Parliament Dissolved and Premier Meighen Issues a Manifesto to the Electors

PARLIAMENT, Oct. 5.—Parliament was dissolved yesterday, it was announced late yesterday afternoon. No election date has been set, but December 5 is believed to be the date, with the election taking place two weeks earlier on November 21.

Following the notification of dissolution of Parliament, Mr. Meighen, acting Prime Minister, issued a manifesto to the electors. It deals with the Government's policy during the war years. It makes the tariff the issue and closes with a special appeal to the women of Canada to take their share in the responsibility with men in the public affairs of the country.

Salmon Reports 26,500

Salmon Cannery had a record salmon in spite of season. Manager R. G. says in the city today and they are just closing up season. The total pack of sockeye is 26,500 cases, of which is sockeye, a very high percentage compared with other years. He says it is very high for the season will show as the tinplate was they bought at the beginning of the season and other years higher than they are.

Salmon says most of the fish done outside the river banks the fish have a good quality to get up to the seedling. That accounts for reports from the members from Inverness in the city.

Seattle Relief Committees Try to Get Rid of Out of Works.

SEATTLE, Oct. 5.—"Don't hang around here begging on the streets. Get out of town; cross the line and try your luck in B. C. They've got lots of jobs over there." This is what two relief committees of Seattle and Tacoma are telling vagrants that apply for aid, according to strangers that are refused admittance into British Columbia at the border.

According to reports filed by labor leaders, and complaints made to a labor paper in Seattle, men are encouraged to go to British Columbia with the idea that hospitality, food, hospice and work are abundant to all comers in the province. Scores, it is said, are being turned back some claim they spent their last cent in railroad fare, only to be turned back when they reached the boundary line.

CANADA SHOULD RUN RAILROAD

Sir Joseph Flavelle Endorses
Proposal of Sir Charles M.
Hays.

TORONTO, Oct. 5.—Sir Joseph Flavelle, chairman of the Grand Trunk Railway Board, addressed a large gathering last night on the Canadian railway problem. He endorsed the recommendation of Sir Charles M. Hays that the head office of the Grand Trunk Railway should be in Canada. With this done he proposed that the Grand Trunk Pacific should be the operating company with its head office in Ottawa. Directors should be chosen in Canada to enable the Grand Trunk to successfully compete with the Canadian Pacific Railway. Sir Joseph said that he knew what he was talking about because he had been asked to become a director before the scheme fell through.

WOULD DEPORT UNDESIRABLES

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 5.—Undesirable Americans who "float" across the border are receiving attention here, and application is being started for the deportation of a number who have been chased out of Vancouver and Victoria, only to settle in this city. In their number are Magdalenes and maquerelages. It is also found that a number of absolutely penniless wastrels are finding their way across, in some manner, and becoming a nuisance as hoboes and street panhandlers.

'THE RIDER OF THE PLAINS.'

One of the many sights in the Central Park of Calgary, Alberta, Canada, is this memorial to the "Riders of the Plains" who fought in the Boer War, in South Africa.

New York Americans Win First World Series Score Three to Nothing

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The Yankees, the American League champions, tore off the opener of the world series game this afternoon by kalsomning the New York Giants by a score of three to nothing. Hays' submarine ball tied the Giants into knots, though Frieck, the National Leaguers' third baseman, helped himself to four hits. Babe Ruth accounted for one of the Yankees' runs with a blazing single, but did not oblige the spectators with a home run, much to their disappointment.

The baserunning feature of the game was McNally's steal of the home plate.

There was an immense crowd present to see the match. New York gloried in the exclusive baseball family feud. Easily 38,000 fans saw the game and some stood shivering all night in order to secure admittance. The playing field was fast after a shower during the night.

The batteries were Douglas and Snyder for the Nationals and Mays and Schang for the Americans.

The score by innings was:
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Americans 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0
Nationals 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
R. H. E.
Americans 3 7 0
Nationals 0 5 0

Unemployment in Britain Getting Out of Hand Say Leaders; The Situation

INVERNESS, Oct. 5.—Lloyd George, in accepting the freedom of the city, said the Government plan for the relief of unemployment must first be submitted to Parliament. The Premier made no disclosures on this point except in saying "national honor depends that those willing but unable to work must be saved from starvation, but the measure of relief depends on national resources."

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The biggest demonstration of unemployed yet took place yesterday when 10,000 men, women and children assembled in Hyde Park after finding Trafalgar Square closed to them. Speeches were made demanding work or maintenance.

The labor leaders said afterwards that the situation was getting out of hand. Unless unemployment was relieved there would be a row all over Britain.

ULSTER TIMID OVER OUTCOME OF CONFERENCE

Sir James Craig Says He Has
Feeling They May Be Let Down.

BELFAST, Oct. 5.—In addressing the Ulster Parliament, Sir James Craig, Premier, explained that Parliament was subject to recall at short notice because the leaders were unaware what might happen or whether he would receive an invitation to the conference on the Irish situation.

Premier Craig said he felt they should be represented because refusal to attend would lay Ulster open to grave misrepresentation over the water. "I have a feeling that we may be let down behind our backs."

BARTENDERS OUT OF WORK

Ask Aid of Provincial Government.

VICTORIA, Oct. 5.—A petition is being prepared for presentation to the provincial government, asking aid for the jobless ex-bartenders. The movement is headed by Michael McGuire who says he worked at that business for 33 years. His communication says: "For years we have faithfully served the people and now we are thrown out of work, with families to keep and having no other trade. The bartender was a useful citizen. The public recognized him and patronized him. But the name of being an ex-bartender hurts us all when we try for other work now."

The petition points out that more than 200 former bartenders of the province are in imminent need. Although no official statement has been given out, it is unofficially stated that the government cannot help these men to get employment with the government stores, by reason of their experience, but they must take their chance with other citizens.

FARMERS GRILL RADICALS.

MISSION CITY, Oct. 5.—Farmers of this vicinity and surrounding country have gone on record in denouncing radicalism, saying that much of the unrest of the Empire is due to this cause.

Stormy Petrel Again in Air.

The stormy petrel of British Columbia politics, Joe Martin, is again soaring aloft politically and has taken under his wing the so-called Progressive party.

Mr. Martin is not a political leader. He is a lone voice without settled policy, program or principles. He is just Joe Martin, and his presence as an active participant is enough to wreck any party that tries to run on democratic principles.

PATTULLO IS IN LIMELIGHT

Much Publicity Given British Columbia by Visit of Minister.

TELLS OF LANDS FOR SETTLERS IN PROVINCE

Hon. T. D. Pattullo has been working for British Columbia all the time he has been away. Among the interviews given by him was one to "The Colonizer," an Imperial medium of colonization, investment and travel, which resulted in the following article:

The Hon. Thomas D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands and Forests in the British Columbia Government, is at present on a visit to this country and the continent of Europe, amongst other things in furtherance of a scheme of colonization in British Columbia formulated by himself, the Premier of British Columbia, and the Minister of Agriculture. Mr. Pattullo is seeking to augment the work carried on by the Agent-General for British Columbia in London in the direction of attracting the right class of persons to settle on the splendid agricultural lands available in Central and other parts of British Columbia.

200,000 Acres. In a recent interview Mr. Pattullo gave as an example of the excellent land awaiting settlement in the rich valleys of British Columbia, the tract of some 200,000 acres which the Government has available in the Stuart River district, the soil of which is splendidly adapted to mixed farming, and the title to which can be obtained, direct from the Government at prices ranging from $2.50 to $5 per acre.

Determined Movement. British Columbia has never witnessed a determined colonization movement along comprehensive lines. Spasmodic attempts have been made during the past 10 years, chiefly by speculative land companies, but the results achieved brought more harm than good. The price of lands soared beyond reason, with the result that tens of thousands of acres of the finest lands in all the Province acquired such a high, fictitious value, that genuine settlers were unable to occupy them with any hope of financial success, and those lands, selected as far back as 1907 to 1910, remain idle to this day.

Urgent Problem. There can be no doubt, therefore, that the question of increasing the number of settlers on the land in British Columbia is an urgent problem, and one which is likely to continue for years to come. Only one acre in 808 of the Province's total area is at present under the plough, or one acre in every 80 which is suitable for agriculture. Even in 1917, the big farming year, only 313,000 acres were being cultivated.

It must be borne in mind that, although the opportunities for those with some capital to go on the land in British Columbia remain great, yet there is no opening just now for the man who has neither capital nor practical knowledge, nor for the ordinary migrant who is seeking employment in an industrial or other capacity.

Aunt Jemima's Helpful Hints

Aunt Jemima will answer any questions sent in by readers of The Daily News.

Young Wife—You are not the only one that gets cold feet. Put them against your husband's back when you go to bed. Another plan is to get your mother-in-law to knit you a pair of old fashioned socks, but I know you won't do that.

Mabel writes: "Dear Aunt Jemima, I am worried about our marriage. I got confused when the pastor asked me if I would wed my sweetheart, so I stammered, 'Geo, you bet!' Is our marriage perfectly good?"

Aunt Jemima assures the little bride that her marriage is all right. I hope it will be quite happy.

Mrs. Piffle—It is not proper to applaud the visiting clergyman after he offers up a blessing upon the repeat. (2) If a guest falls under the table, allow him to remain there until the dinner is completed. Maybe he is tired.

PRINCE RUPERT

A little city circled round
By noble hills and waters clear,
Sea girt; deep founded on the rock,
She stands secure, and knows no fear.

Her people stand within her gates
And civic pride fills every breast;
'Tis but a span since first she stood
White-tented 'gainst the glowing West.

Now pregnant with inspiring hope
She glimpses great things yet to be,
And, daunted not by pessimists,
Expectant gazes out to sea.

The Orient, in future days,
Shall offer of her treasure store;
The prairies, with their golden grain,
Alike shall seek her open door.

The hinterland shall yield its wealth,
Mines of the North their tribute send;
Her future glows with rosette hues
And shall the days behind transcend.

To those who would defile and spread
Corruption with unholy glee;
Who in her midst doxyn appear
As fungus on a noble tree.

She cries, "Begone, return no more;
My gallant sons who scrupled not
To seal their sacrifice with blood,
Cleansing demand of your foul blot."

The little city by the sea
Is calling, calling, all the time,
For men of strength, and purpose firm
Whose lives will make her life sublime.

BABINE HATCHERY GETS FULL SUPPLY OF SALMON SPAWN

Despite the poor run of sockeye salmon on the Skeena River this season, the Dominion Fisheries office reports that the hatchery at Babine Lake has been filled to its capacity of 10,000,000 sockeye salmon spawn. The condition there this year is better than last.

Lakelse Lake, however, is not so good and has not been filled to its capacity which is the same as that at Babine. It is expected that cohoes and humpbacks will be admitted there, however, to fill it. Lakelse has not done so well as last year.

The Babine and Lakelse hatcheries are the only ones on the Skeena River. They were recently visited by J. F. Hutchinson, of the local Dominion Fisheries office, who was accompanied by R. Gibson, provincial constable at Port Essington.

PATTULLO TO BE HERE THURSDAY NEXT WEEK

Will Come This Way en route to Victoria for Session.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, who has been on a visit to London in the interest of the Province, is expected to arrive in Prince Rupert, Thursday of next week and will probably proceed south the following day. While in London he did a great deal of good publicity work for the province. What else he did he will probably tell later.

FOX HOLES OF VERDUN.

VERDUN, Oct. 5.—Foxes have multiplied greatly in the valley of the Meuse, and in several districts have made their holes in the deserted French and German trenches. The soldiers perhaps, had little idea when they nicknamed them "fox-holes" that that sometime real foxes would inhabit them.

"THE SCUTTLERS" IS STORY OF THE SEA

Sinking of Vessel is Shown on Screen in Big Farnum Production.

"The Scuttlers," in which William Farnum is to be seen tonight at the Westholme Theatre is an absorbing and sensational story of the sea. William Fox, the producer, must have gone to great expense to put this story on the screen. A 250-foot ship is used for most of the scenes, and this vessel is sunk far-out in the Pacific, after a series of dramatic incidents that are gripping in the extreme.

The story is that of a man who is hired to ship as a sailor in order to learn if the captain is guilty, as suspected, of scuttling his ships for the insurance. To avoid suspicion Farnum, as Jim Landers, allows himself to be shanghaied. He finds himself under a brutal first mate, and the mate at once shows that he dislikes Landers more than any one else on board. Soon Erickson, the mate, beats a boy and Landers knocks him down for which Landers is promptly put in irons. But his position is not so bad as it might be, because the captain's daughter Laura—played by Miss Jackie Saunders—comes to his aid with food and a file.

Scuttling Ship.

After Erickson has scuttled the ship, and as the water is pouring into the hold, Erickson discovers Landers. A terrific fight ensues in the hold. Erickson is killed and Landers escapes because Laura guides him to the lifeboat.

More thrills come while the survivors are on a desert island. "The Scuttlers" is not only a very entertaining picture, but very powerful drama, with a powerful actor as its hero.

James McAlenan, of Alice Arm, is in the city today on his return north. He has been in the south about a month and during the trip motored from Kamloops to the Similkameen and Okanagan valleys visiting Merrill, Princeton, Penticton, Kelowna and other towns.

COMPLEXION PARLIAMENT

Gradual Elimination of Unionist Majority by Defection and Election.

DURING DYING DAYS MARGIN WAS SMALL

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—The political complexion of the House of Commons changes with each general election, generally speaking, but often there are great changes in the party standings between the time the first session of a new Parliament opens and the end of the session which precedes dissolution. This has been the case particularly in regard to the 13th Parliament, the first session of which opened on March 18, 1918 and the last session of which closed on June 4 this year. The formation of Union Government in 1917 brought together men of all shades of former political opinions, who sunk their party feelings in the effort to bring about the best possible prosecution of the war. In subsequent sessions, however, there were many "breaks" from the government benches, and the government majority in the House diminished as first the "Cross-Benchers" and then the National Progressives broke away to form their own groups to the left of the Speaker, while other members who had been elected as supporters of Union Government left the Government benches to return to seats among the Liberals. In previous sessions this movement across the floor had not been so noticeable.

Former Standing.

At the opening of the 12th Parliament, on November 15, 1911, the Borden government, brought into power in the campaign waged on the Reciprocity Pact with the United States, had a majority of 47 members in the Commons. The standing of the parties then was, Conservatives 133, Liberal 86, and Independents 2. Those classed in the Independent column of the official records, according to their own declarations, were W. F. Maclean, (South York) and A. Verville (Maisonneuve). The first party vote in that Parliament was on the Speech from the Throne, on November 29, 1911 when the standing was:

Further Defections.

The opening of the 1921 session, on February 14, saw further defections from the government benches and one defection from the Liberal strength. F. L. Davis (Neepawa) and J. A. Campbell (Neison) sought seats among the Independents when they came into the House in 1921, to which group Major G. W. Andrews had crossed and they were joined by W. A. Buchanan also from the Government side and by L. J. Gauthier (Ste. Hyacinthe) who renounced his former associates of the Liberal party and announced that henceforth he would be independent. Hon. A. K. Maclean, who had been Minister without Portfolio in the Borden Government, had announced at the end of the 1920 session that he would, the next year, ask for a seat among the Liberals, and he sat on the Opposition side when the 1921 session opened.

The standing of the parties in the House at the close of the 1921 session was: Government 125; Liberals, 82; Progressive's 14, and Independents, 6.
Small Majorities.
 The majority of the Government on votes during the 1920 and 1921 sessions fluctuated considerably according to the issue at stake, attendance of members and also according to the attitude of the National Progressives and Independents. During the 1921 session the majority generally was in the neighborhood of from 20 to 25.
 The vote on the address in reply to the speech from the throne (1921 session) stood: Government 116; Opposition 94, a majority of 25 for the Government. There were eight pairs when this vote was taken. On the Fielding reciprocity amendment the vote was: Government 100; Opposition 79; a majority of 21. There were 32 members paired on this vote.

The westbound C.N.R. passenger train yesterday afternoon struck a horse east of Remo station and broke its leg. The train was stopped and an attempt was made to shoot the animal with a revolver. It was found impossible to kill it so a man was sent out from Remo with a larger weapon to despatch it.

Government 121; Opposition 77; a government majority of 44. Eighteen absentees were paired. The membership in the House in 1911 was 221 members, but in the Redistribution Bill of 1914, this was increased to 235.
Majority of 71.
 The War Time Election of 1917, when Union Government was returned, saw the Borden government come back into the House with a majority of 71. The standing of the parties after the election was: Government 153; Opposition 82. The Opposition figure was actually one member less, since Hon. R. Lemieux had been returned for both Maisonneuve and Gaspe. Maisonneuve election was contested and the matter was held up in the courts to such an extent that the protest had not been disposed of at the time of the dissolution of Parliament.

The Fall session of 1919, which opened on Sept. 20, however, saw a great change in the line-up of members in the House. F. F. Pardee (West Lambton) and Hon. W. S. Fielding (Shelburne and Queen's) were both elected as supporters of the Liberal benches. Hon. F. B. Carvell, another Liberal Unionist had been appointed chairman of the Railway Commission on relinquishing his portfolio of Minister of Public Works, and several members had left the government benches to form what was then known as the "Cross-Benchers" or third group in the House.
