UNITY OF PURPOSE.

The value of unity of purpose has been well exemplified in the recent campaign to secure a supply of fish cars to meet the business here. The telegram received this morning from Mayor Rochester in reply to a wire in combination with ours, is most reassuring and tends to indicate that the campaign has been a success.

Some money has been spent and a good deal of effort put forth to try to make the railway company and the Government of Canada realize the need of a plentiful supply of fish cars here, and the consummation of the combined effort is most satisfactory. It is to be hoped that the authorities that control the destiny of the Canadian National Railway, whoever they may be, will see that from this time on there is no relapse to the former condition of affairs.

No word from the delegation of Wallace shipyard officials at Ottawa in connection with the local ship contract has yet been received at the Prince Rupert office and work on the shipbuilding at Hays Creek has not yet commenced.

She is having some plates replaced as well as the work of general overhaul.

The annual congregational supper of the Baptist Church was held on Tuesday evening and annual reports from the various organizations connected with the church were received. There were about fifty in attendance and the supper was provided by the Ladies Aid. P. M. Linzey was in the chair. From reports read it would appear that the outlook for the future was exceedingly bright.

No permanent pastor has yet been selected but Rev. J. W. Leitch, superintendent of Baptist Missions, will arrive here tonight from Prince George and will conduct the Sunday services. It was Mr. Leitch, then an evangelist, who established the first Baptist Church here more than ten years ago and conducted the first services in the old building in Greenville Court which is now occupied by Kelly & Mallett. Archbishop Du Vernet on Modern Phases of Religion

Speaks of Power of Press, but also Urges Value of Personal Contact and Interdependence of Individuals and Nations

"The individual by himself as a separate unit is a myth, a fiction of the imagination," declared Archbishop Du Vernet at the men's banquet at the Anglican Church last night. The individual man is a member of society and only as such can he be considered. He is a ministering member of the great society of mankind.

The Archbishop spoke of the value of personal contact. For thirty years he had been a student of psychology and he recognized the power of the press.

Through the press one was sure of an audience which was not always the case through the pulpit. He had taken advantage of an offer from Canada's greatest newspaper to address a half million readers on the question of psychology, whereas in church he could address comparatively few.

While he recognized the power of the press and the value of the written word, the Archbishop went on to tell of the inspiration that came from speaking face to face. The inspiration of God was secured through the personality of man. When a church was filled both preacher and audience got an inspiration. There was a sympathetic radiation which was well recognized by psychologists.

There was a wonderful power come from the blending of mind and spirit in common worship. Recent Revolution.

During the last 75 years the greatest revolution had come which was ever known. It came without the clashing of swords or the bursting of bombs. He referred to the revolution in the philosophy of thought. The whole basis of thought had changed in that time. The new conception of God and the universe and the wonderful relation of body, mind and spirit had been revealed. As with man so with the classes. There was the commercial class from banker to baker and there was the working class, but class warfare was unthinkable to the man who had studied sociology. All were interdependent.

Community of Nations.

Archbishop Du Vernet went on to speak of the relation of nations one to the other. As no person could live to himself so no nation could live to itself. All must be ministering members of a great society, bound in the common brotherhood of men.

Perhaps the most wonderful revelation was the new conception of God. The Oriental God was linked with the thought of absolute.

NEW CHURCH AT MASSETT OPENS

Archdeacon Collison, of Kincolith, Left Last Night to Conduct Ceremonies.

HANDSOME EDIFICE OF WHICH NATIVES PROUD

Archdeacon W. H. Collison sailed last evening by the Prince John for Massett, where he will open the new native church on the Indian reserve at that point. Archdeacon Collison has made special arrangements with the steamship company to call at the reserve when the steamer is in the inlet tomorrow when he will conduct the opening ceremony and on the return twelve hours later from Port Clements the vessel will stop again and take him so he will return here on Saturday. The original intention had been to have the opening today but as the John is making the southern island points first the vessel will not arrive in Massett Inlet until tomorrow.

The new church is of handsome architecture and has been a year under construction, all the labor being that of the Haida Indians.

The edifice is one of which the natives are justly proud.

BIRTH.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grindle, 5th Ave. East, at the hospital last night.

Archbishop Du Vernet went on to speak of the relation of nations one to the other. As no person could live to himself so no nation could live to itself. All must be ministering members of a great society, bound in the common brotherhood of men.

Perhaps the most wonderful revelation was the new conception of God. The Oriental God was linked with the thought of absolute.

Modern Methods
Have Limitations.

Modern methods and conceptions have their limitations. Last night Archbishop Du Vernet spoke of the modern conceptions and the result of psychological study in the religious life. He showed that in the promulgation of religious ideas the press could be very powerful, but it could not replace the "personal touch" of the church congregations. So in most new things, there are new phases of old things, but there is no real change in fundamentals.

Archbishop Du Vernet is a man who believes in adapting himself to modern ideas and modern methods. He believes in using the press to promulgate his views. Through the Daily News he often addresses the largest audience he can possibly get in Prince Rupert and its environs. Allowing five readers to each paper, there is a possibility of his reaching over eight thousand people through these columns, but he told of his articles being placed before half a million by means of one of the greatest newspapers in Canada.

Archbishop's
Views Are News.

The Archbishop is able to secure entry into the press because he has a real message for the people. His views are news. He has a keen intellect and is able to analyze and define and condense. The result is that when he writes he has something to say and newspapers are always glad to pass on a real message. The Daily News welcomes the articles which the Archbishop writes because he has the modern conception and is able to express it. That is why the Montreal Star also is pleased to give prominence to his articles.

Must Hold Fast to Old Fundamentals.

In spite of this new method of propaganda, the old must not be forgotten. The power of a good public speaker is as great as it ever was. It is greater, in that the eloquent speech can be passed on by means of a newspaper report. The great speaker can move multitudes as no impassioned oration printed in a newspaper possibly can. The unity of thought and the magnetic influence of a group gathered for a common purpose is wonderfully great.

There is too great a tendency these days to forget the value of learning to debate. There is a desire to get our education through the movies instead of by contact with the master minds of the world in literature and with the modern masters through debate and personal discussion. While one may be good, the other must not be forgotten or neglected or there will be developed a light and frivolous type of manhood, easily swayed, without that spirit of self reliance spoken of by Colonel Peck and with a tendency to return to the type from which we sprang before we learned to walk on our hind legs.

Debaters Play Part In Government.

Why are there so many lawyers in Parliament? Because they are debaters. Part of their legal training is public speaking. The result is that at election times, when public speakers are needed, they are invited to the fore and they go. The public speaker is still a valued asset to the community as long as he is a clear thinker and has a sense of real responsibility.

Public speaking is an art that can easily be abused. It can be used with effect in a bad cause as well as a good one. That is why it is necessary that young men with high ideals should be trained to express themselves, for only so can the right be advocated or defended and the bad denounced.

To be lashed into action by the Whips of Circumstance is not an evil.

One needs it periodically to overcome the flatulence of prosperity.

Let us be frank with each other.

Manufacturers, Merchants, Newspaper Proprietors, and Public, we have all had a succession of fat years. Now some of us are timorous at the thought of lean months.

Well, lean months and lean years would be in store if we sat still and wailed --- but not if we show fight.

SPLIT IN RANKS OF PRAIRIE FARMERS

Trouble Brewing Among Agrarians in Manitoba, says Report

WINNIPEG, Feb. 3.—A split in the ranks of the Farmer political party in Manitoba is about to take place, according to political prophets. The Independent Farmer group in the provincial legislature resents the action of the United Farmers of Manitoba convention held at Brandon recently, in ignoring the legislative group and its platform. An open split seems likely to occur and may be precipitated by the Lakeside by-election.

The statement issued by J. L. Brown, president of the United Farmers of Manitoba, to the effect that the United Farmers had taken no part in the Lakeside nomination or election contest, has brought about definite steps for a disruption between the outlawed Farmer members who contested seats in the election last summer and the United Farmer party.

After the "Flu"

Four Children Had Whooping Cough

Whooping Cough, although specially a disease of childhood, is by no means confined to that period, but may occur at any time of life. It is one of the most dangerous diseases of infancy, and yearly causes more deaths than scarlet fever, typhoid or diphtheria, and is more common in female than male children.

Whooping cough starts with sneezing, watering of the eyes, irritation of the throat, feverishness and cough.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is highly recommended by mothers everywhere for the relief of this trouble as it helps to clear the clogged-up air passages of the mucous and phlegm that has collected, and in this way brings on the "whoop" which brings the so-much-sought-for relief and heals and soothes the lungs.

Mrs. J. M. Rose, Imperial, Sask., writes: "After the 'flu' last fall, my four children took whooping cough and one of them developed bronchitis. After using two or three bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup they were greatly relieved of their nasty coughs. It is an especially good remedy for children, and is so nice they take it readily, and ask for more." Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 35c. and 60c. a bottle at all dealers. Put up only by The T. Millburn Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont.

DAYLIGHT SAVING IN NEW YORK STATE

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—New York State may follow the lead of Canadian cities in respect to the period of daylight saving next summer. A bill now before the legislature provides for five months of daylight saving, instead of seven. Under the provisions of this bill the time changes will be made on April 30 and September 30.

ANGLICAN MEN AT BANQUET IN CHURCH HALL

Choice Spread and Excellent Addresses at Annual Event

Last Night.

Over one hundred men last night sat down to a banquet in the Anglican Church hall, A. E. Bazzett-Jones presiding. The tables were laden with eatables of the kind for which the Anglican ladies are noted and the tables were decorated with white and yellow spring flowers and greenery, the whole making a picture to delight the eye. The ladies of the women's auxiliary of the church waited on the tables, and there was no stint of anything.

Addresses.

Following the banquet there were addresses by Archibishop Du Vernet on Psychology, A. E. Wakefield on Theodore Roosevelt, Lieut.-Col. Peck on Self Reliance, and A. W. Healy to the Ladies and Canon Rix on Church Influence and Attendance. In addition an impromptu few words were spoken by H. F. Pullen on the desirability of completing the church building.

Music.

Will Edmunds sang and played his wonderful Cello and there were songs by Messrs. Melliar and Davey, the efforts of all of whom was much appreciated. Will Edmunds played the Last Post while everyone stood to attention in memory of those who went to war and did not return.

The gathering was a most inspiring one and at the close a collection in aid of the fund for new seats brought the handsome sum of $448.10.

Consul Wakefield.

Mr. Wakefield, who punctuated his address with many excellent and well-told anecdotes, spoke of the wonderful character and forcefulness of Roosevelt. He was the most many-sided man the world had ever known. Of poor physique as a boy he had by sheer force of will built up a constitution and given himself an education by means of hard work.

He was always ready to take up the cause of anything he considered to be for the good of the nation. Many an opponent had come to him and gone away a Rooseveltian. He was a man who believed in property rights and labor rights and plain justice for everyone. He told of addresses given in different parts of the country by the former president which illustrated the character and fine judgment of this great man.

Colonel Peck.

Colonel Peck in speaking on the value of self reliance, illustrated it by sketching the Canadian campaign in the war and showing how at first the Canadian men and officers grew in self-reliance through experience and persistence. He eulogized the men who fought under him, showing that they were always ready and resourceful and never afraid. It was a glorious companionship, this of the best men who ever fought in any war.

Incidentally the Colonel referred to the excellent work done at home by such men as Canon Rix, Archibishop Du Vernet, Archdeacon Collison and others. They were the men who made it possible for people to come here today on parlor cars. He was proud of the Archibishop and always, when in the east, referred to him with pride as a man from Prince Rupert.

Victory from Defeat.

The Colonel went on to tell of the many critical positions in which his troops had found themselves. He also told of Marshal Foch, how at the Battle of the Magne he had snatched victory from seeming defeat. When to the ordinary man retreat seemed the proper thing, Foch saw further beyond and advanced instead. It was nothing but the indomitable will of Foch which had forced the victory. This also was a characteristic virtue of the Canadian troops. They differed from European troops owing to their training in self-reliance.

The Colonel told of the first gas attack at Ypres, of Festubert, where the Canadians held the apex of the salient with the flower of the British army on their flanks. They were as good as any and did not worry. They had no trepidation and did their work well. People began to see and take notice of them. He told of Amiens, of Poelcappelle, of the Somme, of Vimy Ridge, of Passchendaele, and of the work of the Canadian super-men at the second battle of Arras.

Peace Problems.

"If only we could incorporate the self-reliance of the Canadian troops into civil life there is nothing the Canadian people could not achieve," concluded the Colonel. There are problems of peace to be solved far greater than those of war and the work and patriotism of the men who fought are needed in solving them.

A. W. Healey.

A. W. Healey spoke humorously touching incidentally on some of both feminine and masculine foibles and becoming serious extolled the virtues of love and sacrifice as exemplified in the mothers of the race. He thanked the ladies for the bountiful repast and spoke appreciatively of the work of women in public life as well as in the home.

Rev. Canon Rix.

Rev. Canon Rix expressed appreciation of the fact that there was present a considerable delegation of Christian Japanese. He prophesied that the Oriental question would be solved by carrying the gospel to the Orientals. He welcomed the Japanese there.

Speaking of the value of the forward movement of last year, Canon Rix said its value had been in helping them to make the discovery that the Church was a living thing. He spoke of the efforts that had been made and the time and energy freely expended in the work of the church. The collection of fifteen million dollars was a marvellous thing. The predominance of the Christian life in a community was its strength. No moral reform could be successful except it were based on the principles of the sermon on the mount. If the one hundred men he saw before him had in them the spirit of God the place would be revolutionized in a short time.

Link With Eternal.

While doubtless there were good Christian men outside the Church, he urged that they get together and link themselves up with the eternal and make their influence felt in the community. If all the Church of England men in town would back them up, they would make the church a force in the community.

NO FEAR FROM HIGH TARIFFS

SO Says New York Times to Canadians; Bill a Big Joke

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The Fordney tariff bill, the ostensible aim of which is to protect farm products of the United States by placing a prohibitive tariff on similar products of other countries, is not to be taken seriously by Canadians, according to the New York Times. In quoting some editorials from Canadian papers, in which trade "reparisals" were threatened should Congress adopt the Fordney bill, the Times asks: "Can't the Canadians take a joke?"

"Could there be a more delicious joke," the newspaper continues, "than a tariff of 45 cents a bushel on imported corn? The country produces some 3,000,000 bushels a year. In 1918 we exported 49,000,000 bushels and imported 5,000,000. If importation were prohibited the American price would be changed by a shadowy fraction too small to see."

Lemons and Peanuts

"For the benefit of a little band of California lemon growers the rate on lemons is jacked up 150 per cent. Everybody uses lemons. A few people raise them. The greatest good of the smallest number is a sacred principle. Let us do something for the poor peanut grower, said the sages of Washington. So they give him a little tariff boost of only 325 per cent; and he gets it," says Representative Hull of Tennessee, "in the face of the statistical fact that the combined import and domestic production of peanuts leaves a deficiency for domestic consumption of 220,000,000 pounds for the years 1919-20, when compared with the preceding year." Friends of farm pro-deets not included in the bill have watched it with jealous eyes. Why have they no portion of this government pap? So amendments for their benefit, extending the saving blessings of protection to about everything raised on the farm have been slapped on the bill in committee.

Simply for Farmers

"These amendments are but infants to the fully grown additions which its opponents are to impose on it. The Immigration bill and the Soldiers' Bonus bill, affectingly germane, are the least of these. Senator Garrison of Mississippi will give an endurance test. The Little bill for the re-codification of the federal statutes will have to be recited in all its majestic length. In that ocean of 3,000,000 words the protection ark will be sunk. Some incorrigible cynics and 'free traders' threaten to dump the treaty of Versailles on that laboring craft."

"The bill wasn't meant to be passed. It is merely an evidence of good faith to the farmers. It is intended to reconcile them to being bled for the benefit of the manufacturers by the tariff law to be framed by the next Congress according to the immortal principles of Dingley, Paine, William D. Kelley and Aldrich."

VANDERHOOF

The Board of Trade is requesting H. G. Perry, M.L.A. for the district, to advocate an appropriation for road building purposes from Fort St. James into the Omineca country.

Dr. W. Ross Stone made his regular inspection of the schools last week.

George Outram left on Saturday to attend the Board of Trade Convention in Victoria.

Between seventy and eighty people attended the Brain Jazz Orchestra dance in the Egan building last Thursday evening. A number from Fort Fraser and the country also attended.

TERRACE

J. M. Vizer sustained a loss of between $500 and $600 when his barn and contents was totally destroyed by fire on Friday night. There was no insurance.

Open brothers, of Hazelton, have been in Terrace during the week looking over possibilities. They have sold out their hotel interests in Hazelton.

The first moving picture show held here last Wednesday was well attended. Shows are being shown on Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

The weather at Terrace has been very mild so far this winter and the thermometer has not yet dropped to zero. The snow fall in January was normal and the sleighing was fine.

PILES

Are Centrally Caused By CONSTIPATION.

There are few, if any, complaints more common than hemorrhoids, or piles, as they are commonly called, and scarcely any which cause more trouble, annoyance and misery.

Ninety per cent, are troubled with them at some time or other, owing to the bowels to become in a constipated condition.

Piles are classed under three headings i.e. itching, bleeding and protruding, and the exacerbating pains which accompany them cause misery which is beyond description.

Ointments and suppositories may help and relieve for a while, but to get rid of them, it is necessary to have a free, easy and natural motion of the bowels, at least once or twice a day, and by doing this the cause will be quickly removed.

Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills regulate the new of bile to act properly on the liver and bowels, thus removing the constipation and all the allied trouble.
