WAKE UP OF LABOR FORCES IN BRITAIN IS IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENT

Labor Is Broken Into Factions As Result of Split

EDINBURGH, April 15.—(8 p.m.)—The miners have called a meeting of representatives to consider the new situation. It is understood the proposal of Secretary Hodges yesterday that the miners' committee today, precipitated a meeting of the miners' committee today, is believed here that the miners cannot carry on the strike and a sympathetic strike of general labor is unlikely considering the action of the railwaymen and transport workers in their strike order.

There are no new developments tonight except that the industrial tieup has been averted and only the coal remains affected.

Broken Into Sections.
EDINBURGH, April 16.—Labor in the United Kingdom are apparently broken into sections as a result of the refusal of the national union of miners and the national federation of transport workers yesterday to continue the support of the strike called for last night by the miners.

Serious Effect.
It is no doubt that the split in the labor movement will have a serious effect on the coal and labor. The Herald, the newspaper, said yesterday the heaviest defeat that labor has suffered since the war. It was no use minimizing the fact that the miners had not stood together and they would reap their harvest.

Miners' Conference.
EDINBURGH, April 16.—A conference of delegates of the labor federation and delegates of the coal districts to discuss the coal strike situation is being held at the Grosvenor hotel here today.

Mer Naval Commander Is Shot At Hotel.
EDINBURGH, April 16.—William Murray, former commander of the H.M.S. "Vernon", brother of Mrs. Murray, was found shot through the head in his room at the Grosvenor hotel.

Emergency Tariff Bill.
WASHINGTON, April 16.—The emergency tariff bill affording protection for six months to agricultural products was rushed through the House of Representatives today by a vote of 249 to 142, practically the same support that was given the Fordney bill.

Geo. Macauley Died At Victoria.
VICTORIA, April 16.—Captain George Macauley, for 33 years resident of the city and one of the best known navigators of the coast, died at one time of the sealing industry, is dead at the age of 62 years.

Election To Replace A Bankrupt Member.
LONDON, April 16.—A by-election in Hastings is made necessary by the resignation of Laurence Lyons of Toronto who is adjudged a bankrupt.

SCENES OUTSIDE THE MOUNTJOY PRISON IN DUBLIN.

Mountjoy Prison in Dublin, Ireland, where such notable characters as Terrence MacSwiney were interned for voicing their views in fighting for Irish freedom, has been the scene of another disturbance. A plot was laid to blow up the prison, but the large consignment of munitions was found by Crown forces. Two scenes outside the famous old prison are seen above. The upper picture shows 300 women marching to the prison carrying banners protesting against the execution of six Sinn Fein leaders that were condemned to death for treason. The other one shows Sinn Fein volunteers escorting the mother of one of the condemned men to a waiting cab after having her last words with her son.

Improved Schedules on the Railway and Coast Steamships

VANCOUVER, April 16.—Effective on May 1 there will be an improved through service between Prince Rupert and Edmonton. The train will leave Prince Rupert on the same days as at present, at 11:15 in the morning and will reach Edmonton two days later at 7:30 a.m., thirty minutes faster than the present train run, and going direct instead of waiting at Jasper.

The train running west leaves Edmonton at 9 o'clock at night and is due to arrive at 7:15 on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays.

On May 15 the steamer Prince Rupert resumes her sailings with 26 of her staterooms holding three instead of two passengers each. The Prince George will be fitted with the same.

The summer schedule of the steamers goes into effect on May 29. The boats leave Vancouver on Monday and Thursday nights and run through to Anyox, arriving on Sunday mornings and to Stewart, arriving Thursday mornings.

Terrific Storms Carry Destruction Through the States

COLORADO SPRINGS, April 16.—Violent storms in Colorado and Montana are reported with snow and sleet in many places. This was fatal to the telegraph and telephone wires which are down in every direction. Beyond that no damage is reported.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 16.—Washington and California are without telegraph communications with the east except through Canada, owing to the storms in the western states last night.

ESMONDE GOES UP FOR TRIAL
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 16.—Particulars are coming to hand of the damage done in this state last night by the tornado which swept over it. Many people were killed and up to the present the list is something like 75. Large numbers were injured and there was enormous property damage. A large part of its value has not been computed.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 16.—Reports received here are to the effect that the town of Ralph has been completely wiped out by a cyclone early yesterday, and that the town of Sulligent suffered a like fate. The number of injured, it is said, runs into scores.

TEXARKANA, Texas, April 16.—Eighteen are known dead, three scores or more injured, and a score or more probably not alive, in the storm which girdled Miller county yesterday, it is reported. The number of casualties is regarded this morning as incomplete.

AIRCRAFT PREPARED

VICTORIA, April 16.—At the meeting of the liquor control board here yesterday, it was decided to make Vancouver a distributing point for the province. Liquor, wines and beer will be brought in to the central warehouse in large quantities and from there all the other liquor stores will get their supplies.

CORK, April 16.—A dozen houses were burned in Ballynacolligott, County Kerry, today. The destroyed buildings included a house in which priests resided. The burnings follow the shooting to death of Major McKinnon in the Tralee golf course yesterday.

SEEDING GENERAL ON THE PRAIRIES

Alaska Out After
All Sorts of Industries.

Alaska is moving heaven and earth to secure industries. Like ourselves they have the raw material, but raw material is of no value to anyone until it is manufactured. Because of that they are making special efforts to secure pulp and paper mills, lumber mills, wood working plants, canneries and capital to develop their mines. The communities are offering inducements for pulp concerns to locate and trying in every way to make it profitable for capital so that others may come.

In British Columbia we have been more conservative, but if we had a little more of the American spirit in regard to these matters, we should grow faster.

There are rumors from time to time that some concern may take hold of the Klondike or Falls River water and turn it into power. Naturally we are the market and if we can induce them to do this we shall be helping ourselves. So it is with other concerns. We want them all. Because we got a cold deal from the railway over the concessions offered, was because we did not tie them up tight enough in the agreement. Now we have learned a lesson. If we can bring them here, it will be good policy to do it. We want industries, we want coal bunkers, we want fish cars and we want an assembly dock for shipping lumber. When we have those we shall want other things.

Shop Window
Of Community.

"One of the best indications of the business spirit of any town is the advertising columns of its local paper," said a successful business man recently. "The press is the show window of the community. If its columns are well patronized by merchants with progressive displays, it indicates a town where up-to-date business methods prevail. If, on the other hand, the merchants fail to make use of the local press, or simply run announcements cards in its columns, it is almost certain to follow that the stores of that town are run in a haphazard, listless sort of way."

"Every time I learn of a merchant who does not believe in advertising, my mind goes back to a store in which I worked when a boy. The front windows were seldom washed, while the window seat, instead of having attractive displays, usually featured bits of broken box tops, oranges dumped without care, some wrapped in tissue, others unwrapped, and some decaying, with other fruits in the same condition. Perhaps a few tins of corned beef or vegetables, or per chance a pair of boots, would complete the disorder."

Proprietor
Changed.

"Then the store had a musty, dusty odor, and well it might, for its back shelves were piled high with goods that had accumulated each year. We never sold anything from these poorly lighted musty regions in the back of the store. The merchandise had found a permanent home. No person knew what the shelves contained—for the proprietor did not believe in advertising. He never had a sale to keep his stock moving. New arrivals in the town did not know that he was doing business when they selected stores with which to trade."

"The store is still running—but the proprietor is gone. Today it is doing a large business, for the man who secured it when my old boss had to relinquish it, advertises. He does not simply make an announcement that he is in business. He tells the world what his stock contains. He runs special bargains every week and reduces the prices on many lines because they move fast. His stock is constantly turning over consequently his foodstuffs are fresh, and his clothing lines are up-to-date—and his customers are satisfied."

"This merchant's credit is good. He does not require much accommodation, but at any time that he does, his bank will oblige him, for he is progressive."

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight.

The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port Simpson.

The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.

PRINCE RUPERT MAN WAS PROFESSIONAL
ACTOR FORMERLY

L. Bullock-Webster, who has been engaged by the author to produce "Danas," is well known locally as an amateur actor, says a Victoria newspaper. His work in "The King of the Cannibal Islands," "Jane" and "The Three Musketeers," is fresh in the memories of local playgoers. But it is not generally known that he was for some years a professional actor who met with considerable success in his own line which was musical comedy.

Played in London

He studied for Sandhurst, but at the age of 19 obtained a theatrical engagement in London, and for his first professional employment played the small part of Ajax, in George Grossmith seniors "Gay Pretenders," at the Old Globe Theatre. At that time Letty Lind was in her prime and played the heroine. He next played a small part in "Dolly Varden," an ill-fated play which rehearsed for thirteen weeks and ran in London for only five nights, having cost thousands of pounds to produce. From that he went to the Shaftesbury Theatre in the chorus of the American company which was playing "The Casino Girl" and later went on tour in the chorus of the same play.

Stage Manager

Then, after an interval spent in British Columbia, he returned to the stage and joined the chorus of one of George Danes's many companies. After a time, he became assistant stage manager and later stage manager with a three year contract. Mr. Danes, who at that time had twenty-four musical comedy companies, had for his chief producer Austin Hurston, and when the latter left to take up a permanent position with Frank Curzon in his West End theatres, Bullock-Webster was given a chance of producing "The Chinese Honeymoon" for the No. 1 tour.

BOILS SO BAD

HAD TO GIVE UP WORK

From the days of Job, up to the present time, boils have been one of the afflictions of the human race.

All the poulticing and lancing you may do will not prevent them from breaking out again.

Boils are simply caused by the bad blood bursting out; and the bad blood must be made pure before the boils will disappear.

Burdock's Blood Bitters, which has been on the market for over forty years, is well known as the greatest blood medicine procurable.

It purifies the blood by removing every particle of foul matter from the system, and when this is done the boils vanish, and you should never be troubled again.

Mr. James Roney, Newport Island, Que., writes:—"I was troubled with boils on my back and neck, so bad that I was obliged to give up work. I tried several remedies, but got no relief. Finally I went to a doctor, and he treated me for several weeks, and all without benefit. At last a friend told me of Burdock's Blood Bitters, so I decided to give it a trial. I got three bottles, but before I had taken two the boils were all gone. It is eight months now, and I have had no return of the old trouble, and have never felt so well."

B. B. B. is put up only by The T. M. Burn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PASSENGER AIRSHIP IS WONDERFUL CRAFT

R36 is 672 Feet Long, Has Passenger Accommodation and Mooring Gear.

LONDON, April 16.—The R36, the first British-built airship adapted for commercial purposes, is now practically complete. She was designed three years ago by the Admiralty. Changes of policy have now placed her under the control of the civil side of the Air Ministry, along with other big dirigibles.

The two principal characteristics of the R36 are her passenger accommodation and mooring gear. Her constructional features may be tabulated as follows:

Length—672 ft., 30 ft. longer than R34.

Maximum diameter—78 ft. 9 in.

Cubic capacity—2,100,000 ft. of hydrogen gas.

Nominal lift—63.8 tons.

Maximum speed—65 miles an hour.

Normal cruising speed—50 miles an hour.

Range—Over 4,000 miles.

The normal complement of the R36 is four officers and 24 men.

A full wireless equipment is carried, and all the engine-carrying cars are in telephonic communication with the control car. It is possible, also, to walk from any one part of the ship to any other. The justification for the fitting out on these lines of the R36 is in the performances of the R34. She is the airship with which it is hoped to carry out the demonstration commercial flights to Malta and Egypt this spring, and those who have seen her could hardly wish for a more inviting-looking aircraft. Not the least of her attractions is that it is safe to smoke on board her.

James L. Lee, Manager of Atlin Fisheries, Installs Clever Device.

A new chain belt conveyor, designed by James A. Lee and installed at the new plant of the Alton Fisheries at the government wharf, has just been put into use and has proved such a success that The Booth Fisheries Canadian Co. and the Pacific Fisheries are going to adopt the same scheme when they move to their government wharf.

The conveyor, which is used to take the big boxes filled with fresh halibut and ice from the packing house to the loading platform at the railway track, consists of two flat tracks built up of wood and covered with sheet iron. Between the two tracks is a chain with special links which fit onto the axle of the truck and take truck and box up to the loading platform, the wheels running along the tracks and dragging the feet of the truck after, the truck lying in a horizontal position. From the loading platform, of course, the trucks are easily wheeled into the refrigerator cars.

The grade of the conveyor is one foot in five or about 25 per cent. A three horse power electric motor supplies the power and the conveyor runs at a rate of two miles an hour. It was built by Mitchell & Currie and cost about $350.

As Cable Base Objection Taken to Japanese Ownership

"People suffering for color blindness often have better and clearer vision than people with normal sight," said Professor Henri Leon, in a lecture on "The Discovery of Color Blindness," given at Caxton Hall, Victoria, London. He added that, while 1 per cent of our male population suffered in this way, only 1/2 per cent of the female population was affected, while this imperfection of the sight was very pronounced among Jews and Quakers. The origin of color blindness was as completely unknown to scientists as was the reason for its attacking only certain sections of people, but the lecturer suggested that women were free from it because their eyes had been trained to color for generations, while Quakers were peculiarly susceptible owing to the monotonous color of their garments.

Professor Leon noted as an interesting point that color blindness ran in a family for generations, and that, although it was always in the males, it descended through the females. The daughters of color blind men invariably had color blind sons. There were three forms of natural congenital color blindness, said his lecturer—total color blindness, where color could not be distinguished at all, but only lightness and darkness; partial color blindness, where red was mistaken for green or black for brown; and a third form, in which the sufferer could discern the primaries, and even many secondaries, but could not differentiate between shades. In this case the confusion of blue and violet was very common.

Finally, there were temporary crises of color blindness arising from old age, drug taking, alcoholism and smoking. Nearly all excessive smokers could see dark spots on a white ground when they raised their eyes. By stopping the cause this form of color blindness could always be cured.

the fainting spells would not leave me.
I would take such terrible falls, wherever

American opposition to Japanese mandates in the Far East is not confined to the island of Yap, but to all of the islands in the Pacific Ocean north of the equator which formerly belonged to Germany. These "groups of the oriental seas," of which Yap is one, aggregate 127 and are comprised in four groups, namely the Carolines with 62, the Mar. Hall with 32, the Marianae (or Ladrones) with 25 and the Pelew with eight. They form a kind of strategic semicircle around the Philippines.

While chief interest in the discussions of the Allied Communications Conference, which began in Washington on October 8, 1921, to determine the allocation of these islands, has centered in Yap by reason of its importance as a cable station, the importance of Yap is overshadowed by the control of all the 127 islands. The larger international aspect of the contention of the United States department of State has been that Yap should be "internationalized." The Allied Communications Conference, attended by representatives of the five Allied powers, becoming deadlocked in February 1921, the questions were referred to the Foreign Relations Committee of the United States Senate.

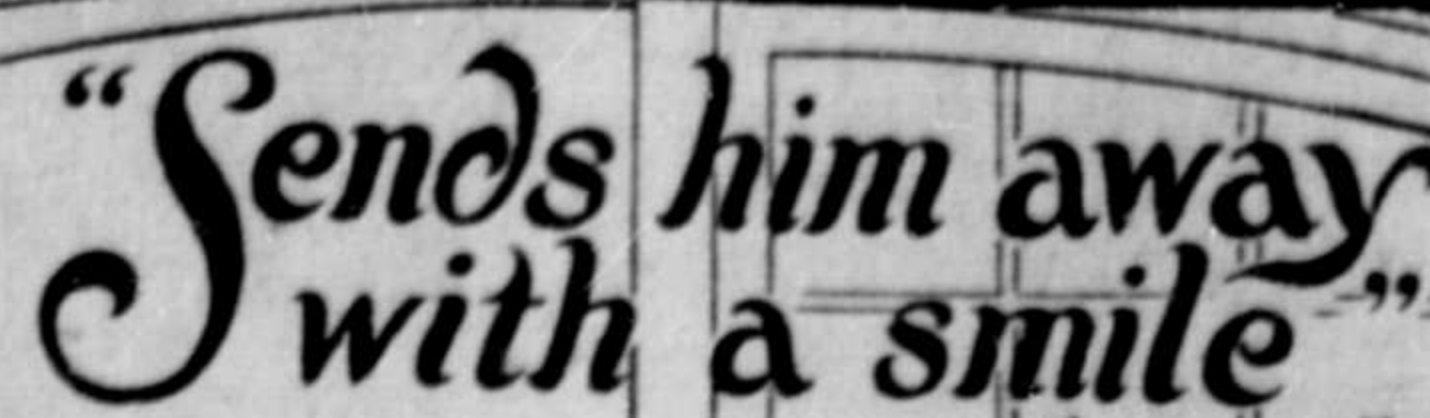

Cable Station

Opposition to Japan's mandate over Yap, expressed by Mr. Colby to the President and members of the Council of the League of Nations, included the declaration that Yap "constituted an indispensable part of any scheme or practical arrangement of cable communication in the Pacific and that its free and unhampered use should not be hampered or controlled by any one power." Under the mandatory, agreed to by France and England, "full power of administration and legislation" over Yap was vested in the Tokio government and Yap was to be considered "an integral part of the Empire of Japan." Another objection by the United States is the possibility of a foreign nation exercising a censorship over its communications to Europe and Asia.

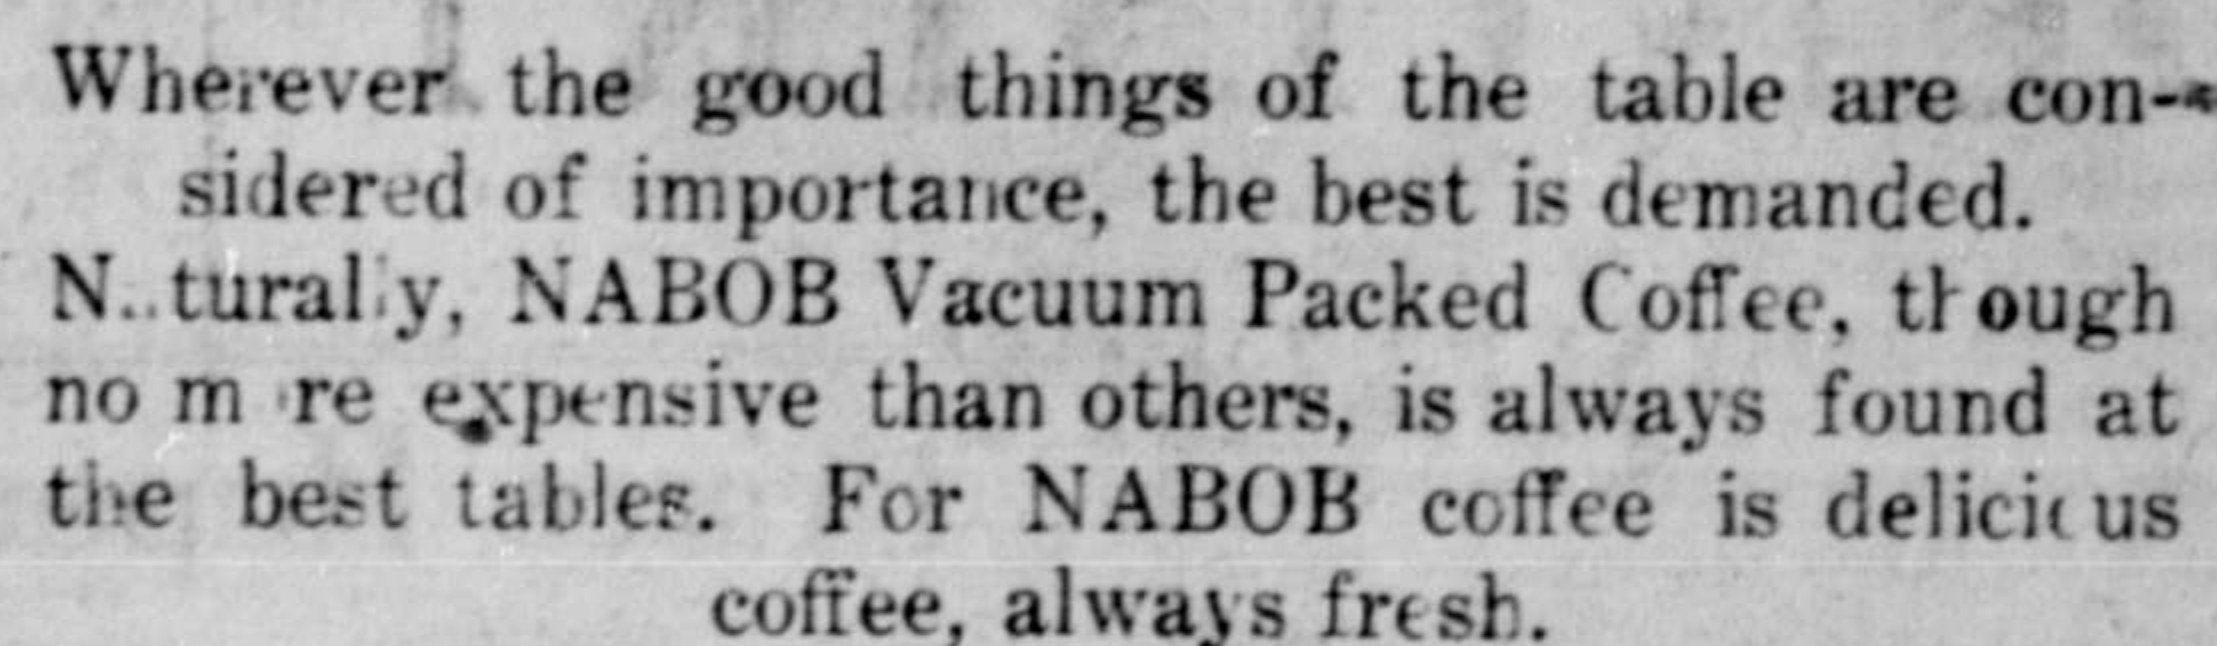

Granted by Conference

The fact that the former German operated cable from Shanghai, China, which passes through Yap was taken over by Japan and its oriental territories removed to Tokio was another occasion for the American protest. Control over Yap by Japan was granted by the Paris peace conference on May 7, 1919, when it was decided that the mandate for the Pacific Islands north of the equator formerly belonging to Germany should be awarded to the Tokio government and the mandate for those south of the equator to Australia and New Zealand.

It is not generally known that the Island of Yap was originally called Guap or Wap, a cognomen given by Spanish navigators, who discovered it in the 16th century. Until 1885 Yap, like all the other of the Carolines, was owned by Spain. Germany at this time cast covetous eyes upon Yap, realizing that it was well situated for communication with Japan, China, the Philippines,

Read the Advertisements.

The publishers of this paper draw your attention to the advertising columns, and particularly to the advertisements of the local merchants.

These merchants have invested their money in goods to satisfy the needs and desires of us all.

Their enterprise is a distinct service to our community. For this reason we should buy from them to the best of our ability and in so far as our needs and judgment of value dictates.

Then, too, the general commodities advertised in our columns are worthy of consideration. It is desirable that readers should ask merchants to supply advertised goods wherever possible. By doing so the cycle of trade is kept alive and intercommunity commerce stimulated. We repeat—read the advertisements.

CONDEMNS FAKE AMATEUR SPORT

Sensational Statement Made at Baseball Amateur Association Meeting

"I love an amateur athlete and I am always proud when a boy remains a real true amateur and grows to manhood with the principles of true amateurism firmly imbedded," said P. J. McQueen, acting chairman of the Ontario Athletic Commission, at a recent meeting of the Ontario Amateur Baseball Association.

"I have every respect for the professional who takes the money in the open, says he takes it and is a good open-handed professional, but I have no words strong enough to condemn the athlete or player who takes money and then swallows a raft of affidavits declaring that he did not take it; he is a thief. The law gives a thief a year or maybe five, but what does it give the receiver of stolen property? Twice as much.

"What do we do with the thief and receiver in sport—the poor boy or boys who are imported to play under assumed names as a battery, or brought in and paid to play hockey—what happens to them? Why, if they are caught they are thrown out and professionalized. But what happens to the other man, the officer of the baseball or hockey or other club which induced these boys to become sporting crooks? Why, nothing. They get by and are re-elected to office in the same club and come here and preach morals in sport and hold up high ideals.

"Officers of clubs who do these crooked things should be thrown out of sport forever. I hope that is what you gentlemen will do with those who engineer the crooked deals in your line of sport."

Prince Rupert Yacht Club

Membership and Revenue Has Increased Each Year—On Sound Financial Basis.

In the four years that have elapsed since 1917 the Prince Rupert Yacht and Yachting Club has been steadily growing and today it has 57 members in good standing, fifty of whom own and moor boats at the old Hazelton. The revenue of the club, which is derived mainly from membership fees and moorage tolls, was $573 for the quarter ending March 31 and for the quarter ending December 31 was $629. It will be readily seen how the club has grown in the past few years when the revenue totals for the summer seasons of the years are shown. For the summer quarter of 1917 the total revenue was $303; 1918, 397; 1919, $520; 1920, $644. This summer quarter no doubt will show a substantial increase over the same quarter last year. The expense for a quarter including wages and upkeep amounts to about $275, so it will be seen that the club operates on a sound financial basis.

Proposed Club House

No improvement of a permanent nature are proposed this year or until a permanent club house is established. When improvements are made they will be of a substantial character, so the revenue in the meantime is being carefully conserved. The members of the yacht club are desirous of keeping the present cove for the club house when a change is made and the old Hazelton is dispensed with. This location has been found very convenient and is a safe haven.

Members

The member, hip list of the club is as follows:
Launch members—G. H. Arnold, C. D. Brown, R. E. Benson, Dr. A. H. Bayne, George Bryant, F. W. Chandler, Dr. J. P. Cade, John Currie, Joseph S. Howe, Sydney Hunter, George Hill, Dr. W. T. Kergin, J. "But you are not nervous." "No, not now, but I was in a far worse condition than you are, when a friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I need not tell you more, for you know how well I have been for the last few years."

Mrs. H. Alchorn, 23 Gerald St., Charlottetown, P. E. I., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was recommended to me by an aunt who used it while passing through the change of life and was completely built up by its use. From my experience as a wife and mother I find that the majority of users are women, especially women passing through the change of life; next by young mothers to regain strength after baby comes, and also by mothers for their young daughters entering their womanhood. While it is good for all classes of humanity, I am sure it is especially so for women, as they seem to be troubled most by nervous diseases."

Benny Kauff has been banished from organized baseball by Judge Landis on account of an indictment against him for stealing an automobile. The indictment does not necessarily mean guilt but it does mean that the Grand Jury had reason to believe he may have been guilty and the rules of baseball require that any player under an indictment may be disqualified.

Arrangements have, however, not yet been finally closed. The Ontario club offered to go west last fall but wet weather set in and the series was called off.

In a 22-inning game played at Los Angeles last Monday, Seattle was victorious by a score of 12 to 8. The game was the first of a proposed double-header and is the longest yet this year in organized baseball. The second game had to be postponed on account of darkness.

NATURAL GAME PRESERVE

Editor Daily News—I would again direct the attention of the public to the many advantages presented by the Queen Charlotte Islands as a game preserve.

It has thousands of acres of unoccupied land; a climate unexcelled in Canada; freedom from wolves and panthers or of other animals that live on their kind; no forest fires; with open land for browsing and protection, beneath the wide-spreading trees, with streams and small rivers in abundance. Two of the large islands—Graham and Moresby—have only four species of wild animals, viz., marten, land otter, black bear and a few weasel.

Deer Do Well

A few domestic deer were introduced and are doing well. We talk of the lack of meat for food and have the best places in the world to raise all manner of animals. It is safe to say that thousands of animals could be turned loose to care for themselves and to provide food. Throughout the other sections of the country, where wolves and panthers carry off even the tame animals, we make laws to conserve. Here we have the room and the fodder, yet have only a few animals. Sheep, goats, elk, deer, moose and other animals would find all they require and would need no care, multiplying year by year. An investment of a small sum would give the people in a few years all the animal food that will be required and the islands would afford sport for the thousands of tourists that will eventually visit our shores.

THOMAS DEASY.

OBJECTS TO SABBATH REPRESSION

Editor Daily News—I note in your paper Thursday night "The Lord's Day Observance" killoys are once again raising the standard of religious intolerance which we all thought had been effectually killed by the Great War. Is it not time that these people were put in their proper place and made to desist from attempts to make people as miserable as themselves?

Sunday is the one day on which the working man can get out and enjoy God's beautiful open air. The rich man and even the tradesman can arrange to leave his business for a couple of days or so to the care of his workmen and go fishing and shooting during the week without any loss to himself. Not so the working man—if he lays off even one hour he is just that much out of pocket and yet these miserable woe-begone killoys wish to discriminate against him and prevent him enjoying his little trout fishing on the only day he can possibly get away for it.

If the Churches cannot make themselves more attractive than Nature and continue to fall down in the eyes of the general public, let them find some other method than the old one of religious persecution which is what trying to have the "Lord's Day Observance Act" enforced amounts to. To fill the Churches and incidentally to pay the incumbent's salary. "FREEDOM LOVER."

We agree with the general sentiment but not with the tone of this letter. It would be better to discuss public questions in moderate language and without bitterness.—ED.

BAN SWIMMING SUITS THAT ARE TOO SCANT AND OPEN AT SIDES

MONTREAL, April 16.—Fearing a repetition of the swimming scandal in the United States, shortly before James E. Sullivan, secretary of the A.A.U. died, and which was precipitated by girl swimmers reducing the length of the leg pieces of their bathing pieces and cutting them open at the sides, afterwards loosely holding them together with faces, the Quebec province section of the Amateur Swimming Association of Canada, at its annual meeting, instructed its referees not to allow any man, woman, or child to compete in future unless they wore decent swimming suits of regulation length. A tendency to show more than is necessary of the female form divine has been noticed at recent local contests.

PRINCE GEORGE STAGES GREAT CHINESE SCRAP

Rival Groups Meet in Field and Beat Each Other up With Clubs.

The smouldering fires of hatred broke out into violent conflagration this morning when Chinamen started a fight after leaving the police court, says the Prince George Citizen. A case against Li Kow and some of his associates, charged with gambling on information laid by members of the Chinese Nationalist League, was adjourned owing to the absence of witnesses. This case, it is alleged, is a sequel to the assault charges recently laid against members of the Nationalist League. As a reprisal members of the league are reported to have laid charges against the club which goes under the misleading name of Chinese Free Masons, for gambling.

Following the adjournment of the case in the police court the divided factions left the court in a body. Whilst proceeding down the walk to George street, one of them passed a few remarks about somebody's ancestors which precipitated a young riot. City Solicitor P. E. Wilson and W. P. Ogilvie, for the defendants, were coming up behind. They took sufficient interest in their clients to take a hand in separating them vigorously. Mr. Ogilvie, who is an old boxing man and stands six feet in his stockings, with about the same breadth as the back of a cab, threw Chinamen all over the lot and the fight broke up with the contestants flying down George street to Chinatown for reinforcements.

Battle in Open.
A few minutes afterwards the battle was on in earnest on a high dry field, offering no cover, outside Garvey's barn, just off Third Avenue. Streaming out of Chinatown the warring factions met here armed with long bundle sticks and improvised weapons. The method of attack was singularly free from tactical niceties. They advanced upon each other crying defiance and casting blows upon the escutcheons of illustrious ancestors, meeting in a grand hand to hand conflict in which they booted their long clubs off each other's heads with whole-hearted effort and disregard of the consequences.

Gun was Used.
In Chinatown, at the opening of the battle, one better prepared than the others, opened fire with a revolver, wounding a Chinaman in the hand and leg. He was removed from the scene with his "blighty" to the city hospital, where he lies at this instant muttering strange passages in the Oriental tongue.

Hundreds of citizens gathered to watch the melee and assisted the mounted, provincial and city police in effecting the arrests of the Chinese. Many escaped, however, in the uproar, and are sequestering themselves in the Chinese quarters, where Chief Sinclair is looking for any of them who bear the mute testimony of battle scars. The field of conflict is littered with some hefty clubs, some of which are covered with the gore of the victims.

ACKROYD IS DISMISSED

This Action Taken at Special Meeting of Police Commission Following Suspension by Chief

W. S. Ackroyd, recently appointed police constable on the city force, was discharged at a special meeting of the police commission held yesterday afternoon. The discharge came as a result of Ackroyd having been found intoxicated in one of the city hotels at 3 o'clock yesterday morning by the chief of police. The constable was suspended yesterday afternoon and at the meeting of the commission the suspension was endorsed, resulting in the dismissal of the officer. The meeting was held at 5 o'clock and Mayor Rochester and Commissioner Myhill Jones were present. Commissioner Macdonald was not on hand, having not received notice of the meeting early enough to allow of his attendance. Ackroyd was appointed to the police force at the regular meeting of the commission in March. At that time allegations were made as to the character of the applicant and his application was strenuously opposed by Mayor Rochester. The mayor's will at that time was, however, overruled by the votes of the two other commissioners who favored his appointment.

A GREAT BOOM IN MATRIMONY

During 1920 No Less than 400,000 Couples were Married in England

LONDON, April 16.—During 1920 nearly 400,000 couples were married in England and Wales, a considerable increase on 1919, which had beaten all previous records. Of the extent of the "boom" in matrimony one may get some idea when it is remembered that for the year preceding the war the annual average was only 280,000. Indeed the 300,000 mark has only been passed twice—in 1919 and 1921.

Signs are not wanting, however, that the crest of the matrimonial wave has passed! Nuptially, as it is termed by some statisticians, apparently reached its apex in the summer of last year, for the figures for the last quarter are decidedly lower than they were in both 1915 and 1919. It is a well-established rule now, always that there are fewer marriages in the winter than in the summer months; but this notwithstanding it seems probable that 1920 will hold the matrimonial "record" for many years to come.
