GERMAN AVIATOR ON WORLD FLIGHT IMPERIAL CONFERENCE SWIFTLY GETTING DOWN TO WORK

Captain Von Gronau Is Flying Atlantic Today On Way to Chicago

Long Distance Flyer Expected to Stop at Prince Rupert, Fuel Having Already Arrived—Is Accompanied By Three Companions

PRINCE RUPERT, July 22.—Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, German long distance aviator, who has already made two trans-Atlantic flights from Germany, took off from here today for Chicago whence he plans on flying to the Pacific Coast and thence around the world. He is accompanied in his seaplane, "Greenland Wal," by Franz

Wick, mechanic, and Fritz Albrecht, wireless operator, both of whom were with him on his previous flights, and also by Gert Von Roth, second pilot.

Von Gronau's route across the Atlantic Ocean will be substantially the same as that taken in 1930 and 1931 via Iceland, Greenland, Labrador and Montreal.

That Capt. Von Gronau plans on making a stop at Prince Rupert in the course of his world flight is indicated by the fact that special gasoline for his use is being held here, having arrived three or four weeks ago.

DELEGATION AT MEETING

School Board Gives Little Satisfaction to Rotary Club Representatives

Explaining that financial exigency and not choice had actuated the decision to eliminate manual training for boys from the school curriculum during the coming year, the board of school trustees was able last night to give little satisfaction to a delegation representing the Prince Rupert Rotary Club which requested that, if at all possible, this department should be retained. All members of the board expressed themselves as being in favor of retaining the department at all possible but saw little hope of this being done. They gave assurance that the decision to eliminate the department had been only taken as a last resort and it was hoped the department might be reopened after a year. Any suggestions that might be offered with a view to retaining the department would be welcomed.

Trustee J. J. Gillis, in the course of rather lengthy remarks on the subject, expressed the opinion that the alarming condition of health of school children as shown in the reports of medical examiners was a matter which should receive attention if at all possible. Chairman W. J. Greer and Trustee Arthur Brooksbank also explained to the delegation why it had been necessary to eliminate the manual training.

The delegation from the Rotary Club consisted of Capt. W. P. Armour, G. A. Bryant and V. S. Moore each of whom stressed the desirability of continuing the manual training department in operation, suggesting that, if possible, other departments might be curtailed to permit of this. Co-operation and assistance of the club in any way possible toward this end were pledged by the delegation.

Buchanan Boys On Way North

Detroit Coal Merchant Making His Annual Trip to Alaska With Youthful Protégés

George E. Buchanan, Detroit coal merchant, who has been bringing parties of boys through Prince Rupert to Alaska for the past several years, was here this morning on the Princess Charlotte bound for Skagway with a group of 16 boys. The party will go into the Atlin district and return south on the Princess Louise, next boat after the Princess Charlotte.

Under Mr. Buchanan's plan, the boys are required to earn part of the money required for the trip while he advances them the balance on the understanding that it is to be repaid when they are older to assist in sending more boys north.

The Pacific Steamship Co.'s (Admiral Line) excursion steamer Dorothy Alexander, Capt. A. W. Nickerson, was in port this morning on her final call of the season. On arrival at Seattle, it is understood that this vessel will be placed on the California run to handle her share of the passenger traffic to and from the Olympic Games.

Tells of Wonderful Breakfast Gathering in Seattle When Work Among Boys Was Discussed

Urges Local Action

An intensely interesting address was given by Paul Armour yesterday at the weekly luncheon of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club in which he told of attending a breakfast gathering at the Hotel Olympic in Seattle during the recent international convention, presided over by Oscar Squires, warden for the past 33 years of Sing Sing Prison, New York.

Among the interesting things learned at the breakfast was that of all boys sent to the reformatories, 50% later landed in jail. On the other hand where the probation system was in force 94% of the probationers were not again reported as going to prison.

In the state of New York 900,000 of the men had been Boy Scouts and not one had ever found himself in jail. This spoke volumes for the work of that boys' organization. It indicated that where the boys were given the proper training they became good citizens.

One of the Rotarians at the breakfast told how in the town from which he came, a place not very much larger than Prince Rupert, all delinquent boys were turned over to a committee of five Rotarians and only one of the boys in a number of years had been reported as again running foul of the law.

Mr. Armour then drew attention to the conditions in Prince Rupert where weather and other conditions made it difficult for the boys. Manual training was one very necessary thing under those conditions. It was found that this was a better medium than any other of interesting those who were apt to get into trouble. Not only had the local school board decided to stop the manual training classes but it also talked of dismantling the room and using it for a class room for other subjects. If this were done it would be fatal to revival of the work at a future time.

Right of Boys

Mr. Armour urged that the boys had as much right to manual training as had the girls to domestic science. There were 182 boys who would be deprived of the benefits of the training and they were for it almost 100%. The cost of the course, including the salary of the teacher, was $2,460 a year. He thought it was up to the club to get behind this. (Continued on Page Two)

WOULD CUT SR. MATRIC

Principal Hartness Makes Recommendations to School Board Regarding Next Year's Work at High School

On the grounds that the class will not be self-supporting and for other reasons, D. H. Hartness, principal of King Edward High School, in a report presented to the board of school trustees at its meeting last night, recommended that the senior matriculation class be discontinued next year. Mr. Hartness informed the board that up to eleven pupils might be offering for this grade next term but the number would not likely be in excess of six or eight.

Principal Hartness also recommended to the board that home economics instruction for girls of Grade 9 and 10 be dropped until such time as manual training for the boys was resumed.

Mr. Hartness further suggested that the commercial class next year be limited to thirty pupils. Fourteen pupils for this class were already offering.

Forty pupils are expected next year in Grade 11, 74 in Grade 10 and 109 in Grade 9. Mr. Hartness' report stated. Two teachers would be required for Grade 10 while Grade 9 would need three.

There would probably be a shortage of seating accommodation in the high school next year, the report stated.

The report of Principal Hartness was laid on the table until next month.

Matriculation Fees And Text Books Are Resolution Subject

The local school board will present a resolution to the annual convention of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association to be held September 19 in Kelowna urging that the present excessive fees in connection with the matriculations be reduced or eliminated by the government and also that there be fewer changes in prescribed text books for the High School. The matter of the matriculation examination fees was brought up by Chairman W. J. Greer and the text books by Trustee W. O. Fulton.

THE Y. M. C. A. SITE

The first concrete move with a view to the erection of a Y. M. C. A. building in Prince Rupert was taken formally yesterday when the Rotary Club purchased from the city four lots as a site for the building at the corner of McBride Street and Third Avenue. The price paid was three thousand dollars which goes to the city to be used for relief purposes. This sum amounts to five years' taxes on the property.

The site is considered ideal for the purpose in that it is on one of the best corners in the city, that the basement does not need excavating, that the sewer system is very deep at that point, probably the only place in the city where it has sufficient depth and that opposite the building the provincial government grounds provide an excellent running track for athletes.

Should it be so desired there could be business premises on the ground floor facing Third Avenue which might help materially in financing the institution.

The Rotary Club is to be congratulated on its foresight in securing these lots and at the same time helping the city in its relief work. George Munro, who recently retired from the presidency of the club, is said to have concocted the plan and engineered the deal in collaboration with T. H. Johnston, who is one of the trustees for the newly acquired property. The lots are now held in trust for the institution whenever it shall be decided to proceed with the building.

JUST POLITICIANS

The great statesmen who today are formulating policies for the guidance of the British Empire were only a few years ago just politicians. Hardly any of them were big businessmen. They have been trained for a lifetime in the science of politics, have taken hard knocks in the House of Commons of their country, have planned political coups, have fought and won as politicians and developed into what we call statesmen. That was the field in which Gladstone and Disraeli were developed. Neither Mussolini nor Lenin was a big businessman. The leaders everywhere have been trained in the hard school of politics.

Take the opposite side and you find Simon Fraser Tolmie who scarcely ever thought of such a thing as politics shovelled into political life at the time of the Union Government at Ottawa. He was chosen because he knew nothing of politics and neither side ever claimed him. He was absolutely independent of party. He served under Borden as minister of agriculture, slid from there into the Meighen Government in a similar position and from there graduated without any preliminary training as Premier of British Columbia. He is a splendid citizen, a genial personage and was a success in the work he knew as minister of agriculture. Ask the people of the province today if they think he has been a success as premier. Almost with one voice they answer, "No." There was one thing he lacked and that was the political training that has made other statesmen great. He had the wrong groundwork. He might have become a statesman if he had received the political training necessary to enable him to stand up against the subversive forces that surround every man in public life. Instead of that he has been like putty in the hands of those who wished to mould him to their views. He has lacked that political strength which is absolutely necessary for success.

TWO FILMS FEATURED

"The Big Shot" and "Partners" Being Offered at Capitol Theatre This Week-End

A fine comedy entitled "The Big Shot," starring Eddie Quillan, and a thrilling western mystery "Partners," featuring Tom Keene, are being offered on a double week-end bill at the Capitol Theatre here.

Comedy and tragedy pitched against the background of an auto camp form the highlights of "The Big Shot" which is the story of an ambitious youngster in a small town who fights for success and the respect of the girl he loves in spite of terrific hard luck and the unscrupulous methods of his enemies. The picture is full of pathos and yet plenty of good, clean, sparkling comedy. Maureen O'Sullivan and Mary Nolan provide principal support for Quillan who again proves his versatility as an all around star.

"Partners" is a fast action story of ranch life centred about the friendship between a cowboy and a youngster he had taken under his possession. Hard riding, desperate chances, thrilling escapes and fast gun-play feature the uphill battle of the two partners. Supporting Tom Keene, as the cowboy star, are Nancy Drexel and eight-year old Bobby Nelson.

After hearing a letter from J. J. Little, general manager of the Northern B. C. Only a minimum charge will be made against the school for light during the two holiday months.

work and try to secure its continuation.

Bishop Rix strongly supported Mr. Armour and gave specific instances of what he had seen in regard to the value of the work in this country a man had to rely on himself and should know the fundamentals of handling tools.

D. B. Finn, director of the Fisheries Experimental Station backed up the movement and George Munro also spoke, stating he believed it would be a mistake to eliminate this training.

Dr. H. L. Alexander said he was probably the only person in the room who had received the manual training and he pitied the boy who was without it. He had found it very beneficial. The appointment of the delegation to the school board was then made.
