LLOYD GEORGE RESIGNS FROM PREMIERSHIP

ANDREW BONAR LAW AGREES TO TAKE TASK OF FORMING NEW MINISTRY

British Politics Thrown Into Confusion by Today's Breaking Up of Long Standing Coalition

LONDON, Oct. 19. — The government of Premier David Lloyd George resigned this afternoon. The coalition government received its death blow at the hands of the Conservative party when Conservative members of the House of Commons and government ministers at their meeting in the Carlton Club today voted by 186 to 87 to appeal to the country as a Conservative party. Thus a situation of the greatest political confusion is brought about and one of greater uncertainty than has been known for years.

Announcement Made
The resignation of Premier Lloyd George was officially announced this evening and also that of Viscount Peel, secretary of state for India.

After a brief audience with King George this afternoon, Lloyd George returned to Downing Street where he received a miners' delegation. According to Frank Hodges, who headed the delegation, Lloyd George said he would not consult with them as prime minister since he had resigned. Members of the delegation said that Lloyd George told them the King had accepted his resignation.

General Election
It is expected that either Andrew Bonar Law or the Earl of Derby will be selected as the new Conservative leader.

The life of the new Conservative ministry, it is expected, will be very brief and present forecasts are that a general election will closely follow its formation. The party lines on which the election will be fought are at present a profound puzzle. One suggestion that Lloyd George may form a centre party in which he could count on Austen Chamberlain, Lord Birkhead and perhaps the Earl of Balfour, the three cabinet ministers whose adherence to him was repudiated by today's conference. This new party, it is suggested, would probably command the support of a goodly proportion of Conservatives who stood by the coalition and also of coalition Liberals. This formation might put Labor in the position of the chief party.

The possibility that Lloyd George may return to the Liberal party leadership is also not to be overlooked.

Bonar Law's health is such that it is not believed he will take office even for a short time. Lord Derby seems to be the most probable alternate selection for prime minister.

Back to Parties
The general result of today's collapse of the coalition promises to be, after a period of upheaval the length of which it is difficult to predict, the reversion of Great Britain to the traditional system of government on strict party lines.

VLADIVOSTOCK IN DISORDER

City is in State of Lawlessness as Reds Approach

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Lawlessness reigns in Vladivostok as a result of the approach of the victorious Red Army. Official despatches say that the French consulate was attacked yesterday and that foreigners appealed to their governments for protection.

other statesmen who guided great nations through the World War. In the turmoil of readjustment which followed the conflict he kept his seat at the steering wheel when all around him were losing theirs. He was the only one of the "Big Four" who had not toppled over. Orlando, of Italy, Clemenceau, of France, and Wilson, of the United States were all cast aside but Lloyd George remained.

Lloyd George was born at Manchester on January 17, 1863. Today's Meeting
At today's meeting, Austen Chamberlain was given a patient hearing but his position appeared to be plainly unpopular. Balfour spoke in support of the government leader while Bonar Law's plea for the preventing of a breaking up of the government is said to have made a profound sensation. Several of the Unionist junior members of the cabinet resigned immediately after the Unionist meeting.

London News Announces That Canadian Statesman Accepts Call to Head New Government

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Andrew Bonar Law has consented to form a ministry in succession to Premier Lloyd George, the Evening News says. The King summoned Bonar Law asking him to undertake the task and he complied, the newspaper says.

Andrew Bonar Law, "the man who refused a King's offer to make him a premier," has for more than 20 years exerted a powerful influence in British politics. As Chancellor of the Exchequer and one of the five members of the Lloyd George Coalition Government during the war, the House of Commons on two occasions voted him budgets of $3,500,000,000 and $3,250,000,000, the largest in the financial history of England.

A statesman with few political enemies, Bonar Law's career has been singular. He did not enter politics until he was 42 years old. A successful Glasgow iron merchant who had been born and educated in Canada, his rise to eminence in the British parliament began with his election in 1900 as a Unionist from the Blackfriars Division of Glasgow. Strong for tariff reform he became noted for his clear reasoning on that subject and was soon made Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade. Later he successively became leader of the Unionist or Opposition party in the House of Commons, Secretary of State for the Colonies, a member of the Lloyd George Coalition War Cabinet, Chancellor of the Exchequer and, finally, Lord of the Peivy Seal.

A Business Man
Primarily a business man, he has employed the tactics of business rather than the strategy of politics in dealing with national problems. Leader of the Unionist opposition in the House of Commons in 1911 to 1915, it was Bonar Law who, at the outset of the war, proclaimed a party truce. Military reverses in the

Prince Rupert Boys had Interesting Experiences Driving Cattle to Mayo

Had to Cross Three Big Rivers and Bears often Frightened the Herd; Horses Fell into River; Snowstorm in August

To drive 49 head of cattle 300 miles over a bad trail is no easy task in a wild country like the Yukon but to induce those cattle to swim across three separate rivers and to get them across safely, delivering them intact at the end of the journey is the task that two Prince Rupert men, Red Davidson and Murray Stephens accomplished this autumn. Incidentally they were caught in a blinding snowstorm and had difficulty in negotiating the trail at times owing to the prevalence of bears, whose scent upset the packhorses and irritated the cattle, making them bolt from the trail so that it was difficult to get them back.

Into Mayo
Davidson, Stephens and three others contracted with the P. Burns Company to drive the cattle into Mayo, a distance of approximately 300 miles, and left Whitehorse on August 17. The journey took them over the government trail as far as Minto and from Minto over the survey line to Mayo. Five drivers were in the party who took with them the necessary pack horses for the carrying of blankets and provisions.

The cattle had to be driven across the Yukon river at Yukon Crossing, the Pelly River and the Stewart River. At these points the party was compelled to cut down trees and make trails to which several of the cattle were tied and forced into the stream for the purpose of inducing the others to cross. The somewhat dangerous crossings were made without mishap.

Fall Into River
At Mile 27 on the Stewart River the pack horses carrying the blankets and provisions, owing to the dangerous nature of the trail, fell into the river and were only recovered with great difficulty. This misfortune meant that the party had no sleep for three nights and during those days had only five meals and those of flapjacks.

Snow in August
From Yukon Crossing to Crooked Creek the thermometer dropped to 6 degrees below zero on August 28 and a blinding snowstorm raged. It was only after suffering many hardships that the party together with their 49 head of cattle safely reached Mayo on October 12.

Red Davidson, Murray Stephens and Geo. Tite, junior, left Prince Rupert for Whitehorse on June 2 last. Upon arrival they worked in Whitehorse for a month in the shipyards, on the new canyon bridge and then on the Wahta barge, a cold storage barge shipped to Mayo with 50 tons of meat.

From Whitehorse Davidson and Stephens took a job on the steamer Casca to Dawson returning from that point to Whitehorse.

Geo. Tite, junior, worked on the gasboat Neecheah upon arrival in Whitehorse, which was the first boat of the season to go down the Yukon River for the White Pass Company. He then went to Mayo and worked there during the summer.

The party returned to the city yesterday afternoon on the G.P.R. steamer Princess Mary. Mr. Davidson has brought out a very interesting bunch of snapshots with him, one of which is a very clear snap of aviator Peat

CIVIC RULERS OF VICTORIA ARE INVOLVED

Mayor and Several Members of Council Charged With Indictable Offense

ISSUED CHECK ILLEGALLY

VICTORIA, Oct. 19.—An inc formation was laid yesterday by George Morphy, secretary of the newly formed taxpayers' association, against Mayor Marchant and Aldermen Eugene S. Woodward, David Leeming, and Richard W. Perry alleging that they have committed an indictable offense by disobeying the statutes and issuing a check for $100 to Police Commissioner W. E. Staneland under a voucher reading "Expenses to New York."

On August 21 the city council by resolution refused to pay police commissioner Staneland any part of his expenses to attend the convention of police chiefs in New York.

UNEMPLOYED OFF TO COAST

Men Are Leaving Prairies And Trekking Toward Vancouver

VICTORIA, Oct. 19.—The first touch of frosty weather on the prairies sent the unattached men, encumbering over the mountains into British Columbia where it is not so cold during the winter months, according to reports of the labor bureau here. From Prince George and Revelstoke come similar reports. There is a great trek coastwards. Even Fernie reports that men are going through there bound this way at the average rate of thirty a day. Government employment agents meet these men and ask them whether they want work. The reply is always "no" and they add that they are going to Vancouver to spend the winter.

Talking Politics Is All Right.

It is all right to talk politics. Politics is the science of Government and to talk about methods and manner of governing the country is a most estimable thing.

Just now for the next two or three months we shall be talking about city government. That is talking politics. Some people think we should have less politics, but what we need is more politics.

The man who is the best politician is the best mayor. He makes an intensive study of civic affairs. He visits other cities and studies their methods. He reads about municipal problems and he studies most particularly how to get value for the money expended.

Why Not All Discuss Our Problems?

Why do not the various clubs and organizations take up some of these municipal, provincial and national problems and thrash them out. The farmers on the prairies are about to do that.

That proportional representation should be adopted in provincial elections.

That direct taxation should be substituted for indirect. That the sales tax should be abolished.

That the Dominion of Canada establish a national bank. That the Senate should be abolished.

That there should be perfect legal equality of the sexes and a social equality.

That grain should be marketed through the farmers' own companies.

That land be the basis for all taxation. That income is the only proper basis for taxation but that income derived from land in rural districts be exempt.

That licenses be used as a temporary basis for revenue. That all taxes in the municipalities be collected by the municipality and the provincial governments levy according to the value of the land.

Civic Problems Are Numerous.

The farmers in their program did not touch very much on civic problems because few of them live in the cities. There are, however, a lot of problems that might well be taken up such as unemployment relief and the duties of the state in regard to the unemployed; contract versus day labor on civic work; land taxation of improvements; the duty of the city in providing for esthetic education and culture; the value of higher education; the value of training young people to work with the hands; the training of children; the duty of the citizen to the city, the province and the country; the place of religion in the community; housing problems; the inalienable rights of the individual; the right to work and the right to eat; laziness and deterioration; loyalty to the family, the city, the province, the country and the empire; the psychology of a small town; the evils of gossip; amusements and their effect on old and young; the value of athletics; the need of a well balanced life; the social value of the church and lodge.

These subjects get away sometimes from the civic idea but most of them have an effect direct or indirect on the lives of the people here. We devote so much of our time to the problems of getting on in the world, financially, that we often neglect the consideration of the broader problems of life, especially in relation to the lives of our fellows.

S.S. PRINCESS MARY WAS MUCH DELAYED

Arrived Yesterday Afternoon 24 Hours Overdue With Passengers From Yukon

The C.P.R. steamer Princess Mary, Capt. S. H. Ormiston, arrived in port at 2.45 yesterday afternoon with 210 passengers from the Yukon territory, being 24 hours overdue. A thick fog was encountered between Skagway and Juneau and the unloading of a heavy cargo of coal at Skagway delayed her considerably.

With the closing of navigation on the Yukon river the officials and crews of the river steamers are returning south for the winter months.

The Princess Mary cleared port at 4.15 yesterday afternoon for Vancouver.

History of Artists

Count Olen Clotild Scheda taught music for seven years in the Imperial Conservatory of Music, St. Petersburg, and since the age of three has appeared before the public in all parts of the world.

When only twelve years of age he made his debut at the "Harmonie Saecle" in Vienna and created a sensation with his violin by the marvellous interpretation of the works he played. His tone his powerful and his bowing is unique in which he has no imitators. In 1914 he appeared by Royal command before His Majesty King George at the Albert Hall, London, having been chosen for this occasion from 1,000 artists. He was knighted by the former King of Saxony

RED MOUNTAIN

When this property was acquired in 1915 by Mr. George Wingfield and his associates in the Goldfield Consolidated Mines Company, it had been opened only to a depth of 200 feet, it had not established earning record and ore reserves were confined to blocks above the 200 foot level.

During the administration of Mr. Wingfield, from 1916 to 1918, the vein was proven to a depth of 500 feet and for a length of 950 feet, more than trebling the visible ore. Little of this ore has been extracted. Today the company has power and milling facilities adequate to show profits from these added ore reserves for years to come.

It would appear reasonable that if Boundary Red Mountain, in the prospect stage, was good enough to enlist the interest of this multi-millionaire mine operator, that it is deserving of your present consideration under vastly more favorable conditions.

Canadian by Birth
Bonar Law was born in New Brunswick, Canada, on September 16, 1858, the son of the Rev. James Law, M.A., of New Brunswick. In early youth he was taken to Glasgow where he attended high school and finally became bookkeeper for an iron firm. Later he was made a member of the concern and when he retired from business to enter politics was one of the biggest iron merchants of Scotland. Golf and chess are his favorite recreations.

Nine years before his election to Parliament he married Miss Annie Pitcairn Robley of Glasgow who died in 1909. Four children were born to them, two sons and two daughters. One daughter Isabelle, became the bride of Sir General Frederick Sles in London in 1920. Two sons, Anthony and Lieutenant C. T. Bonar Law were lost in the war.

True Bill Found in Case of Rex vs. McEachern For Shooting

DISTRICT COMPLIMENTED

Absence of Crime in North is Mentioned by Mr. Justice Murphy

At the opening of the Assize Court this morning, presided over by Mr. Justice Murphy, the only criminal case was that of Rex vs. McEachern, in which a true bill was found by the grand jury.

Stanley E. Parker was chosen as foreman, the other jurymen being Harry Atkins, butcher; James D. Allen, merchant; A. E. Bazell-Jones, mechanical engineer; D. McD. Hunter, insurance agent; Herbert Hampton, clerk; Harry R. Love, machinist; Michael McNeil, carpenter; Geo. W. Nielson, broker; James G. Steen, plumber; W. Sibbald, contractor; Douglas Sutherland, broker; J. H. Thompson, merchant.

In addressing the grand jury Mr. Justice Murphy said he took pleasure in complimenting the jurymen and the community generally on the fact that there was only one criminal case at the Fall assizes, which fact he said spoke well for the City of Prince Rupert and the northern part of the province. He said that, while there was only one indictment on the docket at the present time, he had been notified that another criminal case would come before them next week.

Smithers' Case
The case of Rex vs. Duralis, a case of indecent assault, is being sent down from Smithers tomorrow for trial at the present assizes which will proceed with on Monday.

The grand jury brought in a true bill in the case of Rex vs. McEachern.

McEachern was one of the hands on the whaler White. While his boat was at Massett on August 24 last it is alleged, he went ashore and became intoxicated. Returning aboard the boat he went to the bridge and abused Captain Anderson, who slapped his face and ordered him below. McEachern is charged then obtained possession of an army rifle and returned to the deck shooting at Mr. Matthews, the mate. The bullet tore along the officer's scalp and through the smokestack of the ship. Accused then jumped overboard but was picked up by Capt. Anderson, who launched a boat, and handed him over to the police.

The court was adjourned until tomorrow morning when the petit jury will be selected and sworn from the following, and the trial of the McEachern case will proceed:

Harry E. Astoria, chauffeur; Olier Besner, hotel keeper; Roi E. Farnes, carpenter; Sidney A. Bird, carpenter; Meth. Davies, engineer; Robert L. Dunnean, carpenter; Lindsay L. Eby, carpenter; John A. Edwards, insurance agent; John W. Moorehouse, fireman; Ernest A. Morgan, warehouseman; Najeb Mussallem, merchant; John McKechnie, carpenter; Thomas A. Roy, hotel-keeper; Wm. G. Oakley, laborer; William Robb, warehouseman; Norman C. Robinson, sheetmetal worker; Charles O. Rowe, sheetmetal worker; John Bank, fish-packer; Wm. J. Scherk, laborer; James Sheddon, contractor; George Smith, bricklayer; John Sunberg carpenter; Harold Strand

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S BAPTISM OF FIRE

Vancouver Speaks of Moral Courage of Hon. A. M. Manson Regarding Liquor Traffic

Discussing the recent flurry over the liquor business in which Hon. A. M. Manson has been called upon to defend his position, the Vancouver Sun of Monday last says:

"Realizing the progress Attorney-General Manson has been making towards cleaning up his department, it was expected too much to believe that his political opponents and enemies within the party would leave him alone.

"Under his first baptism of fire the Attorney-General has been somewhat indulgent in the language used against his critics especially since the object of their criticism was to try and draw him out.

"The liquor business at its best is an outlaw traffic, and since the world began has put a curse on nearly everybody connected with it. So that when B.C. asks its Attorney-General, in addition to his other duties, to regulate and handle its booze business, there is immediately placed upon the Attorney-General's shoulders the responsibility of dealing with all the dirt and mire connected with the traffic.

Placed in such a position, an official lacking moral conviction will at once be swamped in corruption. Placed in the same position, an official with moral courage enough to follow the dictates of his conscience will be under continual fire.

Until the millennium is reached, individuals, institutions and governments will continue, as a matter of self preservation, to favor their friends, but this is justifiable only so long as the degree of favor remains supportable. When the degree of government favor and patronage becomes insupportable, it then changes to plain graft or fraud.

Friends of Hon. Alex. Manson feel they will never be called upon to defend him upon this score. They feel that, whatever his faults, he is morally clean.

MAYOR ROCHESTER'S VISIT TO NELSON

Gave Interview to Newspaper at Kootenay City in Regard to Prince Rupert

Paying his first visit to Nelson, though he "pounded a key" in Revelstoke 30 years ago in the infancy of the Kootenay's development, Mayor H. B. Rochester of Prince Rupert arrived from Kamloops last night, in company with Mayor C. F. McHardy, both having been in attendance at the good roads convention and the convention of the Union of B. C. Municipalities, Mayor McHardy having been elected president of the latter, says the Nelson News.

For a couple of days the mayor of the north-east metropolitan will look over Nelson and its environs, under the guidance of his brother chief magistrate, and one of the points of interest will be the city power plant at Bonnington.

A Bane to Bootleggers

The two mayors fresh from the municipal convention, read with interest, while coming up, the report of the Conservative meeting here last Friday, at which Hon. W. H. Stevens stated that the liquor prosecutions in Prince Rupert had been originated by the city, while the attorney-general interested himself mainly in quashing them.

When Mayor Rochester is through with Nelson he will visit Spokane and Seattle before returning home.

Sport Chat

To present day swimmers, the English channel seems unbearable. The latest to give up the battle was the giant Russian, Stanislaus Andriksanov, who had to abandon the attempt when seven miles from Dover.

Miss Gieritz, who failed in her first attempt, made another unsuccessful effort, having to give up when several miles from the starting point.

Miss Hilda James, the English lady champion, who has lately returned to England from the United States, evidently appreciates her own home waters, for she broke her own record, covering 220 yards in 2 min. 51 2-5 sec., lowering her previous best by 5 2-5.

Captain Ward, accompanied by his Chinese wife, their son, and a crew of three Chinese, recently crossed the Pacific from China to Vancouver, in the small Chinese junk "Amoy." When off the California coast the crew had to fight off a huge snake that swam out to sea and invaded the cabin. With such weapons as they could find the crew managed to overcome the reptile. The distance sailed was approximately 5,200 miles which is a wonderful feat for so small a craft.

A sensation was caused in English First Division football recently by the ordering from the field of the famous McCracken, of Newcastle United. The match was with Sheffield United, and McCracken disputed the referee's decision on a certain point very forcibly, and was told to retire.

The Corinthians, the famous amateur club, have entered the Football Association Cup series for the first time in their history, and are not likely to be lacking in fitness, for they have secured the services of the great Sandy Tait, the old Tottenham Hotspur player, to act as coach. Tait was a member of the Spurs when they won the English cup in 1901.

Inspector Miller, of the Inland Revenue department, Vancouver, passed through the city on the Princess Mary yesterday afternoon.

Dogfish Reduction Plant for Skidegate Contemplated by New Company Just Organized in South

An attempt to exploit the potential harvest of the sea which exists in the enormous quantities of dogfish swarming in the waters of Vancouver and Queen Charlotte Islands has been set on foot by two local men, S. T. Hankey, the well known barrister and solicitor, and E. G. Henshall, a manufacturer of this city, says the Victoria Gazette.

As a result of the efforts of these gentlemen, a company, "Ferphos Fish Products, Limited," has recently been organized to carry on the manufacture of fish meal and the extraction of oil from dogfish, on a larger scale than has hitherto been attempted in this Province.

The process by which the company confidently expects to overcome the difficulties which hitherto have hindered the commercial utilization of dogfish, is the invention of Mr. Henshall, who has been working for years past to effect the ready separation of the oil, and to eradicate from the product the fishy taint and smell.

A Profitable Market Experiments conducted at the small plant which Mr. Henshall has been operating at Sooke, and also at the Empire Cannery of J. H. Todd & Sons, Esquimalt, have completely demonstrated the success of the new process, in the belief of the company's officers; and it is expected that in the near future employment will be given to a considerable number of men, fishermen and reduction workers, in the proposed plant at Skidegate Inlet, Queen Charlotte Islands.

As for the market for the product—always providing that the product fulfills the requirements which have up to now been the difficulty of similar enterprises—it is said that there is a practically unlimited market, at profitable prices, both on this continent and in the Orient, for the fishmeal and the oil which are the main products of the process. An interesting feature of the process is the fact that the whole of the fish is utilized, and Mr. Hankey was responsible for the statement that the "health" of the dogfish, a substance, or rather a condition, of the flesh peculiar to the species, and which had heretofore been the difficult factor in reduction, has recently given up as its final by-product of the Henshall process an excellent preservative shingle stain.

No Waste in Process The success of the new venture is hoped for from the fact that the Henshall process will put the whole fish to commercial use. Former reduction operations have been confined to extracting oil from the liver of the dogfish, the rest of the fish being thrown away. This, according to Mr. Henshall, was equivalent to throwing away 75 per cent of all the oil available from the fish, which is said to be double that contained in such an essentially oily fish as the Pacific salmon.

The fish meal, which is one of the two main products of the process, has been endorsed by Mr. J. R. Terry, chief poultry instructor for the Province, and by several other well-known local men who have given it a thorough trial, for both swine and poultry feeding. It is said to be excellent for stimulating properties, to be absolutely free from taint and smell, and to be capable of keeping indefinitely.

The oil so far manufactured by the Henshall process has been purchased by local manufacturers, including Pendray & Sons, Yarrow, Limited, and the Nag Paint Company. Mr. Hankey is responsible for the statement that the latter company has pronounced the Henshall process oil to be superior in quality to Menhaden oil, which always commanded the best price on the market, and is at present selling for 70 to 80 cents a gallon. The Henshall product can be produced, at a good profit, for 40 cents a gallon.

fishermen of the new company, the rate of five cents per fish, which is higher than many a salmon fisherman has obtained in some recent years. It is hoped that when the plant and its product begins to be known an inevitable expansion of trade will provide encouragement to the fishermen to make dogfish catching a regular part of their operations.

Another possibility of great importance to the new industry is that involved in the likelihood that, as a result of evidence recently given on this Coast before the Royal Commission on Fisheries, a bounty will be offered for the taking of dogfish. With regard to the actual quantities of dogfish obtainable, the general opinion among experienced fishermen is said to be that it will easily be possible to keep the new plant supplied with fifty tons of fish a day, for 200 working days a year.

Fishing Methods

The approved method of taking the fish is by setting lines, having 500 to 1000 hooks to the line. Where the fish are found in shoals, a seine may also be used. It is well-known to the fishermen that the dogfish has a keen sense of smell, and that the baiting of an area of water will cause immense quantities of them to accumulate. It is believed that there are more dogfish in Skidegate Inlet than at any other point on the Northern Coast.

The commercial management of the company will be in the hands of Mr. Hankey and of other directors still to be elected. The actual manufacturing will be carried on by Mr. Henshall, the inventor of the patented process, and his son.

AMERICAN CABARET IS INVADING LONDON

Several Opened There And Are Becoming Popular

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Determined efforts are being made to domicile here the cabaret entertainment, which enters so largely into the life of Continental and American cities. There are now three such entertainments in the West End. At the Hotel Metro-pole the "Midnight Follies" have been appearing for a long time past, though their performances are restricted by the L.C.C. regulations, and two other entertainments have been recently started. One of these is at the Queen's Hall, and is called the "Cabaret Follies," and the other is at Murray's Dancing Club. The first performance at Murray's was ambitious. The program takes place while the audience is at dinner or supper, and during each part of it there are eight turns. At the Queen's Hall Roof the "Cabaret Follies" present a large chorus, and here also there are two performances each night—one at dinner and one at supper. These cabarets are a new feature of London life, and one that is likely to become quickly more popular. At present they are to a certain extent hampered by the early hour at which travel ceases, but nevertheless they are largely attended, especially by those who are in London on holiday.

Specialist charged $15 a week. $1 worth of Zam-Buk Saved Her Leg.

"I had only one week of the 'special' course of bad leg treatment supplied in my own city, and it cost me $15 in coarse moments. It was simply money thrown away," writes Mrs. James Elsworth, 302 Sallara Ave., Winnipeg.

"The slicer first appeared on my left ankle, and then spread from the top of my foot up to the knee. Laid up in bed helpless with pain, I was treated by five different doctors. I persevered with their lotions and ointments until I felt positive there could be no cure.

"Then one day I was brought a sample of Zam-Buk. Even this small quantity was decidedly soothing, and it encouraged me to get a supply from the druggist. Perseverance with Zam-Buk proved wonderfully and thoroughly effective. The irritation and the pain were speedily subdued; the slicer was thoroughly cleansed of poisonous matter and the leg permanently healed."

Zam-Buk, the magic herbal balm, is equally good for eczema, ringworm, poisoned wounds, pimples, boils, abscesses, piles, cuts, burns, scalds and all skin injuries. 30c. all dealers.
