LONDON, Sept. 19.—De Valera, replying to Lloyd George, says the Sinn Fein already has accepted the Premier's invitation in his own exact terms.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—On Sunday Lloyd George added another to the brisk fire of telegrams between Dublin and Gairloch. In the latest message the Premier remains firm in refusing to meet the Irish delegates as representatives of an independent sovereign state and declares that unless the section of De Valera's letter is withdrawn a conference is impossible.

Despite the firmness of the message, it is interpreted as displaying solicitude to furnish De Valera with a favorable opportunity for the abandonment of his recent attitude.

DUBLIN, Sept. 19.—Eamon de Valera, leader of the Irish republicans, has called the Dail Eireann cabinet into session to deliberate on the situation brought about by the latest note sent to Dublin by Lloyd George. The meeting lasted an hour and two ministers left early.

U. S. Metropole Leads in Both National and American Leagues.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The New York Giants continued their winning streak through the week-end and now have a four and a half game lead over Pittsburgh in the race for the National League baseball pennant. Barring some reversal the pennant seems within grasp of New York.

Trains Will Leave for East at Five After Oct. 2, Giving More Time Here

Complying with the request of the local merchants, the Canadian National Railway has decided to change the schedule of the trains leaving for the East. Instead of pulling out at 11:30 as formerly, the trains will leave at 5 p.m., and the boat will arrive at noon instead of at 10:30. That will give travellers eastbound five hours in Prince Rupert.

The change is in accord with the wishes of most people in this city, who have for a long time felt that people passing through should be given more time here. They will now have enough time to drive around or even walk to most of the points of interest, to do a little business here or to visit friends.

The new time table comes into effect on October 2. The boat will leave Vancouver as at present at 8 p.m. and will be more likely to be on time and even if an hour late the train will be able to keep its schedule as heretofore.

BAND CONTEST CLOSED FAIR

Greenville Band, Winners in Fair and March—No Financial Statement Yet.

The 1921 exhibition closed on Saturday night with the holding of the band contest which was won by the Greenville band over Aiyansh. Mr. Collier was the judge. Two prizes were offered—a silver cup for the playing of the selection from "Faust," and medals for the march, "Boston Commandary." Mr. Collier selected Greenville as the winning band in both pieces, his adjudication being considered the proper one by most of those who heard the numbers played. The Greenville band seemed to have more dash and enthusiasm than the Aiyansh although it must be said for the latter that their rendering of certain of the softer parts of "Faust" was excellent and probably was equal to that of Greenville. On the whole, however, the Greenville band was unanimously considered the best.

Following the contest there was a short dance in the building which concluded before midnight bringing the fair to a close.

Officials of the Northern B. C. Agricultural and Industrial Association are not prepared, yet, to make a statement on the financial outcome. Gate receipts this year exceeded last year by several hundred dollars but expenses have also been considerably higher so that it is believed there will not be much of a balance on either side. With the fair over, it will be possible to get down to business again and balance up the books of the association.

Gradual Development
Of Dominion Power.

To say that the powers of the British outside Dominions have increased to a very large extent of late is to state a truism that is so self evident it seems foolish to mention it. The extent of the increase, however, is not generally known. A recent issue of the London Times states the position very clearly. It says editorially:

"Before the war the Imperial Conference was an advisory body of honored guests. The Dominion prime ministers then met, and talked, and passed resolutions; but British ministers held themselves quite free to ignore that advice, and did ignore it more often than not. Now the Dominion prime ministers attend these meetings in a very different spirit. They expect, and receive, from British ministers, as Mr. Hughes says, 'Frank recognition of their 'common right' to an 'equal voice' in the shaping of British international policy. They do not limit themselves to the discussion of the 'broad general principles' of foreign policy. They deal, 'directly and in detail,' with the 'great and urgent problems' which confront the diplomacy of the British states. In these discussions differences emerge, but that is to be expected, as Mr. Hughes says, 'in all cabinets.' In the event, all the decisions on foreign policy at the meetings in Downing Street were the decisions of a 'substantial majority' of the British prime ministers. That is the new system by which the will of the British states in matters of foreign policy is ascertained and made effective. The inevitable conclusion is that of Mr. Hughes and of his colleagues from the other Dominions. These meetings are 'very valuable,' indispensable, indeed. They must be held 'regularly,' and the intervals between them are 'really determined' by the 'geographical circumstances' of the Dominions and of this country."

Daring Experiment
In Self Government.

"Before the eyes of this generation a new and daring experiment in self government is shaping itself. Complete freedom in the management of the internal affairs of the British states is in process of being harmonized with common action in international matters interesting all these free and self governing communities. The system has its obvious dangers. A majority decision on foreign policy might be ignored or repudiated by the state whose prime minister had voted in the minority. That is conceivable event, but the older British system took many such risks, grave in theory, yet proved to be negligible in practice. The 'geographical' difficulty is more serious, in appearance at least. Suppose that some great international crisis should appear during one of the inevitable intervals between the meetings of the British prime ministers; that the British Government should commit the peoples of the whole group to definite action, and that this commitment should be repudiated by the oversea peoples. What then?"

Why Meet
Trouble?

"Yet wise statesmanship in British countries has always refused to go out to meet trouble of this kind, has been resolute in declaring that when such trouble comes it will then be time to be anxious about it, and has not once nor twice been justified by the event. It was so with the Empire before the war, and is it not one of the chief lessons of the war that we should have faith that it will be so again? There are, too, visible methods of insurance against these possible complications. The most elementary is general recognition, here and in the Dominions, of the implications of the new control of British policy in all parts of the world."

"The Dominion peoples will come to understand that the share of their prime ministers in the control of the foreign policy of the group lays upon them the obligation of living as citizens of countries having a definite part in the duty of international consciousness, with all that it involves. Doubtless their prime ministers will bring the truth home to them that the clear corollary of equal nationhood among the peoples of the world is constant recognition of the duties that modern civilization imposes upon the nations. Let the people of this country, however, be patient in realizing that this is the new position for the Dominion peoples, and that they must have time to adapt themselves to the new conditions."

SCOTLAND FROM CANADA

Entire Train Load Left Edmonton for Montreal en Route to Old Country.

EDMONTON, Sept. 17.—The largest consignment of steers for export reported this year have left Edmonton over the Canadian National railway and on Saturday morning of this week the animals will be on their way from Montreal for Glasgow where they will be placed on the British market.

Comprising an entire train load of about four hundred head of very choice cattle, the consignment follows smaller shipments made over the Canadian National railway system during the past few weeks. The train was fitted up specially for the healthy accommodation of the stock which is expected to arrive at destination in first class condition consequent to the special care being taken by railway officials.

The shipment is being made through H. P. Kennedy and Company and Wood, Weiller and McCarthy. The animals were assembled at the Edmonton stockyards from various centres of the Edmonton district.

MAKES BIG PROFIT
POPULAR AUTOSNearly $200 Each Sold to Be
Fords Rakeoff on Each Car.

In considering how Ford extracted himself from his financial difficulties the profit on his produce must not be overlooked, says the Financial Post. Cost of factory production including commercial overhead, is now $93 a car. Materials are understood not to exceed $50 a car. Ford purchases are now around $50,000,000 monthly for a production in excess of 100,000 cars.

This would give a total cost of $443. From the lowest selling price for a touring car—$415—must be deducted 17½ per cent., or 67½, for agent's commission, leaving an estimated net of $199. E. G. Pipp, former editor of Ford's Dearborn Independent, recently estimated profits per car at $189. It is probable that, excluding overhead, the actual bench cost of a Ford car is around $100. Only nine men a day are required to produce a Ford. Ford's daily receipts are in excess of $2,000,000 and his cash balance is $80,000,000.

MISS KATE RYAN
TELLS CAPITAL OF NORTHERN MINING

"I'm not a bit excited over mining camps and prospects, for I have spent a lifetime at that game—but I want to say that no mine will be equal to the Premier Mine, near Stewart, which will shortly become the greatest mining centre in the world," said Miss Kate Ryan, famous prospector and well known through the entire north for her interest and experience in mining affairs, last night, when asked her opinion of the Stewart mining possibilities, says the Victoria Colonist.

Miss Ryan, who is registered at the Westholme, is down on the coast on a holiday trip, but she declares that there's only one section on the map that can claim her, and that's the great Northland, concerning which, she points out, most persons' knowledge is so limited. Miss Ryan went over the Yukon trail in the great rush of '98 and during her life in the North she has been at no less than seven mining camps, in fact, she says she travels with the mines.

Her Eighth Camp.

"The Stewart Camp is my eighth sojourn, but I'm not done for yet," she said. "This Northern settlement now possesses about 500 inhabitants, but I am confident that inside of another twelve months the place will contain three times as many citizens. The chief difficulty now is that the accommodation is so limited, but as more houses are built, more men and their families will proceed there, for they are assured of plenty of work."

The speaker was most reluctant to speak of her own part in the development of the north country, where she occupied the position of lady jail inspector of the North West Mounted Police for fifteen years, having her headquarters in Ample Capital Now.

"What has kept back the work at the mines has been the lack of financial backing, but now there is plenty of capital, and it has been demonstrated successfully that rich ore is there," Miss Ryan stated. "An encouraging feature is the fact that the Government is now proceeding with their roadwork, which will enable the miners to ship the ore to the boats at Stewart from where it will be taken to the smelters. Not only that," the speaker went on, "but there has been built a train from Stewart into the mines, which will make it possible for the ore to be shipped at great saving in cost.

Folks down here seldom think, I believe, how much the North really means to them, after all, it should be pointed out that a great amount of exporting necessary goods takes place from here and that the exchange for what she imports the North gives in exchange rich minerals which supply people here with many more comforts. We are the producers of the real money, but you all in turn get your share, perhaps indirectly in most cases, but the money brought here is in circulation, and everyone gets the benefit of it," said Miss Ryan.

3. Brandy monopoly bill; duty to be raised from 800 to at least 4,000 marks per hectolitre.
4. Certain increased taxes on articles of consumption. Duty on illuminants to be quadrupled, on matches and mineral waters doubled, on beer quadrupled.
5. Increased duties on bananas, coffee, tea, spices, cocoa, chocolate and a number of essentials or luxury articles.
6. Increase of coal tax from 20 per cent to 30 per cent of value.
7. A bill on racing bets.
8. Considerable increase of tax on automobiles, including goods lorries.
9. Increased taxes on fire and life insurance premiums.
10. Tax on turnover to be doubled.
11. Corporation tax to be 30 per cent of taxable income.
12. Tax on movements of capital, including formation of share companies, Stock Exchange transactions, &c.

13. Tax on fortunes to be revised to capture profits made by the depreciation of the mark, and secure proportionate taxation of landed and other property which does not fall in value as the mark falls.

14. Tax on increase in fortunes.

15. Tax, varying from 5 to 30 per cent, on increase in fortunes since the end of the war.

MACK SENNETT'S IDEA OF MARRIED LIFE IS SEEN AT WESTHOLME

"Married Life" is the offering tonight at the Westholme Theatre, produced by Mack Sennett, the man who has wrinkled the face of the world with laughter. This is a five-reel comedy feature.

According to the advance notices the picture is the biggest and best, the funniest and most thrilling that the Sennett studios have ever turned out.

Everyone knows about Mack Sennett's girls and about Turpin, the funny man whose eyes are said to be two "slightly damaged windows to his soul." The advice given by the management this time is to lock up your mother-in-law and take your wife to see Sennett's idea of married life.

SHACKLETON'S GREAT WORK MAPPED OUT

Will Explore Petrified Forest and Seek Lost Island in South.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The voyage of The Quest, the quaint little 200-ton ship which is carrying Sir Ernest Shackleton and his party of frozen mysteries in South Polar Seas, has for its objectives not only oceanographic research but the exploration of a petrified forest and the location of a "lost" island—Tuznaki—the adjacent waters of which have not been sailed for more than 90 years. In addition, soundings will be taken of the ocean plateau surrounding Gough's Island in an effort to determine the truth regarding a supposed underwater continental connection between Africa and America.

Nineteen persons, representing each of the British self-governing dominions, are expected to be aboard when the tiny but staunch craft, "built for tight corners," leaves Capetown, South Africa, for two years' of buffeting its way through the Antarctic ice.

Purpose.

The Quest uses both sail and steam, and which may cover more than 30,000 miles before it returns home, was constructed according to the personal ideas of Shackleton who has made several voyages to the Antarctic. He commanded the British expedition of 1907-09, which reached within 97 miles of the South Pole and also the expedition of 1914-15 to Weddell Sea. His present ship is 111 feet long, 25 foot beam and 12 feet in depth. She was built in Norway in 1917 of oak, pine and spruce and has been tested in heavy ice. Her sides are two feet thick and her bows are of solid oak sheathed with steel. Her steaming radius is 9,000 miles and, under sail, in a stiff breeze The Quest can make eight knots. She carries wireless equipment and an airplane with a 25-foot wing spread. She has a glass-enclosed bridge and a lookout that resembles a flour barrel.

Aviator-Photographer.

Major C. R. Carr, an English soldier of fortune, the aviator of the expedition, plans to fly above the Antarctic fog to scout out passages between the floes through which The Quest may pass. He is also the photographer and naturalist of the expedition. The bi-plane he will use is one of only three that were ever built. The other two were flown, respectively, by Colonel Borten, V.C., the pioneer flyer from England to Mesopotamia and by Sir Ross Smith, to Canada to raise funds for rescuing and preserving the old Gaelic and Scotch music.

BAND CONCERT LAST NIGHT IN WESTHOLME

Greenville Band, Winners in Fair Contest, Performed Before Fair-sized Crowd.

The Greenville Band gave a concert last evening in the Westholme Theatre. There was a fairly good attendance and the numbers were thoroughly enjoyed. H. Pattinson was the chairman and George Munro, president of the Northern B. C. Agricultural and Industrial Association, assisted in the arrangements.

The program rendered was as follows: Boston Commandery March, Martha Selection, Faust Selection, Till We Meet Again, Zampa Overture and National Emblem March. In the numbers Faust and Boston Commandery March, which were the contest pieces, H. C. Peyton, trainer, was conductor, while the native leader conducted the other items.

The hall was donated for the occasion by the Westholme Theatre management.

It Never Goes Dry

From an up-Coast bay comes a letter from Mrs. J. Hobson, who is the proud discoverer of a new reason for using Pacific Milk.

"I got milk from my neighbor's cows," said she, "but we were always told that they had gone dry. The Pacific Milk cow never goes dry."

And the cow's milk looked like water after Pacific Milk, so back I went to Pacific."

Cope Expedition.

There is already in the South Polar regions, another British expedition. It is led by Commander John L. Cope, who left Norfolk, Va., on October 27, 1920, for a six years' sojourn in the ice fields. The party is aboard a 7,000-ton whaler, the Thor, I., and three auxiliary ships and numbers more than 100 men. One of its purposes is the commercial development of the min-

IONA ROBERTSON IN SONG AND STORY EMPEROR TONIGHT

Miss Iona Robertson, a very noted Highland musical and dramatic artiste, has arrived in the city, and will be giving one of her unique entertainments tonight at the Empress Theatre. She has appeared in several of the world's largest cities as a singer and dramatic reciter, with unusual success, one of her latest triumphs being in the city of Boston, where an audience of four thousand people gave her a great ovation. All the leading papers in the Old Country describe her as a most brilliant elocutionist and accomplished singer. She is considered unique as an exponent of Gaelic songs, Scotch melodies, Service poems and certain dramatic selections demanding exceptional historical talent and personal magnetism. She was "discovered" by the Duke of Argyll and was selected by London Argyllshire Association as their special emissary to Canada to raise funds for rescuing and preserving the old Gaelic and Scotch music.

MEMBERS MAKE APPEAL LABOR ORGANIZATIONS

British Legislators Draw Attention to Evil of Strikes.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Nearly a score of British members of Parliament have issued a manifesto which is headed "A Call to Labor," from which the following is an extract:

"Where are we drifting? There were 37 million days lost last year by industrial stoppage, against 27 million days the year before. Up to July of this year, the total of 70 millions was caused by the miners' strike alone. But the figures of direct loss give only a faint idea of the total. The miners' strike meant the compulsory idleness of many thousands outside the miners' ranks; the ship engineers' strike has meant unemployment of engineers and shipwrights and other workers. Disputes in the long run can be satisfactorily settled only by examination of facts, with due regard to community interests and always remembering that the prosperity of any section can only be permanently secure in the prosperity of the community as a whole. The great majority of strikes could be settled just as well or better without any stoppage of work at all if there was an honest desire for settlement."

"Fellow-workers, most of the money you subscribe for specific trade union objects is being diverted to political ends. We need co-operation, not class war. We want arbitration, not anarchy. We desire to see a true sense of citizenship that gives to each freedom of choice in religion and politics and a personal value in national well being."

The signatures to the manifesto were G. N. Barnes, G. H. Roberts, J. Havlock Wilson, Mr. Seddon, J. F. Green, Mr. Jevson, A. G. Edwards, Captain Loseby, Captain Gee, V.C., Mr. Stanton, J. Walton, T. H. Burn, Captain Bagley, Mr. Jephcott, Major J. Edwards, Mr. Kenyon and Sir Fortescue Flannery.

NAT BELL MOVES TO CITY OF VANCOUVER

EDMONTON, Sept. 19.—Nat Bell, who for 20 years has been one of the most prominent figures in Edmonton business circles, has decided to pull up stakes and try his fortunes in the city of Vancouver. Bell's name has been most generally known in connection with the hotel business. He made his first big money in the Pendennis Hotel, and some years later built the Bell Block. Following the adoption of the prohibition measure by the Alberta voters, Bell led the way in the opening up of liquor export houses, and for a couple of years he has been carrying on a warfare with the provincial authorities as to the legality of his export business. In the end the provincial authorities seized the entire Bell stock of wet goods. Bell fought the seizure in the courts and was successful in that the province, after exhausting its legal remedies, finds itself saddled with a claim for substantial damages to Bell. This is one of the legacies which the Stewart government left Premier Greenfield to settle.

R. E. Allen Brought to General Hospital Saturday Night Suffering From Internal Injuries.

R. E. Allen, formerly district forester and now manager of the Royal Mills at Pitman Spur, was brought to the General Hospital here on the freight train Saturday night suffering from internal injuries sustained while logging near his mill. Mr. Allen was working on a skidway in the woods, and to avoid being struck by a log coming down he jumped on to a nearby cable. The horse on the end of the cable suddenly gave a tug, and the cable, being quickly tightened, threw Mr. Allen a distance of eight or ten feet on to the ground, which he struck on his side. The extent of the injuries have not yet been ascertained, but they are serious.

James Anderson arrived from Stewart last evening and is registered at the Hotel Prince Rupert.
