Curious Shootings Worry New York

IRISH TURMOIL SEEMS TO BE ON INCREASE RATHER THAN ABATE

Street Shootings in New York Occurred Last Night and Early This Morning

NEW YORK, March 27.—Street murders are causing quite a sensation here. Three men were shot to death at different parts of the city last night and early today and the city is all agog over the tragedies.

One man, according to the police account, was lured by a fashionably dressed young woman and shot down from a taxicab. Another was slain as he walked through a crowd of pedestrians at the corner of 110th Street and Fifth Avenue. The third was shot in Brooklyn Street.

The police do not yet know if there is any connection between these shootings, but they strongly suspect that they are related. Happening in the fashionable section of the city they have attracted more attention than they otherwise would.

MONEY CRISIS AT HOSPITAL

Bank Refuses to Extend Further Credit With $5000 Over-draft Now.

The finance committee met yesterday to consider the situation following the refusal of the bank to extend further credit to the hospital. It was decided to ask to meet the finance committee of the city council to discuss the whole matter of finances of the local institution.

At the meeting it was pointed out that the hospital is at the cross roads where they must either continue to serve the city and district well or cut down the service. By far the greater number of indigent patients come from the city and for that reason it is thought the city is liable to contribute largely to the support of the institution.

It was decided by the committee to appoint a collector who would gather in the unpaid amounts outstanding from former patients. It is not expected that poor people would pay, but there are others who are not in bad circumstances whose accounts are still outstanding.

In order to get the cash disbursements the hospital pays cash for its supplies and it is necessary that those using it pay promptly, it was pointed out.

There is now a $5000 overdraft and the bank does not care to extend further credit.

Grand Trunk Pacific Improves.

There is an improvement on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. Last year the road almost paid its way. It was behind only four millions as compared with ten millions the previous year.

With so small a deficit on the line, it should not be a difficult matter to pull the railway out of the mire and make it a paying line. A lot of business originates here and along the Bulkley Valley, and every year will see the amount of business on the increase, especially if the Dominion Government carries out its immigration policy and the lands along the line are settled up.

Once the railway is on a paying basis outsiders will be impressed with the importance of the district. They will realize that this is a part of the world to be reckoned with.

Much Need of Help in Russia.

An appeal from the Archbishop of Rupert's Land, Primate of Canada, was read in the Anglican Church yesterday at both services outlining the need of aid for the sufferers from famine in Russia. It was shown that the peasants of the Volga district were dying by the million. Aid is asked in order to save the children and it is guaranteed that all monies contributed shall be effective for the purpose desired.

Dependents of Condemned Criminals.

Before sentencing twelve men convicted on charges in connection with the rioting at New Aberdeen, Cape Breton, in January, when a store of the Dominion Coal Company was looted and $80,000 worth of damage done, Mr. Justice Benjamin Russell of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia made the following comment upon the penal system of Canada:

"For many years a few ardent advocates of prison reform have been endeavoring to obtain public recognition of the necessity for some changes in the methods of prison administration, but the voice has been as a voice crying in a wilderness of indifference and selfish unconcern. It is obvious to you as it is to every judge who has to pronounce sentence upon a criminal who is the breadwinner of a family, but the punishment falls more heavily upon the innocent wife and children that it does upon the actual criminal himself. This is a matter to which reference is made in the very excellent report of a committee appointed by the last and outgoing administration at Ottawa. I have never been able to see any good reason why a prisoner, simply because he is imprisoned within the walls of a penitentiary, should cease to be responsible for the upkeep of his family; and there is no good reason in ordinary times why he should not be compelled to provide for them. I believe that the great question, and indeed the only question, that presents itself in this connection—the only thing that prevents the introduction of a system under which the criminal might be made to support his family—is the objection made by organized labor itself. The difficulty lies in the objection that has been made to the proposal that prison labor should be permitted to come into competition with the industry of the free laborer. The representatives of the people in our legislatures have naturally been deterred from enacting the necessary legislation by the fear of the vote of organized labor. Walt Whitman, in one of his poems, speaks of 'audacity of elected men.' I have never been able to understand this phrase. If he had spoken of the timidity of elected persons I should have been better able to appreciate his words. I am speaking with a sense of conviction on this subject, having, in more than one sphere, experienced the feelings of an elected person myself, and I will not pretend to have been any more free from the temptation to sidetrack a difficult proposition than the average elected person. But I wish to show from the report to which I have already referred that there need be no cause for timidity in this case; that there is no reason in the world for the objection that has been raised by the labor organization to the proposal that the convicted prisoners should be allowed in the penitentiary—and compelled in the penitentiary to do some remunerative labor by means of which he can be made to minister to the support of his wife and children."

His wife endowed With greater vision Is sure to have Him in derision.

IT would be easy enough for some people to make up their minds if they had any to make up.

SOME people who have no minds to make up devote their time to making up their faces.

OTHERS make up to girls.

OTHERS make up when they have quarrelled with somebody.

ITS had to be short of stature but to be short of cash puts you in a helvaxif.

THE only comment I have to make is "look before you break."

COMMENTS ON THE ELECTION

Victoria Newspaper Says There is Inherent Weakness in Conservative Party.

VICTORIA, March 27.—Premier Oliver announces that the Vancouver and Granbrook by-elections will not be brought on until after the court of revision in June. This will mean that it will be autumn by the time the new lists can be made up and printed.

The ministers here regard the Nelson election as an endorsement of Liberal policies. Since the Government has been strengthened by the admission of former Speaker Manson in place of J. W. DeB. Farris and the two or three irritating difficulties have been cleaned up, the Government is feeling quite secure in its tenure of office.

The Colonist, the local Conservative organ, commenting on the recent election intimates that the Conservatives have some inherent weakness and everybody takes it to mean the weakness in the leadership. The Colonist editorial says:

"Mr. Kenneth Campbell, the member-elect is very popular in Nelson apart from his Liberal proclivities," says the Colonist, "but his opponent was probably personally just as popular, and from this we argue that the result of the by-election must be accepted as an endorsement of the policies of the government."

"The result in Nelson will go far to dispose of all rumors of the possibility of a provincial election during the present year."

"It would be idle to deny that the result in Nelson will be a keen disappointment to the Conservative party. It is an indication of some inherent weakness which calls for rectification. The sooner a provincial convention is held and a platform drawn up with intensive plans devised for organizing and inspiring the party, the better all Conservatives will be pleased."

CABARET AND DANCE AT OCEAN FALLS IS ON CARDS TOMORROW

OCEAN FALLS, March 27.—For the past week rehearsals have been going on in connection with the cabaret and dance to be given here tomorrow evening, and the affair promises to culminate in one of high class entertainment.

Approximately two hundred and forty tickets have already been sold, and many table reservations booked. The management has received orchestral copies of up to the minute music, and the jazz orchestra and chorus are working out in fine form.

Yam-yam costumes worn by the chorus will be of blue and gold and table decorations, etc., will be carried out in the same color effects.

If sparkling comedy and snappy songs have attraction the affair should go over big.

George McFarland will look after the entertainment end, Gordon Newcomb the refreshments, Mr. Maurice Gorkill on the floor, while the chorus lineup will be Miss B. King, Miss O. Kirtin, Miss I. Wardell and Miss A. Nutt.

PIPE DREAMS

And now a kissograph, for the measurement of the effect of kisses, has been invented. "I love you," says the youth fervently, and takes her in his arms. "Will you be mine?" "No," responds the maiden firmly. "I see by the kissograph that you are three units behind so-and-so. We must part forever." Is nothing sacred from these scientists?

As a suitable safety-valve for irate fans at boxing bouts, and games, punching bags bearing the name of the referee should be provided in order that the spectators might express their feelings.

The sisters of Ambrose Small, missing theatrical magnate, have decided to try spiritualism in an effort to solve the mystery. I hope the Author's Association lobbied the spirits and urges them to maintain a dignified silence in the interests of the writing profession. To have any interference from the next world in such a matter would be to set a precedent that might ultimately destroy the mystery story.

When the German lover "pops the question" in future, the lady might counter with, "What are your views on socialism, short skirts, hair nets, pantheism, and baked potatoes?" And then they could match opinions and discover whether they were mentally fitted to live together.

BUNGALOWS IN JASPER PARK

Canadian National Railways Have the Work Already in Hand.

As a part of the scheme for increasing tourist travel on the Canadian National lines, the management, backed by the government department of railways, has decided to erect in Jasper Park a series of bungalows. A series of these is already under construction at Lac Beauvert with a large community house, which will contain a general living room, dining room and office.

The new buildings, while of the rustic type, will be up-to-date in every particular, including water-light and sanitary arrangements. Each bungalow will have four rooms and they are expected to be in readiness by June 15 of this year. They will be operated under the hotel department of the Canadian National Railways.

In previous years the tourist business at Jasper Park has been looked after by a tent city at the same spot but operated under private auspices.

Do All Diamonds Look Alike To You?

If they do, you are certainly not an authority on this, the most popular of all gems. BECAUSE there is really an immense difference in diamonds.

You will have to take somebody's word for it and we invite you to put your trust in us. We have a nice engagement ring for $50, pure white stone of rare brilliancy and the latest setting, also one for $35.00. Others $100, $150 to $500.

"GIFTS THAT LAST"

How young those ankles make her look!

"YOU'D be surprised, Molly, if you knew I was responsible for that! When she first arrived, she asked me to tell her what were the best stockings she could buy.

"Of course, I said Mercury—I've worn them for years—and I told her about them being seamless with a wide top and full-fashioned calf. She asked how they fitted around the ankle—I just raised my foot to show her, and that was enough! And you know yourself how well they wear.

"So she went right down and bought Mercury—now she's got as trim an ankle as I ever saw."

Mr. WILFRED
ANEY 42 Loyal Avenue,

writes: "On active service with the R.F.C. I contracted piles through sleeping on damp ground. Treatment by the M.O. brought no relief and various "pile remedies" I tried proved equally hopeless. Shortly after my discharge from the service a friend strongly advised me to get Zam-Buk. One box of the balm brought such benefit that I determined to continue the treatment. In a few weeks Zam-Buk caused the piles to completely disappear. All other sufferers should know of this wonderful herbal healer. Use ZAM-BUK for all your Skin Troubles."

CHURCH MAKES AN APPEAL TO SAVE CHILDREN

Millions Dying in Russia But Many May Yet Be Kept Alive.

LETTER READ YESTERDAY.

At the Anglican Church yesterday Rev. Canon Rix read a pastoral letter from the Primate of Canada making an appeal on behalf of the children of Russia who are dying of famine. The appeal says in part:

Today I make my appeal to you on behalf of the sufferers from a calamity which exceeds, in its horror all known examples of similar afflictions. Of this truly colossal calamity a recent observer, Dr. Hansen, after careful survey reports, and his report has been confirmed by a direct representative of the Dominion Government:

"I venture to say that it is beyond question the most appalling famine that has ever happened in the recorded history of man. There have been great famines in the poorer parts of India and China, but this is a famine in the most prosperous of the grain providing areas of Europe. And now that it has come it is incomparably worse, even than I had feared. It is worse because the region is inhabited not, as I believed, by 15 million, but by 33 million people, of whom at least 19 million are directly or seriously menaced with death, and of whom millions are inevitably doomed to die whatever we may now do, because it is too late to help them all."

Drought, unprecedented in its severity, extended last year over the great wheat-growing regions along the Volga River; a densely populated area about equal in length to the distance from Toronto to Winnipeg, and five hundred miles, or more, wide. In this whole area scarcely a single kernel of the wheat sown appeared above the ground.

This Year and Next.
Dr. Nansen adds: "There have been droughts before in Russia; but there has never been a drought in the memory of man such as that which smote the plains of Russia in 1921. Such a vast economic disaster would have shaken the strongest state to its foundations."

"And remember that this is

Had Bad Cough and Sore Throat

Never neglect a cough or cold however slight. If you do it can have but one result; it leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected. A single dose of will help to stop the cough, soothe the throat, and if the cough or cold has become settled on the lungs the healing virtues of the Norway pine tree along with the soothing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs, roots and barks promptly eradicate the bad effects, and the persistent use cannot but help to bring about relief.

Mr. Albert Marsh, Lower L'Ardoise, N.S., writes:—"About a year ago I contracted a cold accompanied by a very bad cough and sore throat. I sent for the doctor, but what he prescribed did me so little good I began to get discouraged. A friend came to see me and asked me if I had ever used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I told him I had not and sent him right away to get me a bottle. I started using it, and after a couple of days I found I was getting relief, and after taking two bottles the soreness in my throat seemed to be leaving me, so I resolved to continue its use, and after I had used five bottles both my sore throat and cough were gone. I would not be without Dr. Wood's for any money."

JERUSALEM NOT YET HAPPY HOME SITE

Northcliffe Was Shocked at Having to Be Guarded by Armored Cars.

LONDON, March 27.—Lord Northcliffe, British newspaper publisher, expressed surprise on his visit to Jerusalem that it was deemed necessary to meet him and escort him through the streets with armored cars. He said it was a source of wonder to him how little the people in England and America knew about the conditions existing in the Holy Land.

Voicing regret that he found Palestine so unhappy, he asserted that the British public "was imperfectly informed regarding the feeling in Palestine" and he added that he hoped Palestinians would not move too quickly and make Palestine "another Ireland."

Lord Northcliffe was given an opportunity to hear two sides of the Zionist question. A delegation of Orthodox Jews which waited on him protested against Zionism. Later a deputation of Zionists called and requested an expression from him on the Balfour declaration of Great Britain's intention to make this a Jewish homeland. To this latter delegation, the British publisher said:

"No one wishes the Jew, to return to the Holy Land more than I do but I have the greatest respect for the need of armored cars. You exaggerate the idea that the only topic we have in England is Zion. Every one does not agree as yet on the interpretation of the Balfour declaration."

He reminded the Zionists that Orthodox Jewry did not concur in the political aims of Zionism as indicated by the delegation from that faction which had previously called upon him.

Concluding, Lord Northcliffe expressed the hope that Arabs and Jews would be more reasonable in their demands upon England and work together for the good of Palestine.

PRINCE OF WALES WILL SPEND MONTH VISITING IN JAPAN

Leaves That Country on May 8 for Philippine Islands.

LONDON, March 27.—The Prince of Wales is to spend nearly a month in Japan and numerous dinner parties, balls and other ceremonies and entertainments have been arranged in his honor.

The program of his stay in the Mikado's Empire, as announced here, shows that after arriving in Yokohama on the battleship Renown, April 12, he will go straight to Tokio where he will be entertained with dinners at the Japanese foreign office and at the Prime Minister's official residence. The British Embassy in Tokio and the British colony in Yokohama are planning to give balls to celebrate his visit. After a week in those two cities, the Prince will go to Nikko for two days and afterwards will visit Odawara and Lake Hakone, visiting Yokohama on the way to unveil the inter-Allied war memorial arch which has been erected by popular subscription on the "Bluff," the foreign residential district.

Later, he will proceed by automobile to Shoji, where he will remain over night and on the following day will go to Iida where he will descend the Tenryugawa rapids as far as the railway line where he will take the train for Kioto. One week

MARGUERITE CLARK IS BACK IN MOVIES

Popular Star Is to Be Seen Here
Tonight in "Scrambled Wives."

Miss Marguerite Clark has selected for her first independent film production the comedy, "Scrambled Wives," one of the Broadway successes of last season. In this production, which is released by Associated First National Pictures, Inc., she comes to the Westholme Theatre tonight. Miss Clark plays the part of Mary Lucille Smith, a young girl who thinks she has a "dark and terrible past" to hide. The secret in her life is that as a result of a perfectly innocent boarding school escapade she had been rushed into a marriage with a boy whom she scarcely knew. Luckily she was rescued from this embarrassing situation almost before the ceremony was completed. The marriage was quietly annulled and Mary Lucille packed off to Europe to forget her mad prank. Coming back, she falls in love with Larry McLeod. It is a desperate case of love at first sight on both sides. Mary Lucille conceals her past from Larry and accepts an invitation to a house party at his sister's house. Who should turn up among the guests but her ex-husband, now more or less happily married to a pretty and jealous young woman. Complications begin the moment Mary Lucille crosses the threshold of the country house, and the tangle of misunderstandings goes on from one laughable scene to another, ending in a climax of rapid-fire comedy.

JOURNAL URGES KEEP UP WAGES

Editorial in Canadian Municipal Journal Thinks It Not Wise to Reduce.

An article on municipal salaries published in the Canadian Municipal Journal follows:
In order to meet the budget for 1922, the council of one large city in Canada has decided to cut down the expenses by reducing the salaries of all its officials. To our mind this is hardly a wise step because, if anything, the present salaries for the work expected are far too small—they are certainly not conducive to efficiency. And what is true of this particular city is also true of the administration of many other municipalities in Canada—the officials are underpaid.
We have recently had the opportunity of examining the financial statement of a number of Canadian cities and towns, and after admiring the ability of the men who prepared the statements, and appreciated the amount of work such statements represented in the financial administration of the community, we are somewhat shocked to see the ridiculously small salaries these treasurers and secretaries were receiving—$1500, $1800 and $2000. And the other officials, particularly the engineers, were receiving proportionately low stipends. Had these men been working for private firms their compensation would have been at least twice what they were receiving as public servants.

Sense of Loyalty.

All we can say is that the municipal officials of Canada have a deep sense of loyalty to serve the public as efficiently and as faithfully as they do for such small remuneration. But this is no excuse for the councils to grind them down to the last dollar. In the Old Country the salaries of municipal officials, have almost doubled in these last few years, which accounts for them holding on to their posts in spite of the attempts made to wean them away to even more lucrative positions. Even in American cities the officials are receiving today much better salaries.

The great danger of reducing salaries, as the first step to reduce civic salaries, is that it creates uncertainty and dissatisfaction. A dissatisfied servant can not give good service—it is impossible.

HERRING FISHING NOW FALLING OFF

Bradbury & Yelf Have Pounds at Captain's Cove Full—Will Last Until June.

Although it will continue for some three weeks yet, the herring fishing in the vicinity of this port is falling off considerably now. Where the boats bring in live fish to the pounds of the N. M. & R. Fish Co. and the Bradbury & Yelf Co. at Captain's Cove a short time ago were taking 70 tons to a trip the average is now 10 and 15.

Jack Bradbury arrived on Friday evening on the Tip Top from Jap Inlet, Porecher Island, where his company is putting in a second pound. He reports that the pound at Captain's Cove is now full and has a supply of herring bait in the trap that will last till well into the month of June. The two boats, Tip Top and Bethune, which his company operates in this business, will now be carrying herring to Jap Inlet which, of course, will not have as big a supply as Captain's Cove.

The N. M. & R. Co. and Bradbury & Yelf have pounds both at Captain's Cove and Jap Inlet.

Oxford and Cambridge Annual Event to Take Place as Usual

OXFORD IS WEAKER.

LONDON, March 27.—(Canadian Press).—With the rowing of the University boat race on Saturday of next week, the eight oared crews representing Oxford and Cambridge Universities will decide for another twelve months the supremacy in rowing of either the dark blue or the light blue, and the historic aquatic struggle that has continued for almost a century will have come up for another decision.

For over a century rowing has played its part in the athletic life of English colleges and Universities, with the first recorded race between college boats taking place at Oxford in 1815. Cambridge took up rowing a few years later and the first Oxford-Cambridge boat race was held in 1829, being rowed at Henley-on-Thames. Seven years later, or in 1836 the Light and Dark Blues met in their second race, this time rowing from Westminster to Putney. Much difficulty was experienced in the earlier days in arranging for the race between the rival universities, and it was not until 1856 that a common understanding was arrived at and the "boat race" established as an annual competition between the Light Blue (Cambridge) and the Dark Blue (Oxford) eights. With the exception of the war years, 1915-1919, there have been no breaks in the continuity of the annual race. In only one year was no winner proclaimed, this being in 1877, when the race resulted in a dead heat.

Never Abandoned.

High winds or stormy weather has never caused an abandonment of the race and in 1872 the race was rowed in a snowstorm, while in 1898 the eights took to the water in a gale. Honors were evenly distributed, Cambridge winning in the snowstorm and Oxford leading their opponents in the gale. In 1912 the boats of both crews sank and the race had to be rowed over, Oxford winning the second race.

In recent years Cambridge has had slightly the better of the argument, winning ten of the seventeen races since 1900. The Light Blues in 1914, won the last race before the postponement of the races during the war, and on a resumption after the war, won in 1920, and repeated last year. However, records dating back to the inauguration of the "boat race" show that the Dark Blues have a slight margin over the Light Blues, winning on 38 occasions, as compared to 33 victories for Cambridge, Oxford has had two prolonged periods during which they have had winning crews, winning the race on nine successive years, from 1861 to 1869, and duplicated this feat in the 1890-1898 period. Cambridge's best run of victories covered the five years, 1870-1874.

Oxford Weaker.

The crews this year completed their training on their home waters almost a month ago, the Oxford crew going to Bourne End on March 2, when E. D. Horsfall, (Magdalen) took over the supervision of their training. The physique of the Dark Blue this year, is not nearly equal to that of last year's crew and at the time of the ceremonial to Bourne End the most enthusiastic well-wisher of Oxford would hardly assert that their representatives constituted a really good crew. W. N. Campbell, (Christ Church) who came up with such a reputation as a stroke is not an unqualified success. He rows very light and there is always a fear that there may be a recurrence of the strain which twice kept him out of the crew in the early days of practice.

Cambridge Fit.

The Light Blues completed training at Ely on March 2, and after a five days' rest, proceeded to Henley, where they resumed work. The Cambridge eight was badly handicapped in their early training by the heavy winds that constantly prevailed and as a result the Light Blues were unable to work up a fast stroke, except at the risk of pulling the crew all to pieces. Harold Peake, had charge of the coaching at Henley, and he shaped most of the work in the direction of remedying this defect. As a crew they were the best that had been sent to Ely for a long time. They might not be as clever as the 1914 crew was when they left Cambridge, but there is very little to choose between them.

The origin of the billiard game like the birthplace of Homer or the problem of the Sphinx, has ever been a contested point says an interesting article written in a recent Brunswick-Balke catalogue. One of the most reasonable accounts of the origin and antiquity of the game is taken from certain parchments of 1085 which tell of the game having been brought to England first on the return of the Knights Templar from the Crusades in Palestine. The cloistered monks in the Holy Land had used the game as a recreation in the solitude of the monasteries and anterior to that it was possibly played by the Romans. In the reign of Louis XI, of France the game, much improved as compared with the old Eastern game, was played and also during the reign of Henry III. The earliest written records of the game cannot be traced farther back than 148 A.D.

The Kings of France were at all times considered the most powerful and steadfast friends of billiards. Mary, Queen of Scots, was a passionate lover of the game and on the evening preceding her execution wrote to the Archbishop of Glasgow that "her bil-

Referring to the billiard table as a means of healthful exercise especially for scholars and persons of sedentary habits, a United States college physician writes as follows: "I carefully observed for several months the powerful strengthening effects of this peculiar exercise and was much surprised to note the benefits to those possessing weak and defective structures. The game embodies activity of both the mind and body induced by judicious muscular exercise. The motions reach through in the pastime upon every part of the body and operate upon every portion of the frame. The brain, muscles and blood are all stimulated. It may be said in this connection that there are upwards of a dozen educational institutions and several reformatories where the billiard table is looked upon as an indispensable adjunct."

It has been remarked that at various periods in Europe, emperors, kings, queens, princes, courtiers and men and women of the highest literary distinction were competitors in the game. It has also been enjoyed by soldiers at all times. At a later date governors and politicians and men who rank high in the law, literature and science have availed themselves of the keen enjoyment afforded by billiards. The game has now reached such a high degree of popularity that it is enjoyed among all classes and in all walks of life.

The question for the advertiser to consider is how many people read the paper. You can't get results without circulation.

Mrs. H. Alchorn, 23 Gerald St., Charlottetown, P. E. I., writes: "Dr. Chase's

From my experience as a wife and mother I find that the majority of users are women, especially women passing through the change of life; next by young mothers to regain strength after baby comes, and also by mothers for their young daughters entering their womanhood. While it is good for all classes of humanity, I am sure it is especially so for women, as they seem to be troubled most by nervous diseases."

SMELT IS FINE FISH FOR TABLE

Oulachan is One Variety and is Very Plentiful on Naas River in Spring.

Very few Canadians but know something, or at least have heard of, the smelt. But very few indeed will know why the smelt was thus named. The name originates, according to authority, from its peculiar odor, which resembles that of a cucumber. The smelt is a small and very delicate food fish native to the Atlantic and Pacific oceans and is in season from October to March. It is closely allied to the salmon family having the general structure of these fish. Although related to the salmon the smelt is really a dwarf species. For the most part they are marine though some ascend the rivers to spawn just as the salmon, but do not go as far and frequently become landlocked in ponds. Most of the species are confined to the north temperate zone and a few sink into the deep sea, Shrimps and other small crustaceans constitute their chief nourishment. The flesh is extremely delicate and charged with a fragrant oil which aids in the digestion of this excellent food.

The American smelt, the best known of the smelt group of fishes, is found along the Atlantic coast from Virginia to the Gulf of St. Lawrence. It is the fish of America, declares Dr. David Starr Jordan. Entering the many streams it often becomes landlocked, hence the lakes and bays of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia abound with this delicious variety. During the winter it ascends our rivers and brackish bays to spawn, when it is caught in immense numbers in nets and by hook and line. In the olden days it was more prolific than it is today. In 1622 Capt. John Smith wrote: "Of smelts there is such abundance that the Savages do take them up in the rivers with baskets like sieves." Great quantities are taken on the coast and after first being frozen, are then shipped to the larger cities. But the greatest demand is for the unfrozen or "green smelt," as it is called, which is much more highly esteemed.

Oulachan is Smelt.
Oulachan, or the candle fish, a native of Pacific waters, another member of the smelt family, is said by some authorities to be unsurpassed by any fish whatever in delicacy of the flesh. In the spring it ascends in enormous numbers, all the rivers north of Columbia as far as Skagway, for the purpose of spawning. These runs usually occur in advance of the salmon runs. The oulachan has many enemies among the various predatory fishes and sea birds which prey upon it during its run. On our Pacific coast from San Francisco northward to Bristol Bay in Alaska, we have the Pacific smelt. It is about eight or nine inches in length, a very weak and feeble species. The flavor is excellent although the flesh is soft. It has no good keeping qualities.

Surf smelts are also plentiful in the North Pacific. They are so called because they spawn in the surf. It is a firm-fleshed and fat little fish, slightly inferior to the oulachan in flavor. Quillinite Indians of Washington, says Dr. Jordan, believe that "the first surf smelt that appears must not be sold or given away nor must they be cut transversely, but split open with a mussel shell."

Other Varieties.
The pond smelt, dusky in color and slightly transparent, we find in northern waters of Alaska, and in Behring Sea southward to Japan. The pond smelt is somewhat similar to the surf smelt, though only spawning in fresh water pools.

The grayling, so prolific in Alaska and our own northern waters, is closely allied to the smelts. It is a very gamey fish and an interesting customer for sport fishermen. St. Ambrose once described it as the "flower of fishes," presumably on account of its gay coloring.

As a rule fish are drawn before they are transported to market as it means a reduction in weight of from fifteen to twenty per cent, but it is only in exceptional cases that this is ever done with the smelt. While smelts are not as plentiful as in former years, fishermen are getting good prices for this delicious little fish. During the year 1920 87,555 cwts. of smelts were caught and landed in Canada with a first hand value of $971,206. Canada exported during the same period 61,855 cwts. with a marketed value of $673,942.

The intelligent, shrewd attention which is given to selling should include advertising.

Do Your Bowels move regularly, or do they become constipated

There is no medium through which disease so often attacks the system as by allowing the bowels to become constipated, and there is no other trouble that fresh is so to that is more liable to be neglected, because material inconvenience may not be felt, at once, from irregular action of the bowels. When there is not regular action the retention of the decayed and effete matter, with its poisonous gases, soon poisons the whole system by being absorbed into it, causing violent sick and bilious headaches, internal bleeding or protruding piles, heartburn, jaundice, etc.

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS will regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the bowels, thus making them active and regular, and removing the constipation and all its allied troubles.
Mr. Samuel Buckler, Tatamagouche, N. S., writes:—"For over a year I suffered with constipation. I took several different kinds of medicine, but could only get temporary relief. I was told to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I procured two of them, but after I had taken one I found that I was relieved of my trouble. I do not hesitate to recommend Laxa-Liver Pills for any kind of constipation."

Favorite Dish.
The oulachan is about ten to twelve inches in length, of a whitish silvery color. Broiled or fried it is a favorite dish in British Columbia. It is fat, tender, juicy, richly flavored and practically free from the many troublesome bones. This last ought to bear weight with some people. Very often distaste of fish arises from the fact of having to carefully dissect the many bones from the fish. One drawback is that it does not bear transportation well.

Capelin, another variety, closely resembles the oulachan. It is very abundant on all the Arctic coast of America in the Atlantic and the Pacific. Natives of Arctic regions depend largely upon the capelin as a source of food.
On our Pacific coast from San Francisco northward to Bristol Bay in Alaska, we have the Pacific smelt. It is about eight or nine inches in length, a very weak and feeble species. The flavor is excellent although the flesh is soft. It has no good keeping qualities.

Surf smelts are also plentiful in the North Pacific. They are so called because they spawn in the surf. It is a firm-fleshed and fat little fish, slightly inferior to the oulachan in flavor. Six Rules for Making GOOD COFFEE

KEEP YOUR COFFEE AIRTIGHT—It loses its strength and aroma when exposed to air. Keep it in an airtight container.
MEASURE CAREFULLY—Experiment until you find just the proportions of coffee and water that suit your taste. Then stick to them; guessing usually means a poor cup of coffee.
USE GROUNDS ONLY ONCE—Don't leave the coffee grounds in the pot for the next meal. Used coffee grounds are of no more value in making good coffee than ashes in building a fire.
