MENDMENTS TO THE LIQUOR BILL INTRODUCED

SHING BOAT NOTLAD FOUND, BUT VESSEL'S CREW ARE SO FAR MISSING

Stringent Laws Against Near Beer Saloons is Proposed

Attorney General to Introduce Amendments This Afternoon Regulating Bars; Tax on Liquor Not Purchased from Government

VICTORIA, March 14.—Stringent tightening of the law near beer saloons including the right of the liquor commission to cancel the license of any club or near beer bar without notice and without appeal from their decision, are features of amendments to the liquor control bill to be introduced this afternoon by Hon. J. W. deB. Farris. The amendments provide that the club or person vending near beer must be licensed. No one may sell to a person under 21 years of age. The near beer may contain alcohol but only up to one per cent in weight.

TOM MOORE ON LABOR CAUSE

Tells Eastern People There is Open Warfare to Destroy Organizations.

Ottawa, March 14.—"There is no camouflage in regard to the war against organized labor in the United States," said Mr. Tom Moore, president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, in an interview here. Mr. Moore has returned from a week spent in Washington, D. C., in conference with the leading labor men of the continent.

"It is open warfare," he continued. "Some employers state openly that their aim is to destroy the power of labor organizations."

VICTORY NAVY ESTIMATES ARE TO BE REDUCED

Told There Will Be Ten Million Pounds Less Than Last Year.

DON, March 14.—The navy estimates for 1921-22 were made here today. They show a sum of some millions of pounds less than the net estimate for the fiscal year which was £2,300. There will be a reduction of £10,000,000.

Government has decided on principle that the capital ship continues to be the main unit effective fleet.

STRATA IN PEACE COUNTRY

TOM MOORE, President of Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, visits Washington.

This open warfare has caused more and more men to accept radical doctrines, and in consequence has made it more and more difficult for the regular labor movement in the United States to maintain proper relations between employer and employee."

While in Washington, Mr. Moore conferred with the executive of the American Federation of Labor and representatives of each of the national unions affiliated with the federation were present. The big question discussed was the war being waged by employers on organized labor and in favor of the open shop, and also the necessity of improving conditions by needed legislation.

Spending Money.

What was specially noted was the vast sums of money spent by certain employers in newspaper and other advertising in the large newspapers of the country giving their version of the necessity for an open shop.

McRae Bros. LtdDentistry of Quality.*Effects of Pyorrhœa

Pyorrhœa not only affects the heart and kidneys (as explained in a previous talk), but due to the nature of the disease, causes the bony structure which supports the teeth to be absorbed and the gums to recede. The teeth become loose and ultimately drop out. More teeth are lost in this way than any other.

Like a Tidal WaveHeart Disease and Nerve Troubles Sweep the Country.

Probably at no period in the world's history have heart and nerve troubles been so prevalent as they are today.

The heart can't stand the stress and strain of this busy, bustling age, and the care and worry, the anxiety and activity of business life constitute a serious drain on the nervous system.

The business of this work-a-day world goes with such a rush that the stoutest hearts and strongest nerves break down under the strain.

On the first approach of any breakdown of the system Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills should be taken. The reconstructive power of these pills on the heart and nerve system is simply marvellous.

Mr. W. A. Wright, Hopewell Avenue, Ottawa, Ont., writes: "After suffering for some time with my heart, I consulted a number of doctors, but got no relief.
However, I read what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills had done for others, who had the same symptoms and thought I would give them a trial. Believe me, six boxes relieved me. I am feeling fine now, and can attend to my work every day. I can recommend your pills to any one suffering as I did."

Moving a mountain with a teaspoon

Moving a mountain with a teaspoon may be possible, but the method is not to be recommended.

Establishing Provincial or Dominion-wide demand for one's goods may be possible without newspaper advertising, but again the method is not to be recommended. You can prove this for yourself by asking the first twenty persons you meet such questions as:

What brand of collars do you wear?

What tobacco?

What kind of shaving soap do you use?

What razor?

What kind of breakfast food?

What cigars?

What tea?

What mustard?

What coffee?

What sugar?

What underwear?

What shoes?

What motor car?

What tires?

What chewing gum?

What brand of anything?

Irrespective of location, the answers will reveal the names of products advertised in daily newspapers. This condition is not accidental. It is the result of ambition and vision and courage—particularly courage upon the part of the manufacturers.

Daily newspaper advertising is not a venture to be entered lightly—but once started and persisted in, it will turn Dividends of Demand that no power on earth can forestall.

If you are not quite sure how to go about Daily Newspaper Advertising, write to us and we will advise you.

FISH CARS

President Local Fisheries Association Wires Montreal Regarding Same.

T. H. Johnson, president of the Prince Rupert branch, Canadian Fisheries Association, telephoned Saturday night to F. W. Wallace, secretary of the association near Montreal as follows:

"Our latest information regarding express refrigerator cars is an assurance from railway officials that the first car will be delivered in Prince Rupert March 31. We calculate that factory must commence building next week to effect this delivery. Please send someone to factory again and wire us direct what doing."

CATERPILLAR
FELL INTO SEA

Tractor Was Pushed in at Stewart by Train of Sleighs.

One of the caterpillar tractors was pushed into the sea on Thursday last by the train of sleighs it was hauling. The ground was very slippery as the load pulled in from the Premier mines, and it was found impossible to stop it.

A Swanson who arrived yesterday in his launch has gone north with a scow to save the tractor. In the meantime the work of shipping ore continues, sixteen horses being employed in carrying it from the mine to the wharf where there is already a large shipment ready for the Prince Albert which will go north this week for it.

As for baseball there has been little planning as yet, for it is not likely there will be any games until the end of April or the first of May. Some of the senior players have left the city, but there are a good number left and a very creditable aggregation should be ready to take the field as soon as the season opens. Among the absenteers will be Clementson and his heavy hitting will be missed by Rupert, but Jimmy Shakespeare, who spent the most of last summer up in the Yukon, is back again and will compensate largely for the loss, because he is a timely hitter as well as a star pitcher. It is uncertain whether Ben Self will be back in time to start the baseball boys off this year, but, no doubt, some one else will take up the good work. The younger boys of the city can be seen almost any afternoon now playing "scrub" games on the streets and elsewhere.

Then there is football. That is likely to commence sooner than baseball. It will be remembered that last spring the footballers were out and playing games before the snow left the Acropolis Hill grounds, but so far this year there are no games in sight. There have been some of the players out, though, in more or less impromptu practices. There is just as much good football material in sight this season as there was last and the season, which will open soon, will doubtless be just as successful as last year's when the Old Country game eclipsed the American one in interest and number of games played.

JUDGING by the average one sees, the self-made man is about as poor a specimen as a home-made suit of clothes.

THERE has been a food shortage in Russia and of course this rebellion just at seed time is not likely to help matters. It looks as if we should have to have a collection soon for starving Russians.

ACCORDING to the press reports Deputy Minister Naden took a flier. That's the way with these Prince Rupert people when they get down at the capital.

SPORT

The balm of spring pervades the air and the thoughts of all sportsmen are turning to the outside. The basketball schedule has finished just before interest would have died in it and now plans are being made for the summer activity in other branches of sport. It is planned to have a few games of indoor baseball, the first of which will likely be played this week. Then there will be no more inside games for the more energetic of the athletes.

The Tennis Club has ordered nets and tapes and other equipment and most any day now the first of the racquet artists will be out. The officers of the club expect quite a boom in this line of sport this summer and plans are being made for it. The club will welcome all new members and is offering the opportunity for either experienced or new players to join. The courts at the Acropolis Hill are in good shape this spring, having fared better through the winter than they did last year, so with little repairs they will be ready for the players.

As for baseball there has been little planning as yet, for it is not likely there will be any games until the end of April or the first of May. Some of the senior players have left the city, but there are a good number left and a very creditable aggregation should be ready to take the field as soon as the season opens. Among the absenteers will be Clementson and his heavy hitting will be missed by Rupert, but Jimmy Shakespeare, who spent the most of last summer up in the Yukon, is back again and will compensate largely for the loss, because he is a timely hitter as well as a star pitcher. It is uncertain whether Ben Self will be back in time to start the baseball boys off this year, but, no doubt, some one else will take up the good work. The younger boys of the city can be seen almost any afternoon now playing "scrub" games on the streets and elsewhere.

Then there is football. That is likely to commence sooner than baseball. It will be remembered that last spring the footballers were out and playing games before the snow left the Acropolis Hill grounds, but so far this year there are no games in sight. There have been some of the players out, though, in more or less impromptu practices. There is just as much good football material in sight this season as there was last and the season, which will open soon, will doubtless be just as successful as last year's when the Old Country game eclipsed the American one in interest and number of games played.

JUDGING by the average one sees, the self-made man is about as poor a specimen as a home-made suit of clothes.

THERE has been a food shortage in Russia and of course this rebellion just at seed time is not likely to help matters. It looks as if we should have to have a collection soon for starving Russians.

ACCORDING to the press reports Deputy Minister Naden took a flier. That's the way with these Prince Rupert people when they get down at the capital.

WOMEN JURORS AND INDECENCY

Editor of Women's Page in Manchester Guardian Deals with Question

MOCK MORALITY TENDS TOWARD UNCLEANNESS

Urge that Women Should Sit on Divorce and Other Sex Cases

The difficulty found by many people in seeing the most obvious things, when planted just in front of their eyes, has long been the despair of the rationalist and the joy of the humorist, says the editor of the Manchester Guardian women's page. That this source of diverse emotions is not likely soon to run dry has been shown by the controversy on the position of women as jurors. The subject was brought up by a "perfectly needless" incident in a recent divorce case, in which half the jury were women. The usual disgusting atmosphere of the court was momentarily beclouded to a slightly higher degree by the introduction of some indecent photographs as exhibits in support of evidence. On this the judge thought fit to have the photographs shown only to the male jurors and not to the women, and one of the counsel engaged made a great show of apologetic regret and embarrassment at having to argue questions so unpleasant before women jurors.

Essential Evidence

We do not quarrel with this counsel. He had to do his best for his client, and if he thought he could do his client any good by forensic indulgence in this line of sentiment, well, no doubt he was free to do it. The liberty of advocates, like "the commandment of the Lord," is "extending broad." But what possessed the judge, after accepting these six women as jurors, to hide from them an essential item of the evidence? For if had not been essential he would not have had it shown to the six men. Or would he?

At the Judge's Discretion

It is a minor point—though one which nobody seems to attend to—that the judge was under no obligation to have any women jurors there at all. The recent Act "to amend the law with respect to disqualifications on account of sex" did not provide that women should serve on all, or any juries. What it did was to deprive them of their previous exemption from all liability to serve on juries. In doing this it provided that in all jury cases the judge or magistrate "may, in his discretion, on an application made by or on behalf of the parties . . . or any of them, or at his own instance; make an order that the jury shall be composed of men only, or of women only, as the case may require, or may, on an application by a woman to be excused from service on a jury in respect of any case by reason of the nature of the evidence to be given or of the issues to be tried, grant such exemption."

There goes the last excuse for the belated parade of squeamishness in the case in question. The judge, who must know his court as well as anyone else, could have ordered a wholly male jury to be sworn in the first instance. The counsel who feared that his outraged delicacy would impair his exertions on behalf of his client might have escaped any such prostration by applying that this might be done. Any woman juror who, for any of the reasons adduced in the course of this correspondence, objected to hearing the dirty rubbish which so many women of fashion flock to hear in that court could have cried off under the Act.

Real Jurors

But in this outcry against treating women jurors as real jurors there is something much more fundamentally unsound than mere neglect to read an Act of Parliament before prattling about it. One sincerely hopes that judges will not exercise freely their power of using exclusively male juries and that no custom will grow up among women of begging off jury service in cases where sexual misconduct or its consequences are in question. That way humbug and uncleanness lie, in the region where there still subsists the Oriental habit of pretending that women are sullied by facing the facts of life. We bid the whole question up when women began to be doctors. Men who had themselves been at public schools and at universities and had had the training and the social life of average medical students went through the shabby form of professing a belief that no young woman could learn to be a doctor without some form of moral degradation. Every sane and clear-minded man now knows that there is no more perfect purity of mind and soul to be found than among those women who as doctors and nurses and "rescue" workers have preserved the least of that ignorance which is very far from being innocence. Of course most healthy-minded women are sure to dislike such work as that of divorce court jurors. So are most healthy-minded men. But it is not purity of mind, nor self-respect, to run away from doing your country's work because it is not pleasant.

Civic Duty

Now that women have become full citizens it is part of their civic duty to join in this public work of moral sanitation, and no patriotic woman will shirk it. Certainly no patriotic man will think the better of her if she does. And it may fairly be expected of judges and magistrates that they should not put artificial difficulties in the way of women engaged on these duties by making false and morbid suggestions. From what passed in the Divorce Court last week it might be imagined that to lay a piece of evidence of indecency before a woman juror was an act like that of gratuitously broaching an indecent subject in private conversation. That is the kind of unhealthily mock-morality which women in law courts, like women in hospitals before them, have to overcome in some of the men with whom their work compels them to deal.

PARLIAMENT AGAINST PUBLIC PATRONAGE

OTTAWA, Mar. 42.—Sir Sam Hughes' motion in the House of Commons yesterday that the interests of Canada and her people be served by a system of political patronage, wherein appointments and promotions in both outside and inside civil service be brought under specific consideration, on the recommendation of members of Parliament or defeated candidates of the party in power, was free to do it. The liberty of advocates, like "the commandment of the Lord," is "extending broad." But what possessed the judge, after accepting these six women as jurors, to hide from them an essential item of the evidence? For if had not been essential he would not have had it shown to the six men. Or would he?

It is a minor point—though one which nobody seems to attend to—that the judge was under no obligation to have any women jurors there at all. The recent Act "to amend the law with respect to disqualifications on account of sex" did not provide that women should serve on all, or any juries. What it did was to deprive them of their previous exemption from all liability to serve on juries. In doing this it provided that in all jury cases the judge or magistrate "may, in his discretion, on an application made by or on behalf of the parties . . . or any of them, or at his own instance; make an order that the jury shall be composed of men only, or of women only, as the case may require, or may, on an application by a woman to be excused from service on a jury in respect of any case by reason of the nature of the evidence to be given or of the issues to be tried, grant such exemption."

A lot of people spend money in advertising, others invest it in advertising. An advertisement in the Daily News is an investment.

PRINCE RUPERT LADY FEATURED IN SOCIETY VANCOUVER ON FRIDAY

In the current issue of the Vancouver Province appears a photograph of Mrs. J. T. Chawner Williams, who usually spends the summer in this city. Mrs. Williams kindly loaned her lovely home at 1103 Pacific St. for the tenth anniversary tea of the Pauline Johnson Chapter I.O.D.E. on Friday.

The account given in the Province says:

"Mrs. Williams has held various offices in this chapter, having been secretary for the years 1913 to 1915, and second vice-president for the year 1916. She acted as regent for 1917 and 1918, and since that time has held the office of honorary first vice-regent.

During the years of the war Mrs. Williams was untiring in her efforts, assisting many cases, and personally collected the sum of $410 in ten hours for the hospital ship fund.

She also conducted a campaign which collected $2,000 for a machine gun, and at all times her motor car was at the disposal of soldiers. A 16-foot Union Jack was presented by her to the Shaughnessy Convalescent Home.

"During her term of regent of the chapter Mrs. Williams did strenuous war work, and gave numberless teas at her home for worthy causes. She is possessed of charming personality and is a gracious hostess."

COURT HOUSE PLANS

The new plans for the proposed court house have arrived here at the office of the government agent. There are a few minor changes from the first ones, but the structure will be the same as already proposed otherwise.

MARTIN O'REILLY

To Be Dyspeptic Is to be Miserable

The poor dyspeptic suffers untold agony after every meal, and any one who has dyspepsia knows what joy it would give to eat three square meals a day and not be punished for it after. Nearly everything that enters the weak stomach acts as an irritant, and even the little that is eaten causes such torture and is digested so imperfectly that it does little good.

Before you can eat heartily, and not pick and choose your food, you must put your stomach into such a condition that it will manufacture its own digestive ferments.

For over forty years Burdock Blood Bitters has been toning up and restoring weak stomachs to a normal healthy condition so that the food no longer causes distress, but is thoroughly digested and assimilated, and enables one to partake of all the wholesome food required without fear of any unpleasant after effects.

Mrs. Alice Beckwith, Fesserton, Ont., writes:—"I have been a great sufferer from indigestion and dyspepsia for several years. I could not eat anything without almost dying from the pain in the pit of my stomach. Seeing Burdock Blood Bitters highly recommended, I tried a bottle, and can gladly say it relieved me, I can eat anything now, and am in perfect health."

TELEPHONITIS IN BRITAIN

Government Proposal to Raise Rates is Being Opposed

LONDON, March 14.—While several Canadian cities have been scenes of lively controversy over increases in street railway fares, Great Britain has its bone of dispute in an increase of telephone rates.

The business interests and general public have suffered an attack of what some call "telephonitis" as a result of an announcement by the Postmaster General that he would increase the telephone charges on April 1 to present subscribers and immediately to new subscribers.

These increases are based on a report of a Select Committee of the House of Commons, and call for an annual rental of eight pounds, ten shillings, against the old charge of five pounds. The present fee of three pence (six cents) at a public call box will remain for short distances, but longer distances will be proportionately increased. These charges have to be made to meet an estimated charge of £10,000,000 sterling for this year, or an increase of 147 per cent over pre-war rates.

The volume of criticism which the first official statement called forth has since grown considerably and not only have resolutions of protest been sent to the government from every chamber of commerce in the country, but combined action is being taken by the various chambers with a view to some alleviation of what is called the "iniquitous" imposition of higher charges for a service which is admittedly inefficient.

Some are even advocating a boycott, but conservative opinion inclines to the belief that this would seriously injure the service in future.

A deputation, representing the press of Great Britain, protested to the Postmaster General, but received little encouragement. The Postmaster pointed out that wages in the department had trebled and the cost of plant more than doubled. The expenditure of the department in 1913-14 was £5,952,000 and in 1920-21 aggregated £14,600,000.

It is claimed by the business community that since the government took over the telephone service from the National Telephone Company, which paid a dividend of six per cent, the service has grown increasingly inefficient and expensive, and the strongest efforts are being made towards a postponement of the proposed increases until the proposed increases until the whole matter has been inquired into and debated in Parliament.

The chief cause of contention is the abolition of the old flat rate of £5 yearly with unlimited calls and the imposition of a sliding scale of charges which will mean a heavy addition to the bills of commercial houses throughout the United Kingdom.

BILLIE BURKE IN
"WANTED, A HUSBAND"

BILLIE Burke's latest picture is called "Wanted—A Husband" and is an adaptation of a magazine story by Samuel Hopkins Adams. It will be shown at the Empress Theatre. The story is said to be admirably adapted to the comedy talents of pretty Miss Burke.

The heroine is Amanda Darcy Cole, a wall-paper designer, who lives with two girl friends in the bohemian section of New York and is slovenly and unkempt in her appearance. Her two companions are about to be married and taunt her so much about her unattractiveness that she invents a fictitious fiance, then goes to a training camp to beautify herself. On the train Darcy meets her honeymoon roommates and hastily induces a young man passenger to pose as her intended. Later she blossoms out as a ravishing beauty and her confession of her deception and the proposal of her improvised sweethearts form the climax of the picture.
