WILLIAM HOHENZOLLERN WILL BE TRIED FOR A SUPREME OFFENSE AGAINST INTERNATIONAL MORALITY

Peace Conference in Session to-day Expects to Complete work this Week; Germany's Merchant Fleet will be Swept from the Seas by Treaty.

(Special to The News via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)

Paris, April 28.—The Peace Conference meets in plenary session today to vote on the revised League of Nations. President Wilson expected to make a brief speech, probably touching on the new article protecting the Monroe doctrine. It was stated in French circles last night that the Peace Conference would be ready to present the peace treaty to the Germans on Friday or Saturday of this week. The French idea is that the text of the treaty is nearly complete. The military and naval sections have been finished, with the exception of that dealing with the situation as regards the Kiel Canal and secondary points.

New Articles.

Washington, April 28.—New articles proposed for insertion in the Peace Treaty to be considered at a plenary session of the Peace Conference today, the State Department announced, include:

Article One—The Allied and associated powers publicly arraign William the Second of Hohenzollern, formerly German Emperor, not for an offense against criminal law, but for the supreme offense against international morality and the sanctity of treaties. It is proposed that a special tribunal be constituted to try the accused, consisting of five judges, one appointed by each of the great powers, Great Britain, France, United States, Italy and Japan. The Allied and associated powers will request Holland to surrender the former Emperor for trial.

Law Violators to Be Tried.

Persons accused of violation of laws and customs of war, according to the second proposed article, will be brought before military tribunals, and if found guilty, sentenced to punishments laid down by military law.

All persons accused of having committed an act in violation of laws and customs of war, who are specified either by name or rank, office or employment which they held under German authority will be demanded of the German Government for trial before the military tribunal of the power against whose nationals the criminal acts were perpetrated.

Paris, April, 28.—Germany's great merchant fleet will be practically swept from the seas, under the terms of the economic article of the Peace Treaty. This involved a feature of the treaty which establishes post war commercial relations between Germany and the associated powers, is the first to be entirely completed. It was submitted to the "Big Three" late yesterday and approved.

LARGE CROWD HEARD JACK KAVANAGH DISCUSS MERITS OF THE ONE BIG UNION

VANCOUVER LABOR LEADER OUTLINES CONDITIONS THAT LED TO POLICY—WOULD ELIMINATE PROFIT BY MEANS OF SIX-HOUR DAY

The admission that the formation of One Big Union is for the purpose of enforcing a six-hour day and eliminating profits which would make it impossible for industry to continue, was the most important feature of the meeting held last night in the Westholme Theatre. "We are not bothering about employers," was the answer Jack Kavanagh gave to a questioner at the close of the meeting. He admitted that what he proposed would eliminate profit and of course that would make it impossible for work to continue as profit is the salary the employer gets for his part of the work.

The meeting was large, orderly and enthusiastic. Jack Kavanagh the speaker of the evening, gave an interesting outline of his scheme for the prevention of a calamity which he thought he foresaw. He spoke well and knew his subject like a book and was ready with answers to all questions. Alderman Casey presided, and introduced the speaker as the president of the British Columbia Federation of Labor.

The Address.

Mr. Kavanagh drew attention to what occurred shortly before war broke out when there were bread lines in Vancouver with four to five thousand men being just kept from starving. The condition was general throughout the country. The outbreak of war did not at first have any effect but gradually as men were withdrawn and supplies needed, production was speeded up and the workers produced fourfold over what they did in 1914.

Men were forced to strike in order to get wages raised to keep pace with the increasing cost of living, but every time they struck the capitalistic press came out and stated that they were striking to aid the enemy, not realizing that they needed more money to live.

Toward the close of the war there were 45,000,000 people destroying or manufacturing material for destruction. The mass of these had been taken from industry. All these were fed and clothed in addition to the parasites who lived on others. The declaration of peace found a condition that they could not solve.

Reason for Change.

Mr. Kavanagh said that history had shown that the workers in defeated countries were better off than those in the countries which won, because the indemnity was paid in gold or commodities and in defeated countries the commodities had to be produced. He realized that there was no desire in this country to go back to the bread line condition and the men who had fought were not prepared to starve. This was the reason for the demand for the forming of an industrial organization at Calgary. There was but one dissenting voice, the man that voted against it being Nixon, of Calgary, who represented the shipbuilding trades. No one spoke against the principle although there were some who found court.

LABOR TROUBLE AT PRINCETON

Attorney General Asked to Send Additional Police for Protection Of Life and Property.

(Special via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)

Victoria, April 28.—Insistent appeals from Princeton poured into the attorney general's department Saturday demanding that additional police assistance be sent immediately for the protection of life and property. A grave situation has developed out of the labor dispute, and the seat of trouble rests with four score enemy aliens and a detachment of deported undesirables who left Seattle hurriedly at the time of the shipyard strike.

Incendiarism and molestation of the women folk of the community is charged in messages received.

It was decided to send a detachment of mounted police to the scene immediately. The attorney general issued instructions to the superintendent of provincial police to augment his force already on the spot.

Soldiers Wreck Real Estate Offices and Restaurant—Further Trouble is Feared.

(Special via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)

Prince George, April 28.—Returned soldiers last night wrecked real estate offices of Max Schenk and Conrad Reinharz, Germans, also the Arcade Restaurant, owned by Joe Tadin, a foreigner, accused by the soldiers of making seditious remarks.

Resentment against Germans here is strong and further trouble is feared. Eight or ten alien enemies have been given notice to leave the district at a few hours' warning.

There seems to have been an error in connection with the use of the name of T. W. Watson, ticket agent and cashier for the C. P. R. at Prince George who was mentioned as leaving that town in connection with the recent riots. Mr. Watson was holding the position while the agent was away at the front, and he is now leaving to allow the returned soldier to return to his position.

JAPANESE PRESS BACKS ITALY

Says Japan May Have to Take Similar Action if Agreement Not Carried Out.

(Special by G. T. P. Telegraphs.)

Tokio, April 28.—The Japanese press commenting today upon the departure of Italians from the Peace Conference, upholds Italy. The Yamato Shimbun declares Japan and Italy are in the same boat. If the conference considers the Tsing Tau agreement a scrap of paper, the same measure may be necessary on the part of Japan if it says.

The Asahi Shimbun professes to believe that Italy probably will conclude a separate treaty with Austria and resume hostilities with the South Slavs. Europe, it declares, may yet see its worst fighting, with Germany the only country to benefit.

Six-Hour Day Would Shut Down Industries.

That the six-hour day is indissolubly bound up with the one big union movement, and that the six-hour day would eliminate profit and therefore put employers out of business was admitted by Jack Kavanagh in the Westholme Theatre last night. While he pretended that the idea of the six hour day was to prevent riot and bloodshed he must have known, and we believe he did know, that its institution would tend to bring about just what he professed to wish to prevent.

Mr. Kavanagh suggested that the time for any radical change of policy such as communism was not yet ripe, yet he knew well and practically admitted that the six-hour day would put out of business almost every industry in the province.

If British Columbia provided her own food it would not be so bad. She could feed herself under any circumstances. Very little of the food is produced here, however. What we produce is lumber and other wood products, minerals, fish, and agricultural products. Of these the first three are chiefly for export and with the money so earned we import food and clothing and luxuries.

Bring in the six-hour day and the mines will close, the mills will shut down, the cold storage plants and pulp mills will cease their activities and practically every industry in the country will go out of business. Those interested in the industrial development of the country will leave and chaos will follow. Then there will come a revulsion and the result will be a return to present conditions.

Hours of labor are being gradually reduced. Printers work seven and a half hours a day except when they work for themselves and then they work as long as they can get work to do. Most trades work eight hours, some longer. The editor of The News works about ten to twelve hours a day and occasionally a little on Sunday in order to get wages for himself.

Stimulate Industry, Not Kill It.

Mr. Kavanagh pictured a time during the coming autumn when men would be out of employment and there would be bread lines, composed largely of returned soldiers. He did not seem to remember that as soon as France and Belgium begin to receive indemnity they will be buying from us large quantities of lumber and other products, that minerals will be in demand there, and that our fish food will be welcomed in many parts of the world.

What is needed just now is not to put a crimp in industries, but for all to work together to try to stimulate them. Let us build up the industries of our own province. Reducing the hours of working here will make no appreciable difference to the production of the world. If we simply produced our own food there might be something in the argument for a six-hour day, but as we produce to sell to other countries, and with the money obtained from those products we buy food and other things we need, the more we produce, the more luxuries we can buy. We must consider ourselves in relation with our neighbors.

Jack Kavanagh is a pleasant speaker. He knows how to appeal to his audience and he is more courteous and careful in the choice of expression than the ordinary demagogue. Probably he believes that he is steering the workmen along right lines. He is well posted in his subject and was in a position to answer questions put to him. He is a socialist but has found that it is easier to go after what he wants in a circuitous manner than to get after it direct. He did not omit the opportunity to get after the "capitalist press," which is only the natural thing for him to do. The newspapers are fair game for everyone to kick at. It is the fashion now to blame the capitalistic press when anything is published which does not please the reader.

One Big Union Matter for Unionists.

In the matter of the One Big Union the News would not venture to give an opinion. It is purely a matter for the men to deal with themselves. If they think they will be better off under that kind of organization they will probably adopt it; if not they will turn it down.

We would like to point out, however, the emphasis that was placed on the control of the union by the rank and file. The union will be controlled by the unskilled labor and one of the natural things to expect would be a levelling of wages, if wages are paid at all under the new order. After the six-hour day is adopted, however, it is to be assumed that the unskilled laborers who control the union will also control the industries and run them and wages will be abolished. The skilled men will work under direction of the majority who are unskilled.

age enough to do so since. The old organization was not capable of meeting the situation.

Six-Hour Day.

With the One Big Union was linked up the six-hour day. It was their business to see that the men who were coming back were fitted into industry. It would be useless to put others out of jobs in order to put the soldiers in, that did not solve the situation. The only method was to create more jobs and to do this they proposed the six-hour day. They suggested this because they did not wish to see food riots. In those riots it was members of their own class that were always hurt.

"If under the six-hour day there is no profit to be made, what concern is that of ours?" inquired the speaker. "We have been told of the sacrifices that have been made for the war, but all the time they have been piling up their millions from selling bum boots, bum rifles and from bacon contracts."

Difficulties in Way.

Mr. Kavanagh went on to say that there was no longer any excuse for a food shortage, but they must remember that there was to the south a country of a hundred million people and the magnates there would put down trouble on this side the line. He spoke of the 180 mounted police that had been placed in Vancouver. British Columbia was the most advanced intellectually of all the provinces and any attempt to take control of the industries would be met with armed force from the United States. When the police could not handle the situation the militia would be called out and guns used. He had discussed the matter with Perry, the head of the Mounted Police, and had suggested to him that one of the first things to do in case of trouble would be to put every editor in Vancouver in Jail.

The speaker claimed that the industrial organization would do away with a number of small strikes but give them power to carry through.

Greetings to Spartans.

Discussing the sending of greetings to the Spartans of Germany from the Calgary convention, Mr. Kavanagh said there were people who had not guts enough to get up and say anything at the convention but who came home and dissented from what was done. He quoted The Daily News' account of the St. George's Day banquet speech of S. D. Macdonald as follows: "Mr. Macdonald said he had before taken occasion to denounce the sending of greetings to the Germans. The message did not represent the views of organized labor in Prince Rupert."

Mr. Kavanagh said that if Macdonald opposed the sending of greetings he was there on two occasions when it was up for discussion. If he was earning his money from those who sent him there he should have objected at that time.

Telling of the way in which the Spartans had opposed the Kaiser and the junker crowd and of how Liebknecht had been imprisoned along with many of his followers and how many had been shot down for their opposition and how in the end it was the Spartan and Bolshevik movement which had broken up the Germans and brought about the end of the war and saved the lives of thousands of workers, Mr. Kavanagh said it was to these people that they had sent greetings. They had also sent greetings at the same time to other workers at Glasgow and other points. When they sent greetings to the Spartans they were sending to workers who had overthrown their military masters.

Bolsheviki.

He then outlined the Russian situation and said that the Bolsheviks had offered to take the field against Germany if the Allies would supply them with arms and ammunition and supplies as long as they did not interfere with the internal situation. To this proposal they received no answer.

Big Union.

In the One Big Union there would be a Central Trades Council and district councils but before they would do anything they must cut away from international organizations. The present system was not effective. While the employers had developed into trusts the men had drifted wider apart. They should strike off the international strings. Then the control would be always in the hands of the rank and file. The time had not yet arrived when they could produce for use instead of for profit.

When there was too much food produced the workers had to go without. Even a monkey would not pull nuts from a tree for another monkey to eat. One Big Union would be more efficient than the present method, but a majority of the workers in the basic trades was necessary to bring the union idea into being.

Answers to Questions.

In answer to questions Mr. Kavanagh said that the proposal that those not voting should be counted in favor of the proposal was put in by those opposed to the Union. Fishermen would be excepted from this provision.

J. Hutchinson asked a number of questions in regard to statements that had been made and in a retort remarked that the returned soldiers were going to run this country, not the capitalists.

Mr. Kavanagh replied that if the returned soldiers got the idea that they were going to run this country Vimy Ridge would be as nothing compared with what would happen here.

Mr. Hutchinson suggested that it was bad to make insinuations regarding one who went overseas when Kavanagh had stayed at home and organized strikes.

Kavanagh said he had been through two campaigns and had won three medals in South Africa in saving his own life.

before purchasing a baking powder that may possibly contain injurious ingredients. Many food scientists claim that baking powder containing alum is unsafe for use in food. The mere fact that some brands of baking powder have the words "No Alum" on the label is not sufficient proof that they are what they are represented to be. Our chemists find a good many have "No Alum" on the outside but large quantities of it inside.

Harry Hanson, Esq.,
Prince Rupert, B. C.,

Dear Sir:

Your Hanson Hot Water Coil has been in our range for just one year, and in all this time it has been 100 per cent plus efficient. I use the "plus" advisedly for not only has the coil provided an abundance of not warm but HOT water at all times, but by placing the forty-gallon tank in our large ten by ten bathroom it has kept it cosy in the coldest weather.

Although our range is small, Mrs. Young informs me she cannot see that the baking qualities are affected in the least by the coil.

In your perfection of a modern household necessity, I congratulate you.

Sincerely,
(Signed) R. B. YOUNG.

FARMER DIED FROM A BOIL

The death of a young farmer was recently reported from blood-poisoning, which developed from a boil. Such a small beginning to end so disastrously! Yet this is liable to happen to anyone who allows a sore or wound to become infected.

The surest and easiest way to safeguard yourself is by using Zam-Buk. As soon as it is applied to a sore or wound it destroys all germs and acts as a protection, thus preventing infection and possible blood-poisoning. At the same time, Zam-Buk ends pain and draws out inflammation. Then its action on the tissues results in the quick growth of new skin, so that sores and wounds are healed in the shortest possible time. Get a box to-day and be prepared. 50c. box.

SPLendid PROGRAM AT EMPRESS THEATRE

"A Woman's Fool" is Founded on Story by Owen Wister.

Founded upon the story by Owen Wister, that wonderful writer of the West, the play "A Woman's Fool" to be screened at the Empress Theatre this evening is one in which Harry Carey appears at his best. It is as much comedy as drama and is a fine representation of the cow country. A comedy by Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran and a Gazette make up a splendid program.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN" AT THE WESTHOLME

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" is sure to draw crowded houses at the Westholme Theatre this evening. Even although the slave days in the southern states are long passed, this tale is one which becomes better known by each succeeding generation. Everyone will want to see this on the screen. Marguerite Clark is the star, and she is a great attraction in herself.

MARGUERITE CLARK in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" A Paramount Picture

CLEAN UP TIME

(By Walt Mason.)

The long war made us sick and faint, we had no heart to hump; and so, alas, we did not paint the cowshed and the pump; we read long tales of bones and woe, and let our chores to thunder go, and now our houses look as though they should be at the dump. We had no heart to trim the trees, or bear dead cats away, when mighty legions, o'er the seas, engaged in bloody fray; and while those legions thundered on, the tin cans gathered on the lawn, with broken dish and demijohn, and heaps of leaves and hay. While still upon the kaiser's brow the tyrant's crown was seen, we had no heart to groom the cow, or plant the pinto bean; we had no heart to decorate the lawn swing and the garden gate; we merely stood and railed at fate, and cursed the submarine. Now in a castle queer and quaint the mildewed kaiser sits; and we should buy some rich red paint, and throw some clean up fits; for kalsomine of gaudy hue, to make the shack look good as new, for clover seed and blue grass, too, we ought to blow six bits. We've talked of war a weary while, of admirals and kings; now let's put on our peace time smile, and think of other things; let's fix the roof before there's rain, replace the broken window pane; a lot of duties in its train this smiling season brings.

MANY DIED FROM HUNGER IN GERMANY

So Says Imperial Health Ministry In Memorandum—Blockade Was Fatal.

(Special via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)
Berlin, April 26.—The Imperial Health Ministry has issued a memorandum on the results of the blockade. It says, from 1915 to 1918 as a result of under nourishment 673,000 persons died in Germany and a further 150,000 died from influenza owing to loss of power of resistance. The fall in the number of births during the war exceeded 4,000,000 for the Empire and over 2,500,000 for Prussia.
The memorandum calculates at 56,300,000,000 marks the damage inflicted by the hunger blockade.

Keep Baby's Woollens Soft and Sweet

Even little garments are dear now—you must make them last, and of course you want them always soft and comfy for the important wee person.

The little woollens need never shrink a thread—never stiffen or grow thick—not after repeated washings if you cleanse them in the pure, creamy Lux lather. It's so simple to whip the delicate Lux flakes into a rich suds—so simple to squeeze the suds through the little garments—then take them out absolutely sweet and clean and fresh.

Lux harms nothing that pure water may touch.
