K-EMPEROR CHARLES IS FIGHTING FOR THRONE OF HUNGARY

Monarchist Forces Suffer Defeat in Hungary and Are Attacked in the rear

BUDAPEST, Oct. 24.—The Hungarian forces fighting against the former Emperor Charles to regain the throne announced successes against Carlist forces, it is announced by the government early today. The town of Raab, which had been captured by Carlists, has been recaptured and the Carlist troops are being attacked in the rear.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The British Government has notified the Hungarian Government that the latter must take all possible steps for the expulsion of the former Emperor Charles from Hungary. It is well informed circles that Britain has reserved the right to support Jugo-Slavia, Czecho-Slavia and Roumania in any case for the expulsion of the former ruler from Hungarian territory.

An unverified report received by the Exchange Telegraph said that Charles had been assassinated. Another report stated that Charles had already entered Budapest and that his troops were meeting with little opposition and were on the capital.

AVIATOR PREST IS IN SAN FRANCISCO

Was Unable to Dispose of "Polar Bear" in Seattle, So Took it on South.

C. O. Prest, the Las Vegas aviator, who was here last month and gave flights in the biplane Polar Bear, is now in San Francisco, according to private word that has been received in the city. Mr. Prest tried to sell the wreck of his machine in Seattle but finding that there was no landing field there and that no land machines were in use, he was unable to do so. Therefore, he took the fuselage and engine on to San Francisco. He sailed from Seattle to Frisco on the Admiral Dewey and reported a very rough trip. In fact, he was the only one of the passengers who was able to eat his meals regularly. Possibly looping the loop and nose diving and such other aerial feats make one immune from the attacks of "mal de mer."

PORT SIMPSON TO BE TAKEN TO ATHABASCA THROUGH THIS PORT

Says the Edmonton Bulletin: Captain N. E. Fockley, Captain F. B. Haight and Chief Engineer John Sutherland of the H.B.E. northern transport service, left the city on Tuesday night's train for Prince Rupert, where they are to investigate the transferring of the steamer Port Simpson to the waters of the Athabasca.

The Port Simpson which is on the stocks at the harbor of the same name, is to be launched and taken to Prince Rupert, where her machinery will be removed for shipment to the Athabasca, if this step is finally decided upon by the representatives of the Great Company.

This vessel will likely replace the Fort McMurray which is now out of commission, after many years' service on the northern rivers. Her engines, which have been in service on the Athabasca for the past 30 years are still sound, due to skillful handling. No decision has been yet reached regarding their future use.

The position of the Government on the question involved in the telegram had been made abundantly clear, the Premier continued. "We do not propose to recede from it and the conference cannot proceed on any other basis."

Hudson's Bay Boat Is back from the Arctic After Wonderful Trip

Carried Supplies to the Northern Stations and Brought Out Valuable Furs; Close Escape from Wintering in North

Bringing a valuable cargo of furs from the frozen Arctic regions, the Vancouver-built power schooner Lady Kindersley limped quietly into port on Saturday night and tied up to the Government wharf, and will be docked here Tuesday when the Prince George comes off the pontoons. Her sails show signs of the tremendous Arctic gales which she had successfully fought, and her propeller has two blades badly bent from striking blocks of sunken ice. Once Captain Foellmer decided they would have to winter in the Arctic. That was early in September. The ice was closing about them and they tied up at Cross Island on their way from Herschel Island to Point Barrow, remaining there several days before they were able to creep out and get clear of the floes. Sterns haltered the little craft and at one time it took the anchor and the engines going at full speed to hold her in the teeth of a terrible gale.

The Captain has on board a young polar bear that was brought across from the mainland on a boat to Point Barrow by the Eskimos and which is still very savage. It will be taken south and may be added to the collection at Stanley Park.

Some of the incidents.

While there were no very unusual adventures on the trip the officers tell of having a wedding on the native Eskimos, of fearful days and nights of storm, of creeping among ice floes in the fog and of having engine trouble and of the completion of a successful voyage after being the first vessel to make the round trip in one short season as far as Herschel Island and Three Rivers carrying supplies to all the Hudson's Bay fur trading stations en route and bringing out the stores of valuable Arctic furs. Naturally Capt. Foellmer is very proud of his fine little craft and of her record.

The Lady Kindersley left Vancouver on June 30 and a few days later called at Prince Rupert to get some slight repairs following an accident and then continued northward, stopping a day of two at Akatan on the Aleutians and taking supplies to Shingle Point, Bailey Island, Herschel Island, Bernard Harbor and the farthest point of all was Three River in Coronation Gulf south of Prince Albert Land. They had several passengers from Herschel Island to Three Rivers and back and it was on this trip that one of the most terrific storms was encountered and that engine trouble developed.

Passing from Point Barrow to Herschel Island they found themselves among the ice floes and with a thick fog settling down and here the propeller struck a sunken floe and was bent. A short halt was made at Demarkation Point, the extreme northerly point of the boundary between Alaska and Canada. It was here they met the schooner Herman, Capt. Peterson and they made the run together to Herschel Island. Capt. Peterson owns several trading stations on the Arctic shore.

Several Passengers

Returning, the schooner carried Dr. and Mrs. Doyle to Point Barrow where Mrs. Doyle went into the hospital. On the same trip they carried Miss Roberts who had gone north by way of the Mackenzie River to meet the missionary at Point Barrow, a Mr. Merriatt. The ceremony took place in the saloon of the Lady Kindersley and was the occasion of much merriment.

Capt. O'Kelly of the Hudson's Bay fur department and his wife travelled south with the boat as far as Akutan where they were to take the Victoria south. Mrs. O'Kelly was the first white woman to visit Bernard Harbor or Three Rivers.

Herds of Walrus

Speaking of the visit one of the officers of the vessel said while there had been no serious adventures there was much to interest a visitor. They had seen herds of walrus in the water but on the approach of the boat these disappeared. There was little animal or bird life anywhere although they saw some ducks in the Arctic. They had fresh reindeer meat at Point Barrow which they liked very much and at other times

The G. W. V. A. Clean Sweep.

Few people realize what an asset the Great War Veterans' Association is to Canadian ex-service men and their dependents, and to the community, says the Ottawa Citizen. Many cases of injustice to worthy men or cases of hardship through official neglect or red tape would go unrectified but for the existence of the G. W. V. A. with efficient national headquarters in Ottawa.

Difficulties with regard to pensions, allowances for dependents, war service gratuities, and many other details of re-establishment, have frequently occurred without any department or official being particularly to blame. With so many hundreds of thousands of men and as many more relatives concerned it would be surprising indeed to find nothing left over for readjustment. But the prospects of readjustment in many deserving instances would have been remote if the ex-service men had not organized to have their claims presented through specially qualified comrades appointed from among themselves.

With considerable foresight a "clean sweep campaign" is being launched under the direction of C. Grant MacNeil, national secretary of the G. W. V. A., to get all outstanding claims settled within the next few weeks if possible. Although the ministers of the present Government are much preoccupied with electioneering, the political unwisdom of allowing any legitimate claim to remain unsettled till after elections has doubtless suggested itself to them. While, too, there is no reason to suppose that the next Government, whether Conservative, Liberal or Progressive, will be any less inclined to honor national obligations to ex-service men and their dependents, there is nothing to be gained by postponing settlements till a new Government comes in.

Outstanding Instance of Value to Soldier.

The Government has several hundred thousand dollars of unclaimed money due to Canadian ex-service men under the war service gratuity scheme. A few days ago a Canadian ex-soldier called at G. W. V. A. headquarters to see whether anything could be done to put him in touch with an employment opportunity or otherwise help him out of straitened circumstances. After being honorably discharged toward the end of the war, he had apparently been shipped to Australia. Returning to Canada, he found himself up against unemployment and hard times. When the G. W. V. A. headquarters men enquired, they found that the returned man had never heard of the war service gratuity. The Government had about $500 due to him, about which he knew nothing.

This is only one of many instances where men have been helped to obtain their just due, and the Government has no interest in depriving men of their pensions or gratuities, or dependents of their allowances, once it is made clear beyond doubt that such claims are legitimate. The careful administration of the Great War Veterans' Association under the presidency of R. B. Maxwell, and the obvious singleness of purpose of the Dominion Command in Ottawa, has done much to establish a basis of confidence and respect between the organized ex-service men and the Government. By keeping the association out of politics, as the men at the head are in honor bound to do, and refraining from extreme statements and demands, the G. W. V. A. has been made a national asset in the task of restoring Canadian soldiers to civil life. The coming "clean sweep campaign" should go far to clear off all outstanding cases of readjustment before the present Government goes out of office.

MINING WILL PROSPER HERE

So Says Magnate at Vancouver en route from Australia.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24.—"British Columbia will soon witness a great awakening, with wide development of her limitless mineral resources." This is the view expressed this week by Jesse Hardie Glendenning, who was accompanied by Charles Pengilly, Cornish mining magnate. They lately returned from Australia and also visited South Africa where both have interests. They maintain offices in London. Mr. Glendenning amassed a fortune in South Africa and was associated with Cecil Rhodes and Barney Barnato in the old days. He says, of British Columbia mines: Here we find abounding quantities of lead, copper, silver, zinc and other minerals, with abundant motive power accessible from natural sources. Long after other mines will be depleted, British Columbia will thrive with huge outputs. Mining interests have their eye on this province. It will not be surprising to hear of developments before long. There is vast capital almost ready to be unleashed for this very purpose, but things are somewhat uncertain yet, and money will remain tight until things become more stabilized."

DEAF MUTES WED.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24.—Sepulchral silence marked the wedding this week of Mr. and Mrs. David Evan Thomas, deaf mutes. The bride is very pretty and was instructor of commercial science in the California State School for the Deaf for many years. The groom is an electrical contractor. Both have been afflicted since birth, but they made a radiantly happy pair as they emerged from the church where they were linked through the medium of mute finger signs and writing. Despite his handicap, Mr. Thomas was able to perform war service in a Welsh regiment as electrician.

The Vital Issue

"What we have to decide is this—Are we going to continue the protective system of this country or are we not? That is the question and that is the whole question. And the great, big, necessary thing is that every voter in this country from the Yukon to Halifax knows that this is the question he or she is deciding when he or she votes in this great contest."

ARTHUR MEIGHEN.

THE vital issue in the coming election—in fact, the only issue—is the Tariff, and to every clear thinking Canadian it should be readily apparent that a Protective Fiscal Policy is absolutely essential to stability, progress and development.

Every important country in the world upholds Protection as an essential economic principle. Even Great Britain—so long the stronghold of Free Trade—has now adopted laws that constitute Protection of the most effective kind. In fact, the present policy among most nations is towards raising their tariff walls, not lowering them. In the face of these facts it would be suicidal for Canada to do exactly the reverse and discard the fiscal system which has been responsible for its progress during the past forty-three years.

Free Trade would mean death to Canadian industry. It would also result in the immediate closing down of Canadian plants of foreign firms, with consequent additional unemployment. There are today 650 American factories alone in Canada. Similar proposed ventures would be abandoned. New capital would refuse to come to a Country lacking adequate protection and present industrial enterprises would be promptly strangled by foreign competition.

The preservation of the home market by a Reasonable Protective Tariff is vital to both city dweller and agrarian alike—now as never before. More capital is urgently needed for the development of Canada's enormous resources, which will result in a lessening of unemployment and an increased population. More work and more workers will produce an enlarged home market for products of both city and farm, and the exodus of Canadian men and women—and the dollars they earn—will be precluded.

The United States has slammed her trade door in the face of Canadian farmers by adopting the Fordney Bill, and the farmer is consequently now even more dependent upon the home market than in the past. Yet Cramer asks you to destroy that home market by voting for Free Trade.

King's policy—if he has one—will result in the destruction of the Tariff.

Meighen stands four square for Reasonable Protection-Protection for all the people—and asks for an overwhelming mandate to give both industry and agriculture that assurance which will spell prosperity for all. Individual prosperity depends upon National prosperity. Your personal interests and Canada's very existence hang upon your vote.

Meighen will lead us through

The National Liberal and Conservative Party Publicity Committee.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

October 24, 1911.

The city council has reaffirmed its decision that 37 1/2% will be the rate of wages paid on the Woodworth Lake power and water development project.

D. Collati and Albert Cerei were buried alive this morning in a rockslide which came down at the Kitlaas tunnel. It will probably take three days to dig the bodies out.

The city council did not open tenders for the clearing of timber on Woodworth Lake last night. Cruisers report that there is little timber there worth conserving.

The Princess Alice is due from the north at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. She will sail south as soon after her arrival as unloading and loading of freight will permit.

No Appetite

Nervous exhaustion leads to distaste for food. The nerves of the stomach are weak, digestion fails and you become generally upset and out of sorts.

The secret of complete restoration is in getting the nervous system fully built up.

Mrs. R. Cheney, 208 Richmond St., Chatham, Ont., writes:

"I was troubled with indigestion, which caused me many sleepless nights.
I would be in terrible distress at times, and would get no relief for two or three hours. For sixteen months I ate nothing but Shredded Wheat biscuits, as I dare not eat anything else. I did not know what to do, as I had tried so many different remedies, as well as doctors' medicines, without gaining permanent relief. Finally I got some of Dr.
Chase's Nerve Food, and while on the second box noticed that I was improving.
I continued the treatment until I am now fully restored, and have returned to my regular diet. My husband has also taken Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results, so we are glad to recommend it to others."

PICTURE AT EMPRESS

Girl with Jazz Heart Is Feature Film to Be Run Today.

The Girl with the Jazz Heart at the Empress Theatre tonight is a fine feature with Madge Kenedy in a double role. The contrast between these two characters provides a fund of unusual and delightful comedy. Offers a blonde, dressed in the latest twinkle of fashion, as full of energy as a stone jug of homemade brew, bubbling over with infectious humor, more than a little tough and a daisy-eyed fanatic about the fact of the great jazz. The other is small and sweet of countenance, as quiet as a mouse. The story develops at the noise and surprises of Broadway, frightened, dazed but longing with all her starved little soul for romance and the love that had been denied her. They engage in about as exciting an adventure as ever flashed on the screen.
Jazz, in all its glittering glory bursts upon the scene and scatters joy, excitement, drama, laughter and explosive action to all parts of the story. The cabaret scene with Gilda Grey doing her inimitable shimmy, is the most colorful thing of its kind ever shot.

School Girl Needs

A Short Address delivered to the Prince Rupert Rotary Club by Miss Blanche Macdonald

At the recent meeting of the Rotary Club when the teachers of the city were entertained, Miss Blanche Macdonald of the High School read a short but interesting paper on "The Needs of the School Girl" as follows:

I have been asked to talk to you about "The Needs of the School Girl" with practical suggestions to Rotary. I take this to mean that the Rotary Club wishes to help satisfy the needs of these school girls. So I shall speak of two lines along which perhaps your organization might do something.

The first is the need of a place to play—and I do not mean playgrounds, necessary as these are—but what Prince Rupert's underfoot and overhead conditions make more necessary, a play-house. Our town is different, probably, from any other town of its size in Canada with respect to play places for children. In other towns, people have backyards and lawns where their children may play under mother's eye. Here there are the streets, which are surely unsafe for both little bodies and minds.

Then, too, even if there were outdoor play places, how very many days in the year there are when the girls could not use them. At present, provision for indoor play is made for basketball alone. Only a small number of girls can play basketball—it is too strenuous for very many of them, too strenuous for any girl at certain ages.

Need of Play-house.
What the girls need, then, is a playhouse where safe from the weather they could play basketball, to be sure, but also other less strenuous ball games of which there are a number, indoor tennis, badminton, etc., and where in a corner all their own the smaller girls could play with their dolls.

This playhouse of my dreams would also contain a children's library where there would be books suitable for children of all ages. Here there would be a weekly story hour for the little tots, both boys and girls and another for girls a little older.

Stage for Entertainments.
Somewhere in the building there would be a stage upon which groups of girls could produce little plays and give little concerts, to which their friends would be glad to pay admission. The proceeds from these affairs would help to provide equipment for the girls' gymnasium, which by this time has been added to our play-house. All this would cost money, and thought and work, but it would not have to be all done at once. Just give it a little start and see it grow!

Movie Difficulties.
The second thing I should like to speak of is the moving pictures. We all know that the children, from the babe in arms up, frequent the picture shows. Of the harm that is done to the child mind and character by much that they see, one could write volumes. But as well try to check the rising tide, as to check this tide of children hurrying movie-wards. All we can do is try to lessen the harm done and here there are at least two things that the Rotary Club could perhaps do.

First—Work for an agreement with the picture house managers to the effect that no girl or group of girls under 14 years of age (I should rather say 16), unaccompanied by an adult be admitted to an evening show. Some parents, would probably object to this—I know a picture house manager who made this rule for his house. One night he sent home a 12 year old girl who came alone to the second show. Next day appeared an irate mother who roundly abused Mr. manager for refusing her daughter admission to the show. When he could get in a word he said: "Madam, do you realize that after that show, your daughter would be going along the streets alone after 11 o'clock?"

Said she: "That's my business!"
These girls need protection from the stupidity of their parents.

Children's Performance.
The second thing is arrange for a weekly children's performance with suitable films on Saturdays—morning or afternoon. This has been successfully arranged and is being carried on now in towns all over the continent. There are so many films which children can understand and enjoy, from which they do not get the distorted ideas of life that come to them from much that they see, but have not sufficient experience of life to understand, and rate at its proper value.

The movie managers will think of many obstacles which seem insurmountable, but they have been overcome in other places, why not in Rupert?

they ate caribou, polar bear meat, walrus and wild duck. The bear, walrus and duck had a fishy flavor but was a nice change from salt pork.

The Eskimos at Three Rivers and Bernard Harbor seemed to be peculiar people. They wore long coats the shape of a swallow tail, the tail being to protect them when sitting on the snow. Many of the Eskimos had troublesome hacking coughs. Most of the white people in the north seemed to like the life. At Herschel Island there were several women but not many elsewhere. They did not see a tree after leaving Prince Rupert although the land all looked green.

Oranges and Lemons.
Of the vegetables and fruit taken north the tomatoes went bad but oranges and lemons kept well and were much appreciated.

The officers and men are glad to be back in civilization again after their arduous and somewhat lonely life. There were sixteen men aboard the vessel all told including Capt. Foellmer, First officer, V. Larson; Second officer, T. W. Groundwater,
