FISHERMAN VICTIM OF RAT FISH SPINE WHICH PIERCES NECK

Pattullo Urging Immigration as a National Remedy

TORONTO, March 28.—Immigration will be the solution of Canada's present difficulties, according to Hon. T. D. Pattullo, British Columbia's minister of lands, who is here en route to Ottawa to discuss immigration with the federal government. He said.

"We simply must have people. Conditions demand it. It is generally admitted one of our biggest problems is the railway situation. We must create enough business to support both systems.

"To suppose we can indefinitely hold our undoubted great resources out of use according to our own liking and disposition is an illusion. We would do well to advance development while there are reasonable opportunities for selection. If we do not, it may be done for us."

Rat Fish Spine Pierced Neck of Fisherman and Entered One of His Lungs

With the spine of a rat fish piercing his neck and the point entering his lung, Ole Solem, a fisherman on the schooner Revilla, was rushed to port yesterday and taken to the hospital, where the offending spine was removed. An ugly and painful wound resulted, but the patient is doing well and it is expected will recover.

The Revilla had reached the fishing grounds only a short time and was hauling in the line when on one of the hooks a rat fish came over the side. It was an ugly creature with a sharp spine in its back several inches long.

Solem took it off the hook and swung it around his head with the purpose of throwing it overboard, when the fish slipped and fell on the back of his neck, one of the spines piercing the flesh and going right through the lung. The spine broke and nothing could be done except to hurry to port and secure surgical aid.

Lines were hauled in and the Revilla made for Prince Rupert with the injured man and on arrival here yesterday the man was taken to the hospital and the spine removed.

Another fisherman was picked up here and the boat returned to the fishing grounds.

Others Poisoned. A number of local fishermen have been injured by the spine of the rat fish and it is usually considered to be poisonous. Capt. E. E. Sanderson speaking to a Daily News representative this morning said he had once pricked his hand on one and it had swollen and was badly poisoned. He told of others who had suffered similarly.

The rat fish has a head like a rat, is mottled in color and has the solitary long spine which is dreaded. It is a valuable fish for oil.

Sane Support for Hospital.

There should be no difference of opinion as to the support that is to be given the General Hospital in this city. The institution is doing a splendid work and must be supported. Everyone agrees to that. The only disagreement there can be as to a fair proportion of the cost being paid by the Provincial Government and by the city and by the people who use the institution. This is an actuarial matter and one that ought to be easily adjusted.

In dealing with the amounts to be contributed by patients it must be borne in mind that in many cases when the man goes to the hospital the income ceases and the expenses increase. The result is the man either uses up his savings or runs into debt, as the case may be. After he leaves the hospital he has to readjust matters. It takes time to do this, and it is no wonder that he is often slow in making payments.

Take again the man whose wife uses the maternity ward. The expenses at such a time increase enormously. Not only is there a doctor to pay but there are a hundred and one expenses in the home. We do not say that the hospital should wait for its money until all the others are paid, but we do say that these expenses have to be taken into consideration. The handicap on a married man is unduly heavy.

How Relieve the Family Man?

The problem crops up periodically how relief is to be extended to the man who is raising a family and yet be fair to the rest of the community. The present method is very unfair. The man and woman who do their duty to the state by raising a family are handicapped at every turn. They have to give up many of the ordinary enjoyments of life. They find it difficult to provide money enough to keep the family and at the same time to dress and live decently. Wherever they go and whatever they do their expenses are doubled or trebled and the income remains the same. The single man or woman pays no more taxes than the married. The married couples without family are not levied on to help pay for the children raised for the state by their neighbors. The handicap is against the family every time and to the advantage of those who shirk their duties. Because of this the maternity hospital fees should be kept as light as possible and to make up for it the fees on single men or women might be increased and prepayment insisted upon.

Doctors' Fees and Maternity.

One of the big expenses in maternity cases is the doctor's fee. The doctor does not earn too much for the amount of skill and labor involved, but the difficulty is in paying the fee. Some do not ever pay, but self-respecting people do not like to evade their just debts. The question comes in whether it would not be wise for the state to help out in such matters. The drain on the purse of the married couple in connection with young children is so great that the man with a small salary finds it difficult to carry on and still enjoy some of the amenities of life.

Populating
the Country.

The Dominion Government spends a lot of money on immigration and often the people brought in make anything but good Canadians. At the same time there is no money spent to encourage the native-born. The inference would seem to be that foreigners are preferred to native-born Canadians. As long as there is such a severe handicap on raising families the tendency will be for young people to evade their responsibilities and choose the single life or the childless marriage.

We are making no suggestions as to what steps might be taken to encourage families. In some countries the matter has received consideration, but not with any marked results. To bonus families, to tax bachelors and spinsters, to provide the use of doctors and hospitals free, are among the means that might be adopted. All these are subject to objections. Perhaps when people have done without children sufficiently long there will be a swing in the opposite direction and once more motherhood will be deified and it will be the desire of women as in former days to perform their natural functions. It will once more be a shame to be childless.

Matter of Giving Flat Rate Laid
Over for a Week—Dry Dock
Asks for New Connection.

The report from the Utilities Committee recommending that light and power be delivered in bulk from the city's primary lines to the G. T. P. Railway Co. for its waterfront supply at the flat 3c to 1c contract rate was again considered by the city council last night and was laid over for a week on account of the absence from the meeting of Ald. C. C. Perry, chairman of the Utilities Committee. The report made its first appearance at last week's meeting and was at that time laid over for a week for further consideration. In the report it is explained that the railway company will pay all its own installation costs and will distribute the power itself, saving the city considerable overhead in the matter of transformers and line construction. With the operation of the ocean dock, roundhouse and station there will also be increased revenue.

Revise Whole City.

In speaking to the report, Ald. Montgomery said that he thought the whole city was entitled to readjustment and there should be a new scale put into effect. He would be opposed to this rate being taken by the railway company until the whole scale in the city was revised. All the consumers in the city should have a cut.

Ald. Silversides pointed out that the railway company was really getting no new rate but only what it was entitled to. The supply to the Dominion Government at Dzaby Island was already on this basis. He could not see where a general revision of rates in the whole city entered into this. The city would be relieved of the cost of upkeep with this contract and would derive increased revenue.

After some discussion it was decided to table the report for another week, the mayor telling Ald. Montgomery that the Utilities Committee was preparing to bring in a report recommending a general revision of rates in the city in view of the profits that the utility had recently been making.

Connect with Drydock.

There was also presented at the meeting last night a letter from the G. T. P. dry dock asking for a connection from the city lines to supply the shipyard with 450 k.v.a. The line thus built could possibly be used by the city in getting a similar amount of power from the dry dock if necessary. The latter was referred to the Utilities Committee for report.

The Utilities Committee also had a report on the claim for refund of overcharges to the dry dock in the electric accounts for December and January. The report recommended that the manager of the dry dock write to the city asking for the regular industrial rate for the plant. The committee could not recommend a refund in the accounts complained of.

At 8:40 last night, Mrs. Kemy Rood was accosted by a man on the Midway cinder path between Fulton Street and Fraser Street. She screamed and the man threw her away and she was injured. Mrs. Rood could not identify the man but it is believed by the police from general description that it is the same man who was arrested last night on a burglary charge.

Three general borrowing by-laws, totalling $100,000 were given their first and second readings at last night's council meeting. The money is to be raised for general city purposes from the Royal Bank of Canada and the total tax collection for the year will be security. Similar bylaws are passed every year to carry on the city's finances until taxes are collected.

SLUICE GOLD FROM UPPER PEACE RIVER

Party Being Made Up in Edmonton to Handle Pay Dirt in North.

EDMONTON, Mar. 28.—J. T. Smith, civil and mining engineer of New York, is in the city making up a party of miners to sluice for gold on the upper reaches of the Peace this summer. Mr. Smith has had previous experience on the northern stream and he is of the opinion that the new company which is putting in a large suction dredge on the Peace "has one of the best propositions in Canada." He has operated similar machinery on the Erie Canal in the United States and states that the dirt was handled there for less than 15 cents per yard and that it should be possible to accomplish the same work on the Peace for seven or eight cents.

There is no question as to gold being in the Peace in paying quantities, says the visitor. When he was at Hudson's Hope the miners washing on the river bars made an average of $20 per day when the river was low, and his party expects to do quite as well, although they will have no equipment with the exception of the usual sluice boxes. The Smith party is operating strictly on a co-operative basis. Five local men are already signed on to go in, but twelve in all will be included in the group. They are en route in via Prince George, Summit Lake and the Crooked River, travelling down the Peace as soon as the ice goes out.

PORTLAND CANAL MINE DISTRICT

Described by Expert of United States Geological Survey.

Portland Canal, a steep-walled fiord, penetrates the Coast Range for some 90 miles from Dixon Entrance, at the southern boundary of Alaska, cutting obliquely across the trend of the mountains, writes Lewis G. Westgate of the United States Geological Survey. This great trench through the mountains is extended northward by the alluvium-floored valley of Bear River, which reaches far back into the upland beyond the Coast Range. At two miles from its head Portland Canal is joined on the west by Salmon River, the mineral deposits of whose basin are separated by the Revere Mountains, a southward-trending spur of the main range. At the seaward end of this spur is the settlement of Hyder, which has a population of a few hundred people and is the ocean port, supply point, and post office of the Salmon River district. Its location is on the international boundary, and the steep slope immediately to the north has crowded the settlement onto the tidal flats, where it is in part built on piles. The newer part of the town, however, is in a better location to the northwest, on the gravel-floored Salmon River valley.

Two miles to the northwest is the town of Stewart, on the British Columbia side of the boundary. Though older than Hyder, it has about the same population.

Canadian Side.

Metal-bearing lodes, chiefly of gold and silver, were found in the Canadian portion of this region about 1898, and similar discoveries had been made on the Alaska side of the boundary by 1901. These deposits received little attention until 1909, when a small boom was started in the Canadian district. This boom subsided in a few years, but meanwhile the town of Stewart and some 12 miles of railroad were built. Interest was revived in 1917 by the discovery of some rich silver ores on the Canadian side of the line, and in 1918 a commercial ore body was found at the Premier mine, which though in the Salmon River basin, is also in Canada. As a result, many claims were staked on both sides of the boundary, and the town of Hyder sprang up. The upper part of the Salmon River basin lies in Canada, but its only practical access is through Alaska.

Hyder's Importance.

This lack of adjustment of the international boundary to the topography gives Hyder a much greater importance than it would have if it served only the Alaska portion of the district. Though no mines have been largely developed on the Alaska side, many claims have been staked, and on some of these, as will be shown, considerable work has been done during the last two years.

In view of the fact that the geologic features on the two sides of the boundary were known to be essentially the same, there appeared to be good hope that commercial ore bodies might be found in the Salmon River district. For this reason the writer undertook a geologic examination of the region, a task which occupied him from July 19 to August 27, 1920. Though the salient features of the geology are simple, the heavy vegetal cover below timber line greatly enhances the difficulties of field examination and increases the work of the pros-

Topography.

The region is one of mountainous topography and high relief. The floor of Salmon River and of its principal tributary, Texas Creek, rises from sea level to about 500 feet where they issue from their glacial sources. From these low valley altitudes the mountains rise steeply and in places by unscalable cliffs to heights between 5000 and 6000 feet. The highest points within the area examined are a little over 6,500 feet above the sea. The only level land in the district consists of the gravel-floored bottoms along Salmon River and Texas Creek. The lower slopes, up to 3,000 feet or more, are covered with forest; at higher levels the mountains, where not covered by snow fields and glaciers, are largely bare rock. Even the narrower ridges along Portland Canal and the lower parts of Salmon River carry snow fields, and small summit and cliff glaciers, and farther inland the larger valleys reach above snow line and serve as collecting basins for extensive ice fields, the sources of large valley glaciers. The snow line stands at about 4,500 feet, and the glaciers descend within 500 feet of the sea level.

Climate.

Portland Canal lies within the Pacific Coast climate province, an area of abundant rainfall and comparatively moderate temperature due to prevailing westerly winds from the Pacific Ocean. The annual precipitation at the entrance of Portland Canal, is about 430 inches; at the head of the canal it is less, possibly not far from 100 inches. The least rainfall occurs late in spring and early summer, and abundant rains set in by September. From November to March the precipitation is in the form of snow. The summers are not hot, and the temperature seldom drops much below zero in winter.

Commercial Conditions.

Hyder, being on tidewater, is readily accessible throughout the year to large ocean vessels, but Hyder has no wharf, and all freight is handled by scows. Provisions can be purchased in both towns, and more elaborate equipment can be brought from Ketchikan, with which there is communication about twice a week by means of gasoline boat. The distance from Hyder to Ketchikan is 155 miles by the water route. Stewart has steam-er communication with Prince Rupert, British Columbia, 135 miles distant.

Travel inland is difficult, except along the few established roads and trails. The best road in the region is one connecting Hyder to Stewart, 2 miles, which is suitable for automobiles.

Swift Streams.

Salmon River and Texas Creek are swift and practically impassable streams, which effectually divide the country through which they run. Texas Creek and Salmon River south of Ninemile flow in a network of channels through a broad valley bottom, floored with coarse gravel. A road has been constructed up the east side of the Salmon to Elevenmile and thence to the Premier mine, in Canadian territory. Except at a few points where it is forced to the valley side by eastward swings of the river, the road follows the overflow and washout, as was well shown in the high-water stages an area of abundant rainfall and the road is on the valley slope. From the road three pack trails branch off, one in Canada to the Big Missouri and neighboring properties, one at Elevenmile to the New Alaska property, and one up Fish Creek to the Watkins and Tonkin properties.

Timber and Power.

The valley bottoms and mountain slopes up to 3,500 feet are heavily forested, chiefly with hemlock and spruce. In the valley bottoms and on the lower slope there is good timber in sufficient abundance for mining and other local needs.

As yet there has been no demand for water power, and the possibilities of developing it have not been closely scrutinized. Fish Creek and its tributary, Skookum Creek, the largest of the small streams, descend rapidly and are worth consideration as sources of power. There are no accurate records of their flow, which is greatly diminished in winter. The other streams in Alaska east of Salmon River are small and probably without value for power.

ROYAL PURPLE TO HAVE ANNIVERSARY BANQUET THURSDAY

The Ladies of the Royal Purple, Prince Rupert Lodge No. 8, will celebrate the first anniversary of their establishment with a great banquet to be held in the Elks' Home on Thursday night. A fine musical program and toast list is being arranged for and the place is to be handsomely decorated. All indications point to the function being a rousing success. Card playing and dancing will follow the banquet.

It is pointed out by the committee that only Elks, their wives and Ladies of the Royal Purple will be admitted. Tickets may be procured from the executive of either lodge.

WILL STUDY INCINERATORS

City Engineer and an Alderman Are to Visit Cities in the South.

The city engineer and one of the members of the council are to go to Nelson, Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Tacoma, Yakima, Nanaimo and other cities in the south to study incinerators in operation before any further action on the matter is taken by the city council. This was decided upon by the council last night when a report from the board of works recommending this course was adopted. The decision followed a long general discussion in committee of the whole.

Pictures of the Nelson plant received from John Bell, its designer, were studied and the whole question was, thoroughly discussed. Mayor Rochester and other of the aldermen seemed to think that an incinerator might not be necessary after all here. All agreed, however, that the garbage scow system would have to be done away with. An alternative method of dumping in low spots in the city and covering with ashes was taken up. Mayor Rochester favored this, but Ald. Kerr, chairman of the board of works, thought it would not be effective or desirable.

It has not been decided which of the aldermen will go. Ald. Dybhavn will be going south soon, but he does not feel in a position to take up a technical matter of the kind.

WAGE DISPUTE ARBITRATION

Differences Between City and Employees Will Be Settled in This Manner.

The dispute between the city and its employees regarding the proposed ten per cent general cut in all wages and salaries is to be settled by a board of arbitration, the employees, in the meantime, being given notice that a readjustment will take place on May 1. A resolution to this effect, moved by Ald. Collart and seconded by Ald. Kelly, was passed by the council at the meeting last night.

The dispute has arisen since the report of the council committee recommending a general cut of ten per cent was received. The employees, countered with the attitude that the time was not right for such a cut as the cost of living had not decreased sufficiently. The employees have expressed their desire for an arbitration board and the council, feeling that this would be the easiest and most amicable way of arriving at a settlement, has concurred.

Ald. Montgomery felt that since the council had not adopted the report of the committee, there was really no dispute for an arbitration board to settle. Ald. Kerr and Ald. McLeod were of the opinion that further reports of committee were to be received. Mayor Rochester stated that the employees had distinctly asked for an arbitration board.

On the vote being put Ald. Kelly, Ald. Dybhavn, Ald. Collart and Ald. Silversides supported the resolution for an arbitration with Ald. Montgomery, Ald. McLeod and Ald. Kerr against. Ald. Perry was not present.

ALBERTA POLICE GET BLOODHOUNDS FOR USE TRACKING CRIMINALS

EDMONTON, March 28.—Two couples of bloodhounds for tracking criminals arrived at the Alberta Provincial Police headquarters and are being sent out again to different detachments to complete their training and to be on hand in case of eventualities. In addition the police have three other dogs, which are also being sent out to various points. These dogs are pure bred English bloodhounds and were raised in Lethbridge. They have already been given a try-out and proved eminently satisfactory, although only partially trained. They hunt singly or in couples, but contrary to popular conception they are by no means savage; once they come up with their quarry they do not proceed to maul the victim, but merely keep in touch with him. They have been used with considerable success in the United States for many years, and are kept by the penitentiary wardens for immediate use in the case of criminals escaping.

The fine weather of the last week-end set the blood of the outdoor sports tingling and Saturday afternoon and Sunday were enjoyed by many local athletes getting an auto-season warm-up at their favorite games. Football players were out on Acropolis Hill, tennis players held down the courts for several hours, and on the quiet streets the younger people were indulging in scrub baseball. The weather was a little cold, it is true, but the bright sunshine and springtime ardor made up fully for that. Several picnic parties were on the water and in the evening several campfires might have been noticed on the opposite side of the harbor.

The semi-finals in the Prince Rupert Pool Room senior billiard handicap will be played in the course of a few days. In the third round two more games are to be played: E. Green vs. H. Charlton and Col. McMorde vs. D. Brown. The winners in these games will meet G. Waugh and C. Balagno, respectively, in the semi-finals. A. A. Easson and S. L. Warrior were eliminated in the third round by G. Waugh and C. Balagno.

Large pictures of the Elks, senior basketball champs, and Meteors, ladies' champions, in individual ovals, together with their managers and Fred Gilluly, donor of the Senior League trophy, and the four league cups, Gilluly, Grotto, Benson and McMorde, make a very attractive sports window that may be seen at Benson's studio this week. The Maple Leafs, runners up in the Ladies' League, also are having their pictures made in a similar fashion. These three large pictures are all to be donated to the teams by Mr. Benson. The Meteors and Elks' pictures will be sent to Vancouver for publication.

Prince George curlers will wind up the season tomorrow night with a smoker to be held either in the G. W. V. A. hall or Oddfellows' hall. A splendid entertainment is being arranged and a pleasant evening is promised. During the smoker the trophies won at the bonspiel will be presented. A post season series was played for the possession of the Catto Cup, the White Horse Shield and the Dewar Trophy. These trophies will also be presented to the successful rinks.

LAKE FISHING IN NORTHERN ALBERTA

Quantity of Whitefish Shipped Out During Winter Caught Through Ice.

EDMONTON, Mar. 28.—During the past winter three companies operated on Bucalo Lake, which lies 80 miles east of Chocoma on the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway and in Saskatchewan. In addition to the Alberta Fish Company and P. Johnson, the McInnis Fish Company took out a total catch of whitefish amounting to 1,260,000 pounds, or roughly 63 carloads.

A fully equipped camp was maintained at Buffalo Lake, while warehouses, offices and other essentials were in use at Cheecham, from where the catch was shipped out. In all 75 men were employed by the McInnis Company, these including 36 fishermen who netted the whitefish through holes in the ice. Though the lake is but 80 miles from the railroad, some of the fish had to be hauled a distance of 100 miles, the scene of the operations being a long distance out on the lake, which is a large body of water.

Forty-two teams of horses were used to transport the fish from the lake to the railway, these being driven "four up."

COST OF OTTAWA PARLIAMENT BLDGS.

Large Sum Paid Out for Firing Gun Every Day at Capital of the Dominion.

OTTAWA, Mar. 28.—Housing Canada's government comes high. In the fiscal year ended March 31, 1921, nearly $2,000,000 was spent on the new parliament buildings, which, in the matter of minor details and the scheme of ornamentation, are not likely to be completed for some years. Four other big items are: Grounds, including Major's Hill Park, $586,449.21; sundry rented buildings, $884,347.97; departments generally, care and cleaning of departmental buildings, including $100 to E. Snowden for firing the noon gun, $372,922.25; central heating plant, connections and operation, $291,038.22.

BEACH TRAIN BILL DROPPED IN WINNIPEG

Labor Incensed at Failure of the Legislature to Pass Measure.

WINNIPEG, Mar. 28.—Owing to the defeat of the Manitoba government and the decision to pass only necessary legislation before dissolution, a number of bills have been dropped.

If Winnipeg wants to go to the beaches on Sunday this year it will have to go by road. The Sunday train bill died a painless death in the law amendments committee this week. The process was simple in the extreme. The committee convened, considered and passed with some amendment three bills, the Soldiers' Relief Bill, the Manitoba Farm Land Bill and the School Act Amendment Bill. Thereafter, F. J. Dixon moved that the committee adjourn which it did. "Sine die," said the attorney-general. And with the rest of the unfortunates the Sunday Beach Train Bill passed away.

ROADWAY ON ALFRED STREET IS REFERRED TO THE GOVERNMENT

The city is to take up with the provincial government the matter of putting in a roadway on Alfred Street for which the residents of that street have put in a petition. This petition has been signed by 15 residents there, and two more have stated their willingness to also sign. As 21 signatures are necessary and the government owes several lots on the street it has been decided to take this action in regard to the matter. It is expected that the government will be favorable.

A report from the city solicitor on the subject stated that it was not a legal question but merely one of policy. The immediate and urgent need for the road should be a factor in such cases. There was no doubt it was needed here.

The council in the past has been averse to putting in improvements under the local improvement plan where petitions were not sufficiently signed. As yet this principle has not been departed from.

Ald. Montgomery said that he would have no hesitation in voting for this particular roadway being put in but he felt that the easiest and most "polite" way would be to ask the provincial government for its sanction instead of going over its head.

Ald. Collart said he could see no difference between this case and that of Vanarsdol Street where the council had taken no action. It would be unfair to put one road in and not the other.

Mary—How old?
Friend—Five and ten.
Mary—H-m, I see, Woolworth twins!—Printer's Ink.

"At Forty-Five"

"YES, at my age I suppose I should expect a change in my condition. But I am so nervous and irritable, so easily excited and worried, that I cannot understand what is wrong."

"I know just how you feel, my dear, for I have gone through exactly what you are experiencing now."

"But you are not nervous."

"No, not now, but I was in a far worse condition than you are, when a friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I need not tell you more, for you know how well I have been for the last few years."

Mrs. H. Alchorn, 23 Gerald St., Charlottetown, P. E. I., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was recommended to me by an aunt who used it while passing through the change of life and was completely built up by its use. From my experience as a wife and mother I find that the majority of users are women, especially women passing through the change of life; next by young mothers to regain strength after baby comes, and also by mothers for their young daughters entering their womanhood. While it is good for all classes of humanity, I am sure it is especially so for women, as they seem to be troubled most by nervous diseases."

CONTRASTS IN MOSCOW CITY

Rich Spending Freely for Luxuries While Famine-stricken Starve.

MOSCOW, Mar. 28.—Moscow has become more than ever a city of contrasts in this first winter of free trade under Communist rule. Black bread, the staple food of most of its inhabitants, grows dearer and scarcer nearly every day, but chocolate creams, sweet pastries, silk stockings and Paris gowns become more plentiful, though high-priced.

The famine throughout a great section of Russia grips and kills faster than grave-diggers can work, but many Muscovites are eating more, drinking more and wearing better clothes than for years past and are burning all the wood they can buy.

Many others, struggling on comparatively low wages or no income at all against increasing prices and fluctuating currency, are huddled in heatless rooms with little to eat.

Silks Plentiful.

A considerable quantity of cotton goods from some of the Russian factories has appeared in the co-operative shops and the market stalls and there is a very limited showing of woollen stuffs, but it is easier to find silk than gingham, satin than serge, and lace than worsteds.

New restaurants, with white linen, rare porcelain, high salaried orchestras and closely written menus a foot long, are opening to cater to crowds that mingle with the sleek, white-collared, newly-prosperous traders with a sprinkling of unshaven, dark-shirted and sometimes unwashed diners who appear too content with their lot to bother with barbers or washwomen.

Wine is now sold secretly and soon will be sold openly under license in these restaurants. Bootleggers call daily on many strangers, offering vodka and cognac.

Luxuries Common.

It is easier to find good champagne than good milk and chocolate eclairs than sausage sandwiches. The stores, reopening in constantly increasing numbers, ask prices which are as far beyond the reach of the ordinary Muscovite as is the exclusive 'maison' in New York above the pocketbook of a Manhattan shopgirl.

The millions of rubles necessary for the most modest purchases seem to come easy and so easy, however, to Moscow's new upper crust. Free trade is on the Cheka, which once made short shrift of those who seemed wealthier than their fellows, is dead in name and curtailed in its powers. Moscow's multi-billionaires, with pockets full of 40,000,000 ruble notes, grow bolder and stouter daily in the Communist capital.

MUSICAL METHOD.

"I never saw two children so much alike. How does your mother tell you twins apart?" "She finds out by spankin' us. Dick cries out louder'n me."—Boston Post.

ECZEMA ON FACE AND HANDS for Five Years

Eczema or salt rheum, as it is so often called, manifests itself in little round pimples which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break and subsequently a crust or scale is formed and the intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the part is exposed to a strong heat, is almost unbearable and relief is gladly welcomed.

There is only one way to get relief and no remedy like BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. Take it internally and it gets at the seat of the disease in the blood and drives it out of the system.

Apply it externally and it takes out the itching, stinging and burning, and promotes healthy healing. Mr. J. Sage, 215 Princess Ave., Vancouver, B. C., writes: "Having suffered with eczema on the face and head for the last five years, I consulted several doctors, and tried various kinds of salves and lotions, but I derived no benefit from any of them. I did not know what to do until a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after I had used two bottles I began to get better and now after taking eight bottles I have not even a blemish on me. I feel that I cannot praise B. B. B. too highly. I hope you will make full use of this recommendation for the benefit of those who are suffering from this terrible complaint, eczema."

STORE ROBBED LAST EVENING

John Main Arrested With Goods in His Possession—Was in Dazed Condition.

At about 11:45 o'clock last night the store of Mrs. Frizzell, in the Smith Building at the corner of Fifth Street and Third Avenue, was entered and goods and cash totalling in value about $10 as well as some useless documents and papers were removed. John Main, a young returned soldier, was arrested shortly after on suspicion and the case was called in police court this morning before Magistrate McLymont. Main elected for summary trial, evidence was taken and judgment reserved until further particulars as to the record and conduct of the accused, who claims to have resided here for some years, is secured.

The case against Main is a clear one, for witnesses testified to having seen a man answering to his description emerging from the broken window in the store. Later police officers found the stolen goods in his possession. No defence was offered other than the statement of the accused that he had been drinking last night and had no memory of having entered and robbed a store.

The first alarm the police received of the robbery was a telephone call from Fred Syrotuck, who said that a man had broken into Mrs. Frizzell's store and had gone away. The police were immediately put on the lookout.

Hatless and Bloody. Fred Gilhuly, who had heard of the robbery, was passing a few minutes later along Third Avenue eastwards, and near Fuller's store saw a man without a hat and with something sticking out of his pocket which he took for a string of beads. He shadowed him until Constables Bourne and Macdonald arrived. The constables arrested the man, who was Main, and found in his possession 17 strings of beads, $6.60 in cash and various receipts, promissory notes and unredeemed drafts. The man's hands were cut and his clothes were torn.

Lawrence Ferguson of the Alder Rooms gave evidence in court to the effect that he had seen a man answering to the description of the accused emerging from the hole in the plate glass window at Frizzell's store at about 11:45.

Mrs. Knight, appearing in court, gave evidence identifying the goods.

Fred Gilhuly, Constable Bourne and Chief Vickers also gave evidence. The accused entered the box and made the statement that he had been drinking and had remembered no such incident as that with which he was charged.

Appeared Like Druggist.

Mr. Gilhuly, again coming into the box, said that he noticed no signs of the man being intoxicated, and he thought it was possibly due to drugs. Constable Bourne also said that the accused seemed dazed but not intoxicated. Chief Vickers said that accused had smelled strongly of liquor, possibly rum.

The window through which the thief entered has been bricked for years. Near the base was a loose piece of glass which had been knocked out. Apparently the person entering had gone through this way and made his entry into the store through the show window. There was a quantity of blood on the silk dresses in the window and the damage done to goods and property was possibly greater than the value of the goods and articles stolen.

The newspaper with the circulation is the real advertising medium.

Six Rules for Making GOOD COFFEE

- KEEP YOUR COFFEE AIRTIGHT—It loses its strength and aroma when exposed to air. Keep it in an airtight container.
- MEASURE CAREFULLY—Experiment until you find just the proportions of coffee and water that suit your taste. Then stick to them. Guessing usually means a poor cup of coffee.
- USE GROUND ONLY ONCE—Don't leave the coffee grounds in the pot for the next meal. Used coffee grounds are of no more value in making good coffee than ashes in building a fire.
- USE BOILING WATER—Boil your water, but don't boil your coffee. Don't let the water and the ground bean boil together after they are mixed.
- SERVE AT ONCE—Many a pot of perfect coffee has been ruined by letting it cool. If you must wait, keep the coffee piping hot, but never let it boil. Re-cooking ruins the flavor.
- SCOUR THE COFFEE POT—It is not enough to give the pot a hurried rinse and set it away to dry, scour it even more carefully than other cooking utensils.
