLIONS

Exports of war materials and foodstuffs from Canada to the Allies during the month of August were valued at $49,313,409 as against $115,274,160 in August, 1917, according to the special compilation maintained by the Financial Post, from figures just available. The August figures compare with $69,951,000 for January, $64,475,000 for February, $66,526,900 for March, $47,604,000 for April, $46,195,000 for May, $74,720,700 for June and $69,999,800 for July.

With the August figures the total of Canada's war exports for the 49 months of the war period pass the three billion dollar mark, showing a grand total of $3,039,606,300. The export of essentially war commodities totals $1,161,904,400 and of foodstuffs, $1,874,701,900. America's exports of war commodities alone for 47 months aggregate $5,125,498,000.

The Reaction From the Strain of Warfare.

It seems rather a difficult matter to realize that now the fighting is past and done with, even for civilians here in Canada, who have never been within thousands of miles of the fighting front. And if the feeling of relief is so pronounced right here on the Pacific slope, it must be all the greater in those countries nearer the scenes of fighting, and within the radius of air raids. The fact of war, and all its terrible consequences has been brought home to the people of Great Britain with much greater force than to the people of Canada. This is partly because of their nearness to France. They also witnessed the lesser stream coming back, broken and wounded. Here we see an occasional wounded man, who has recovered. There they are so many that they can never be out of mind.

Never, either in Great Britain, was the horror of an air raid entirely away from the minds of the people, which the trans-Atlantic peoples were entirely free from. The feeling of relief, now that the tension is relaxed, must cause some reaction.

What Will They Do With Their Freedom?

The end of the war has caused a condition of affairs in Continental Europe which has been hoped and longed for for generations past. Within the past two years Russia has passed—is still passing—through the fires and ought to emerge purer and stronger. With the disruption of the Hohenzollern and Hapsburg Empires at once the cause of many futile rebellions is achieved. Poland, Ukraina, Bohemia, Hungary—the peoples of each of these countries have time and time again risen against their foreign oppressors, in vain endeavors to be allowed to conduct their own affairs according to their own ideas. Now they are in the fair way towards the achievement of their national ideals.

With the passing of the shadow of armed aggression which has hung like a pall over Europe particularly for the last hundred years or more, these peoples, intensely nationalistic as they are, now have the opportunity to work out their own destinies.

It is unlikely that they will be hampered with the fear of invasion of their territories by foreign armies as was Russia in her revolution. Without having need to guard against the enemy they will be the more able to set their house in order peacefully, if such be possible.

Canada's Role in The Post-War Period.

Our great Dominion of Canada, too, has a great deal to do during the period of the imminent time of the reconstruction of our boasted civilization. There is a whole lot of cleaning up and settling down to be done before the peoples of the world can enjoy peace once again. The most productive portions of Europe have been devastated. Large areas of her fruitful fields have remained untilled, with the result that famine threatens a large portion of her population. Until such time as the people there can enjoy the shade of their own vine and fig tree, Canada must help to supply their necessities.

Canada has still vast spaces to be brought under the plough and to be made to produce. "Production and still more production" must be Canada's watchword for years to come. Canada has the goods to produce, and the opportunity to dispose of them, both to her own advantage and to the advantage of the world generally. And Canada will rise to her opportunity.

What the Allies Will Do With the Kaiser.

The disposal of Wilhelm Hohenzollern is one of the matters which is causing considerable speculation at the present throughout all the Allied countries. The historic island of Elba in the Mediterranean Sea or the equally historic island of St. Helena in the southern Atlantic are being mentioned as possible places for his internment. Respect for the memory of the great soldier, however, precludes either of these places from consideration. Napoleon, although he was troubled with the "world power bug," was a soldier, with all a soldier's virtues, and that even his prison should be desecrated by the presence of Wilhelm would be too much of an insult to his memory.

Suggests Council Is Opposing Progress.

A caller at The News office yesterday suggested that if the city is determined to play the dog in the manger, neither allowing the Government to use the waterfront which can be traded for Cow Bay nor making any concrete proposal to use it themselves, it would be opportune for them to get an amendment to their charter which would allow them to go ahead with the municipal cold storage of which Mr. Montgomery speaks. He was of opinion that there was too much politics in the action of the council and but for that they would soon settle the matter.

While The News would not like to impute ulterior motives to anybody it is of opinion that something should be done. This standing pat against the interests of the community is hardly conducive to progress.

The same person who suggested that the council go ahead and do something, also remarked that since the beginning of time the various councils had never done anything to encourage the fishermen or the fishing interests and that if they really had the business at heart this was a good time to show it.

MR. PATTULLO EXPLAINS HIS LAND POLICY

Answers Editorial in Veterans' Weekly and Clears Up Many Points Not Generally Understood.

In a recent editorial The British Columbia Veterans' Weekly criticized the policy of the Provincial Government in its plans directed towards bringing alienated and unpaid for Crown Lands back within the right of the Crown. The Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, replies to the comment in the current issue of The Weekly in the following terms in full:

Mr. Pattullo's Statement.

I note that your paper speaks editorially of the land question. It is very evident that there exists a very great deal of misapprehension in respect to this important subject.

A number of questions are asked in your editorial, but they are asked in such a way as to leave the implication that a condition of affairs exists which does not exist; that a course of action has been taken which, as a matter of fact, has not been taken; and that a course of action has not been taken which, as a matter of fact, has been taken.

You state, "So far as one can judge from the outside, the speculator remains where he was, and holds with a firmer clutch than ever the patrimony of the people of this province. We ask, Minister Pattullo, if this is not so?" The answer is "No." The so-called speculator accuses this government of having passed confiscatory legislation which will take his property clean away from him. Your editorial implies that the speculator has a firmer hold than ever. The facts are that holders of property who develop them need have no fear of our legislation, while those who will not develop their property will have to make way for those who will.

Soldiers' Land Bill.

You ask, "Is it not the case that because of an extended time limit for payment given the speculator by the Government, some two million fewer acres came back to the Crown than was expected to come as a result of the late Government's 'soldiers' land bill?" The answer to this is "No."

The total acreage involved under the "Soldiers' Homestead Act," to which you refer as the "Soldiers' Land Bill," was approximately 2,700,000 acres. This bill provided for a form of proportionate allotment for those who had not paid up the full purchase price.

The extension of time to which you refer involved at no time more than approximately 600,000 acres and, as a matter of fact, the land which was taken up under the extension was approximately 21,000 acres. This extension was granted in order that no injustice might be done in any instance where the parties involved had not received proper notice.

The situation is, therefore, that of the 2,700,000 acres which were sold, approximately 2,200,000 acres are back in the Crown; that is to say, that approximately 500,000 acres were either paid for in full or granted under proportionate allotment. All of this 500,000 acres was alienated before the present Government came into power. Of the 2,200,000 acres it will no doubt be found that a considerable portion is good land but it is situate, with little exception, some distance from transportation. The land situate close to transportation was bought and paid for in full or obtained through South African Scrip.

Compelling Legislation.

Now, what is the Government doing towards rendering the lands close to transportation available for settlement? As is already well known, the Government has passed legislation which provides means for compelling owners of land to use it or to let go of it and let somebody else use it. And, further, the Government is putting this legislation to actual practice.

The Spirit of Sunlight

All over the land the sun calls forth beauty, cleanliness, health and the renewing of youth. So with Sunlight Soap in the home. It redeems everything washable from the thralldom of dirt. Renews beauty and brings out old colors. It cleanses with a sure, gentleness that only the purest of soaps could accomplish.

Sunlight Soap

Its mission—as thousands of homes know—is to wash clothes, from the finest to the coarsest, without rubbing or old-time labour and discomfort. Also to wash woodwork, linoleums, dishes, utensils, etc., spotlessly clean with only a little soap. All this because it is absolutely pure.

The spirit of Sunlight is purity and cleanliness.

No one can buy better Soap.

NAVIGABLE WATERS PROTECTION ACT.

R.S.C. CHAPTER 115.

The Port Edward Fisheries Limited hereby gives notice that they have, under Section 7 of the said Act, deposited with the Minister of Public Works at Ottawa and in the office of the District Registrar of the Lana Registry, District of Prince Rupert, at Prince Rupert, B. C., a description of the site and the plans of a cannery and wharf proposed to be built on a portion of Porpoise Harbor at Port Edward, B. C., in front of part of Lot 4476, Range 5, Coast District.

And take notice that after the expiration of one month from the date of the first publication of this notice, the Port Edward Fisheries Limited will, under Section 7 of the said Act, apply to the Minister of Public Works at his office in the City of Ottawa, for approval of the said site and plans and for leave to construct the said cannery and wharf.

Dated at Vancouver, B. C., this twenty-fourth day of October, 1918.

In the Letter Box

RE COW BAY

To the Editor,

The letter by "Cheechako" in your issue of today strikes the key note of the situation by that last quotation, "The fishermen know what they want." The city council also know what they want, and by their attitude are determined that what they want to keep is Cow Bay, they declare that the city owns Cow Bay. A desirable piece of property I presume, and the state of Cow Bay or the stink that emanates from the said desirable piece of civic property for my part they can keep to themselves, as it is an abomination to twentieth century hygiene. The sidewalk that is used by the public when they wish to visit the waterfront is another asset to such a desirable piece of civic property. Rumor is to the effect that the lumber company in the confines of said bay built this sidewalk. If it is correct, credit is due to this progressive company for their action. But on the other hand I cannot reconcile myself to think that the City Council should allow this desirable property to sink to such a state as to become a nuisance to the public health by the sewerage that occasionally escapes from the pipe line that is carried across on trestles in said bay, and now that there is a chance to forward a project for the benefit of not only the fishermen, who by their calling have placed Prince Rupert on the map, and no one can deny or refute this statement, for without the fishing industry Rupert would soon die a natural death. Then we find that a large number of our townspeople have pleasure boats of their own and the floats would certainly be a godsend to them. Why a city like this is has so long delayed, or shall I say patiently waited, for the Provincial Government to build floats and wharves for the essential needs of its industries, and requirements is beyond my reasoning, whereas other private companies can secure waterfrontage, why not the city. Waterfrontage the city should have, and the Provincial Government should be made to fulfill its promises, floats for fishermen and enough for all who could use them with breakwater and facilities for dry-docking their boats so they can be repaired, and running water at each float for the personal needs of everyone, not like it is at present, by the lumber shed in Cow Bay. To secure these we must have representatives on our city council, and true representatives at the Provincial Government. The remedy is in your hands, take it in doses daily until election time comes around and then apply the remedy, and believe me you will be surprised that you have ignored the true remedy so long, and that is have your own class legislate for you. Join the Federated Labor party and help us in the next elections, civic or Provincial, or Dominion, it does not matter which.

Yours respectfully,
 "LABOR."

SOLDIERS CAN GET FARMING INSTRUCTION

London, Nov. 14.—The British Government has announced its plans to provide agricultural training for soldiers. Realizing that the experience which many of the men have passed through during the four years of war will make it impossible for them to return to their former occupations, and that thousands will have the desire to proceed overseas after demobilization, the Government is offering the opportunity for such men to fit themselves to become producers. The plans laid forth include a three months' course in Great Britain during this coming winter.

This plan includes instruction for soldiers from the overseas dominions also, as well as for English and Scottish soldiers. Provision is also made to authorize instruction for the men who return home immediately.

Even if you have already bought a Victory bond, don't you think you could manage to pay for another?

Why delay further? Buy that Victory bond now and settle the matter.

shall at once and immediately take over; all undeveloped lands, is to suggest an impossible proposition. At the present time all undeveloped lands are subject to wild land tax. If the Government were to immediately take over all undeveloped lands in the province it would at once be deprived of a large collectible revenue, while it would entail additional taxation upon the people because of the necessary interest and sinking fund that would have to be provided to liquidate the capital expenditure of money necessary in acquiring these lands.

For example, you state that all the undeveloped lands should be under the absolute control of the Government. And you further state that there are 5,000,000 acres of such lands. Just figure out what the holding cost of these 5,000,000 acres would be and the length of time it would take to bring them under development and it will be readily seen that action along this line is not of practical character. We must meet the situation in a business-like way and do what we can do under existing conditions. Along practical lines, therefore, we have already defined two areas. As fast as circumstances warrant, other areas will be delimited.

All in Hand.

As to the suggestion by question in your editorial that the holders of land within these areas are to be provided a fat profit by those responsible for appraising the lands, I am disappointed that such a suggestion should be made without one little of reason on the facts. As a matter of fact, holders of lands, both within and without these areas, are offering objection to the appraisals made on the ground that they are much too low to enable the present holders to get anything like their money back.

Of the lands which are now in right of the Crown, we are offering the best available to returned men.

The situation in a nutshell is, therefore, that areas of undeveloped lands close to transportation are now being made available for settlement both by civilians and by returned soldiers, with special privileges to returned soldiers, while of the lands which came back to the Crown by reason of not having been paid for, the best of these are being rendered available for settlement by returned soldiers, free of cost to the soldier.

PASSING OF THE BOILED SHIRT

The shining breastplate of the Englishman, his stiff white shirt, will soon be a thing of the past. The rigid rationing of coal will prevent the fine gloss on linen. This will be a blow to the conventional, well-dressed man, but he will survive it, as he has survived greater calamities. It is all to the good that the war has been taking the starch out of us. We are too stiff to adapt ourselves to circumstances. The soft shirt is a symbol of accommodation to environment. America and the colonies had not to learn the little lesson of the laundry. They have been soft shirties from the beginning of their histories. Lincoln was a soft shirt man, as our premiers across the seas have been soft-shirt men, but they presented a stiff front to adversity although they had no use for "starch." We will get back again some of these days to what old-fashioned writers call "immaculate evening dress," but the old rigidity will have disappeared from our social and international outlook.—London Daily Express.

Harry Shelton, of Ketchikan, died at Camp Dodge of influenza.

Business men of Cordova meet every Friday at lunch to discuss community affairs.

The Yukon potato crop has been harvested. It was a large crop and many of the spuds weigh six pounds each.

Thomas Taylor of Dawson, a pioneer, passed away recently.

One of Alaska's worst trails, that between Kaltag, a lower Yukon town, and Unalakleet, a Norton Sound coast point between St. Michael and Nome, is being given winter stake markings. Stakes along the trail, it is believed will help the mail carriers and their dog teams during the winter. Mail from Nome, St. Michael and Seward Peninsula points is carried over a strip of the Kaltag-Unalakleet trail during the winter. In the summer it runs through wilderness and is used by only the most daring "mushers," who by taking the seventy-mile trail, can save a 250-mile trip through the Yukon delta and across a strip of the Bering Sea to St. Michael. In the winter this trail is packed by snow but in the summer it is boggy and climbs or goes around thousands of nigger-heads.

Water shortage has materially interfered with the gold dredging operations on the northern part of Seward Peninsula this season. Reports from Candle says that little mining is going on. An operator on the Kugruk was unable to move his dredges down to the Keewalik because of the low water. Conditions at Bear Creek have been better, according to reports. Operators from the Innachuk section report fair success in dredging operations this year. The Cordocando Mining Company, one of the largest concerns in that district, reports unusual success.

The harvesting of the gardens at Nenana planted last spring showed remarkable results from new ground. Nearly all the vegetables attained a good size and 5-pound turnips were a common sight. All manner of vegetables were planted and the residents of the town are pleased with the results of their summer's work.

Members of the city council of Cordova hereafter will be elected for a term of two years, the mayor for one year; and the offices of the mayor, town clerk, and town treasurer will become elective if the ordinance passed by the city council at a regular meeting in the city hall receives the approval of voters at a referendum vote to be held November 5.

Ye Town Crier

We all know
That chipper fellow
Who greets you thus:
"Have you heard
The latest?"
And then springs
Some ancient wheeze
That may be funny,
Or may be flat;
Depends on how you feel.

I don't care much
For wheezes myself,
But here's a good one:
If you have saved money,
Buy Victory Bonds!
If you haven't saved money,
Buy Victory Bonds.
And save some!
Answer's the same
In either case.
Now you chipper fellows
Tell that to your friends
And keep on telling it,
It's gospel!
