HOPE IS NOT ABANDONED BUT IRISH SITUATION DISCOURAGING

With Failure In Irish Peace Conference Eyes of England are Turned

LONDON, May 11.—The announcement of the failure of the Dail Eireann peace committee to reach a basis of settlement between the opposing Republican Army factions has brought the public attention here sharply to the Irish situation which lately had been overshadowed by the proceedings at the Genoa conference.

While hope that a peaceful settlement may yet be reached is not abandoned, the outlook is regarded as discouraging. The impatience of a greater section of English public opinion was accurately reflected in the House of Commons debate last night on the question.

The Grand Desert was a sailing vessel of 65 tons registered tonnage, 74 feet long, 24 feet beam and 8 feet depth. She was built at Grand Desert, Nova Scotia, in 1904, and was owned by Aibebe France, of House Harbor, Quebec, and M. Zeki, of Amherst, Quebec. Her port of registry was Halifax.

FISH PLANT AT TUCKS' INLET STARTING NOW

G. G. Bushby, New Operator, Has Plans Well Under Way For Resumption of Activities.

G. G. Bushby, who returned from the south yesterday, stated this morning that the plant formerly operated by the Tucks Inlet By-products Co., but recently taken over by him, will be in operation within the next week under the name of the Marine Products Limited, a private limited company, capitalized at $150,000, with registered office care of Fisher & Oughton, the town office being located on Second Avenue.

At present time a gang of men are working on the repairing of the plant, and the old machinery is undergoing a thorough overhaul. Fish is already being landed at the plant and arrangements are under way for the placing of a permanent contract locally for the towing of all fish and other raw materials. The market for the fish oil which is used for leather tanning, soap making and for the manufacture of linoleum, oil-cloth, rope and synthetic rubber will be found on the Atlantic seaboard as stated before.

Mr. Bushby explained that the production of edible meal from fish waste was carried out experimentally in Germany first and was so successful that within the last five years the demand for it has been greatly increasing. By actual scientific experiment it has been definitely determined that edible fish meal is equal to, if not of superior feeding value to tankage, and is now increasing in popularity with poultry and hog farmers.

Russia Submits Its Reply to Allies At Genoa this Morning

LONDON, May 11.—The Reuter's Genoa correspondent telegraphs here that the Russians at 11:35 this morning handed their reply to the Allied memorandum to Foreign Minister Schanzer of Italy. A friendly conversation of 45 minutes then took place between Foreign Minister Tchitcherin, of Russia, and Schanzer, in which the former laid stress on the fact that the answer had been inspired under direct instructions from Moscow.

The first part of the note, it is said, is argumentative, but the second is constructive making proposals dealing with financial questions. The note, it is reported, suggests the appointment of a new special commission to continue negotiations after the close of the Genoa meeting.

A dispatch to the Evening Standard from Genoa says if the French and Belgians quit the conference, Premier Lloyd George will remain and try to work the ship to port with the shorthanded crew.

PONDOLAND IS AGAIN WINNER AT NEWMARKET

LONDON, May 11.—Sol Joel's brown colt Pondoland, a winner last week, was again victorious today in winning the Newmarket mile and a quarter stakes out of a field of thirteen. Bobanob was second and Captain Fracasse, third, Pondoland was the favorite at even odds for the £1,000 stake.

Fred Stork, member of parliament for Skeena, has been appointed to the parliamentary committee which will enquire into the question of railway transportation costs with relation to the Crows Nest Pass agreement. The decision to have an investigation of rates by such a committee was made in the House of Commons at Ottawa last week. The committee consists of 26 of the house selected from all political ranks.

Possibilities Of Wireless Telephony For Prince Rupert; Broadcast For The District

By H. F. PULLEN

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—The possibilities of using wireless telephony as a means of bringing the Queen Charlotte Islands, the mining camps of the district and the interior towns closer together and keeping them in touch with the affairs of the world was discussed by me yesterday with B. F. McNamee, wireless expert for the San Francisco Chronicle, and head of the Radio Devices Company of this city. He sees the possibilities, but thinks perhaps we are a little early in the game as yet.

A radio broadcasting station at Prince Rupert costing about $5,000 would send several hundred miles and the more powerful station the more territory it would reach. By having such a station, the people of the Queen Charlottes, for instance, could get the principle news of the world each day, the weather and market reports, the sailing of ships, and other general information which would be of value to them.

VICTORIA FIRE LOSS $350,000

Several Business Firms Suffered in Blaze in Arcade Block Yesterday.

VICTORIA, May 11.—The damage to the western section of the Arcade Block here, which was visited with a disastrous fire early yesterday morning, is now estimated at $300,000. The business firms which suffered were Plimley & Richards, cycle and rubber goods company, Fletcher Bros, piano house, Rowe's Drug Store, O'Connell's Ltd., clothing store, Munday Ltd., boots and shoes and W. H. Wilkerson, jeweler.

The new settlers on the Islands or other places by putting in an amplifier, could gather at a central point and listen to these things and discuss them. It would lighten the tedium of the strenuous work of home making and keep them in close touch with the outside world.

The difficulty with the system is the cost. At present it is experimental and outfits are difficult to obtain and when obtained are rather difficult to operate. Mr. McNamee advised using a trained broadcaster. Just now such are paid about $200 a month here and to induce them to go to Prince Rupert it would be necessary to pay, say, $300 a month. This, added to the cost of installing would be a considerable tax. No help could be expected from manufacturers of instruments at present as just now the market is unlimited, the demand much exceeding the supply. Within a year or two this condition is likely to be changed and manufacturers will be looking for new markets and possibly will interest themselves in the outlying points.

The city might install a plant or the Provincial or Dominion Governments, but this is hardly likely while it is in the experimental stage. The only present hope would be for the people of the city to undertake it and that would cost a lot and the returns would come only indirectly.

FOURTH YEAR PASS LIST AT UNIVERSITY ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY

VANCOUVER, May 11.—The pass list for Fourth Year Arts at the British Columbia University was announced yesterday afternoon.

The Governor General's medal has been won by Blythe Alfred Eagles, of New Westminster. The University Scholarship of $200 and the Anne Westbrook Scholarship of $100 awards have been postponed.

DICE MARVEL CHEATED FOR FIRST TIME BY BEATING SLOW DEATH

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., May 11.—Lew Friedman, said to have been one of the cleverest dice experts in the United States is dead by his own hand—the hand that rolled "seven" and "eleven" for nearly half a million dollars in the last 20 years. Friedman cheated for the first time in his life, his friends say, when he beat the spectre of tuberculosis by shooting himself. He died penniless.

A year ago he came back from Cuba with $20,000 he won in a few weeks, but he gave it away in a short time to youngsters in the streets from New York to San Francisco. Friends provided him with a tent near Victorville. There he died.

There was no halibut sold at the Fish Exchange today.

National Hospital Day Tomorrow.

Tomorrow, May 12, is National Hospital Day. It is the day that has been set aside throughout the United States and Canada on which to observe hospital ceremonies and advocate support for the institution. This date has been selected as it is the birthday of Florence Nightingale, the founder of the nursing profession as an art. In some cities it is observed very generally and hospitals and homes are inspected, graduation exercises for nurses take place, exhibits are shown, literature is distributed, pageants are put on, baby shows are held, public meetings are called, and civic, governmental, fraternal, church, school and business institutions take part. While nothing of an ambitious nature is planned for Prince Rupert, it would only be fitting that the occasion be observed by all who can do so and not allowed to pass. A visit to the hospital with a gift, no matter how small, would be an appropriate individual way of marking the day and showing appreciation of the institution which is so important to every community.

Indications Point To Better Fishing Season.

All indications point to better salmon season in District No. 2 this year. The very fact that every cannery in the district is to pack goes to show that the packers believe there is to be a good run and also indicates that market conditions are again favorable. Last year, as the Inspector of Fisheries says, the season was one of the poorest on record. One reason was that the run was not good. Another reason was that only the best quality of fish was wanted and such fall varieties as pinks and chums were not in much demand. The canneries this year are to take all varieties and will pack to full capacity until the end of the season. This is bound to have a certain improving effect on business of the city.

Utilities Finances Are In Confusion.

A situation has arisen in the city council that seems hardly explicable. Ald. Perry, chairman of the utilities committee, describes the figures and reports as submitted from various city officials on the status and condition of utilities' finances as constituting a "pig's breakfast." He has a set of figures on which he bases his contention that the time for a further reduction of light and power charges is in order immediately. He claims that the surplus of utilities profits is being used for general fund thus lowering the mill rate and that the principle of municipal ownership of utilities is being violated. His view seems to be meeting with the contradiction of the mayor and members of the finance committee who apparently oppose his contentions.

The situation seems to resolve itself into the question as to whether the utilities have really cleared themselves of debt and the consumers are entitled to reduction. As it stands now the public is not very clear on the subject—in fact, some of the aldermen themselves do not seem to know what to make of the whole thing. The facts should be and undoubtedly will be aired at an early date. Some clear cut statement showing the real condition of affairs should be brought forward so that the confusion that now seems to exist will be cleared up. If the consumers are entitled to reduction they should get it, but it should be definitely ascertained first if the utilities are really "out of the woods." To many of the consumers who are also property holders a reduction in rates might make little difference. What they would save in their electric light bills they might make up for in taxation. As it is the city is not rolling in wealth and financing here, as elsewhere, is a problem. A certain amount of money has to be raised to carry on the city's business. However, the ordinary consumer of light should not be penalized to lighten the burden of taxation of outside people who are holding property merely for investment purposes. Business like methods should be adopted and the rules of municipal ownership should be lived up to. What adjustments are to be made remains to be seen. It is regrettable in the meantime that what seems like petty bickering should be indulged in between the various committees and officials.

OTHER SIDE OF UTILITIES QUESTION.

Editor Daily News:
 Would you please allow me a little of your valuable space to say a few words as regards the report sprung without warning on the City Council last Monday by the superintendent of the Utilities and which appeared in your issue of Tuesday last. When anyone wants to arrive at the TRUE STANDING of any business, I suppose it stands to reason that it is necessary to start from the very beginning. That is what the finance committee did and what was found perfectly correct by the utilities and finance joint-committee, also by the auditor, the city treasurer and the superintendent of utilities who did not raise any protest at the time.

That statement showed that if the light and power department had had to run their business as a strictly business concern from the very beginning, it would have had a deficit of about $3,000.00 at the end of 1921. This as I say, starting from 1910. In his report the superintendent of utilities leaves out the years 1910, 1911 and 1912 starting from 1913. Any intelligent man, not needing to have great business knowledge, will admit that a statement leaving out three years of operation of the undertaking cannot show a true state of the affairs of the business.

This needs no comment. I am not writing this to start a polemic on this subject, the matter being in the hands of the Committees, but simply to give the other sides of the question and give the ratepayers a fair idea of the facts as they are and have to remain, no matter how well figures can be handled.
 THEO. COLLART.

SALMON FISHING ONLY STARTING

Fisheries Inspector Says Season Should Be Good One—Pinks to Be Packed.

REGULATIONS ARE TO BE STRICTLY ENFORCED

"Spring salmon fishing on the Skeena River has only just commenced and owing to the late spring and cold weather it is anticipated that the run will be light until the climatic conditions improve," said J. T. C. Williams, Dominion Inspector of Fisheries for District No. 2, in an interview with the Daily News yesterday afternoon.

"The run of springs," went on Mr. Williams, "continues fairly good and the prospects are considered encouraging for a good run of this variety this season. The trollers are doing very little except at Wark Canal where some catches are being made. The price is approximately the same as last year."

"It is impossible to foretell anything about the run of sockeye for the coming season. Last year the run was the worst in the history of this district and for absolutely no apparent reason as the spawning grounds had been well seeded. Climatic conditions, however, were unsatisfactory, southeast winds and cold weather prevailed and also there was a heavy freshet in 1917 which probably destroyed a large quantity of spawn. In 1918 nothing of a detrimental character occurred on the spawning grounds. They were well seeded on the Skeena and Rivers Inlet so with favorable climatic conditions we should have a good sockeye run this season."

Rigid Regulations.

"A circular letter has been sent to the canners, fishermen and all the overseers, referring to the rigid enforcement of the fisheries regulations. This circular letter has special reference to the enforcement of the weekly close season and the penalties when seizures are made. Also it states that heavy fines will be imposed on any fishermen operating long nets and duplicating licenses. Special arrangements have been made to prevent infractions of these three regulations."

Full Pack of Pinks.

"Referring to the fall salmon fisheries and particularly to pinks, it is probable the canneries will pack all they can obtain of this variety, which will assist financially both the canneries and the fishermen. Regarding the color and chums, nothing definite is decided in connection with packing these varieties, this depending upon the condition of the market in the fall."

We have also our Soft Finish Service, where for a small additional charge, everything is dried and all flat pieces ironed and folded.

FRIENDS FOR A SHORT TIME.

We were taking the fresh-air children back to the city. At the last minute we missed small Annie. We made a hurried search and found her at last on the floor beside her bed, with her face buried in a pillow. "What's the matter, Annie?" we asked, "What are you crying for?" "I ain't crying," was the indignant reply, "I was just kissing my bed good-bye, 'cause I don't know when I'll ever see another."—Youth's Companion. * * *

TIMBER SALE X3707.
 Sealed tenders will be received by the Minister of Lands at Victoria, not later than noon on the 8th day of June, 1922, for the purchase of Licence X3707, to cut 1,500,000 feet of Spruce, Cedar, Hemlock and Balsam, situated on an area on the East Arm of Drayney Inlet, Range 2, Coast Land District.
 Two (2) years will be allowed for removal of timber.

Minister Of Lands Tells Of Many Matters Taken up By Him in Eastern Canada

"When in Ottawa I took up a variety of questions with the various departments," said Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, yesterday on his return from the east. "The Indian Reserve question has been outstanding for a long time and we are desirous of getting it finally adjusted. Specific reference was made to the Kilsilano Reserve, Vancouver, and the Songhees Reserve, Victoria. The Department of Interior and the Marine Department assured me that these matters would be pursued without delay."

"I discussed tentatively the matter of Park administration. Some time ago arrangements were made with the Dominion Government to administer the Banff-Windermere Park in British Columbia. The Mount Robson Park adjacent to the Jasper Park on the Canadian National, is wonderfully attractive and properly developed will be the rendezvous of thousands of tourists. While no definite arrangements have been made I discussed the question of administration at Ottawa. I think that with the Dominion and the province co-operating much more effective work can be done in the development of the park. This will be advantageous to British Columbia in general and to Northern B. C. in particular."

"I also advised Ottawa in considering the claims of the Prairie Provinces for the return of their natural resources, that British Columbia expected consideration of its claim for the return of the 'Railway Belt' and the 'Peace River Block.'"
Timber Business.
 "I took up with the Marine Department the desirability of the Canadian Merchant Marine continuing to be available for transportation of British Columbia lumber to various parts of the world. It is of vital importance that shipping should be available for British Columbia timber products. Speaking of timber products it may surprise the people of B. C. that the largest single market for B. C. products at the present time is the Province of Ontario. The province of B. C. maintains a trade extension office on Yonge St., Toronto, and it is doing excellent work in making known the uses of B. C. timber."

Building in Toronto this year in April was double that of last year. The Toronto office with the assistance of the timber industry itself is being fitted up with B. C. timber. While I was there a number of people called who stated that architects had specified B. C. timber for certain purposes and as they were not familiar with the B. C. product they desired to see samples. This educational work is, I know appreciated by the industry.
Question of Immigration.
 I also discussed with Ottawa the question of immigration. The Minister of Interior proposed to call a conference of Dominion and Provincial representatives in order to bring about a co-ordination and co-operation of effort that there may be no overlapping. I assured the Minister that B. C. was only too anxious to co-operate and suggested to the Minister that wherever immigration work was undertaken, provincial representatives, nominees of the Provincial Government, should be taken into the Dominion service in order that reliable and first hand information might be available in the work. For example it can hardly be expected that a man from the maritime provinces would know much of B. C., and it seems obvious that some one familiar with each province should be available to carry on the work. I found a considerable divergence of opinion in the East upon the immigration question. There are a number of people who do not want any further influx of people to the country at the present time. There are others again who are in favor of a restricted measure of immigration and there are some who are in favor of a rather wide open policy.

Favors Selection.
 There are no doubt many angles to the problem and while I am personally in favor of a selective measure of immigrants I do not think it feasible to carry out a policy which will insure a reasonable number of settlers coming into the country upon such restricted basis as a number of people who have given the matter consideration would impose. If we confine immigration solely to those who are already familiar with farming operations and who have plenty of money to carry themselves through, we will not get many people into the country.
No Spoon Feeding.
 Everyone admits that we have tremendous potential resources but it takes people to develop them. Many are afraid that the new comers will flock to the cities and will have to be spoon fed. This is a natural inference from the fact that a large number of people who are already here have been flocking to the cities and have given indication that they expect the government to work out a solution. People have got to come to a realization that the way of easy money is over and that only by work and perseverance can progress be made. There is no royal road to development of our resources any more than there is to learning. Necessity is the mother of invention and difficulties are themselves a spur to their own solution. A careful selection of healthy immigrants in reasonable numbers should not meet with any insuperable difficulty in assimilation. Canada is bound to be a country composed of people of various extractions. In the city of Prince Rupert we have a cosmopolitan population. I venture to say that many of our citizens had nothing when they came here, yet they have rendered a valuable service in helping to build up this city and at the same time they have worked out for themselves a comfortable position in the life of the community. There is no reason why we should not continue to absorb the virile healthy people of many nationalities and the time to get them here is when they are young. We cannot expect middle aged men and women to forget the land of nativity. They would be poor citizens of this country who could so soon forget their own, but we can expect that they will be law abiding Canadians and that their children will grow up to be through and through Canadians.

"While I am aware that business in B. C. is not as buoyant as one could wish, after all, we must consider our position by comparison with other places. In this respect I believe B. C. to be in better shape than any other province in the Dominion. Careful enquiries in well informed circles in the east will convince anyone interested of this. The reason is obvious. The year 1921 was one of serious deflation and B. C. happens to be in the position of not having so much deflating to do as most of the other provinces."

POLICE COMMISSION GETS LETTER FROM ATTORNEY GENERAL

Provincial Government to See That Municipalities Strictly Enforce Liquor Control Act.

A letter from Hon. A. M. Manson, attorney general in connection with the administration of the Liquor Control Act was received by the police commission last night and ordered filed with receipt acknowledged.

"It has come to my attention that there has been a great laxity in many of our municipalities in the enforcement of the Government Liquor Act," said the letter in part. "I am therefore taking this opportunity of calling the attention of the police commissioners of all the municipalities in British Columbia to their obligations in this connection. In the event of any municipality failing to enforce the law, the Liquor Board may, under the Act, take such steps as it deems necessary to properly enforce the provisions of the Act and the amount of costs and expenses necessarily incurred by the Board may be deducted from the monies otherwise payable to the municipality, that is, from the municipality's net share of the liquor profits."

There was some brief discussion on the report, the commissioners remarking that they were glad to see that the Attorney General's department was going to do something to assist the local authorities in enforcing the law.

"My Mirror Told Me"

THE excitement of business emergencies kept me so busy that I did not notice that I was losing out physically, until one day, when looking in a mirror, I suddenly realized my condition. I could see then that I was rapidly approaching a nervous breakdown.

"About that time a friend of mine told me about what a large proportion of life insurance applications were being turned down because of physical disabilities resulting from the tense nervous strain of recent years.

"What was I to do?"

"Well, my wife had noticed me being nervous and worried, and had been at me for some time to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, so I decided to give it a try-out.

"During the first week I could not see much improvement, and was getting rather discouraged. I could not sleep, and had no appetite. Everything worried me so that I was continually nervous and irritable. But my wife saw to it that I did not miss my regular dose of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and by the second week I began to sleep better and to feel more cheerful.

"From that time on this restorative treatment seemed to build me right up, and I know now that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food saved me from a nervous breakdown.

"There must be many thousands of men and women in this country who are in just such a serious condition as I was, and who can benefit by my experience."

Why Be "Skinny"

When It's so EASY to Build Flesh this New Way

Do you need more flesh? Are you pale, lacking in energy—or is your complexion pitted by humiliating pimples, blackheads, or boils? If so, simply go to your druggist's and get a package of IRONIZED YEAST tablets. Take these remarkably effective tablets—two with each meal. Then watch the results! Very likely you will be actually astonished at the improvement shown in you even after the first 48 hours. IRONIZED YEAST embodies a remarkable new scientific process—a process which enables yeast to bring its splendid results often in just half the usual time.

The New Process
While yeast alone is good, tests show that it needs some other agent in order to quickly convert its wonderful health-building elements into firm tissue, new cheeks and sparkling vitality.

Everyone knows that iron is of great value in converting our food into living cells and tissue. So, to overcome this problem, our scientists finally discovered the wonderful process of ironization—the process through which the combination of yeast and iron becomes 100% efficient.

Do not think, however, that a combination of yeast and iron will do. Yeast ferments in heat and quickest results only when it is treated through the scientific process of ironization. And this process is embodied only in IRONIZED YEAST, the one scientifically correct yeast treatment.

Money Back Guarantee
Get IRONIZED YEAST from your dealer's today. Satisfactory results from first package or money refunded. No charge. Beware of inferior imitations.

Two Men in a Car

A short account of a Trip to California in a Ford Flivver
By H. F. Pullen

UNDER EUCALYPTUS TREES.

WILLOW, California—This is a little place in the midst of the rice fields of California. Tonight we camped in the city auto camping ground in a eucalyptus grove with its fragrant odors and the birds chirping in the boughs overhead. It is a flat country and for half of the day today we drove through a similar flat country on a paved road amid rice fields and peach orchards, nut groves and other plantations indicative of a warm climate. The oak trees are in full leaf, the farmers are cutting their first alfalfa crop and here and there the way has been fragrant with new mown hay. It is a great change from Prince Rupert. The early part of the evening was hot, almost refreshing. I think the weather is hotter than usual for the time of year.

A Eucalyptus Grove.

On arrival at our camping ground we found it a square enclosure of possibly ten acres with eucalyptus trees shading the space allotted to tents and an open square covered with grass in the middle, and right in the centre a pavilion with lavatories, shower baths, and a common sitting room for those who wished to use it. I noticed, however, that nobody used it. In the grove were little enclosures covered with mosquito netting in which the campers could locate if the flies were bad, leaving their ears standing alongside. It is our first night in a camping park, as hitherto we have studiously avoided them, choosing rather to camp on the banks of a stream right away from the crowd. Here there are no streams. Everything is flat.

THREE LADIES OF PRESBYTERIAN AID HOSTESSES AT TEA

Very Successful Affair Took Place Yesterday Afternoon in Church Hall.

A very successful tea and sale of home cooking was held by the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian Church in the church hall yesterday afternoon. The hostesses being Mrs. W. J. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. George Rorie and Mrs. W. Anderson.

Mrs. H. R. Grant poured and the serving was in the hands of Mrs. S. L. Warrior, Miss Nancy Rorie and Mrs. D. C. McRae. The home cooking department was in charge of Mrs. D. H. Morrison and Mrs. J. G. Steen.

An interesting feature was the sewing competition, the material for which was donated by Jahour Bros. The first prize, a silver thimble donated by Mrs. John Bulger, was won by Mrs. Arthur and the second, a handkerchief provided from the sale, by Mrs. D. H. McDonald.

A very enjoyable whist drive and social was held by the Pythian Sisters last night in the Knights of Pythias Castle Hall. Miss May Shenton was the winner of the ladies' first prize and Mrs. T. J. Shenton was some part of the world.

Variations of climate are a feature of this trip. Away back in Klamath valley it was terribly hot and uncomfortable so hot that when we stopped for lunch beside a fine stream and rested beneath a tree, it was still almost too hot to eat or breathe. Farther along this all changed and evening in the Shasta mountain region was much like our finest evenings at home.

Where to Live.

Where to live is a great problem with many people. With others the bother is how to live. One is just about as puzzling as the other. With us the great thing is to make our holiday dole go as far as possible, while the Californians and Oregonians do their best to make us exceed the limit.

We notice the people very browned, except those working in stores and offices. In some communities along the road, anyone not brown is a subject for comment and most of them wear brown clothes, something the color of Khaki.

I am writing these rambling notes in the hope that they may be of interest to some of the Daily News readers. Others will skip them. They are all written under adverse conditions, with all sorts of distracting circumstances. Just now I am sitting on a low stool at the rear of the car and writing by the light of the tail lamp of the car, the only one that burns when the car is stationary. Tomorrow we expect to sleep in a hotel in San Francisco.

T. L. COUNCIL WELCOMES NEW LADY DELEGATE

Miss H. T. Hickey is First Lady to Attend Meeting of Council as Delegate

FAIR WAGE AND REFORM IN HOSPITALS TAKEN UP

The Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council welcomed its first lady delegate at the meeting on Tuesday night in the person of Miss H. T. Hickey representing the Civic Employees' Union.

G. B. Casey gave a report outlining the plans and policy of the newly formed union. Seven unions in all were represented at the meeting.

It was decided to ask Hon. A. Manson, minister of labor, to take the necessary steps towards adopting and recognizing the Union rates in all parts of the province as the fair wage standard for all government work and all other undertakings, public or private, subsidized by the government.

A committee of three was appointed to wait upon the hospital board, the city council and the Central Labor Council asking them to endorse a plan for the operating of all public hospitals and medical attendance as provincial institutions supported by the government along lines similar to the operation of the schools.

President S. D. Macdonald gave a report telling of a cordial reception received and success achieved at the conference with the Board of Trade when he had asked for a joint committee with the board on labor matters. It was decided that President Macdonald, Ald. R. A. McLeod and Len Dewhurst would represent the Trades and Labor Council on the joint committee with the Board of Trade.

TRANSPORTATION IS BLAMED FOR HIGH POLICE COSTS HERE

Police Commissioner Shockey, asked at the meeting of the commission last night why it was that in New Westminster, where the population is some 11,500 the police estimates came within a few hundred dollars of the estimates of this city. Some discussion took place and it was shown that while the jail in New Westminster was right on the ground the question of the transportation costs of prisoners from here to the south was a big item.

It cost $26.30 per man from here to Vancouver, and 75c per man car fare from Vancouver to New Westminster, plus the cost of the escort there and back and the cost of constable's hotel expenses for lay over until next boat. This expenditure is no necessary in New Westminster.

POLICE REPORT FOR MONTH OF APRIL IS PRESENTED TO BOARD

The report of the chief of police for the month of April presented to the police commission at its meeting last night showed that there had been 21 cases brought before the magistrate in the police court during the month and fines had totalled $695. Of the 26 cases, there had been 20 convictions, 3 dismissals, one withdrawal and cases pending. There were three convictions under the Opium and Narcotic Drug Act. During this month 10 raids had been undertaken by the police in search for drugs. Under the Moderation Act there were nine convictions, eight for intoxication and one for having unsealed liquor in possession. The city was in a very orderly condition according to the report. Weights of bread and coal were tested and found to be correct.

The new rules passed upon by the baseball executive on Tuesday night regarding hits to the back pile at the Aeropolis grounds should go a long way towards solving a vexed problem over which there has been a lot of discussion and difference of opinion in the past. The rock pile has always been a bone of contention between contending teams and has proved a great difficulty to fielders in saving from becoming home runs hits that would, on any other field, never be worth the diamond circuit. It is to be hoped that the new rules now framed will the question satisfactorily.

WHAT ARE WE TO SAY ABOUT CONAN DOYLE?

Peculiar Traits Are Coming Out in "Most English of Englishmen."

(By E. T. Raymond, in John O'London's Weekly.)

Ten years ago anybody writing about Sir Arthur Conan Doyle would surely have laid stress on the fact that, though old old Irish blood and born and educated in Edinburgh, he was the most English Englishman in letters.

Sir Arthur's Englishness was of the kind which pervades every sentence a man writes, just as the perfume of musk hangs about every individual brick in the cathedral of St. Sophia. But blobs of it are also constantly occurring. It comes out thus when Brigadier Gerard begins to talk in the manner of, say, Sir Clement Kinloch, Cooke about the happy English knack of colonization; when Sherlock Holmes depreciates M. Lecog; when he makes the King of Bihenna look small in the presence of British chivalry; enlarges on the moral sweetness of amateur sport, and patronizes an American on the ground that he might have been an Englishman but for George III. Very English, also, is the zest with which Sir Arthur makes Holmes occasionally lecture very blue-blooded people who seek his advice. The love of aristocracy in general is not less English than the love of telling an individual aristocrat that no British gallery would approve of his conduct.

The Earlier Materialism.

Of course there were moments, as in the spirited little story of "The Green Flag," when we were abruptly reminded that Sir Arthur had an understanding of some things that are hidden to an Englishman. Perhaps there was a trace, also, on the intellectual side, of the Scot. The thoroughness of the earlier Doyle materialism—worship of the "sixty-ounce brain" and so forth—suggested the countryman of Hume; and a certain sharp dogmatic quality emerging from the superficial latitudinarianism of a book-like "Mical Clarke" might derive from the covenanting Lowlander.

But such things could only accentuate the great truth that the lesser breeds without the law might sooner hope to produce another Shakespeare than duplicate the inventor of Sherlock Holmes.

A Parable.

What are we to say today? How are we to account for the mysticism of the later Doyle period? Was the Englishness of Sir Arthur only skin-deep after all? Is the really important thing in his mentality that old Irish strain? Is it in his Milesian descent that we must seek the explanation of a phenomenon as puzzling as any in literary history?

A few years ago an Irish paper published a paragraph, as if it were the most ordinary thing in the world, to the effect that a "leprechaun" had been found near Bally-something and had been taken to the workhouse at Bally-something else. Newspapers of all kinds are annoyingly inconsecutive, and I could never find another mention of the matter. Very likely it was just a joke. But it was a joke of a kind that would have no point in England. We can not imagine the Manchester Guardian informing its readers, even in irony that Puck had been allowed unemployment pay. Any English sub-editor might chaff a sea-serpent. A "leprechaun" would go straight into the waste paper basket.

Whatever the origin of this mysterious business, it remains for me as a sort of parable of the singular union of the extremes of materialism and mysticism in the Irish mind. In politics this union has puzzled generations of Englishmen; in religion it gives a special character to the Irish people; in literature it offers, I think, an obstacle to any full English understanding of Irish genius. But possibly it may explain something of the miracle of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's duality.

Sherlock Holmes.

The peculiar charm of "Sherlock Holmes" is related to its excessive materialism, its perpetual stress on the commonplace. It brings out the glamour of the ordinary; it succeeds in getting the effect of romance by emphasizing the prosaic. The detective is a character not because of his

FIFTEEN BOILS ON NECK AT ONE TIME

Anyone who has suffered from boils can sympathize with poor old Job. There was no Burdock Blood Bitters in those days, so Job had to suffer in silence. Nowadays no one need endure the misery of boils.

Boils are simply evidences of the bad blood within coming to the surface and just when you get rid of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your misery.

All the poulticing and lancing you may do will not stop more coming.

What you have to do is take

and the blood will be cleansed of all its impurities, and then every boil will disappear.

Mr. Roy McSwain, High Bank, P. E. I., writes—"I was troubled with boils for some time, and had as many as fifteen on my neck at once. After taking one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters they commenced to get better, and after I had taken two bottles I was relieved of them and felt much better. I think B. B. B. is a grand blood medicine, and can recommend it highly."

For the past 45 years B. B. B. has been manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

few out-of-the-way habits, but because he is, on the whole, just the sort of person who might very well put up with Dr. Watson. His rooms are just like any other rooms; his talk is anybody's talk; he is just a common London bachelor doing uncommon things. Stevenson would have made him as incredible as Prince Florizel, by force of being picturesque; Doyle makes him entirely credible by force of being humdrum.

It is the same with the puzzles Holmes is called on to unravel. There is a real thrill in many, and only a very few fail to maintain a certain eagerness in the reader. But this is achieved in a quite peculiar fashion. There is no psychological interest, as in Stevenson; everybody does everything in the most obvious way and for the most obvious motive. There is no macabre interest, as in Poe; the more outre stories of Doyle are, as a rule, much less successful than, for example, the little masterpiece of the commonplace, the affair of the man with the tooth stuffed with gold.

The Secret.

The secret, I think, is simply the skill with which, by an insistence on the everyday, we are made to feel that these extraordinary things do happen all the time, and might happen to us. The stolidity of Watson is either an accident or a great stroke of genius; it is worth all the "inferences and theories" of his idol. We believe in Holmes' inductions the simply because the doctor's faith is infectious; and Watson is ever present in the spirit even when he happens to be physically missing. That is to say, we are never allowed to forget that these transactions take place in the least remarkable surroundings and among the most invincibly ordinary people. Here is a man horribly and mysteriously dead in an empty house; it is a large part of the thing that you can get the key at the auctioneer's twenty doors away, and that you know that the wallpaper is faded red flock peeled off in one corner, as in nineteen empty Brixton houses out of twenty. Here is a retired desperado harpooned in his cabin; it is essential that you should recognize the shanty as one you have seen a hundred times, and wondered if anything ever happened in it.

Might Happen to Anybody.

The whole point of the Holmes stories, in short, is that they might happen to anybody; Watson is ourselves as we are; Holmes as we might be if we used our eyes and brains. The art resides not in inventing some gorgeous Eastern treasure or some strange exotic devilry, but in fitting it to a dull street we pass every day. It lies in making us realize that things do happen in Peckham, and that the primest suburban "Chatsworth" of "Ivanhoe" may have a back staircase leading down to hell.

The matter-of-factness is the special quality of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle in his capacity of romancer. In his character of spiritualist we see it working in reverse. The detective stories live on the witness of the tame; the spiritualistic visions do something much more extraordinary—they domesticate the supernatural.

We start away with Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson in a hansom cab for West Ham, and the end of the journey lands us the thick of a royal intrigue or an Arabian Nights mystery. We start away with Sherlock Holmes' creator for the Seventh Heaven, and find ourselves somewhere very much like an improved Letchworth, where apparently people work—perhaps even write detective stories—for the mere joy of the thing, listen to good music, stroll with their domestic pets (or the ghosts of them) in beautiful gardens attached to "pleasant homesteads," and even enjoy the "equivalents" of tobacco and alcohol.

This summary of Sir Arthur's description of the hereafter is not given in a spirit of flippancy. Flippancy is out of place in the presence of sincere faith of any kind.
