Ottawa Considers Election Possibility Reply to Lloyd George Being Formulated DUBLIN TODAY

General Election Agitating Ottawa

OTTAWA, August 22.—The political situation is still "up in the air." The Premier's office is the mecca of a host of callers, and members of Parliament from various sections of the country and others who are interested in developments. That a decision will be made within the next few days as to the course to be followed by the Government is expected, but at present the tide seems to be swinging back and forth between the possibility of an election and the difficult task of carrying on through another year. Unofficial comment is heard on the attitude of the old Ottawa paper the Montreal Gazette, which advocates the holding of a general election at once, but official comment is withheld. If anything, there is a slight swing of the pendulum toward the idea of an election now rather than next year. It is admitted here that the political situation and the unemployment problem are closely related.

ONE KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Car Jumped Thirty Feet Near Juneau, Landing in Underbrush and Spilling Occupants.

JUNEAU, Aug. 22.—John Engleblad is dead, while John W. McDonald, Edward Ringuette and Herbert Moore are badly cut and bruised as the result of an auto wreck on the Glacier Highway when a Buick car, driven by Herbert Moore, hit the ditch, climbed the bank, struck a rock and spilled the occupants along the roadside. From all the evidence presented at the scene of the accident the car was going at a terrific rate of speed when it hit the ditch, as it sailed through the air a distance of 30 feet, hitting the bank until it came to its final resting place in the brush on the opposite or beach side of the road.

Scene of Accident.
The scene of the accident is about a mile and a half from Juneau, 100 feet beyond the George Burford homestead on the Glacier Highway. The car was coming from the direction of Salmon Creek and at a slight bend in the road one of the front wheels hit the end of an old plank road leading from the hillside to the main road. When the wheel hit this plank it went into a small ditch not much wider than the tire, ran along in that for a way, then two of the wheels ran along the bank on the upper side, while the other two wheels were on the main highway, giving the car an angle of more than 45 degrees. After running along in this position for a short distance a front wheel hit a rock and the four occupants were spilled out. The car after spilling its occupants shot out at right angles from the bank, leaped a distance of about 30 feet, landed right side up on the opposite side of the road in heavy underbrush, smashed its fenders against a stump and came to a stop.

No Clear Story.
It was at 4:30 in the morning that Moore, the driver of the death car, stumbled in the door of the Burford home, leaving a trail of blood behind him from numerous cuts in his face and body. George Burford accompanied him to the scene of the accident, where he saw John Engleblad lying in the middle of the road with a coat pillowing his head. J. W. McDonald had picked himself up from the ditch where he had lit and Edward Ringuette was in a dazed condition. All the men insisted as they were brought to the city in the Garo car and in the care of a physician who was on the scene 15 minutes after the accident happened, that they had turned out of the road to avoid another car. The closest inquiry has been unable to find any other car that was on the highway at that time of the morning. Autoists say that it is highly improbable that there was any other car there.

Died in Hospital.
John Engleblad was alive at the time that he was brought to St. Ann's Hospital. He died 20 minutes afterwards from hemorrhages of the chest. The physician who had charge of him said that it is probable that he hit on the back of his head as he flew out of the car and doubled up with such force his chest was caved in.

Irish Republicans Draft Reply to Great Britain In Regard to Peace Offer

DUBLIN, August 22.—Secret sessions of the Irish republican parliament for the purpose of drafting the Sinn Fein reply to Britain's peace proposals began here today. The presence of Harry J. Boland, who represented De Valera in the United States after the latter returned to Ireland, gives rise to the belief that he is outlining his views as to the state of public opinion on the other side of the Atlantic. Press comments by Dublin papers seem to reflect a desire on the part of Sinn Fein not utterly to reject the British offer.

STANDARD OIL SHIP GOES TO ESQUIMALT FOR HER OVERHAUL

VICTORIA, August 22.—The Standard Oil Co.'s tanker Caddo has arrived here for overhaul and repair at Yarrow's repair plant. The contract, which means four weeks' work at least to the Esquimalt firm, was obtained in competition with American yards along the coast. A number of the biggest plants in San Francisco were in the running, and the bidding was close. The local establishment had a representative on the spot in California port, and were successful in getting the contract, the award being a tribute to the enterprise of Yarrow's, to their close figuring, and the efficient manner in which previous jobs have been carried out on Standard Oil tankers.

DAILY EDITION

Monday, August 22, 1921

What Shall We Do During the Winter?

Yesterday was a dull day and naturally there was little to do except go to church, and most of the people of the city did not seem to want to pray or sing or listen to a religious talk. Very likely they were wrong, but they never considered whether they were right or wrong. They simply did not want to and they did not go to any of the services arranged for the religiously inclined.

What Is There to Do? Is the General Enquiry.

People like to be doing things. If they do things for the purpose of making a living they are said to work. If they do something for which they receive no pay, they are doing it for recreation purposes. Rest comes through change of occupation rather than through slumber. For years, perhaps centuries, we have been urging people to develop spiritually on Sundays. And the more the people have been urged the less they wished to do it.

No Initiative in Most People.

Most people have no initiative. They feel it difficult to get busy at anything unless someone else puts it their way. We have got into the habit of looking outside ourselves for our recreation and have little capacity within ourselves. It is difficult to develop this initiative. We prefer to stand on the street corner and spit rather than do anything serious. While we would like to do something, there is nothing to do, nothing that appeals to us, and the result is a deadly dull Sunday that lasts much too long. The lot of the lotus eaters is ours.

Chance for Someone To Stir the Dry Bones.

Here is a chance for some person with plenty of imagination and initiative to stir the dry bones and make them come to life. On a fine Sunday everyone goes out and enjoys the sunshine and balmy air, but the dull days are indeed dull and monotonous to the multitude. A few people get together sometimes and talk of their grievances, and other groups are occasionally formed. The Salvation Army gets busy on the street corners and tries to stir us, but with little effect. The person who can make Sunday a real rest and recreation day instead of a day of dreamy slumber will benefit the community and indeed the whole human race.

BETTER HERE THAN ALASKA

Fish Sold at Juneau For 6c and 3c and Often No Market.

While we have not had a very good market for halibut here recently, other places have been much worse, if that is any consolation. At Ketchikan there has been no ice and the market has been very poor. At Juneau things have been even worse for the buyers were unable to ship out their product. Arrangements have now been made for them to do so by the Canadian boats. The Juneau Empire tells of the condition as follows.

Ship on C. P. R.

Announcement is made today by Oliver Drange, manager of the Juneau Cold Storage Company, that he has made satisfactory arrangements so that beginning on September 1 his firm will be able to buy halibut in unlimited quantities for shipment to Vancouver, B. C., on the ships of the Canadian Pacific Company.

According to Mr. Drange, the halibut market at Seattle is in a demoralized condition and he is not at this time, nor has been for some time able to buy fish for shipment there and transportation was not available on the Canadian boats. Transportation of the American boats was available but there was no market at Seattle.

Fleet Tied Up.

The fishing fleet having its headquarters at Juneau has for some time been lying at its moorings here. For a time they sold at Sitka, but the Booth Fisheries Company there stopped buying. They have started again, but the fishermen claim that the price of 3 and 6 cents paid by that company does not allow them to sell at a profit, so they laid up their boats.

With the resumption of buying here, about 15 boats, whose owners and crews have their homes in this city, will resume fishing and selling their fish here.

STEAM TRUCK FOR TELKWA COAL MINE

Big Machine Lying at G.T.P. Dock Awaiting Freight for Interior.

Included in the cargo of the Prince Albert which arrived from Vancouver on Saturday night was a 5-ton steam truck for the Aveling Coal Mine near Telkwa. The big machine was unloaded here and is awaiting the first freight train for the interior.

The truck, which is equipped with a 30-horsepower engine, has been brought north by Dave Whitten, of Telkwa, who returned from Vancouver on Saturday morning. It will be used for the hauling of coal from the mine a distance of 6 miles west of the railway. This mine is controlled by the Rattenbury Lands Co., and will ship coal for local and western consumers. The truck, which was formerly used in road work around Vancouver, has not been run for six years. It is the first of its kind to come north and it will be interesting to see how it will work out on the roads of the interior. It is equipped with cable attachments to the rear wheels for pulling it out of holes. Besides carrying coal on the truck itself it will also tow a trailer.

The railway commissioners sailed last night on the Princess May for Whitehorse where they will hold a session in regard to White Pass Railway matters.

MERAVELLOUS STORY OF A SURGICAL FEAT

Photoplay at Westholme Theatre Tonight is Most Unusual.

In the late World War so many marvelous feats of surgery were performed that the layman has reached the stage where he has ceased to be surprised at anything the surgeons do. In the base hospitals of France noses—yes, even entire faces were rebuilt to order—rotting bones were replaced by healthy ones from animals—even important organs were either repaired or replaced.

The public will therefore accept without question the amazing operation performed in Marshall Neilan's astounding new picture of newspaper life—"Go and Get It" at the Westholme tonight. Upon the outcome of this wonderful surgical exploit hinges one of the most fascinating and sensational plots that the motion picture world has produced in recent years. And while this is incidental to the main thread of the plot which hinges on the romance and excitement of newspaper life collectively it goes to make one of the most powerful stories ever written around a great daily.

In the Letter Box
A Word of Encouragement re Westholme Orchestra.
Editor Daily News:—
In a city where an organization of musicians playing to suit the various tastes of the public such as collect in the Picture Shows, it has been proved without a doubt in older cities that the orchestra is an important factor. I therefore wish to pay a compliment to the orchestra of the Westholme Theatre, for the varied selections produced on Saturday night. In a young city like Prince Rupert, where the public are obliged to go to one theatre where an orchestra is playing, it is to be hoped the conductor will endeavor (as I know he is doing) to continue in his ambition to give the public the best of his ability with the number of orchestra pieces at his disposal, and I am sure 80 per cent will show their appreciation by the attentive hearing, as you will always find a proportion of 20 per cent to continue talking, which is a decided hardship on the players, as well as a nuisance to the percentage who appreciate their efforts.
I therefore congratulate the conductor and his staff on the decided improvement they have shown by their efforts, to give us the best appropriate to the picture, and particularly to their selected items.
A. L. RONALD.

ARBITRATION FOR SCHOOL TEACHERS AND EMPLOYERS

VICTORIA, Aug. 22.—As a result of a difference of opinion between the school teachers of Saanich municipality and the board of school trustees it is announced that provision is likely to be made in the School Act for arbitration of such disputes so that there will be no danger of teachers going on strike.

In different parts of the province and in other provinces there have been teachers' strikes following the formation of the Federation with Harry Charlesworth as permanent head. The troubles are having a bad effect on the pupils and do not make for efficiency in the schools. The result is that the Council of Public Instruction will be forced to take the matter up and provide a means of settling disputes without recourse to overt acts which tend to injure the work done by the schools.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

Minimum price of first-class and second-class land, 25.00 and 22.50 an acre, respectively.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering any land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is not timber land.

Partially surveyed pre-emption abolished but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emption with joint residence but no necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must secure title to the value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 1/2 acre before receiving pre-emption certificate.

Where pre-emptor in occupation more than 3 years, and has made substantial improvements, he may be granted immediate certificate of pre-emption and transfer his claim to another person.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $200 per acre and pays 1/2 cent per acre per annum to make improvements or record same will operate as a feature.

This cannot be obtained for less than 20 acres, and improvements of $100 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of 1/2 acre.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he has not in occupation of the land for 10 years, and improvements made and residence maintained on Crown grant land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesteads, and be obtained after fulfilling real estate and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 40 acres may be leased by the Crown or company.

This privilege is also made retrospective.

RADIUM REACHES WINNIPEG SAFELY

Twelfth of a Gramme to Be Used There for Disease Treatment.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 20.—Insured against theft by Lloyds, and in little metal containers not more than an inch long by a sixteenth of an inch in diameter, these again in a leather-covered case, 70 milligrammes of radium has reached Winnipeg for use in the treatment of disease.

It is the largest amount of radium in one place in western Canada, and is worth approximately $10,000.

It is the property of the Radium Holding company, limited, and it is the intention of the company to increase its holdings as soon as possible to half a gramme of the precious substance, a gramme of which is worth in cash $120,000, though almost priceless in the interests of science because of the fact that in all the world there are only about 125-grammes of pure radium.

The majority of people know nothing at all about radium. The greatest scientists of the day and age know very little. But the little that is known has demonstrated the fact that it possesses a power immeasurably greater than that of any other known force.

Could it be harnessed and measured in terms of horse power, an ounce of radium contains in itself sufficient energy to lift 5,000,000 tons a distance of 30 feet or to hoist completely out of the water 100 of the world's largest battleships.

For Cancer Treatment

It has been brought to Winnipeg for use in the treatment of certain malignant diseases, particularly cancer.

In the past it has been necessary for persons in need of radium treatment to travel long distances, adding greatly to the expense and cutting off the most efficacious treatment known to all excepting those of considerable means.

One of the features of the Radium Holding company, as its name implies, is that it is designed primarily to bring the precious substance to Winnipeg, making possible the treatment of disease by radium for people of the west at a minimum of expense.

Built Trail.

But it was a strong outcropping 1000 feet higher than the old workings which proved the greatest attraction to the superintendent. He established a tent camp there and put a couple of men running open cuts and stripping off the overburden from the lead across the rounded summit of the hill. Early results were so encouraging that a substantial trail was built to the upper showing from the camp below, accommodation for more men were provided, and before fall substantial log buildings will be erected, as it is the intention to work there all winter.

The open cutting and stripping showed a continuous ore shoot for a distance of 600 feet with a width of from one foot to over three feet of ore, all of which will assay around the $100 mark. The lead in one place is 12 feet wide, and here and there is a second shoot of high grade about a foot wide, on the hanging wall. The lead in which these shoots occur has been traced for a distance of about 2000 feet, starting from Skookum creek, crossing up and over the hill and down again toward the Salmon river. If extended to the road it would cross at about seven-mile. It is a contact vein, with granite on the footwall, and quartz-porphry on the hanging, the strike being almost east and west, and the dip to the north.

His Trade Secret.

The court (during bankruptcy proceedings)—Kindly inform the court how you managed to keep your credit open.

Defendant—Certainly. But allow me to suggest that I impart this information behind closed doors. There are several of my competitors present and I have no desire to teach them the secret.

FINE SHOWING AT FISH CREEK

Ore at Mine Close to Premier Gives Promise of Being Shipper.

Great interest has been aroused in the camp, by the recent uncovering of a phenomenal ore shoot on the Fish Creek Mining Company's property near the head of Skookum creek, which is the north fork of Fish Creek, says the Hyder Alaska Miner. Numbers have gone up to look at the new find and the old timers who have been in the camp since it first attracted the attention of prospectors agree that the Premier never had anywhere near as good a surface showing. This, in view of the fact the Premier is today the largest producer of both gold and silver of any mine in Canada, compels the most conservative to admit that the Fish Creek group will be the next big producer, and it is within the bounds of reason to believe that the American mine will be a worthy rival of its Canadian neighbor, which is across the line almost within rifle shot.

High Grade and Milling.

The Fish Creek Company have been working in a small way for years on a series of veins which are cut by Skookum creek at an average elevation of 1600 feet and upon which seven tunnels, totaling more than 1000 feet in length and exposing various shoots of both high grade and milling ore have been run. A comfortable camp was established here on a slight break in the extremely steep hillside, and operations were resumed here this summer upon the entry on to the property of Harry Tanner as superintendent. Work is being done in one of the tunnels, drifting in on a promising shoot of ore which is widening out and from which a considerable tonnage of shipping ore is being sacked, 280 sacks averaging 125 pounds in weight having been taken down the hill or stored at the mouth of the tunnel up to last Friday when the writer visited the camp. The second grade ore here is being saved for mill feed when a concentrator is constructed, being shot down a raise into another tunnel which is not now being worked. A trial shipment of five tons made several years ago from another tunnel gave returns of $520 per ton, with silver at 50¢ per ounce.
