CARVELL UNDER FIRE IN HOUSE OF COMMONS; NEW STEAMSHIP LINE PROPOSED

THIRD READING OF BILL CONFIRMING THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC RECEIVERSHIP PASSED AT OTTAWA; ESTIMATES WERE UNDER CONSIDERATION YESTERDAY

(Special to The News via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)
Ottawa, April 9.—Estimates for Public Works and Trade and Commerce departments kept Parliament busy during yesterday afternoon and evening. Hon. F. B. Carvell, who was under fire during the afternoon, gave place to Hon. A. K. MacLean in the evening.

Mr. Carvell came in for criticism from R. R. Batts, Unionist member for Cape Breton South, in connection with the letting of the contracts for aeroplane stations in Nova Scotia, who complained that Mr. Carvell had let the contract to an undertaker and another to a group of men who were all Liberals.

The third reading was given a full hour, the Government having passed the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in the hands of the Minister of Railways as received.

Hon. Arthur Meighen on behalf of Mr. Calder said a large number of protests had been received from the west regarding the entrance into Canada of Menominites and other conscientious objectors. Mr. Meighen said those people were citizens of the United States and as such liable to military service. The Government had not encouraged the movement into Canada and the Menominites had not been granted any special privileges. The immigration bill which is to be introduced will exclude from Canada all people who claim exemption from military service.

Steamship Line.
Trade and commerce estimates were discussed at the evening session and in connection with the steamship subsidies, H. H. Stevens of Vancouver Centre brought up the question of development of the coast by water between the West Indies and the Pacific coast.

Hon. A. K. MacLean replied that the question had been engaging the attention of the department and only this morning he had a talk with Robert Dollar who stated that he had in mind the opening up of a steamship service between Vancouver and New York.

Mr. MacLean added that Mr. Dollar did not want a steamship subsidy from the Government and would not take one.

Duncan D. Munro, late of the Land Settlement Board, was among the arrivals in the city this morning from Victoria on his way to his home at Terrace.

DIRECTORS ARE IN CHARGE OF NEW COMPANY

Prince Rupert Housing Ltd. Takes Charge of Funds Collected by Committee.

The building committee which was appointed at the public meeting called by the Board of Trade and which started the Prince Rupert Housing Co. Ltd, has now turned all money over to the directors of the company. The directors are D. G. Stewart, C. H. Orme, J. H. McMullin, J. G. Scott, Geo. Frizzell, W. E. Williams and John Dybbavn.

Speaking on behalf of the Committee, President McCaffery of the Board of Trade said that on the whole the people had been liberal and he thanked them for it. It had been impossible to make a thorough canvass as all had been very busy with their own affairs and it was difficult to get workers. The committee had no criticism to offer of those who did not support the scheme nor of the amounts subscribed. The committee had worked from a public spirited standpoint and were well pleased with the result of their efforts.

Mr. McCaffery said he would like to impress the fact that the aim had been to make the money safe by investing it in first mortgages and that it should be used to encourage the erection of buildings which were now badly needed here. The new board of directors was a safe but progressive group of business men and he looked for successful results. He said he could see no better way of investing money with the double purpose of aiding the city and securing dividends.

NEW PARTY MEETING HAS ABRUPT ENDING

Veteran Fights Alleged Attempt of Organized Labor to Gain Ascendancy in Ex-Service Political Camp.

A tempestuous session of the Ex-Service Men's Political Association at the Belmont Building came to an abrupt end last night when practically the whole meeting fled out protestingly, leaving several speakers arguing in heated terms the right of organized labor to attempt control of the association, says the Victoria Daily Colonist. The indignant exodus was led by R. G. Duggan, who acted as vice-president until last night, when a new board of officers was elected.

The bomb exploded after J. Taylor, of the longshoremen's union, and one of the leaders of the Trades and Labor Council, proposed a resolution declaring men already holding office in returned soldiers' organizations ineligible for membership in the association.

F. Vaughan Miller, secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association, came back with an amendment barring also officers of labor organizations. Mr. Miller claimed the original motion was an injustice to the returned soldiers, and was an effort to give labor leaders control of the association's destinies. Finally he offered to withdraw the amendment provided the original motion was also withdrawn. By this time the majority of those present appeared to have heard enough of the discussion and decided to withdraw themselves, and he movement toward the door became general.

The election of officers took place early in the meeting and resulted as follows: President, Mr. Hankin, of the Great War Veterans' Association; Frank P. Slavin, vice-president; Tom Doo-ey, Trades and Labor Council, second vice-president; J. Shaw, recording secretary; Mrs. Sutton, financial secretary.

The meeting passed a resolution in favor of the Governments establishing maternity homes, where the maximum fee shall be fixed at $40 a month.

PEOPLE OBJECT TO THE JEWS IN PALESTINE

Say Land Belongs to People and Opposition to Jewish State Develops.

Cairo, April 9.—Reports received here indicate that there is great unrest in Palestine. Moslems and Christians are aroused over the reports that Palestine is to be turned over to the Zionists.

All are bitterly opposed to the establishment of a Jewish state in Palestine and to the large influx of Jews which is supported by American and European gold. They declare that the land belongs to the inhabitants and not to the Jews.

WILL EXPLORE

George Clothier, resident engineer for the Northern Mineral Survey District No. 1, intends exploring the section between the Stikine River and Portland Canal during the coming summer. The Iskut River is reported as traversing a country rich in mineral deposits, and old timers will remember the interest taken in discoveries there by prospectors some twenty years ago, when local men made a good deal of money by the sale of prospects in which they were interested. The difficulties of navigating the Stikine River have delayed development, but it is believed the section could be opened up by an extension of the road up Bear River Valley, Portland Canal. This is a matter that will be investigated by Mr. Clothier and a report made thereon to the minister of mines.—E. A. Haggen in The Province.

Chester Poole was welcomed back this morning by many of his old friends. He is paying a visit here pending his discharge from the United States army.

General Smart Returns to Quebec.

Brigadier General Charles A. Smart who made charges in the Quebec Legislature against the conduct of the Canadian medical and other services overseas, now returns to the charge. He asks for an impartial investigation and complains that his direct charges are ignored. He issues the following challenge:

- "If Sir Thomas White places the welfare of the country ahead of other considerations he will see that an impartial commission is immediately appointed to investigate the whole subject of the overseas administration and especially that of the overseas medical administration in England. Such a commission should have wide powers and be authorized to investigate fully:
- "(1) The Col. Bruce report and recommendations.
- "(2) The report of the Baptie commission.
- "(3) Col. Bruce's reply to the Baptie report.
- "(4) The Taplow hospital scandal.
- "(5) The report of Lieut.-Col. J. S. Jenkins, submitted to the overseas minister of militia in November, 1918."

"It is significant that several of the charges I made have been corroborated by other officers recently returned from overseas. Lieut.-Col. Peck, V. C., confirms by statement that there was an intrigue to get rid of General Sir Arthur Currie, while Lieut.-Col. Price and Lieut.-Col. Pratt, both members of the Ontario legislature, confirm my statements about inefficiency and 'pull at Argyle House. Does Sir Thomas White also insinuate that these officers had disappointed expectations?"

Intrigue Against General Currie.

"With regard to the intrigue against General Currie, I would suggest that Sir Thomas White ask Sir Edward Kemp for a copy of a letter written to him by General Currie in the month of November, 1918, protesting against 'dastardly and outrageous' statements that were being circulated in England by a very senior officer, statements that were being prejudicial to good order and military discipline and likely to create unrest. Copies of that letter were sent to the various Canadian areas, ostensibly with a view to locating the culprit. Copies of that letter having been circulated in England, the minister should have no objection to producing a copy of it in the House of Commons, so that the public may judge for themselves whether that particular charge is 'founded in fact' or not.

"I have received many letters from far distant places, approving my stand in exposing this matter and offering to furnish me with ample evidence, if required, to substantiate my statements."

Minister's Son is Horrible Example.

If the Minister of Justice does not obey the law, how can it be expected that common people who do not understand its intricacies and its import can be expected to conform. The son of the Minister of Justice in the Union Government failed to live up to one of the most important war-time regulations, although called upon to do so again and again. Yet at the same time many who believed themselves persecuted were sent to jail for offenses not one whit less grievous.

The Minister of Justice was the member of a Government that was sent to Ottawa to win the war, yet the Minister's own son is one of the first to refuse to do his part. He may not have been able to fight, but he could have carried out the war-time regulations by filling out the formal document and thus facilitated the work of the military officers appointed to enforce the law.

Nothing that has happened of late would tend so much to make Bolsheviki in this country as the action of the Minister of Justice in trying to override the law.

Importance of Fishing Trade to the Port.

Twenty fishing boats sold their catches here yesterday. Is it any wonder that the merchants are busy? All these boats take supplies, some more and some less, but every little counts. As a matter of fact nearly all our prosperity is the result of the fish business. We are getting it from no effort of our own, but simply because we have the location.

The next step will be to encourage the fishermen to make their homes here. Many of them already live here but the majority do not. As we increase in importance and prestige, the fishermen will find it more convenient to become permanent residents, to build their boats here, and to take a real part in the life of the city.

RAILWAY UP SALMON RIVER

Report That One Will Be Built to Serve Rich Mines of Valley.

Victoria, April 9.—It is reported here that a railway is to be built up the Salmon River which flows into Portland Canal at Stewart. It is to be a mining road for the purpose of serving the rich mines which have recently been developed up the valley.

The proving of the Bush mine and the interesting of big mining men in adjoining properties, has made the building of the road not only a possibility but a probability.

There is already a sleigh road to the Bush mine but owing to the changeable winters it is impossible to depend on it. It is thought that a railway might be laid on this road or adjoining it, without the expense being overwhelming.

Government Approval.

It is said that the Government has been approached informally with a view to finding out if they would be prepared to build. Should they not undertake the work, they will be asked to aid it.

In view of the fact that the Bush mine is one of the richest, if not the richest in the province, and that there is every indication that the adjoining properties will prove equally rich, it is suggested here that every encouragement should be given to an enterprise which would help the mines to ship their ores.

Territorial Difficulty.

One great difficulty in the way of building a railway up the Salmon River would be the fact that it would have to pass through United States territory, the rich mines being on the Canadian side of the border between British Columbia and Alaska and the windings of the valley, making it necessary to cross the line.

RETURNS FROM EAST

A. Fraser Says Housing Problem Is Worrying Toronto as Well As Prince Rupert.

Athol Fraser, one of Prince Rupert's pioneers, returned last night from Toronto after spending the winter back east. He went away last fall and visited friends in Ontario and Quebec, spending part of his time in Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and numerous other cities. He says that the winter back east has been very mild this year, hardly any snow to speak of; also that the farmers did exceedingly well last year, most of them owning automobiles and Victory bonds.

It appears that the city of Toronto is in much the same predicament as Prince Rupert, as far as the housing accommodation goes, thousands of returned men having to leave the city for want of houses.

Among the old acquaintances he met while in Toronto was Mrs. Tremayne, who is now residing there with her family. Dr. Tremayne has not yet returned from overseas. Mr. Stanley Lucas, late of this city, was another of the Prince Rupert old timers who is now back east. He is located in Hamilton with the Canadian Steel Co. While travelling West, Mr. Fraser encountered Mayor McClymont and Joe Scott at Winnipeg on their way to Ottawa.

MAKE PRINCE RUPERT PENSIONS SUB-OFFICE

Col. John Thompson who was here last week, returning on Saturday, had under advisement the plan of making Prince Rupert a sub-office under the Dominion Administration Board of Pensions for the purpose of conducting re-examinations to determine a pensioner's degree of disability. At present pensioners have to make the journey to Vancouver or Victoria in order to be examined.

It is understood that two medical men will be appointed in place of one as formerly and it is very probable that the change may be made for the convenience of those living in this district. Nothing definite has been decided upon, however.

When you have read the news look through the classified column on Page 5.

OWED LIVES TO THE COMMANDING OFFICER

(Special via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)
Cairo, April 9.—Refugees from Medinet el Fayum state that they owe their lives to the initiative of the officer commanding who quickly assembled the Europeans in the National Bank compound which was converted into a formidable fort on both sides.

The compound looked so menacing with its dummy defences that the Bedouins did not attack, but made an onslaught on the fourth and apparently weak side, where machine guns were used in a most effective manner, repulsing the attackers and causing 400 casualties.

'GREAT ADVENTURE' IS A GREAT FILM

Bessie Love at Empress Theatre Tonight is Charming Drama of Footlights.

Bessie Love in "The Great Adventure" is a big thing at the Empress Theatre tonight. The story is adapted from the famous novel "The Painted Scene" and deals with the triumphs of a country girl over footlight difficulties at New York.

Little Ragna Jansen creates such a favorable impression at the annual high school entertainment in the village of Middletown that she is moved to seek fame and fortune on Broadway. Accompanied by a prim and proper old maid aunt she comes to a rooming house in the big city.

For days she is one of the jobless throng that haunts the forbidding gates of harassed and unapproachable theatrical managers. When the small supply of funds is dangerously near total exhaustion "Rags" meets Billy Blake, a chorus man, who occupies an adjoining furnished room.

Billy gives her the name of the manager of the show he is in and tells her the only way to approach him is to hold him up. "Rags" innocently takes the advice literally. Armed with an unloaded but formidable looking revolver she invades the manager's office but by way of the fire escape, and gets a place in the chorus. That is only the beginning.

MELODRAMA AND MAGIS AND MYSTERY

"Cheating the Public," a melodrama of the most approved type, is the leader at the Westholme Theatre tonight. It is a stirring production dealing with the child labor problem and with food profiteering and can not fail to arouse the interest and stir the indignation of any one who sees it.

The strong features of the production, aside from the highly thrilling scenes, of which the race at night between an automobile and an express train is one, are its admirable portrayals of human nature—its realism. The story itself is a stirring one of the experiences of a factory girl who is ground down under the heel of the business oppressor. Seeking to befriend a crippled child in the factory, she is soon struggling in a whirlpool of trouble which eventually sweeps her into the very shadow of the electric chair.

There is also a conjuring stunt by Professor Courtier, the magician, which is said to be one of the best sleight of hand displays that has been seen here.

THE INNER LIFE

Among those who belong to the wage-earning class the pressure of grinding economic conditions has led to a materialistic conception of life. At every turn we are met with the cry—"With us it is a case of bread and butter." Following upon this it is not surprising to find that traditional religion is being crowded out of the minds of each. By traditional religion is meant that type of religion largely taught in our churches fifty years ago. A God dwelling in a heaven millions of miles away, who when he thought it necessary to interfere in this world broke in upon it as an external force.

As such a God, it is argued, allows the wage system with all its social injustice to prevail He cannot continue to be the God of the working people. As the result of such a conception of religion we find labor union meeting taking the place largely of church services. The thoughts of the wage-earning class are becoming more and more centred upon overturning the present industrial system in the hope that the golden age will come when capitalism is dethroned and labor is made supreme.

If true religion is to find its proper place in our community there must be a new approach to it, and that is from the side of the human mind. God is not a far-away Deity, occasionally breaking in upon the material order of things which surrounds us. God is spirit constantly working through the laws of the human mind, inspiring the souls of men with higher thoughts, loftier ideals, and nobler motives. The Spirit of Christ lives not in the distant stars but in the hearts of men.

Labor as a mechanical force expended on the materials of nature is undoubtedly the chief factor in the production of wealth but a mechanical force alone can never produce nobility of character and true happiness. While the possession of sufficient wealth by every class in society to life all above grinding poverty should be made a standard for which the whole community should strive, above all this there must still float the banner of a higher, nobler life if the human race is not to sink into degradation and decay.

Mutual Service.

The Spirit of Christ is the spirit of brotherly love and mutual service. The supreme need of men and women of all classes in society is to have more of this spirit in their souls as the source of their inner life from which springs their outer conduct.

If those of the capitalist class cannot catch this spirit of mutual service without a radical change in our industrial system, then our present system must give way to a better system, just as in the past slavery gave way to the wage system under the pressure of Christian sentiment.

If those of the laboring class cannot catch this spirit of mutual service but become absorbed in sharing the spoils with no sense of responsibility to the whole community, if they shut God out of their minds and crowd the Spirit of Christ out of their hearts, the last state of the laboring class will be worse than the first.

"The Kingdom of God, the Republic of Righteousness, is within you."

F. H. DU VERNET,
 Archbishop of Caledonia.
