E. Williams Deals with Political Matters in an Address Given at Terrace

At the Terrace meeting when W. E. Williams addressed the people he stated that Mr. Meighen had tried to limit the issues in the campaign to the tariff. Such limitation could not be accepted by the people. The public life of the candidates and their attitude towards public matters were always in issue. The administration of the Government was always in issue, and the policies of the Government were always in issue. The people must look into the public record of the candidate, and his record Colonel Peck must be judged, as he comes before the people of Skeena as the representative of a political party and not as a policy other than that of the party. His free trade policy has been weaker than his loyalty to the high protection Meighen government, and as for the future, Col. Peck told the people of Prince Rupert that there is a very little change in the government, whoever it is. The people of Skeena are the people of the district, and it is to himself their ideas that he should support. It is manifest Col. Peck is to support whichever party may be in power. Does the government suit you? The government has three parties to choose from: Conservatives, Progressives, and Independents. He complains of being hampered in regard to choice. His difficulty is that he does not know which party will win. He considers it wiser to play it safe and wait until the victory is before he affiliates with any party. The Colonel is also playing for the advantage of the voters from all different parties to elect him, and he considers it wise to be too definite in election, but remember election he may attribute to the Melchettites, or the Greerites. The voters would be the most attached, as he has invited them loyally and with the Meighen Government. It was dissolved (continued on Page Seven)

ASKS ENQUIRY INTO DISASTER

North Vancouver Member Submits Resolution Which Will be Charged by Bowser.

VICTORIA, Nov. 10.—George Haues, member for North Vancouver, yesterday asked the Legislature to demand an investigation into the Britannia flood disaster by a competent engineer to ascertain if the construction of the railway embankment, which started the flood, was not so constructed as to constitute a criminal offense in the persons responsible. The Premier said he thought the coroner and the court of justice should settle the matter. The debate was adjourned on motion of W. J. Bowser, who said a compromise resolution would be drafted.

"Let every true Canadian man woman and child consider it a sacred obligation to wear the bright red poppy on Armistice Day. It will serve to hold and preserve the link of affection between the two sister countries, France and Canada, at the same time help the poor child martyrs, alleviate the distress in our own midst, and also keep alive the memory of those who brought back honor to their country, glory to their flag and peace to the world," said Madame Blanche Berneron, representative of the Child's League of Paris, when interviewed at Victoria.

INVESTIGATION SHOWS JAPAN IS ARMING TO THE TEETH.

Upper left, Japanese siege gun; upper right, Japanese army in training; lower left, one of Japan's largest shipyards; lower right, Louis Siebold. Evidence that Japan is arming to the teeth, that her military and naval preparations are progressing to such an extent as to become an actual menace to the world, is furnished by Louis Siebold, a newspaper writer of international reputation, who has just returned from the Orient, after a thorough investigation of the situation in the Far East for The New York Herald. The result of his investigations are now appearing in a series of articles published in The New York Herald and many other newspapers throughout the country. These articles have also been cabled to Europe, where they have caused a profound impression. Territorial expansion, as well as military and naval expansion, is also the Japanese programme in fulfillment of her imperialistic policies. All this, in view of the impending conference in Washington to consider trans-Pacific affairs and the limitation of armaments, adds a peculiar interest to these articles.

Better Prospect Than Ever Of an Irish Settlement Says Premier: Going to Conference

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Lloyd George in a speech at the Guildhall at the annual Lord Mayor's banquet stated that there was better prospect than ever that Ireland would accept Britain's invitation to enter into the free partnership of nations of the Empire. The Premier said further than that he could not reveal the secrets of the conference.

Lloyd George spoke appreciatively of the Washington conference as a rainbow in the sky of nations still competing for destructive armaments. He hoped the Washington conference would bring about between all nations the same unbreakable peace that existed between Great Britain and the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—A despatch received by President Harding from Premier Lloyd George expresses keen regret and disappointment at being compelled to postpone his departure, but saying he was convinced that he will be in Washington before the deciding stages of the conference. Only the infamously delicate state of the Irish negotiations and the obligation to see them through, in addition to matters pertaining to unemployment which had to be dealt with, kept him from being present at the opening.

SHARKEY FIGHTS BUFF AT NEW YORK TONIGHT 15 ROUNDS

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Johnny Buff will defend the bantam-weight title against Jack Sharkey tonight in a 15-round bout. Buff is considered to be a better boxer than Sharkey. BRITISH FINANCE SHOWS SURPLUS IS LOST BY STRIKE

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, informed the House of Commons in presenting the budget that the visible surplus of £97,000,000 had been swallowed up as the result of the coal strike and payments to the railways on the cessation of government control. To provide for the sinking fund would require the borrowing of £8,000,000, involving no deficit to the present budget.

ULSTER SAYS NO SURRENDER

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The Ulster cabinet is firm in regard to its attitude over the negotiations in progress between the Sinn Fein and Lloyd George. In a statement issued after this morning's session was concluded, the following passage occurs: "Sir James Craig on behalf of the cabinet of Northern Ireland, wishes it clearly understood that there can be no surrender of Ulster's rights."

FISHING INDUSTRY AT ALBERNI THRIVES

PORT ALBERNI, Nov. 10.—The Port Alberni fishing industry has been revived and the Watson Brothers are busy at their plant salting herring. ROTARY CLUB HEARS ABOUT WEST INDIES

Dr. Stafford, representing the Island of Jamaica, West Indies, who is here on a government mission, addressed the Rotary Club today and urged upon the members the desirability of getting better acquainted with the island. He told of the way in which Canadians were already going there for business. Twenty locomotives were already in use there made in Canada, and many tourists visited the point.

"It is a Garden of Eden," he declared, "and many of the people dress just as they did in Eden." He urged that by getting to know each other better we should encourage business and closer political relations would be an advantage. He extended a general invitation to visit Jamaica and to enjoy its beautiful climate and scenery. There they would find British hospitality. People from that country could not afford to come to Canada, but Canadians should visit them. Dr. Stafford is a Canadian who went to live in the Indies. He was formerly a schoolfellow of G. A. McNicol of this city.

PAY INTEREST UNITED STATES

Chancellor of Exchequer Says Will Commence with £50,000,000 a Year.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—An arrangement has been made to begin paying interest on the debt of Great Britain to the United States at the rate of £50,000,000 yearly, Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer announced in the House of Commons yesterday. He added with emphasis, "I hope this remark about the debt we owe the United States will not be made the occasion for any discussion of allied indebtedness. It does not conduce to the friendliness of nations, particularly to the relations between United States and ourselves to discuss that matter at all at the present time."

SIGNING CREW OF BRITISHER

Vessel Had Very Successful Trial Yesterday, Averaging Speed of 13.6 Knots.

COMPLETE SATURDAY.

The Canadian Britisher had her trial trips yesterday and they were a complete success. The engines worked extremely well and a speed of 13.6 was averaged in going four times over an eight mile course. Capt. McCoskie was on the bridge and Capt. Eddie of Vancouver took charge of the compass adjustment.

The vessel will be taken over by the Government probably on Saturday. A few small jobs have to be completed and it is expected these will be finished up by the week-end.

This afternoon the full crew is being signed on. The Captain says he will sign on all local men, many of whom are from the shipyards. He will leave for Vancouver as soon as possible and will load there for Japan.

The list of officers has already been published.

Peace Hath Her Victories No Less Renowned Than War.

The question for the electors of Skeena seriously to consider is whether we are to spend most of our time in retrospective contemplation of war or in preparation for the victories of peace. The former Liberal administration had a lofty conception of the destinies of Canada. It was an article of Liberal belief that Canada could not fulfill her destinies without widening the area of settlement between the American frontier on the south and the Arctic Circle. Study was given to the subject, which resulted in the design of a railway that should connect by the shortest route not only the Atlantic with the Pacific but Western Europe with Eastern Asia.

The administration that formed the design commenced its realization by constructing the road and bringing into modern life Northern Canada. In British Columbia from Yellowstone Pass to the coast activity prevailed. That portion of the great design as well as eastern portions was realized with enthusiastic eagerness. Prince Rupert sprang into existence with greater promise and hope than any city on the Pacific Coast. An immense country was opened up for development in the interior. The riches of Asia lay before it beyond the Pacific, and the shortest route was prepared for traffic from London to Peking. It was a noble conception—large, reasonable, patriotic, national and imperial. Everything was going well.

Turn in Tide With Change in Government.

Then came the election of 1911 and the defeat of the Liberals. Men came into power who regarded the new enterprise with narrow hostility, with party enmity and party pettiness. Hon. Arthur Meighen says, as Mr. Congdon reminds us, that the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway was a baby left on the doorstep of the new administration by the former Liberal administration. That is true. But consider what a healthy, lusty, strong and promising baby it was. What great hopes were entertained of its great growth and splendid future. It needed still some nourishment and generous sympathy. None of these were given the babe. It was not only neglected; it was deliberately and foully misused. The party of littleness and meanness plotted and schemed to kill the child of Liberal hope and promise. All development was arrested. Before the war the chief endeavor of the new Government was to show that the child was bastard and should never have been born. During the war its existence was ignored save when vital organs were ruthlessly and needlessly wrenched from its body.

The railway got no transcontinental work during the war, either in transportation of troops or carriage of munitions or other material of war. Thousands of tons of freight glutted the wharves and warehouses of Vancouver awaiting transportation to Siberia, and at the same time Prince Rupert, the most convenient port for conveyance of such freight, was forgotten. The Grand Trunk Pacific was ignored. The finest dry dock on the coast was wholly forgotten. Places for shipbuilding were sought far and near. Prince Rupert's dock lay idle, forgotten by a hostile administration, neglected by its mean party spirit.

Now at last the Government that has done all this wrong has been forged to appeal to the country and Colonel Peck expects the country to forget the injuries and insults it has suffered from the Government he supported.

This Government is the one that the Colonel characterizes as the most honest Government he has known, or words to that effect. This is the Government and party which Mackenzie King says organized greed kept in power for the past sixteen months without any authority from the people of Canada. This is the Government that will disappear from the face of the earth directly after the will of the electors has been declared on December 6.

The Man in the Moon SAYS--

WE don't know very much, but we do know that there will be a lot of people disappointed on the evening of election day.

FOR others there will be a happy release from the trials and tribulations.

THE happiest person in the newspaper business is the one who retails them to customers on the street.

'TIS better to have loved and lost and then to have loved again than to have remained an old bachelor with the blues and the rheumatics.

THE interesting thing about a woman is what her dress is trimmed with, and the most interesting thing about a man is what his pocketbook is trimmed with.

YOU judge a man by the hour at which he comes home.

THE most interesting time in the life of a newspaper man is when the chronic kicker comes to the office and wants his name kept out of the police court records.

YES, life is worth living sometimes!

WOMEN who spend all their time at afternoon teas cannot understand why men should want dinner.

WE all know the law of gravitation is true, because we have seen how the men fall for the pretty girls.

GOOD jokes never grow old. And we have known some bad people live to a ripe old age and keep young most of the time.

WHAT made the dance last night seem, oh, so delightful? 'Twas just because the light made her rival so frightful.

JUDGING by the fun people are getting out of life no one would suspect that there was a political campaign in full swing.

ELKS OPENED NEW CLUB ROOMS

Seventeen New Members Admitted on Occasion of Occupying New Premises.

ENJOYABLE EVENT

Dance Follows Business Session in Which Ladies of Royal Purge Join.

The opening of the new Elks' Home last night was celebrated by the admission of seventeen new members to the local lodge and by a dance for the members, their wives and daughters and lady friends including the ladies of the Royal Purple. It was a most enjoyable and notable event. The visitors inspected the club rooms and many were the congratulatory remarks of those present.

The club rooms consist of a spacious lodge room, probably the finest in the city, kitchen, dressing rooms, regalia rooms and a gallery for orchestra and spectators. In addition to that there is a billiard room and buffet with two billiard tables and a large reading room as well as card rooms. While the work of furnishing is not yet complete, it is progressing well and very soon the club will have a fine home.

Committees in Charge.

At the meeting last night a house committee was appointed to have charge of the club rooms. This committee consists of Ben Self, chairman; W. E. Thompson and W. J. Cash.

The affair last night was in charge of a committee consisting of Fred Roberge, Art. Eason, Robert Arthur, Sr., George Richmond, W. Balagno, Harry Atkins and J. H. McLeod. Excellent music was provided by the Elks Orchestra, consisting of Charles Balagno, leader, William Balagno, Howard White, Art Eason, Bob Brown and R. Greenfield, while R. Lepine was master of ceremonies.

In a waltzing competition the prizes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. E. Green. These were a pair of white silk dancing slippers donated by Jabour Bros. and a pair of men's dancing slippers donated by the Universal Trading Co. The judges for this event were Dr. Grant, Mrs. Lepine and Mrs. Spencer.

Refreshments were served shortly after midnight in the big hall, small tables being used around the outside of the room. At the close of supper the master of ceremonies introduced Carl Thompson as the baby Elk.

Presentation.

Just before breaking up Dr. Grant was presented on behalf of some of the boys with a fine meerschaum pipe. The presentation was made by W. J. Cash, exalted ruler of the lodge, who in a short speech, referred to the value of the lodge of such a man as Dr. Grant. A suitable reply followed in which the members were urged to insure harmony and continuity by forgetting themselves and trying to please others. It was two o'clock when the National Anthem was sung and the party dispersed.

MAYOR'S REQUEST.

I would respectfully request that all citizens observe the two-minute armistice at 11 o'clock on November 11, to commemorate the Anniversary of the actual close of warfare on the Western Front. Also that everybody wear a poppy on "Poppy Day," Saturday, November 12, thereby honoring the dead.

Every poppy sold will bring some comfort to the sufferers in the war-ravaged districts of France. It has been said: "A prayer of blessing upon the wearer is breathed into each poppy by the women and children engaged in the work."

Buy a poppy and thus share in that blessing.

Waltham Watchwords

Saving Daylight

A GOOD deal of daylight is lost because of people not being absolutely sure what the time is. If you want to keep an appointment at 8:45 it's mighty confusing when the kitchen clock says 8:05, the living-room time-piece registers 8:32 and your watch declares it to be 8:14. If you get there too early you lose time. If you're late the other man blames you for losing his time. Uncertainty means loss of time all round. The best thing to do is to carry a Waltham. Because of its unflinching accuracy a Waltham Watch is one of the best devices in the world for saving daylight.

Waltham Watches in a great variety of styles for ladies and gentlemen always in stock. Prices from $25.00 upward.

Congdon Addresses People of Terrace on Political Issues of the Campaign

F. T. Congdon, Liberal nominee for the forthcoming federal election in Yukon, and W. E. Williams of this city made stirring addresses to an enthusiastic audience at the meeting held in Terrace on Monday night in the interests of Fred Stork. L. H. Kenney was chairman.

Mr. Congdon began by saying that he felt greatly at home at Terrace because he found in the chair a gentleman whom he had met in 1917 at Seaford, England, and who was a native of Shelburne County, Nova Scotia, which the speaker had the honor of contesting in the federal election as far back as 1888. He spoke of the high character and intelligence of the people of that county and mentioned the fact that the mother of John Howard Payne, the author of "Home, Sweet Home," became a widow and married a Captain Nickerson and was buried in the Barrington churchyard after having become the mother of a large number of young Nickersons. She must have been a wonderful woman, for wherever one found a trace of her blood, as one does among the Nickersons, Smiths and Kennys, one finds great qualities. One of her descendants was not only one of the greatest linguists but one of the highest scholars of the Dominion. Mr. Congdon also remarked on the fine representation of old Yukoners at Terrace. Their sojourn in that land had created a kinship only equalled by that of the splendid clan of the Scotch which all knew and admired.

The Big Question.
Proceeding to election issues, Mr. Congdon submitted the question: "Do you wish to retain in power the present government or not?" If they wished to retain the government then they should vote for Col. Peck, of whom as a gentleman and soldier he would speak no word of disrespect. If the electors wished to defeat the government then they should vote for Fred Stork, who would not only help to defeat the government but would assist the new government in realizing the ambition of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberal Government which was defeated in 1914, to open up Northern Canada by making not only a real trans-continental railway but by making available the shortest possible route of travel from Eastern Europe to Western Asia by steamship lines at each end of the road.

As soon as the present government came into power it began to kill the project, not alone by neglect but by foul abuse. The premier spoke of the Grand Trunk Pacific as a baby left by the former administration upon the doorstep of the new. It was true that the baby was left as alleged but what a fine baby it was, requiring only care and attention to develop into a healthy, active and useful life. The big conception had fallen into the hands of small men who had converted a magnificent trans-continental line into a series of local trains, had made of the Prince Rupert end a mere fish spur and had failed cheerfully to supply the requisite cars for fish transportation.

No Ships From Port.
Ships of the Canadian Merchant Marine were lying idle in ports but none of them sailed from Prince Rupert. Even the trans-continental time table omitted mention of Prince Rupert on its front pages. A through sleeper could not be obtained from Quebec to Prince Rupert of Vancouver but one had to change at Cochrane and again at Winnipeg. What sort of a way was that to run the line in competition with the Canadian Pacific Railway? The region to develop in British Columbia was surely along the lines of the great railways where business would have ready transportation and the railways would have the advantage of thriving business. There ought to be union and harmony between the federal, provincial, civic and municipal governments with this end in view and the promotion of the best interests. The federal government had given no assistance although the working operators of the Canadian National Railways were of the best type. The management was extravagant and absurdly incompetent.

Liberal Program.
The Liberals returned to power would at once make their best endeavors to realize the great conception of the old chief and create for him a worthy monument in a fine trans-continental road passing through a prosperous country and terminating in active and rapidly developing ports in and out of which would pass rich cargoes from and to all parts of the world. This could be done but it could not be done by appointing a doctor of medicine like Dr. Reid to run the railways in office a board of directors filled with gentlemen who were members of countless interlocking directorates and who would not submit their accounts to public audit, who would not tell the people how the railways were run or give any information as to the enormous deficits created.

The Tariff.
Mr. Congdon also discussed the tariff and its operation, pointing out that the government policy was to protect the manufacturers and let the rest of the people protect themselves. The Liberal policy was to encourage in the best fashion the creation of industries, place them in a position to take root and help them flourish at the same time protecting the people from the exactions made possible by a tariff. This had been done under the old Liberal government and it could be done again by a new Liberal government. This had been totally disregarded by the present government as witnessed by the letter of James Muddock to the minister on resigning and as witnessed by the action of the Board of Commerce as late as October, 1920, when it raised a storm by fixing the price of sugar at 21c and compelling purchase from Canadian refiners when sugar was selling in the United States for 13c a pound.

Honesty and Independence.
The speaker said that he found it difficult to understand the position of Col. Peck. He was reported as saying that the present government was the most honest government since Confederation. This was an absurd statement and one that would cause one to wonder why Col. Peck deserted the government after dissolution. Was it too honest for him? God forbid! But why not stand by men who compose a phenomenally honest government. The conclusion must be that Col. Peck knew little of the deeds of the Government or he would never have styled it honest. It was strange to see a man deserting an honest government merely because it was in adversity. The speaker also discussed Col. Peck's independence and the emotional gruel he was dispensing to the constituency. A man was independent who would, in the House and in the country, take on every question the side he deemed right without regard to party. He was not independent simply because he said he will support the party that wins. That was not independence. "When I was young that was called trimming, and was properly despised."

Aided by Tolmie.
"But let us analyze further," said the speaker, "this independence of the gallant Colonel. We find him backed by the Conservative party who hope, if he is elected, to keep all the plums, whether the Government wins or loses. We find Dr. Tolmie, a minister of this Government, going through the constituency to help the Colonel, probably for the assistance Colonel Peck gave him in Victoria in defeating Mr. Barnard, a returned soldier. We must support returned soldiers? Have they no call upon the support of colonels but only colonels on returned soldiers?"

The papers in this constituency contain undignified advertisements telling us at so much a line what a great man Premier

In the Letter Box

IN ANSWER TO FREEMAN.

Editor The Daily News:
Now that the fray is waxing so warm that even that crusty old Conservative, Captain Freeman, is drawn into the vortex and has publicly announced in your columns his support of Col. Peck, although the Colonel has publicly stated that he is convinced Liberal and free trader, one may perhaps be pardoned for making some observations on the peculiar condition with which we are confronted. And I may say that I used the prefix "crusty" after considerable thought whether it or "crusy" would be the better term.

Capt. Freeman's argument seems to be that because Col. Peck was returned before and did the best possible for his constituents, that he should be returned again—a typically Conservative idea. But from Col. Peck's speeches it seems he has no hope of any reform, in fact that both Liberals and Conservatives are equally bad and that he is the proper person to make the best of a bad job. Pessimism of this kind is scarcely what we want in Prince Rupert which would certainly be better served by an optimist who will hustle.

I think you will agree with me that Capt. Freeman's reference to patronage is not well advised. Capt. Freeman can scarcely expect the coming Liberal and Progressive Government to bestow patronage on its opponents. What its supporters expect and what they will insist on, is that ability will be recognized and that the plums will not go to mere party bowlers.

SUING G. T. P. ON CHARGE OF NEGLIGENCE

EDMONTON, Nov. 8.—Alleging that the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway negligently allowed a fire from their engines to spread and burn down a shack and all their furniture, which was stored in it at Gairford, William Kynock, John R. Kynock, Margaret Kynock and A. S. Matheson have entered civil action against the company in the Supreme Court and are suing for the sum of $3000.

The case came to trial before Chief Justice Harvey and jury on Monday morning, with Gerald Pelton acting for the plaintiffs and Short, Cross & McLean for the defendant railway and the following jurors taking the evidence: Richard R. Askew, Edmonton; O. J. Elder, Wainwright; Harry Brake, Edmonton; Samuel Nicholls, Edmonton; E. Rodgers, Taffield and Peter Boyle, Edmonton.

Furniture Burned.

According to the claim of the plaintiffs, they freighted their furniture to Gairford, where they had taken up land and had intended to settle. There were no provisions at the railway siding for the storing of freight and they secured a shack across the track nearby the station and several days afterwards while they were away they allege that a fire started from two of the engines of the company, spread and consumed the shack and the contents. They charge negligence on the part of the company and its servants in not taking the usual necessary precautions to prevent the spread of fire. They propose calling eye-witnesses of the fire to establish their claim.

PARTY ATE HORSE SERVED AT BANQUET

Why pay freight and carriage charges on Alberta horse meat to Belgium or France or some other foreign place when there will be plenty of the Albertans in the southern part of the province who will be hungry before the winter is over, says the Edmonton Bulletin in a recent issue. For many a long year the honorable minister of agricul-

Was Troubled With Her Stomach For Five Years

Mrs. Samuel Ward, Milldale, Sask., writes: "I feel that I must write to you before another day passes I am so happy and so grateful to your splendid medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, for after an illness of five years I am better. I had stomach trouble so bad, I could not bear the smell or taste of food of any kind, and got so thin and weak I could not work. I had four doctors attend me, but they did me no good. I was in no pain, but felt so ill, at times, I thought I would die. In fact, all my friends were sure I could not live many months. This time last year I saw where a man was relieved of stomach trouble by Burdock Blood Bitters, so my husband got me two bottles, but I had no faith in it after all the different medicines I had taken, however he insisted, and after the first two days I must say I began to feel better, and after the first bottle I felt so much better I went out a little every day, but could not go alone I was so weak, but I soon got so I could walk and eat, and have got quite stout. I am nearly seventy years of age and I feel better than I have for years, and can do all my housework. You may make use of this letter if you wish, as it may be the means of making others as well and as happy as I am." B. B. B. is manufactured only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ture, Hon. George Hoadley, has been interested in the profitable disposal of the small horses that are eating up the grass on the Alberta ranges and it has come to him, that if Belgians and others are sufficiently anxious to get our horses, they will pay good money for them and why should Southern Alberta go hungry for meat when the ranges are full of this stock, undesirable as beast of burden, but quite good for table use. So a night or two ago before Mr. Hoadley left for the East he had a dinner party at the King Edward Hotel, the piece de resistance being a delicious steak from the hind leg of a horse. The members of the farmers' governing board gathered round the festive board and all have passed on the horse steak as good. Score two for Hon. George Hoadley.
