CANADIAN SCOTTISH TO LOAD PART CARGO OF LUMBER HERE

Steamer Alaska Wrecked and 47 Lives Are Lost

Wireless messages picked up here yesterday told of the loss of the steamer Alaska on Blunt's Reef off the south coast. A boat belonging to the ship was picked up by the steamship near Eureka.

The vessel at the time of the wreck was carrying 257 passengers and a crew of 93. She was off the coast of California 10 miles south of Eureka when she struck the reef.

EUREKA, California, August 8.—The death list last night of the wreck of the steamer Alaska on Blunt's Reef near here at 48. Twelve bodies have been recovered. Apparently no others were lost in the wreck.

STABLE LOTTERY SCHEME AT MONTREAL

Men Plead Guilty and Are Let off with Light Fines.

MONTREAL, Aug. 8.—A lotter scheme which netted the players more than $100,000 May last, came to light when three men conducting it were found guilty and fined. Thousand cards had been sold with a list of 24 base names and if the right numbers were picked the prize was $100,000. The men got off with fines.

John Fein Demand Release of John McKeown, Convicted of Murder; Cabinet to Say

LONDON, August 8.—Although no definite pronouncement has been made, the impression prevails that John McKeown, member of the Irish Republican Parliament, will be released. All members who were held prisoners are being released today, a decision made by the authorities at Dublin Castle that day, having been convicted of murder, would not be released. The British cabinet, however, has yet to make a final decision.

Official opinion here is that while the ends of justice can be served by McKeown's execution, it is highly probable the British, in the interests of peace, may consent to his release.

There were reports during the night of an immediate execution of the truce by the Sinn Fein, but this lacked authority. The Sinn Fein have issued a statement that no meeting of the Irish parliament will be held until McKeown is released.

Big Lumber Shipment Is Going To Australia From Here on the Canadian Scottish First Voyage

The Canadian Scottish, while not taking a full cargo at this port, will load 300,000 feet of lumber here before proceeding south to complete her cargo at Ocean Falls and Vancouver. She will make her first voyage to Auckland, Sydney and Melbourne.

J. L. Buckley, manager of the Buckley Mill at Massell Inlet, who arrived in the city Saturday, announced that arrangements for the shipment had been made through Dingwall & Cotts of Vancouver for the part cargo of Sitka spruce. It will be brought here on scows and transferred to the vessel with her own windlass, just as soon as she is ready for sea. The firm taking the lumber is a big buyer and it is not unlikely that other shipments will follow.

The mill at Buckley Bay has been running two shifts for some time and has between six and seven million feet of lumber already piled up at the mill. Mr. Buckley expects to cut until Christmas and by that time he should have between twenty and twenty-five million feet of lumber piled up at the mill, unless he secures a buyer in the meantime. He says he will hold it until the market improves.

Asked if he would operate logging camps this coming winter, Mr. Buckley was non-committal. He said he was making no plans with that in view and until he had cut the logs on hand nothing would be done. As soon as there was a market he would again get busy.

Beginning to Come In This Direction.

Things are beginning to come in this direction. While we cannot ship a full cargo on the new government steamer, Canadian Scottish, we are to send abroad part of a cargo. We are to have trial runs here, so we are to have the station built, we are to have the new dock superstructure finished, and on the whole there is little for which we have not been asking that is not coming this way.

The new government buildings are making an imposing showing, the third story of cement pouring being in process. The big mill at Buckley Bay is working two shifts, this being one of the first signs of industrial activity in the North pointing to a return to better times. On the whole we must be rather pleased with ourselves and with the outlook. If we can also get the new pulp mill started it will mean a period of steady production here.

Naturally we all want to see Prince Rupert Wallace Shipyard continue to operate here, and if the citizens can do anything to aid the lessees of the yard in any way, looking to a renewal of the lease, it is sure they are ready to be called upon. It means so much to the city to have the industry here that we are all keen to see it remain.

Breaking up Empire Not in Sight.

The breaking up of the Empire, of which we have heard a great deal at different times, does not seem to be in sight. The Premiers in their recent gathering seemed to be a unit on one thing, and that was Empire solidarity.

Unfortunately the word "Empire" is not a correct one to use in connection with a league of free nations or commonwealths. It is only because the head of the league is a King that we call it that. It is a big group of self-governing countries leagued together for mutual benefit and tied by strings of sentiment and affection. We sometimes speak disparagingly of the other members of the big family. The English are self-satisfied, the Scottish close-fisted, the Irish intermittently genial and quarrelsome, the Canadians insular and protesting, the Australians independent, and the New Zealanders imperialistic and socialistic. South Africa is tainted with the traits of the Boers and worried with a racial problem. These are simply peculiarities which differentiate them from the other sections of the Empire.

The differences are even less marked than are the members of a family one from the other.

Another of the group system, as applied to nations, will last indefinitely no one can tell. At any rate there is little indication of any breaking up of the combination.

India is a different problem. That country was at one time independent. It was made up of hundreds of kingdoms, and each was fighting against the other most of the time. On the outside were nations who were looking for territory and who also were ready to grab anything that looked like money. Britain has given India good government for many generations and any disturbances there are simply the result of education, which is making the natives take the initiative in many matters and which is the first sign of a movement toward self-government. It is too early in the stage of development for that country to stand alone, although eventually she will. The race question there is one that will need very careful handling. In the meantime development is going on and in time the natives of India should become self-governing just as well as the people of Japan and China. The movement is all in that direction.

Wireless Development Still Going On.

The story of wireless development as told on another page by the deputy minister of naval affairs is an interesting one and affects a great many members of the community. The safe piloting of ships is something in which we are all interested, and rapid communication is something we all want at some time in our lives. The work of wireless development has been carried on so quietly and with so little ostentation that we have not realized it has been making progress. The deputy minister says it has, and he gives specific instances. Also he has plans for future improvements, the only obstacle being the heavy cost and the dire need of money for other purposes.

Wireless Stations Being Improved to Give Better Service

"What the Department of Naval Affairs has in view is the installation of a very powerful wireless station near Vancouver to undertake the land work and to communicate with the stations up the coast," said G. J. Desbarats, Deputy Minister of Naval Affairs, who left for the East this morning. "In this connection there would be a powerful station at Prince Rupert, and this would allow Prince Rupert to work directly with Vancouver. At present they have to communicate by way of Alert Bay or Bull Harbor. By working direct there would be a great saving of time."

The new Vancouver station would be located several miles from Point Grey so that there would be no interference with the old station. We are now working on the matter of location and are experimenting to see how near we can get to the other station without interfering. When the new station is erected, Point Grey will do the shipping business only and that will keep it busy.

Two New Systems. Mr. Desbarats said that the latest innovation was the introduction of the continuous wave system which was a great improvement on the system now in use. Two instruments have been secured from the British Admiralty and these are being installed at Point Grey and Alert Bay, and one may be placed at Prince Rupert. While this system is a great improvement over the old one, the system on which the British Admiralty is pinning its faith is a valve system, but so far the valves cannot be manufactured commercially as their life is too short. They are too fragile. Experiments are being undertaken with the idea of improving them, and it will be undoubtedly the method of the future.

As long as the valves last they are a great improvement over anything else. Before we can use them in Canada they will have to be manufactured commercially but just now they are in the experimental stage. The deputy minister told of the new station at Bull Harbor, which was admirably located, the place being well situated for communication in all directions. He said it was impossible to tell what point would be good for wireless. At one time they thought the station must be elevated. Now they realized it should be nearer the level of the sea. At present the aerial at Bull Harbor is strung from a couple of trees, but these would be lengthened and would then become more effective. The station there is located on a beautiful harbor and is a great improvement over Triangle. The latter station was never really a success. It was too high and much too isolated. It was difficult to get operators to live there and it was very difficult of access by steamers.

Japanese Best Customers. Mr. Desbarats spoke of the wonderful advances that had been made recently in wireless work and of the uses to which it had been put. The Estevan station on the west coast of Vancouver Island is used wholly for communicating with ships at sea. It is about to be improved by having its power largely increased and at present it picks up vessels about 1,000 miles out at sea and is in constant communication with them until they reach Victoria or Vancouver. The curious thing is that Japanese ships are the best customers of the wireless. They use it freely. Japanese of the better class are always free spenders and they always use the wireless a great deal.

On the East coast of Canada they use wireless for giving a ship her location at sea when inbound. At the land station they can easily ascertain the direction from which the message comes and this direction is given the ship. Another station also gives the direction and the point at which the two lines of direction cut each other is the location of the ship.

The wireless system on this coast is not self-sustaining in that the expenditure is greater than the income, but it is very largely an aid to navigation and if this service is taken into consideration it is a paying investment.

Improve Local Station. Just now the Department of Naval Service is negotiating with the city of Prince Rupert for a supply of power with which to increase the effectiveness of their Digby Island station. Part of this they will be able to obtain but not sufficient to make the station as effective as the department would like to have it. When the improvement is made, the station should find no difficulty in communicating with Alert Bay at all times and with more power they could send messages direct to Point Grey, Alert Bay is used almost wholly as a land station and Bull Harbor for shipping.

Just what wireless means to the people of the coast it is difficult to estimate. Such places as Ocean Falls and Queen Charlotte Islands have no other means of communication with the outside world and by this means they are kept in touch with civilization. It is used to a very great extent by all the vessels plying up and down the coast and is now looked on as a necessity in commercial life.

CANCELLATION OF RESERVE.

VERSES ALL IN FOR BIG COMPETITION

Judging Will Be Done Within Day or Two—Not All Published.

The verses in the outing verse competition are all in and by tomorrow all will have been published that it is thought worthy of using. A number have had to be scrapped because of irregular meter or for other reasons. As soon as they are all in print the judges will get busy and the winning verses will be published toward the end of the week, possibly on Saturday. Here is a verse all the way from Alice Arm, written by a young lady who is doubtless inspired by the beauty of her surroundings:

The Eternal Don't.
Tell of old ocean with waves never ending
Tell of the mountains majestic and grand;
Tell of the planets that circle about us
Tell of the love of woman to man.

But when the days lengthen and Sol creeps on upward,
When from the maple the first robins sing,
When every nerve tingles and every pulse's shouting
Don't burst into a poem on outing.

At The Salt Lakes.
To Salt Lakes I took a trip
Thought I'd like to have a dip,
But felt backward, oh, so shy,
For something there caught my eye,
Nice sweet damsel dived right in,
But soon found she couldn't swim.
On her back she tried to float—
I then left it—got my goat.

A Wonderful Thought.
A boy outside wielding his baseball bat
When a wonderful thought came under his hat
But when his mother inside wielded her rolling pin
His thoughts became suddenly common and thin.

Let's Go.
The sun rode high in a cloudless sky
The sea was smooth and calm,
The engine went like a thing hell-bent
And we didn't care a damn.

Home Again
The moon rides high in a stormy sky
And the engine kicks and lams—
Now she's gone quite dead and we're far from bed.
You can hear the muttered "dams."

In Honor of Prince Rupert.
What is the matter with Rupert
In the good old summer time?
There are berries galore
And claims on the shore
And the scenery is almost divine
Mountains that entice
Picnics that are nice
And boating, without measure
If swimming is your line
Then "Salt Lakes" are surely fine
To complete a round of pleasure.

Oh, For a Sail.
Oh, for a sail boys! The West wind doth blow,
Haul up your mainsail, and your jib sheet—
Let's go!
Port your tiller and pull in your sheet!

Tighten your stays—and get down off your feet!
We're off like a cloud, so majestic and light,
We leave but a straight line all foamy and white,
And so through the day, with the wind from the west,
We glide over the waves with song, words and jest,
We could tell you lots more—go into detail—but—
Come for a sail, Boys, come for a sail!

The sailing of the Union steamer, Camosun, which was due to have reached here from Vancouver last night, has been cancelled this week to allow the vessel to undergo examination at Vancouver following an accident the vessel had last week when she struck a rock on the north-bound trip. There will be no boat south tomorrow night.

LARGE EAGLES SEEN IN NORTH WATERS

Captain Newcombe Shot One at Captain's Cove Recently Measuring 11 Feet, 6 Inches.

Captain Newcombe, of the Malaspina, while at Captain's Cove recently shot an eagle measuring 11 feet, 6 inches, from the wing tips. This, the veteran skipper said, was the largest eagle he had ever seen on the coast. Captain Donald, of the Prince John, on the last trip to Masset Inlet also reports having seen the biggest eagle he ever saw.

The eagles are fast gaining a bad reputation for preying on small animals and have even been known to kill deer. While the Dominion Government had a wireless station at Triangle rabbits were propagated there and there were said to have been as many as 2000 of these animals here at one time. They have nearly all disappeared now, it is said, and the ravages of the eagles are attributed to small blame for their extinction.

The Man in the Moon SAYS:

SOME people used to think theatres were wicked places because some of the girls wore their dresses short. How wicked the streets must be nowadays.

ABOUT the only way to get rid of trouble is to laugh at it.

WITH some girls it is a moot point whether she should have a career or a rich husband. The difficulty with the latter is the scarcity of the brute.

THE best cure for a lot of invalids is more sunshine and less moonshine.

PRETTY soon it won't be safe to live anywhere, since they can send pictures and signatures by wireless.

IT may be a consolation to Prince Rupert to know that Juneau had only one clear day in July, one partly clear and 29 cloudy. The precipitation for the month there was slightly over seven inches.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

August 8, 1911.
 All the facts about civic insurance will be gone into by the city council following a statement by Ald. Newton in the meeting last night that he had caused a redistribution of the policies to other agents.

Yesterday Father Hartman and a party of friends made a trip around the island. They were delayed by engine trouble and did not return to town until after midnight.

The Union Bank of Canada has leased handsome new quarters in the Christiansen-Brandt building on Third Avenue.

Rev. A. H. Cameron, who is engaged in fruit growing at Keremeos in the southern Okanagan country, reached the city on last night's train and is registered at the Hotel Prince Rupert.

PICTURE BRIDES AND WIRELESS TELEGRAPHS

Superintendent Tells of Rushing Business Done with Above in Old Days.

The effect of picture-bridal marriages on wireless telegraphs was told the Daily News yesterday by E. J. Haughton, superintendent of wireless, who left last night for Vancouver. When the Japanese girls were coming to this continent by hundreds and every ship brought a number, messages were sent by each of them to the husband to whom she was married but whom she had not yet seen. Sometimes several messages were sent by each girl and the result was the wireless stations did a rushing business between the Japanese ships and shore.

Since the picture marriages have been abolished, the number of Japanese messages has fallen off to a very great extent, although the Japanese still send more messages than anyone else and without the Japanese business, the British Columbia wireless stations would come less near being self-sustaining than they are today.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE FOR LATE R. W. GRIEVE

Many Flowers Sent in Addition to Those Mentioned Saturday.

The Masons figured largely at the funeral of the late R. W. Grieve which took place from the Masonic Hall and the Presbyterian Church Saturday afternoon. The coffin was covered with beautiful flowers and there was a most impressive service conducted by Rev. H. R. Grant, D.D. who also gave an address suitable to the occasion.

Besides the long list already mentioned, flowers were sent by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Grieve, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Benson, Mr. and Mrs. David Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kirkpatrick, Red Deer Lodge No. 12, A. F. and A. M., Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Humble, Mr. and Mrs. Cullins, and Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Stewart.

PREDICTS BIG FUTURE FOR TERRACE DISTRICT

That there will be considerable work at Lake Lakelse in the next two or three years in connection with the development of the tourist traffic there by the C.N.R., was the statement of R. C. W. Lett, general agent of the resources department of the C.N.R., who is in the city, says the Vancouver Province.

Work is now under way on a hotel at Lakelse, he said, and in his opinion there is no question that the hot springs and scenic beauties of the place will prove so popular that the new hotel, which will be opened next year, will be followed by other larger and necessary accommodation. The springs at this point he describes as the largest in the province, and invaluable for their curative value in certain diseases, especially rheumatism.

Mr. Lett's department is devoting much attention lately to the whole Terrace district, where he says, the finest fruit in the province is grown.

SCOTTISH WIN CONNAUGHT CUP

Soccer Trophy Goes to Toronto Team After Ladysmith Was Beaten Saturday.

TORONTO, Aug. 8.—The Toronto Scottish won a hard fought game from Ladysmith at Soccer on Saturday by a score of 1 to 0, thus winning the Connaught Cup given for the soccer championship of Canada. There were 3,500 persons at the game which was played in a downpour of rain.

TRAIL RANGERS AT COLD STORAGE AND PICNIC ON POINT

The Trail Rangers of the Methodist Church, the organization of boys under charge of Rev. G. G. Haeker, took a hike Saturday to the Cold Storage where they were shown over the plant by T. H. Johnson, manager. The lads were intensely interested in seeing the unloading of the fish and all the operations preparatory to the freezing and coating them with ice. They saw the freezing machinery, the making of ice, and the fish packed away in the storage rooms and all the other interesting things at the big plant.

After visiting the Cold Storage, they partook of fish and chips, doughnuts and tea on the point beyond Seal Cove and returned to the city, rather damp but enthusiastic over their outing.

The Trail Rangers number seventeen so far. They have football matches and outings and are learning the meaning of organized sport.

Sport Chat

Ocean Falls has replied to the proposal of the Prince Rupert Baseball Association to play at the paper town in the course of the proposed southern tour. They have decided to take a good share of the guarantee for such a trip. On account of the delay of the Vancouver Commercial League to reply to the messages of the local association plans for the trip are not being advanced yet. The locals are very anxious to contest with Vancouver and are confident that they will make a good showing if the trip can be arranged.

Although it is regrettable that it was impossible to make arrangements for the running of a special train to the Telkwa Barbecue this year it is not surprising that it was impossible to obtain the required number of guaranteed fares. Forty dollars is a lot of money to give in a lump sum for such a trip, especially when money is so tight as it is at present. Doubtless many will take the opportunity to go by the regular trains anyway and see the greatest sport event of the year in the central interior and at that it will not be necessary to go out of town on that day for the Trades and Labor celebration will afford plenty of fun and recreation for those who wish to enjoy the holiday right at home.

The Sunday baseball question again threatens to become a vexed one in the city. The various leagues have several postponed games and they are wondering when they are going to play them and Sunday has seemed to be the only solution. They cannot, however, charge gate receipts for such games as that is against the law and it is not much use trying to circumvent it. If it must be done the only way to play on Sundays will be in the form of exhibition games which may or may not count in the league standings.

BURNING DAYLIGHT FASCINATING STORY

"Burning Daylight," screen version of Jack London's novel, is announced at the Empress Theatre for tonight. Readers of Jack London's story will recall that Elatu Harnish, or "Burning Daylight" as the whole Yukon knows him, in a crude, powerful, big-hearted prospector, with a lust for adventure and a devil-may-care spirit that drives him gayly through the hardships and joys of the mining towns.

He strikes it rich—the gold that thousands have died seeking. A stampede is started and the Arctic village of Garaguk is alight with the fire of fierce ambitions aflame for wealth. Burning Daylight is a primitive king among these men, amassing millions and finding no place to spend their gains except in the wild gambling that goes on in the Tivoli, a dance hall, where a few girls and limitless quantities of strong liquor supply diversion.

But Burning Daylight comes of the old race of conquerors. His spirit demands another world to lay at his feet. He seeks the world of finance. In San Francisco, then in New York, he fights the battles of the money interests. He fights for the love of fighting, taking a reckless pleasure in swinging into Wall Street's most speculative investments. It's a bitter, fascinating game, and Jack London has depicted it in one of the most dramatic stories in modern American fiction.

Mrs. W. H. Vickers left last night for Victoria where she will spend a month visiting. She will be accompanied on her return by her daughter, Evelyn, who has been in the south for some time.

Harry Heaton, father of Davis Heaton, who was seriously injured at the Wallace Shipyards a fortnight ago, returned last night to Vancouver.

The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port Simpson.

The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.

CHINESE TONGS AND BLOODTHIRSTY PIRATES

Thrilling Rapid Drama at Westholme Theatre Tonight.

Noah Beery, the well-known heavy of the silent drama, has probably played the part of a villain more times than any other actor in motion pictures. In "Dinty," which will open an engagement at the Westholme theatre tonight he is said to have the most blood-thirsty role of his career. He has the part of "King" Dorkh, an ex-pirate, a Malay half-breed with just enough white blood in him to make him crafty. Most of his gang are half-breed Chinamen. These Eurasians hang together, as neither the whites nor the Chinese will associate with them. Dorkh, being a Malay half-breed, can belong to none of the Chinese tongs of San Francisco—so he organizes one of his own for himself and half-breed followers. Dorkh kidnaps the daughter of a judge and plans a terrible revenge for the sentence of his son. The rescue of the girl, Ruth Whitely, played by Marjorie Daw, and the breaking up of Dorkh's gang of cut-throats as a result of the sleuthing of "Dinty" O'Sullivan are said to constitute the most thrilling features of the plot.

"Dinty"—equal to "The Kid" in laughs and "Hearts of Humanity" in sobs. Westholme tonight. Admission 25c and 55c.

INTERIOR IS LOOKING GOOD

Agricultural and Mineral Possibilities Hardly Touched as Yet, Says Manson.

Hon. A. M. Manson, M.L.A. for Omineca, on his return from a visit to his constituency last week, expressed himself as more than ever pleased with the progress and development of the country contiguous to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in Omineca constituency. In company with Hon. Mary Ellen Smith, Mr. Manson made a very thorough trip as far as Ootsa Lake and, after Mrs. Smith had gone to Prince George, he visited Endako, the east end of Francois Lake and a portion of the Uncha Lake valley.

Settlement continues," said Mr. Manson, "New settlers are coming on every train. They are of a good type, mostly, and have some capital. Unfortunately, however, the process of getting back the land which was alienated in 1906 and 1907 is a slow one and many very excellent settlers have been lost through our inability to procure land for them at reasonable prices. Some Old Country land owners are still asking as high as $15 sterling per acre for land which originally cost them from $2 to $5 per acre. In spite of this, however, many are finding land and are rapidly fencing, clearing and building their new homes.

Evidence of Increase.

"The best evidence of the increase in population is found in the fact that no less than four schools are required for the opening of the fall term in the Lakes District. These are at Uncha Lake, Grassy Plains, South Francois Lake and Macdonald's Landing. All these are within a radius of twenty miles. At a hard times barn dance which I attended recently at Uncha Lake in aid of the Community Club, there were over 100 persons in attendance where three years ago it would have

Popular and Reliable

Union Made in Vancouver Since 1906

been difficult to find twenty-five.

"The Lakes district is primarily a dairy country and has magnificent ranges in abundance for its future herds. All that is required is greater areas under cultivation for the production of winter fodder, more dairy cattle, a boat on Francois Lake, better roads and a creamery.

Being Looked After.

"This sounds like a big order but roads are improving rapidly although they are hardly keeping pace with the rapidity of the settlement. Plans are under way for a boat on Francois Lake and the Land Settlement Board is working up the increase in cattle and the creamery ideas with considerable vigor.

"I am endeavoring to have Hon. E. D. Barrow, minister of agriculture, accompany Hon. Dr. J. H. King, minister of Public Works, and myself when we visit the interior next week to order to hold a consultation on the ground with a view to devising ways and means of assisting development to the best advantage.

Room for Thousands.

"There is room for many thousands of families on the lands of the Central interior. The ridings of Omineca, Fort George and Cariboo will soon become the agricultural backbone of the province of British Columbia and no part of Canada can provide surer and safer agricultural conditions. As for scenery, Jimmie Steen, who accompanied me on much of my trip, standing on a hill top in the neighborhood of Francois Lake broke into ecstasies and exclaimed: 'Borzora, my boy, it's a sight for sore eyes. Loch Lomond and Killarney look homely puddles compared with this.'

"Agriculture is not the only potential industry in Omineca riding, either. Mines are in the offing. They are mere prospects to-day, except in a few cases, but they are more promising prospects, one would believe, than those of the earlier days in Southern British Columbia.

Time Will Prove.

"Some of the miserable pessimists on the Canadian National Railway Board, in Parliament at Ottawa and in Eastern newspaper offices, shed tears at the too early construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, but the world is full of small men. What this young country needs is men of vision.

"The next decade or two will prove that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Charles M. Hays were right, that the Grand Trunk Pacific was worth while and that, with good handling, it will be a most successful undertaking with the country tributary to it one of the wealthiest and most thickly populated parts of Canada."

Mrs. W. B. Gornish left last night for Vancouver where she will visit.
