or Leader Urges Consolidation Anglo Saxon Forces To Prevent Wars: Stands by the British Navy

ROUVER, August 23.—Urging his hearers to make way for a Christian spirit, Peter Wright, dean of British marine labor, opened a speaking tour of Canada here at Bishop de Pencier's residence. Mr. Wright said he believed the consolidated Anglo-Saxon forces of the world could prevent wars, and he urged that Canada fight for greater expression of the national spirit in the councils of the Empire, and warned Canadians that they could not survive without a navy.

"Uncle Sam," concluded Wright, "but I would not like to put one over on me. But for the British navy Canada would be in a hell of a mess today."

The theme of the speech was "Where Are We Going?" Wright urged that Canadians find out where they were and not let the formation of a new social post-war fabric. "Don't let that gasometer, that incubator at Ottawa make the decision. Take a hand in it yourselves," he urged.

Wright takes part in Tuesday's session of the Provincial Council on unemployment. He stated he was not in favor of unemployment insurance because it would encourage

LEVEL CROSSING COMES UP AGAIN

Council Wants to Know What Progress Is Made on Permission to Government.

The Mayor is to take up with the Provincial Government and the Railway Commission the matter of the level crossing at Cow Bay with a view to ascertaining what progress is being made towards having permission granted to the Government to put in its level crossing.

The matter was brought up at the council meeting last night by Ald. Kerr, who stated that the need of the crossing was being brought more closely to the attention of the city now that the Smith Island rock was being hauled to the streets. Ald. Dybhavn stated that yesterday the truck carrying the rock had gone through a roadway and had held up traffic for some time.

Ald. Parker pointed out that there was no road leading to the government wharf which was strong enough for heavy traffic. When the concrete mixed for the Court house was brought in it had to be taken apart.

THIS FISH A REAL WHOPPER.

The Indian who caught this huge sturgeon in Pitt River, British Columbia, said to be the largest on record, don't need to exaggerate. The photograph tells the story. It is eleven feet, nine inches long and weighs 1,367 pounds. It was caught with a drift net. The fish that the angler is holding in his hand is a large sized salmon.

WINNIPEG, August 23.—During the first day the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in session here accomplished the adoption of a demand for the eight-hour day and forty-four-hour week and the insertion of a fair wage clause in all agreements for labor on public works.

The convention expressed its opinion that the present cost of living did not justify a reduction in wages on the Canadian National Railway.

The report of the executive committee which was read contained a special memorandum on unemployment. Copies of this were distributed and discussed fully. During this discussion many criticisms of the Dominion Government were heard.

Sea Products Association Plans Building New Cold Storage Plant In Spring

The Pacific Sea Products Association of Canada, although in the meantime it has discontinued to buy fish at this port, is by no means out of business, and the plans of the association are now more ambitious than ever. Until spring it will do no active business, but by then it is proposed to have raised enough capital to build a cold storage plant at the present site at Seal Cove, and then it will carry on on a larger scale than ever. In this connection Peter Gill, secretary of the Deep Sea Fishermen's Union of Seattle and a fish man known as Alutian Peninsula, is in the city and will be busy on the proposition until it is brought to a successful consummation in the spring. The association will be in the future as in the past, made up of fishermen and fishermen's capital, the actual producers thus intending to reap even more fully the profits of the industry. The Pacific Sea Products Association of Seattle is now in liquidation thus affecting temporarily the operations of the Pacific Sea Products Association of Canada.

J. N. Sinclair, the manager of the Pacific Sea Products Association, is the principal and Doom of the Learned Professions.

The doom of the three learned professions has often been sounded, yet we find doctors, lawyers and clergymen just as numerous as ever. Possibly there are more to the unit of population than ever before in the history of the world. We are told from time to time that we shall not need doctors after awhile because no one will be taken sick. All we shall need will be preventive officers who will instruct us in hygiene and see that we do not get sick. As in China we shall pay the doctor to keep us well, and when he fails he will lose either his salary, his job or his head. He will have to be able to set a bone, because there are bound to be accidents occasionally.

Lawyers should not be needed in future except to keep people away from litigation. The lawyer who leads a client into trouble will be very soon taboo and his services not required.

Both lawyers and doctors will probably be paid by the state and their work will be wholly preventive. With clergymen, however, the case is different. We can never agree to have them paid by the state because we cannot agree on any one doctrine. It may be that, as we grow wiser, we shall realize that to be kind and unselfish and helpful are the truest forms of religion, but the moment we begin to state it in terms we have disagreements. State religion has been given a trial and has not proved an unqualified success. What the future will do in regard to this learned profession no one can prophesy. The clergy themselves are more obscure than anyone else in regard to the vision of the future. Drummond tells of a city without a church. It is to be a place where there will be no need of a church. Perhaps there will come a utopian time when there will be need of neither doctor, lawyer or preacher. That will undoubtedly be the millennium.

Other Professions Become Learned.

Other professions are becoming learned. We have engineers, surveyors, architects, teachers and journalists and many other classes that are known as professional men, and the conduct of a business is becoming more and more a profession. It is found that education is an advantage everywhere and especially expert education in regard to the profession in which a person is to engage. We now hear of the profession of salesmanship, of accounting, of auditing and so on, embracing every line of business, and all are learned or should be. Nursing and dentistry are of course branches of the medical profession. There are also the people who make a living from instruction in art or from selling their artistic wares, such as pictures or music. All these are professions and they certainly are learned.

The time will likely come when every calling will be a profession. The expert in selling shoes today has to know about the peculiarities of the human foot and can do more to make life a joy than most other professional men. To know the calling thoroughly and to practise it scientifically is to be an expert professional man.

Men Who Practise Profession of Optimism.

There are in the city just now in connection with the completion of the new steamer, the Canadian Scottish, a group of men who have no interest in the port except such as comes of a casual visit now and then, but who are very enthusiastic as to its future. They visit many ports and they are in a position to judge. They are professional men, each an expert in his particular line, and they are keen observers. They, too, are optimists with a vision of the future, and they see great things in store for Prince Rupert. It is like a fresh breeze in an arid desert to talk to them, for they are full of hope and faith in the future. They can give many of us pointers in the science of optimism, something that we sometimes need here.

CORONER MAKES RECOMMENDATIONS TO CITY COUNCIL

Two letters from Coroner McMullin were received at the meeting of the city council last night. The first was in regard to the death of Kenneth Viator Hood, as a result of which the jury recommended that the city streets be inspected and safeguards be put in. The board of works is dealing with this.

The second letter apprising the council that the jury recommended that the city bylaw regarding weights being attached to standing horses be lived up to was referred to the chief of police. This resulted from the incident which led to the death of the late William Booth who was killed by a runaway team.

SEAL COVE PEOPLE ASK BETTER ROADS

Request to City Council Last Night Was Referred to Board of Works.

A request from W. Haase and seventeen other residents of Section 7 in the vicinity of Seal Cove Circle asking for improvement to streets in that part of town was last night referred to the Board of Works by the city council. The request asked for a suitable roadway between Sixth and Eighth Avenues on either Jeffery or Immanuel Streets and also for a plank walk from St. Peter's Church to the Grand Trunk Reserve towards the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Company's plant and the Prince Rupert Sawmill.

In the Letter Box

WILLIAM BOOTH.

Editor Daily News:—

In your issue of August 16, re name for school, I think Principal Brady's eulogy of the late William Booth, a splendid testimony of my late lifelong friend, and wish to thank him for same, as he has put the case just as it should be put. I who have known him from childhood days attended the same church in the old country as well as here, know that too much praise could not be given him. He was just as anxious in our young days as I was to see the world, but as he was his widowed mother's youngest boy, she asked him to not leave her while she lived. This he did, keeping the home going until she died, when he came over here, as he had bought property at the first sale. He had been a property owner perhaps before any others who have been named. His record all through life has been all ways willing to take a back seat and help all others he could quietly and without thought of self, a splendid example of British ideals in every sense of the word. He looked the whole world in the face and owed not any man.

I could acquaint Principal Brady with several heroic deeds which he did me of in the late war, one of which, he told me, someone else got a medal for later. I know personally that I have lost for a little while, the best specimen of human friendship I ever met, and while Canada can get such sons of the motherland, to help us found a new world out here, the best ideals of citizenship and devotion to duty and religious freedom will follow.

Welcome Sign.

It is only when we lose our friends, that we find them, and it is a welcome sign of our future great city, that our friendly societies of the Old Land come together on these occasions, whatever our religions may be, and give honor where honor is due. If I was writing an epitaph for him I should quote the following passage:
"I expect to pass through this world but once. Any good therefore that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any fellow creature, let me do it now. Let me not defer or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."
"Splendid in life and glorious in death his record will still 'Carry On.'"

Change of Water WAS THE CAUSE OF DIARRHOEA

People moving from place to place are very much subject to diarrhoea on account of the change of water, climate, diet, etc. Prompt treatment with

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY

In such cases relieves the pain, checks the diarrhoea, and thus does away with the suffering, the weakness and often-times collapse associated with an attack of this kind. It does this by checking the too frequent and irritating stools, settling the stomach and bracing up the weakened system, thus rendering it without a peer for the treatment of all bowel complaints of both old and young.

Mrs. Ernest S. Beaton, Grayburn, Sask., writes:—Coming out here from the East, my two little girls look very sick, the change of water, etc., giving them diarrhoea. They were so pale, and used to vomit everything they would take, so I finally got a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and I must say it certainly helped them. I have also used it when my children were teething and it is all you claim for it."

74 years reputation stands behind this remedy. Price, 25c. a bottle. Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SALMON PACK IS LIGHT WITH HIGHER PRICE

Recovery of Canned Fish Price Begins and Scarcity Will Help It.

SEATTLE, Aug. 23.—Everybody interested in the salmon canning industry, which includes packers, fishermen and bankers, gave a sigh of relief when the opening price for canned salmon was announced. Threatened with disaster, those owning canning plants or holding canning paper had anxiously awaited the opening price, which is announced at $1.05 a dozen for chums and $1.15 a dozen for pinks.

Chums have sold as low as 55 cents a dozen during 1921 and 60 cents a dozen for pinks was a high price during the same period. At these prices the canners suffered a loss on every can of salmon in hand, most of which was packed during war prices.

Best News Yet.

One prominent canner says: "The advance in prices is the best news that we have had in a long time. During the last 90 days there has been the greatest demand for salmon ever known in an equal period. The remarkable part of it all is that the demand has been for consumption and not for speculation. I doubt if there is enough salmon in packs this year to last until after the first of the year. This fact should be indicative of a still greater advance."

Alaska Pack.

The Alaska salmon pack for 1921 will run 1,500,000 cases of reds 500,000 cases of pinks and 250,000 chums, according to D. W. Branch, manager of the salmon department of Libby, McNeill & Libby, who has returned from his annual inspection trip. In 1920 the Alaska salmon pack was 1,500,000 cases, a large percentage being chums from Southeastern Alaska.

Mr. Branch estimates the 100,000 cases of sockeyes packed on Puget Sound this season and 225,000 cases of Chinook packed on the Columbia River. The normal 1921 pack on Puget Sound should be 1,300,000 cases, and last year the Columbia packed 480,000 cases, and this year the pack falls back to the record of 1912.

Seasons Compared.

The total pack of salmon in 1920 in the North Pacific waters, from Columbia River to Bering Sea, including British Columbia, was 7,500,000 cases. Last year Southeast Alaska alone packed 2,200,000 cases of light grades of salmon.

This season the total pack, including British Columbia, will not be over 2,500,000 cases.

On motion of Ald. Parker seconded by Ald. Frizzell, the city council last night decided to grant the request of the Fair Association that Wednesday, September 14, be declared a civic holiday.

The last of the funds available under the Better Housing Scheme were last night allotted by the city council on the recommendation of the committee as follows: D. M. Peyton, $2500; J. McKechnie, $2500, and A. T. Smith, $1700.

Tenders for 39 iron valve boxes for the water system cut-offs were received by the council last night and referred to the Board of Works. They were as follows: Prince Rupert Supply Co. $732.55; Rowe's Sheet Metal Works, $822; Smith & Mallett, $857.50.

During the month of July there were three fire alarms with no loss, according to the report of the fire chief to the city council. The chief recommends that six water barrels and buckets be installed at the Exhibition Hall for better protection. The report was received and filed.

The city is to purchase the residence of Bert Moore, lineman at Shawattans Lake, and the city engineer is to bring in an estimate for alterations and additions to it. This was decided upon by the council last night on recommendation of the Utilities Committee. Mr. Moore is shortly to be married and the committee intends to provide a residence for him as is done for other employees at the lake.

Mayor Rochester reported at the meeting of the city council last night that he had taken up the matter of a mile transportation for harvesters from Prince Rupert with the railway authorities. He had found that the company had decided there was no need for the rate from here on account of there being little unemployment. In any case the rate was only given to bona-fide farmers and was not general. It was pointed out that although the rate is given from Vancouver great difficulty is being experienced to have any men go to the prairies.

WIDOW RECEIVES 23 MARRIAGE PROPOSALS

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 23.—There is no scarcity of husbands. Mrs. Nettie Durham of 503 Washington Street has discovered. Tired of keeping a rooming house, Mrs. Durham, who has been a widow for fifteen years, wrote to the sheriff of Omaha several weeks ago asking him to find her a husband. She now has 23 proposals of marriage on her hands. She overcame the difficulty of making a choice by accepting the man whose proposal she received first. She sent cards of polite refusal to the second and third men heard from, and ignored the other twenty.

BEEES ADOPT BOLSHEVIST POLICY IN THE STATES

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The bees of the United States appear to have adopted a Bolshevist policy. Recent despatches received here show that they have committed the following atrocities:
Killed a horse and forced twenty miles to retire from work in Yolo county, California.
Held the pike against all traffic near Lexington, Kentucky, guarding a honey tree which fell across the highway.
Stung a motorist on the nose in Wisconsin and thereby ditched an automobile party.

VERY LITTLE KICK IN THE LATEST DANCES

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Canadian dancing masters, out of courtesy to their confreres in this Volsteaded country, at the recent international convention of dancing masters concurred in the adoption of one-half-of-one-per cent dances for the coming season. The new dances are the "Tango-trot" and the "Portopovitch." Neither has the slightest kick, the dancing masters assert. They say both are designed to "elevate dancing."

BRINGING UP FATHER

Airship Being Prepared for Flight This Week from England to United States

LAKEHURST, N. J., August 23.—(Associated Press.)—The daily routine in the handling of the giant American dirigible ZR-2, which starts this week on its transatlantic flight from England, requires the combined services of a large crew of expert mechanics, riggers, clerks and navigators.

Both on the ground and in flight the ZR-2 is "nursed" constantly, for thousands of the minute details in her construction require constant inspection.

Taking "lift" and "trimming" is the first thing done in daily routine. This means calculation of the ship's total lift by adding the amount of ballast (water, gasoline, oil, etc., on board) and noting its location on a chart.

In this manner the total lift of the ship from day to day is noted and, if there is a decrease and no gas has been valved, an inspection is made for leaks. By noting the location of ballast, any tendency for uneven distribution may be seen and remedied—it is desirable to keep weights distributed as evenly as possible along the length of the ship to avoid stresses on the hull structure.

The ship is thoroughly polished, or cleaned, then the engineers list and repair engines, the riggers inspect controls, gas bags, valves, the outer cover and fin surface.

Mull Inspection.
There always is a considerable amount of breakage of small braces and wires, necessitating a constant hull inspection. The outer cover fabric gets torn or blown loose at joints and repairs are made immediately to prevent the holes from becoming larger. Gas bags are inspected by going over them with a leak detector which registers any trace of escaping hydrogen. Fabric in the bags is very thin and light and often chafes through, consequently, there is loss of gas, lowered purity and lift reduction.

Once a week the purity of each bag in the ship is taken, this serving as a check on the general condition of gas tightness. Other routine work consists of weekly checking of the tensions of the various wires and correcting any discrepancies cleaning and reseating water ballast discharge valves and a general inspection of all controls.

In preparing for flight it is necessary to learn how large a crew will be carried and the length and nature of the flight. It is then possible to determine how much gas will be needed to give the necessary lift, how much fuel will be needed and how to distribute the weight.

Filled With Gas.
Having determined these things the commanding officer directs the gassing. He is assisted by the gassing coxswain and a number of men who station themselves at the valves and note the flow. Riggers are detailed to put water ballast and gasoline aboard as they are needed when lift increases with the incoming gas.

When the ship is gassed, fueled and ballasted, a careful "lift and trim" is taken and charted. The charts are placed in the control car so that the navigating officer may refer to them during flight. The crew then is taken aboard, sufficient ballast to compensate their weight is discharged, the engineers make a final test and the flight command is given.

The ground party mans the handling guys and, under the direction of an experienced officer, tows the ship to the taking-off point. Here the ship is again weighed off to make a final check of lift and trim and, if satisfactory, the release order is given.

Navigated Like Ship.

In flight the ship is operated so far as possible along the lines of sea-going operation, orders being given and watches maintained in a similar manner. Normally, on duty in the control car are the captain or the first lieutenant, the senior navigating officer and his assistant and an officer of the watch who relieves the commanding officer when requested. He is required to make frequent tours of inspection along the keel to see that the gas bags are in proper position, valves are functioning and that the riggers on watch are on the alert.

Needs Regularity.

Meals are served at regular hours. Two cooks are attached to two of the power units. Hot coffee or chocolate and a certain amount of hot food can be served.

In landing, effected at a set time as determined between the ship's officer and the commandant at the landing field by radio communication, the crew are piped to landing stations and required to remain as motionless as possible while the buoyancy and trim are checked. By radio the ship's officer then is given the direction and velocity of the ground wind, the temperature and barometric pressure, all of which enables him to make necessary landing calculations.

Descending, the ship's handling guys are caught by the ground party. The ship's way is checked by shutting down the engines or by running the engines astern, the object being to place the ship in the hands of the landing party with no forward speed.

The ship is then taken into the hanger and secured; the crew disembark and ballast is put aboard to compensate.

The crew of the ZR-2 includes 45 officers and 45 enlisted men.

If final arrangements are made and it is decided to go south, it is likely that the team would leave on a Sunday night steamer reaching Vancouver on Tuesday afternoon when a game would be played. Crossing to Victoria they would play there on Wednesday and Thursday and returning to Vancouver another game would take place on Friday.

The Daily News and local baseball fans are more than pleased that Prince George has taken exception to doubts being expressed here that the visitors of the week-end will be unable to put up a good game against Prince Rupert. It was feared that they would not be able to do so, but their message of yesterday was reassuring.

To the Point. Fred was being sent to a boarding school.

"Now," said his father, "when you write do not send me pages and pages describing all the pupils, where they come from, and what class they are in, because I really shall not have time to read it all."

A few weeks later his father received the following letter:—"Dear Father—S.O.S., L.s.d., R. S.V.P.—Fred.

It is possible that calls may be made at way ports, including Prince Rupert.

FIND MUCH GAS AT BOUNDARY BAY WELL

VANCOUVER, Aug. 23.—Wet gas has been struck at the oilwell at Boundary Bay showing a pressure of 1000 pounds to the square inch. It was shut off with a new gauge valve just secured from California, and on being ignited threw a flame 30 feet high.

Judging by the history of California wells, the experts in charge of the boring expect to strike oil within about 100 feet. Crowds of shareholders and those interested in other wells have been gathering to make sure that the report was no idle tale.

TENDERS RECEIVED FOR MOTOR TRUCK

Referred to Board of Works to Select Best Machine and Get Terms.

The council at some length last night discussed the financial ways and means of purchasing a two-ton truck. Tenders were opened and it was finally decided to refer them to the board of works to select the most suitable, if possible arrange for terms, and report back to the council.

At the outset Ald. Dybhavn stated that the expenditures were already very heavy and the estimates were being strongly taxed. From now on expenses should be held down and there should be no extravagance.

Ald. McNeill pointed out that the purchase of the truck would be a measure of economy rather than of extravagance. In three months over $900 had been paid out in cartage charges, and there would be still heavier accounts if the truck was not purchased. This was being paid out of general revenue.

Try to Get Terms.
Ald. Perry suggested that if big cartage bills were being paid out of general revenue then the truck could be bought that way. Mayor Joehester felt that the purchase of the truck would be good business. Finally on the suggestion of the city clerk it was decided that, in order to relieve this year's finances, the truck be bought on terms, with a small payment now and the balance after the end of this year.

The cash tenders which were opened were as follows:
Diether & Selzer—2 1/2-ton Day-Elder truck (used), $3500; 2-ton Garford truck, $5250 f.o.b. Vancouver.

Ward Electric and Marine Supply Co.—International motor truck, Mack, 2-ton, $5141 f.o.b. Vancouver.

James Hunter—Traffic 2-ton truck, $3469; Day-Elder 1 1/2-ton to 2-ton truck, $4169.

Pacific Cartage—Republic 2 to 2 1/2-ton, $5200; National 2-ton, $5250.

Rupert Motor Co.—Huffman, $3500; National, $5030; Federal, $5130.

LIKELY AMOUNT OF WATER BYLAW WILL NOW BE RAISED

Found That $50,000 Will Hardly Cover Work Already Done From General Revenue.

The water extension bylaw which will go before the people next month was discussed by the City Council last night in committee. It was pointed out that the original $50,000 bylaw would hardly cover the work and redeem the funds that had been used from general revenue. It is likely that a bylaw for $75,000 will be submitted instead, and then there will be a margin for next year's council to work on. Extensive work that has been going on lately has run into a great deal of money, which has been taken from general revenue without a bylaw having been passed.
