Disarmament Conference on Nov. 11

LONG LINE OF BANK DEPOSITORS ARE CLAMORING FOR MONEY

British Were Preparing Horrible Machinery of Slaughter at Time Peace Declared says Lloyd George

WASHINGTON, August 1.—It is understood that November Armistice Day, is generally acceptable as the date for the opening of the Disarmament Conference.

LONDON, August 1.—Premier Lloyd George told a luncheon here that the whole might of the British Empire will be thrown into the scales for peace at the forthcoming conference at Washington.

"Just before peace was declared," he said, "we had ready a horrible machinery than the world has seen. Doubtless these devices were being perfected on the other side. We must be lest we bequeath to our children a legacy of concentrated machinery that will some day explode, shattering their happiness and leaving the world a wilderness and man gaunt, wandering among ruins."

TRAGIC DEATH OF LITTLE BOY

Child Rood Fell When Playing and Fractured Skull.

Under very tragic circumstances, the death occurred this morning at 9:15 of Victor, the four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Rood, Steele Block.

The little lad was playing with other children on the street near the West End Cafe at the corner of Third Avenue and Eighth Street when he fell through the railing of the sidewalk and alighted in his head in the pond at that place. His skull was fearfully fractured, the brain being bared and the bones crushed terribly. He was rushed to the General Hospital where an emergency decompression operation was performed but without success in saving the lad's life.

Funeral arrangements are in the hands of the B. C. Undertakers. The deepest sympathy of the community will go out to Mr. and Mrs. Rood in their deep bereavement.

Run on Boston Bank Continues Anxious Crowd in a Line Eight Blocks Long on Street Outside

BOSTON, August 1.—There is a tremendous run on a Boston bank today. Despite reassuring statements by the officials, the run on the Boston Five Per Cent. Bank continues unabated. Depositors, anxious to get their money, are in line on the street for eight blocks, and mounted police are busy keeping order and seeing that no one breaks the line.

The president of the bank said the institution had assets amounting to more than $30,000,000 and would continue to pay out the cash indefinitely.

The run on the bank has caused a good deal of excitement in the city among business people, and it is proving a nervous time for those connected with the financial institutions of the city.

MORE REVENUE FOR THE MUNICIPALITIES

Every Likelihood that Considerable Relief Will Be Given This Year.

VICTORIA, Aug. 1.—There is every likelihood that the relief coming to the British Columbia municipalities will be considerable this year. There have been increases in the income tax and also good returns so far from the liquor business and this will allow the Government to deal more liberally with the municipalities. The matter will be discussed at the fall session of the legislature.

OUR FLAG.
Honor the Flag that honors you,
Respect it wherever it waves;
Remember those that have fought for it
And who sleep in heroes' graves.
Love and salute it day by day,
It has given you freedom and Treasure it as you would your own.
Let Justice be your song.

LUMBER CONTRACT FOR ESQUIMALT DOCKS

Puget Sound Lumber Co. to Supply Two Million Feet.

VICTORIA, Aug. 1.—The Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company, of this city, has been successful in securing a two-million feet of lumber order in connection with the construction work of the new Government dry-dock at Skinner's Cove. The local mill is now actively engaged in cutting. The order will take about six weeks to fill, it is stated. Some of the lumber is of huge dimensions, 18x8 and 12x12, while a quantity of three-inch lumber is also required.

J. D. Kissinger, manager of the mill, stated that little profit was to be looked from operation at this time, but the new work would at least serve to keep the mill running and pay some of the overhead expenses that have to be met. "We had seriously considered closing the mill down," stated Mr. Kissinger, prior to getting this order, so that its continued operation means much to our employees, and to the business of the city as a whole." The average payroll of the mill is $25,000 a month, it is stated.

LIBERAL ORGANIZATION FOR ONTARIO WAS PLANNED AT MEETING

The statement handed out at the close of the meeting was as follows:

"At a joint meeting of the executives of the General Reform Association and the Ontario Liberal executive, it was decided that a general association of Liberals of the province of Ontario be organized to be known as the Ontario Liberal Association and the present members of the Ontario Liberal executive be the provisional officers of the association with powers to draft a constitution and bylaws for consideration at a general meeting of the Liberals of the province to be called at some date to be agreed upon in September or October of this year."

Hon. MacKenzie King and H. H. Dewar received a hearty reception from the members and approved of the proposed organization.

NICE PRESENT FOR LOCAL CLUB

Rotarians Recipients of Ornamental Bell Gavel From Vancouver Rotarians.

The local Rotary Club was on Saturday night the recipient of a handsome ornamental bell gavel from the Vancouver Rotary Club. It was of oak with a Rotary wheel of brass hanging in front, on which was engraved on the rim and spokes "Rotary Wheel, presented to the Prince Rupert Rotary Club by the Vancouver Rotary Club, 1921." Attached was a bell for use in connection with the duties of the presiding officer.

In making the presentation, Ben Miller, vice-president of the club, welcomed the local organization to the chain of clubs and said that history honored the men who did most for their fellow men. Rotary should train men to be better citizens. Individual responsibility was a great thing, and this Rotary tried to develop. Members of a Rotary Club should be better citizens, better members of the board of trade or chamber of commerce. He urged the local members to live up to their privileges.

President Duby, in receiving the gavel on behalf of the local club, expressed appreciation of the courtesy of the Vancouver club and asked the visitor from that city to convey the thanks of the Prince Rupert club for the fine present.

King Can Do No Wrong Officially.

Under the constitutional government of Great Britain as it has worked out in past years the King in his official acts can do no wrong because he always acts on the advice of his constitutional advisers and if the action is wrong it is the fault of the adviser who is responsible to the people and not the fault of the King. For many years the Kings and queens have carried out the principle. King George tried to get away from it and acted on his own responsibility, thus losing for the Empire the United States of America.

Because of the peculiar position taken by the sovereigns, all criticisms in regard to government are levelled at the Prime Minister and his colleagues, and if the people are dissatisfied it is the cabinet that resigns and not the King. The kings and queens have generally been very careful to avoid personal criticism.

When a Prime Minister resigns he advises the sovereign as to what man shall be chosen to succeed him, usually the leader of the largest opposition group in Parliament. On one occasion Queen Victoria, after the resignation of Lord Disraeli as Prime Minister, delayed sending for Mr. Gladstone, and it was a week later before that great leader got the message asking him to form a cabinet. His followers were wrothy, and at public meetings all kinds of hints were thrown out that the personal action of the Queen was not approved. She had no minister then who could shoulder the blame for her. One radical speaker referred slightly to "the Old Lady at Windsor," and it would not have taken very much at that time to have set going a movement for a republic.

Lord Northcliffe and British Government.

The despatches tell that while any official recognition of Lord Northcliffe at Washington by the British Embassy was withheld, Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador, in his private capacity attended a dinner given privately for the great newspaperman. Had Northcliffe been officially recognized, it might have seemed as if the government were endorsing any of his utterances or the utterances of members of his party on the outstanding public questions of the day. As the settlement of the Irish question was under consideration, it was most important that nothing whatever should be said which would endanger the outcome. It might even be that the whole Northcliffe fiasco was dramatically staged for the purpose of influencing the people of the United States and yet keeping right with the more conservative element in Britain. The opinions ascribed to the King on the question of Ireland may have been expressed by him privately, but officially he has no opinion except such as the Prime Minister puts into his mouth.

British Constitution Grown, Not Made.

The British constitution has never been written. It was never formulated; it just grew. It is the development of centuries. On it many modern governmental constitutions have been based, but they are written and are therefore rigid. The British constitution is elastic and capable of still greater development. The development of the idea of responsible advisers is one that has been adopted by many other countries. It commenced much as the conference of premiers has commenced, as a more or less unofficial institution without any power or standing, but has grown into a permanent institution that is the very backbone of all British government. Before it got to its present stage of development there was many a fight for the rights of the people as opposed to those of the King, and many a setback was experienced.

There are people who would throw away all this experience of the past. They would throw it off just as we discard a worn-out shirt. In its place they would take a new style of garment which has never been tried and which is not adapted to the peculiar needs of a British people. The experience of a thousand years would go for nothing. Against this is set the solid good sense of the mass of the people who see under the British constitution ample opportunity for the development of progressive measures of government and the righting of wrongs which still exist.

CAPT. MOOREHOUSE BOOSTS FOR NORTH

Skipper of Prince George Tells People to South of Doings Here.

Captain Moorehouse is an optimist when it comes to talking about the North. He has been telling the people at the provincial capital what we are doing. An interview with him published in a Victoria paper says:
 "A breath of optimism and cheerful outlook of the northlands was brought by Captain Moorehouse today when the G. T. P. steamer Prince George docked here on her scheduled run from Prince Rupert and Stewart, B. C. While nothing in the nature of a plethora of work exists in these places, stated the genial captain, nevertheless there is plenty of work for all on the ground, and both Prince Rupert and Stewart residents are going well.
 "At Prince Rupert the 1000-foot government dock is now being fitted with a brand new shed, the work to cost in the neighborhood of $39,000 alone for labor, exclusive of materials to complete. The new sheds are creating plenty of work for the overflow of the unemployed in that city, and nearly all are now at work in some capacity or another. The new dock when completed will be an important new ocean terminal at that point.
 "At Stewart the Premier Mining Company is now erecting the second largest aerial tramway in the world. The longest one is in the Southern States, it is asserted. The new aerial tramway is an extensive work and is giving employment to a large number, while in the mines alone some 450 men are on the payroll. Stewart is booming to some extent as the result of the employment there and the good wages paid."

ROTARY CLUB GIVES BANQUET

Delegates From Seattle and Vancouver Give Interesting Addresses.

INTERNATIONAL AMITY URGED BY VISITOR

"Before the war there was between the two countries often the brutal frankness of relatives. Now they stand together for world service. There is five thousand miles of international boundary line where vital interest meets vital interest and yet there is no fortress, battlement or sentinel. It is a line of international peace. With the two great democracies, the British and the American lies the future of the world and Rotary can do much to cement international amity."

Indefinable. No one could define Rotary, continued the speaker. It had been humorously defined as the inward inexpressiveness of outward aloofness. It was impossible to formulate. It was an expression of the better self and it was impossible to measure it with a yardstick. Outsiders often thought it was selfish origin for the purpose of promoting the business interests of its members, but if it did this, it was only through the associations the members formed, the friendships and cordial relationships. He urged the members to be live wires and make the club a factor in the community. The members could not expect to take out of Rotary more than they put in, the motto "He profits most who serves best" being always true.

Work in Seattle. Mr. Roberts told of the work Rotarians had done in Seattle where they had recently raised $25,000 for an orthopaedic hospital for crippled children. At one time, said Mr. Roberts, the question asked of a man was "what has he got?" Later, the question usually asked, "where did he get it?" Now the main interest in the possession of wealth was "what is he doing with it?"

Mr. Roberts explained that the work of Rotary was not all serious. It was not necessary to be petrified in order to be dignified. Happiness and good fellowship should always be radiated.

"You can depend on the people of America to the fullest extent in all good works" concluded the speaker. "Acting together the great Empire and the great Republic will work to save themselves and the world. That is the spirit of Rotary."

thanks for their interest. Numerous Toasts. Addresses were given by Tom Miller, Dr. Kergin, T. H. Johnson, Mayor Rochester and W. E. Williams. Mr. Johnson in proposing a toast to the president after "The King" had been drunk in silence, spoke of the cordial relationships existing between the countries and the hope that Rotary would further cement that friendship.

Mayor Rochester welcomed the visitors to the city. W. E. Williams proposed a toast to the visitors to which Mr. Miller responded. Fred Stork.

Fred Stork in proposing "The City We Live In," said he took a great deal of pride in this little city of the west where conditions were better than in any other and where the people were happy and contented. The city was in a healthy condition financially.

Mr. Stork then spoke of the advantageous position of the city in relation to other ports. Those who came here to live did so after mature consideration. The location on the map was the great thing. He believed the city was on the eve of greater things. He told of the frantic efforts made by railways to the south to get the Oriental silk business. This city had all the advantages of transportation. She could afford to smile at the demonstration of effort. Here there was a flat track, a good grade and 500 miles advantage in distance. She had a strategic position. We should yet see this city second to none on the coast and Rotary could take a great part in that development.

Dr. Kergin said they all realized the world was in a state of flux. The world was changing so rapidly that no one could estimate what would take place in a few years. Old institutions were losing their force. With these changes in process, he felt Rotary could fill a great need. While the world was millions of years old, yet we were only in the morning of history. As a link in the great chain, the club should become a great force for peace and for everything making for betterment. He urged the members to develop the spirit of service.

FEW VERSES DEALING WITH SPORTS OR GAMES

Most of Those Submitted Have to Do with Boating or Swimming.

Any phase of outdoor life may be dealt with in the verses in the competition now running. It may have to do with sports or games, with camp life, with tramping or travelling or with mountain climbing as well as with swimming or boating. Some of the rather clever verses submitted so far will make judging difficult, but we probably have not yet exhausted the efforts of contributors. The competition will continue for some days yet.

Would Love to Swim To Salt Lake let me go, Where tide and joy overflow! I'd love to swim With Mrs. Thin Or failing that, With Mrs. Fat. Say, Daily News guy! Jus' pop—not the question— That "five spot" to my hat.

NORMA TALMADGE AT WESTHOLME TONIGHT

Talented Actress Will Appear in "Yes or No" Taking Two Characters.

Few photoplays of recent years have offered such decided contrasts as "Yes or No," the latest of best offerings of photodrama distributed by First National, in which Norma Talmadge stars. Both high and low life are shown in it, the story shifting from one to the other with startling rapidity. In the home of Margaret Vane we see the social elite trifling away their time while a moment later, whisked by the magic of the moving-picture camera a few blocks east we encounter Minnie Berry, laboring amid squalid poverty to keep her home and babies in a manner worthy of the love of her devoted but pre-occupied husband.

Of course Miss Talmadge handles both roles. And she does it with a rare skill and charm. Both of her characterizations, are excellent, her beauty contributing much to the enjoyment of the picture. Even as Minnie Berry in gingham and with hair bedraggled, this delightful little actress is good to look upon, while in the gorgeous wardrobe she has equipped herself with for the part of Margaret Vane her beauty is irresistible. She is to be seen tonight at the Westholme.

CONSTANCE BINNEY IS SHOOTING STAR

Charming Constance Binney may well be described as a "shooting star," for she has virtually leaped into fame over night on both stage and screen. Unknown alike to theatre and picture patrons three years ago she is already one of the foremost figures in the theatrical world today. She did not arrive by "pull," but by sheer force of her personality, ability and that "infinite capacity for taking pains."

After a conventional education in a French convent school, she returned to America and having overcome her New England parents' opposition to the stage, secured a part in a Broadway musical comedy entitled "Oh, Lady, Lady." In this piece she had no speaking part whatever merely to dance. Yet so successfully did she "put across" her fresh, wholesome, unaffected personality, that the next season when the most fastidious of all actresses-playwright-producers, Rachel Crothers, was casting about in search of just the right girl to portray the role of "Penelope Penn," in her comedy, "39 East," she recalled the girl she had seen dance the season before, and sent for her.

Imagine Miss Binney's surprise at being given not only a speaking part, but the part, the leading role in the piece! "39 East" was an instantaneous Broadway success, and Miss Binney was the hit of the piece, which ran a full year in New York, and a second year in Boston and Chicago.

She is to be seen tonight at the Empress.

TO DEVELOP ALBERTA'S COAL RESOURCES UNDER POWERFUL SYNDICATE

EDMONTON, Aug. 1.—The development of Alberta's coal resources will be taken up soon by a powerful syndicate of British financiers, the Edmonton Board of Trade has been advised by J. Hendley Yates, who has just returned from England, where he lectured before the Royal Colonial Institute on "Canadian Natural Resources," and pleaded for their development. At the head of this group of influential capitalists recently formed with this purpose in view is Lord Morrison, former prime minister of Newfoundland.

It is proposed to acquire a coal mine in this province, and to install a system for subjecting the lignite to a low temperature process, whereby the by-products will be secured and the residue transformed into briquettes. By this means, the syndicate aims to demonstrate in a practical way how profitable the process advocated by Herbert Alexander, claimed to be one of the greatest living experts on briquette making, is.

Considerate.
