BRILLIANT SPEECH BY SIR HENRY THORNTON

EXPLOSION AT STEWART CAUSED LOSS OF LIFE AND CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE

Politics, Destructive Criticism and Sectionalism Will not Find
Place in Railway Administration

MONTREAL, Dec. 6.—Making his first public speech in Canada in his new capacity, Sir Henry Thornton, K.B.E., president of the Canadian National Railways, told the Montreal Board of Trade, at a banquet in his honor last evening, that he had accepted the management of the railway on the distinct assurance of Premier Mackenzie King that politics were to enter in no way in the administration of the system. He pointed out that disaster would surely follow if this rule were departed from and stated that his sole endeavor would be to render honest and efficient railway service for the people of Canada without fear or favor. Constructive criticism, Sir Henry stated, would always be welcomed but other varieties would be ignored. He also warned against pernicious sectional pride.

FARRIS ASSAILED BOWSER ACTIONS

Declares Leader of Opposition is Standing in With Bootleggers or Playing Politics

VICTORIA, Dec. 6.—Hon. J. W. de B. Farris, K.C., made a fine address in the legislature yesterday replying to Hon. W. J. Bowser's criticism of the Attorney General's resolution regarding liquor imports. He outlined the situation showing the difficulty Hon. Mr. Manson had in enforcing the law and declared that Mr. Bowser's policy was to attack anyone holding his position. He said that Mr. Bowser was playing with the whole question and, in concluding, said: "I now charge the leader of the opposition with acting in defiance of the principles of his own platform and the welfare of the people of the country. He is either deliberately standing in with the bootleggers or playing politics with the life blood of this country in regard to its moral welfare."

PORKY QUILL CAUSED DEATH

Untitled Demise of Frank Pierrey at Quesnel Monday Night

QUESNEL, Dec. 6.—Swallowing a porcupine quill caused the death here of Monday night of Frank Pierrey, aged 30, son of M. Pierrey, of Prince George, one time owner of the townsite of South Fort George. It is believed that the unfortunate man swallowed the quill when drinking water out of a swamp. It pierced the intestines and caused acute peritonitis.

WELL KNOWN COUPLE WILL MARRY TONIGHT

Many friends will be interested in the announcement that the wedding of Miss Helen Smith of 127 Ninth Avenue East, and Sam Haudenschild will take place at 8 o'clock tonight in the Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. H. R. Grant officiating. The couple will take up their residence in the city.

Several ardent skaters went over to the Salt Lakes this afternoon on their first skating trip of the season. It is reported that the ice is in excellent shape already and if the present frost continues for another twenty-four hours, it will be perfect.

DISORDER IN MINE FIELDS

Fights Have Already Occurred in Edmonton District
Extra Police Dispatched

EDMONTON, Dec. 6.—Extra provincial police are being rushed to the mine district where a strike commenced last Friday. All mines affected are picketed by strikers who are actively endeavoring to persuade the men still at work to quit.

A clash with the provincial police yesterday resulted in two policemen being injured. There were fist fights and sticks and stones were flying. One mine manager drew a gun on the strikers.

Sir Henry's Speech
"It is with a feeling of gratitude that I rise, first, to thank Mr. Beatty for the generous and kind words he has spoken with respect to the Canadian National Railways and myself and, secondly, to thank you all for the cordial way in which you have received his statements," said Sir Henry in opening his address. "The fact that the president of the Canadian Pacific Railway has done me the honor of proposing my health is in itself a compliment which any railway man would appreciate for we, in the transportation industry, regard the Canadian Pacific Railway as one of the best managed and one of the most efficient railways. Its original conception was courageous and statesmanlike and its subsequent administration has reflected credit upon all who have been in connection with it.

If those of us, who are charged with the responsibility of organizing into one entity and working as one unit the Canadian National Railways, succeed in approaching the enviable record of the Canadian Pacific Railway, we shall have more than met our responsibilities. The Canadian Pacific Railway should be, and I am sure is, the pride of the people of Canada, and much of the prosperity of the Dominion is due to the efforts of its officers and staff. We shall undoubtedly be so, but I feel certain that our rivalry will only reflect itself in an effort to furnish to the people adequate and efficient transportation at a reasonable cost.

Daniel's Satisfaction
"I have always envied the prophet Daniel when he appeared upon one occasion at a dinner the result of which promised to be unpleasant to the principal guest. MALASPINA FAILS TO FIND TRACE OF MISSING SCHOONERS

The fisheries protection cruiser Malaspina made port this morning after a fruitless search for the missing American halibut boats. The crew reported that the first boat they saw was when they were nearing Prince Rupert and did not even see the American revenue cutter searching for the missing boats. Captain Newcombe is awaiting instructions from Vancouver before setting out again.

LIQUOR INQUIRY STILL GOES ON

R. H. Gale, Ex-Mayor of Vancouver, Resents Reflections—Dealers Testify

VICTORIA, Dec. 6.—Ex-Mayor H. Gale, of Vancouver, scornfully declared before the public accounts committee yesterday afternoon that the citizens resented Mr. Bowser bringing his name before the committee for political purposes. He had never, directly or indirectly at any time, sold a bottle of whiskey and he did not know the men with whom his name has been connected.

James Hunter and another liquor dealer gave evidence showing that the price paid for whiskey by James Paterson, purchasing agent, to which exception was taken, were reasonable. This has upset the work of Mr. Bowser and Mr. Pooley who, during the past few days, have been trying to show that the prices paid were too high.

Harry Briggs, another dealer, admitted pestering the life out of the purchasing agent and telephoning him 365 times in the year. He charged Mr. Paterson with using ungentlemanly language towards him. Mr. Paterson denied this but some members of the committee thought he would have been quite justified if he had used strong language.

PLATFORM OF LABOR PARTY CITY AFFAIRS

Was Set Forward at Last Night's Meeting—Nominate Candidates Next Week

The United Labor Party of Prince Rupert, at its meeting in the Carpenters' Hall last night, adopted platform in connection with the forthcoming civic elections, which it is to actively participate in, and decided to call a public meeting for December 15 when open nominations for civic honors will be received. George Rudderham presided and there was a large attendance.

The platform as adopted subscribes to a policy of economy in the magazine and the only person near was Booy. The force of the explosion was so terrific that steel cars several hundred feet away from the magazine and around several bends in the tunnel were badly smashed, battered and twisted. Air and other pipes and also the track for a distance of from 400 to 500 feet down the tunnel were torn up and strewn along the floor in a tangled twisted mass under tons of rock that had been shaken loose from the roof.

It is understood that Booy has a brother living in Saskatchewan. He is being communicated with.

OTTAWA, Dec. 6.—H. M.G.S. Patrician left Esquimalt yesterday and is to reach Prince Rupert on December 9, leaving there on December 11. Enroute north, the warship will call at Alert Bay.

Other points urged in the platform are: fullest inquiry into the Booth School affair by the city and not by the government; recognition of the Civic Employees' Union and regular revision of wage scales in relation to changing living conditions; endorsement of the council's Hays Creek bridge bylaw; discouragement of the erection of an incinerator until the city's road questions are solved; appointment of a labor representative on the Library Board; the establishment of a dental clinic in connection with the schools, and a more active system of apprenticeship in the telephone exchange eliminating the employment of married women except where they are the sole support of a family.

WILL INVESTIGATE FIRES AT TERRACE

Chief A. C. Minty of the provincial police has been instructed from Victoria to conduct an enquiry into the recent fires at Terrace. A. J. Smith, fire marshal of the province, was sent a wire last night by the chief expressing his willingness to undertake the work and the necessary documents will be rushed here.

One Man Was Killed and Four Injured in Explosion Which Shook Premier Mine Sunday

(Special to Daily News). STEWART, Dec. 6.—Carl Booy, an Austrian, was killed instantly, and H. Westburg, John Runzi, Joe Paripovich and G. F. Thomas were injured in the terrific explosion which wrecked a temporary powder magazine in the No. 2 level of the Premier mine early Sunday morning.

When the explosion occurred the four men who were injured were pushing cars into the tunnel from 300 to 500 feet distant from the actual point of the explosion.

Provincial Constable J. P. Scarlett and Provincial Mine Inspector T. J. Shenton left immediately after the accident had been reported for the scene. An inquest was held yesterday afternoon by Coroner John Conway, who arrived by special boat from Anyox.

It appears that there were eight cases of dynamite stored in the magazine and the only person near was Booy. The force of the explosion was so terrific that steel cars several hundred feet away from the magazine and around several bends in the tunnel were badly smashed, battered and twisted. Air and other pipes and also the track for a distance of from 400 to 500 feet down the tunnel were torn up and strewn along the floor in a tangled twisted mass under tons of rock that had been shaken loose from the roof.

It is understood that Booy has a brother living in Saskatchewan. He is being communicated with.

Olive Solem Liquor Selling Case Will beAppealed

Olive Solem was sentenced to six months in Okalla Prison Farm this morning by Magistrate McClymont for selling liquor. No defense was offered by L. W. Patmore who appeared for the accused. He stated that he would reserve his argument for the appeal case which he intends to launch. T. B. Hooper prosecuted. The case for the crown was chiefly the evidence of Constable Dixon who purchased the liquor. In company with Constables McDonald and Logan and with marked money in his possession he visited the home of Mrs. Lillian Ponzo at Seal Cove. The other constables remained at a distance from the house.

The accused answered the door and conducted him into a bedroom where Mrs. Ponzo was lying on the bed. She asked him his name and then told the accused it was all right to give him a drink. He purchased two rounds of drinks and then bought another round after visiting the store to buy cigarettes and telling the constables to follow him in.

The other constables testified to finding the marked money on the accused.

A charge of allowing whiskey to be sold on her premises will be heard against Mrs. Ponzo this afternoon.

Advertising In Modern Business.

Advertising in modern business has become a most important part of a business education. The immense importance of advertising was recognized long ago by business men of enlightenment and vision. Nevertheless there are today many business men who have failed to realize its importance.

It is recognized that many men in business today who do not advertise still do a worth while business. These men have probably taken a chance in business and have made good, and rely solely upon their personal connection. However, in time such a personal connection gradually falls away. The population of a town is gradually changing and unless new citizens become acquainted with the various names of the business houses and what they have to offer they will naturally be passed over for the more progressive business house which constantly keeps its name before the public and which tells the man and woman on the street what it is in business for.

Another point in favor of advertising, which is often at sight of, is the fact that there is constantly something new being put on the market by the manufacturer. Such output eventually gets into the hands of the retailer but unless the purchaser is acquainted with the fact such goods will often remain on the shelves for a long period, perhaps for ever. Unless the merchant tells the public what he has to sell, it is folly to expect the customer to come in and ask for it.

Use Judgment In Advertising.

A man who advertises without comprehension of the laws and fundamental principles of advertising is not getting the full value out of his advertising that he would obtain if he gave proper thought to the subject.

In exceptional cases chance may favor the hit and miss advertiser but successful advertising can only be accomplished by a thorough knowledge of cause and effect. Advertising today is a science just like personal salesmanship. In fact, advertising is nothing more or less than salesmanship on paper.

In the old days the advertising methods adopted were very crude. The introduction of the town crier, the gentleman of portly bearing with the loud voice and big bell who did the town advertising by the use of his lungs, was perhaps the earliest advertising medium. Within the last century the art of advertising has grown enormously all over the civilized world, and each year the subject is studied more closely by the manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer. Advertising in a newspaper has become to the intelligent reader of as much interest as the reading matter or news.

Circulation Most Important Consideration.

The item of paramount importance to any advertiser is circulation. Circulation means the exact number of copies of a given periodical, or newspaper, which reach paid subscribers. The larger the guaranteed circulation of any newspaper, periodical or journal the greater the value of its advertising space. The question of circulation commensurate with the growth of advertising has become the all important subject especially in the case of the daily newspaper. Advertising is the financial base of a newspaper and to give the advertiser value for his money it is necessary to have circulation. To mitigate against the abuse of newspaper circulation by the publisher the Audit Bureau of Circulations, composed of expert auditors, with headquarters in Chicago, has been organized for the purpose of safeguarding the interests of all users of advertising space. Such an audit is the Hall Mark of genuine paid circulation. The A.B.C. is the recognized circulation authority all over the American continent.

Prior to the establishment of the A.B.C. the "say so" of any publisher as to the number of subscribers to his publication was good enough from an advertising standpoint but not so today. No reputable advertising agency, through which most of the large advertising appropriations are administered, will accept any figures bearing upon the circulations of a newspaper unless compiled and audited by the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Advertising For Profit, Not For Charity.

Among the early important advertisers were the patent medicine men, and the material success of so many of these demonstrates the value of publicity when efficiently handled. Nineteenth century fortunes were made in patent medicines by the use of advertising mediums that could not compare in any way in circulation and advertising value with the newspapers and periodicals of today.

There is a tendency on the part of many business men today to regard advertising as an unnecessary outlay of money, some men even going so far as to look upon it as philanthropy, but there is not a newspaper, periodical or journal worthy of the name that is looking for charity.

IMPORTATION MUST CEASE

Attorney General Tells Why He is Asking for Dominion Legislation

VICTORIA, Dec. 6.—Attorney-General Manson has good basis for his bill, now before the legislature, asking that the federal government retain the right to import liquor exclusively to the provincial government. Part of Mr. Manson's argument as submitted to the legislature last week was as follows:

The people of this province, by a very substantial vote, decided that the liquor business should be carried on under a system of government control. They expressed themselves as disapproving of prohibition and I take it that their vote meant that they were unwilling that the business should be left longer in private hands where the element of private gain would intervene. The dominating feature of what the people have expressed themselves as approving is that there shall be a government control and if there is to be government control, it would seem to me quite manifest that the business must be transferred in its entirety to the government. We license such concerns and we attempt to regulate them and recently we have been quite successful in the latter endeavor, but we have absolutely no power to refuse a license. There has been a wide misapprehension in this regard. This government has no control in the matter of licensing export liquor warehouses. I have pointed out that their actual business is an illicit business right within our own province. Because of the illicit business that they carry on, which brings our Act into serious jeopardy, and very serious jeopardy, and because we do not care to have by this province made the seat of illicit shipment of liquor into friendly provinces and states about us, I am of the opinion that the export liquor warehouse must go. It will be useful to know that Quebec, and the other provinces which is carrying on under the same system as we are, has eliminated the export warehouses entirely. This government is of the opinion that a much surer and safer way to eliminate private importation and the export warehouse is to procure federal legislation along the lines suggested in the resolution that I propose.

Secret of Illicit Sale

As the law of the Dominion at present stands it is possible for persons other than the Government to import liquor into the province. So long as this is possible it must be clear that there can be no complete system of government control. There are several objections to private importation. First, the stocking of liquor by others than the government within the province makes it possible, despite the fact that it is contrary to law for these persons with private stocks to revend in a manner that inevitably accomplishes the undoing of the Act. No matter how strict a system of enforcement we have, so long as private stocks exist within the province there will be substantial quantities of liquor sold by private persons not only while the government stores are open, but more particularly at hours and upon days during which they are closed. Unfortunately, men will pay extra-ordinary prices for liquor to illicit dealers if they cannot get it elsewhere and upon the extraordinary margin of profit the illicit dealer thrives.

The sale of a few bottles of liquor at a profit of two or three dollars each in a single day makes a very good day's work for the illicit dealer. The illicit dealer finds it exceedingly profitable to carry a string of small dealers whom he supplies and who, in turn, supply the public. Worse still, the illicit dealer who seeks only private profit has no compunction whatever as to the quantity that he supplies his customers. With him the more the better. Excessive purchase is what he desires and the result is public drunkenness, demoralization of home conditions, and final ruin to many individuals. It is impossible to estimate with anything like exactitude the volume of illicit business carried on in the Province. I venture the statement that 80 or 90 per cent of that illicit business is the result of the private importation of liquor.

Illicit and Immoral

A second serious objection

arises from the illicit trade. There is no guarantee whatever, or practically none, of the quality of the liquor that is supplied by the illicit dealer. The illicit dealer is an illicit character, a man who has few morals and mighty few conventions scruples as to the quality of liquor he supplies. Liquor in its best form is harmful when taken to excess, but liquor in an adulterated or in an impure form is a quick and very dangerous poison. Lives are seriously endangered by the illicit traffic in liquor.

A third objection arises, namely, that private importation of liquor and the illicit traffic that follows necessitates a very much larger expense in connection with the enforcement of the Act. Eliminate private importation and you will eliminate at least 50 per cent and possibly a bigger percentage of the cost of enforcement.

Warehouse Must Go

I take exception to the export house too. What is the export warehouse? It is a concern supposedly carrying on the business of exporting liquor to places without the province of British Columbia. The export warehouse carries on trade and commerce and as such its business cannot be interfered with by this province. We license such concerns and we attempt to regulate them and recently we have been quite successful in the latter endeavor, but we have absolutely no power to refuse a license. There has been a wide misapprehension in this regard. This government has no control in the matter of licensing export liquor warehouses. I have pointed out that their actual business is an illicit business right within our own province. Because of the illicit business that they carry on, which brings our Act into serious jeopardy, and very serious jeopardy, and because we do not care to have by this province made the seat of illicit shipment of liquor into friendly provinces and states about us, I am of the opinion that the export liquor warehouse must go. It will be useful to know that Quebec, and the other provinces which is carrying on under the same system as we are, has eliminated the export warehouses entirely. This government is of the opinion that a much surer and safer way to eliminate private importation and the export warehouse is to procure federal legislation along the lines suggested in the resolution that I propose.

Cannot Have Both

You simply cannot have control and have private importation. The two things are contemporaneously impossible. If the people so emphatically required control then logically they voted against private importation. It is said again that the principle of our present Act is against the elimination of private importation and in support of it is pointed out that we have imposed a tax on the private importation of liquor. True, but why deceive ourselves. There is not a member of this legislature but who knows perfectly well that we, realizing we could not prohibit private importation—that it was not intravires of this Legislature to do so, did the next best thing we could, we feathered it with all the feints that we could devise. There is no doubt that the tax was unquestionably meant to discourage private importation and give better Government control. It was said that if this government would supply liquor of good quality at a fair price illicit dealing would cease. It is slanderous to say that this government does not supply good liquor

It supplies the very best liquor that can be bought upon the market and it furnishes it to the public at a price less than does our sister province of Quebec. I want to say more that the Government price is infinitely less than is paid to the illicit dealer when one buys from him a bottle of liquor at 10 or 11 o'clock at night, or at any other hour for that matter when the government stores are closed. And this Government does not propose to advocate for a law to keep open our stores during all hours in order to compete with the illicit dealer. We are not going to do it. If we cannot eliminate the illicit dealer some other way then I am afraid he will have to remain. No weight attaches to the arguments as to the quality and as to price.

Should be Unanimous

That this matter is not one upon which we should divide as parties is patent on the face of it. We all desire respectable conditions. Conservatives in the House of Commons held the same view as this government with regard to the desirability of the legislation and now I want to point to the fact that honorable gentlemen opposite have expressed themselves as approving of the principal of this legislation.

I have gone into this situation somewhat fully. Charged as I am with the administration of this difficult piece of legislation I feel keenly on the matter. We may do everything that we possibly can within our power in this Province but so long as there is private importation of liquor in this Province the conditions which will ensue will be

The duty of the liver is to prepare and secrete bile and serve as a filter to the blood, cleansing it of all impurities and poisons.

Therefore when the liver is inactive and failing to secrete bile in sufficient quantity constipation and other liver troubles soon follow.

Mrs. H. B. Hutchinson, Peterborough, Ont., writes: "I have been using your Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and they have done me a lot of good."

My liver bothered me a great deal. I was drowsy and tired all the time and didn't feel like doing anything, let alone my housework. I tried everything, but your Pills seemed to do the work far better than anything I had ever taken."

DIFFICULTY IN FILLING POSITION

T. C. Duncan and F. J. Whittaker are of Opinion Combinig Jobs Not Practicable

It may be difficult for the city council to find a man who will take charge of the engineering and electrical departments together. According to F. J. Whittaker, city engineer, and T. C. Duncan, utilities superintendent, they are members of different associations which will not allow one man to hold two positions.

As far as it is known there are only two men in this province capable of undertaking the work, and both of these are in very remunerative positions and are not likely to come here.

IMPORTATION MUST CEASE.

(continued from page two) entirely unsatisfactory. I cannot urge too strongly the necessity of having the legislation that I have asked for by the federal authorities. Given this legislation conditions will every materially improve. I do not say for one moment that they will be perfect. You will never have the complete elimination of illegal traffic in Illinois, but you will have as a result of this legislation a very marked improvement in conditions. You will have a burden taken off the shoulders of the government of this province. You will have an eye-sore removed from our midst and this province will no longer be the seat of an illicit traffic which it cannot justify, not only within its own boundaries, but with the friendly countries round about us who in their wisdom have passed prohibitory laws.

The matter is not a party one. Liberals, Conservatives, and Independents throughout the Province desire clean conditions and members of this legislature have an opportunity by unanimously supporting this resolution to make it clear to members of Ottawa of the House of Commons and of the Senate that they are sincere and earnest in their desire for this legislation.

POITICS, DESTRUCTIVE CRITICISM AND SECTIONALISM WILL NOT FIND PLACE IN RAILWAY ADMINISTRATION.

and I have reason to believe that something of the kind is going on at the moment or has taken place during the last few days. With those periodical upheavals, neither I nor any officer of the Canadian National Railways have nor should have any concern other than the interest which every patriotic citizen should take in what is going about him.

Job of Service

"There is a distinction, if not a difference, between the Government railways of Canada and government-owned and operated railways elsewhere. In Canada, as I understand the position, the government is the only shareholder in these various properties, or at least sufficiently controls the voting power to appear as the single shareholder; and the government has elected to administer the national railways in substantially the same way as though they were privately owned. The only difference between our railways and private railways is that, so far as we are concerned, there is substantially but one shareholder to deal with, namely, the government, and on private railways there are perhaps several thousands of shareholders.

"Experiments in government-owned railways elsewhere have taken the form of directly operating the railways by officers and men who were actually the servants of the government, rather than the servants of the railways. Now this distinction is obviously important as well as vital and it certainly tends to make the elimination of undesirable influences from the administration of our railway easier than might otherwise be the case.

Danger of Politics

"Much has been said about the danger of political influence with our railways and this is at least one subject upon which I can speak with emphasis and authority. The existence of politicians seems to be the price which is paid for a democratic form of government and, generally speaking, there are two things in every country which, in the minds of at least fifty per cent of the population, afford reasonable grounds for complaint; one is the weather and the other is the government. In a democracy, the people get the kind of government they elect to office; and if the weather is disagreeable, the Dominion of Canada provides a great variety of climates, any one of which can easily be reached by those who avail themselves of the services of the Canadian National Railway. Perhaps I should be generous and also inform you that the Canadian Pacific Railway has also a passenger service.

"Politicians are much maligned. In earlier days they were designated as statesmen just as fifteen or twenty years ago, any one who acquired a fortune was considered a capitalist while today opulence is certainly looked down upon as an indication of profiteering. However that may be, we all recognize that politicians do exist and, presumably, because they exist, they are essential in our scheme of government.

No Political Interference

"Let it be emphatically understood now, for once and always, that there is to be no political interference, direct or indirect, in the administration and working of the Canadian National Railways. I cannot put it any more forcefully without transgressing the rules of polite speech and if I knew of any words which would make this point more clear, I should unhesitatingly employ them.

"The Prime Minister has solemnly assured me that there is to be no political interference and it was with this distinct understanding that I accepted the position which the government has done me the honor to offer. This assurance is the only assurance that any government, irrespective of political color, would be compelled to make under similar circumstances. It is vital to the success of our railways and any other procedure spells inevitable disaster.

"From time to time the din of battle and the clash of political arms leads one to suspect that there are political disturbances going on in the land.

"The preparation of the property to meet the development of the country involves wisdom and forethought. Any railway, which finds itself unable adequately to meet its traffic responsibilities, is hindering the

and I have reason to believe that something of the kind is going on at the moment or has taken place during the last few days. With those periodical upheavals, neither I nor any officer of the Canadian National Railways have nor should have any concern other than the interest which every patriotic citizen should take in what is going about him.

Job of Service

"Our job is to devote our efforts entirely and with tranquility to rendering to the people of Canada an honest and efficient railway service. I think I can speak with authority for my directors, and I shall certainly speak with authority for myself, when I say that, without fear or favor, the Canadian National Railways are to be operated for the people, by the people, and for the people and, moreover, for all of the people of the Dominion.

"I know that political interference presents itself in many seductive disguises, and sometimes it tends to make itself felt in many unknown ways. Of all this I am fully aware, but let me again repeat that there is to be no political interference or influence in the administration of the Canadian National Railways. While I am on the subject, let me go one step further.

"Constructive criticism, born of a desire to improve conditions, is helpful and will be welcome. Other varieties, which are intended to be destructive, may be ignored. Any individual who can tell me how I can do my job better will be regarded as a friend. Every opportunity will be given for a full discussion before decisions are made, but they must be with firmness, courage and no undue waste of time. When once made, they must be maintained. Any other policy will reduce your railway to a spineless nuisance with nobody to kick not a soul to damn. Therefore, the railway administration must be master of its own house and in the interests of efficient management, no interference of any sort can be tolerated.

Dealing With Sections

"Perhaps, no less dangerous than political interference is what may be called pernicious sectional pride. The Dominion covers a wide territory and the aspirations and desires of different sections are not always identical; indeed, from time to time, they may even conflict. It will be my conscientious effort to meet the reasonable demands of all sections of the Dominion and contribute to the utmost to their development. Every request will be received with sympathy and my first thought shall be not how to justify a refusal, but, on the other hand, how to meet favorably any appeal. If I perhaps may use the word of Lincoln, I will say that you can please all of the people some of the time and some of the people all of the time, but it is quite impossible to please all of the people all of the time! Decisions will undoubtedly have to be made which will be distasteful to certain sections of the Dominion. I only hope that it will be possible to reduce decisions of this character to a negligible quantity.

"It must be obvious to any one that, while recognizing in full sympathy the requirements of all sections of the Dominion, the National Railways as a whole cannot be sacrificed to meet the wishes of any part of the Dominion. Whatever disagreement we may have, I hope it will be understood that an attempt will be made to solve all of our problems with malice towards none and charity towards all.

Factors of Administration

"There are four factors which constitute the sum of successful railway administration. First, adequate net receipts; second, the development of the property to meet the burdens of future traffic; third, the relations between the railway and its men; fourth, the relations between the railway and its clientele. The activities of any railway may be classified under one or the other of these heads. The first two are largely technical. Satisfaction net receipts involve proper administration, capable and loyal officers, together with intelligent and enlightened administration. Given these things, and barring accidents, satisfactory net receipts will almost surely result.

"The preparation of the property to meet the development of the country involves wisdom and forethought. Any railway, which finds itself unable adequately to meet its traffic responsibilities, is hindering the progress of the community which it serves.

Company and Men

The relations between the company and its men involve the handling of labor and, in this respect, Government worked railways have always been particularly vulnerable. I believe that every employee of every industry, irrespective of its character, should receive the minimum wage which will enable him to live in decency, in comfort and under proper sanitary conditions and to educate and bring up his children as self-respecting members of society. Any further policy makes for social unrest and if carried on long enough is likely to create political upheavals. The wage I have indicated represents the minimum to be received. How much greater the wage may be depends upon the condition of the industry, the value of the service rendered and other similar factors. Labor troubles usually disappear if they are caught when they are young, that is to say, when they are in a plastic condition. The prompt and just settlement is an effective guarantee of tranquillity. If, on the other hand, attention is not given to such matters until they become festering sores and both sides have delivered ultimatums, the solution becomes correspondingly difficult.

"It is my desire that all officers of the Canadian National Railway, in their respective capacities, should be easily accessible to their men and should promptly deal with complaints. I am sure that there already exists a kindly feeling between our officers and their men. I wish this spirit to be carried through our railway from Halifax to Vancouver and hope that contentment and comfort among the men may manifest itself in smiles and good-will and that the Canadian National Railways shall be known as the smiling railway.

To Meet the Public

"With respect to the public the same policy will be pursued as with respect to the men. Everything that is asked, of course, cannot be granted, but our most pressing problem is one of development and every effort will be made to meet the demands of the public in the promotion of increased traffic.

"It must, of course, be understood that your railways will be an increasing burden when it is taken into consideration that rates are continually lowered and wages continually raised. I hope that it is the desire of the people of Canada that the Canadian National Railways should be put on a self-supporting basis and the burden on the purse of the taxpayers stopped as quickly as possible. There should be no fundamental reason why this should not be done in a reasonable time without doing the slightest injury to either the men on the railway or the travelling public but this object cannot be achieved if the railways are to be regarded as a Christmas tree and the chairman as a sort of glorified Santa Claus, however much I might personally like to play the role.

POLITICS, DESTRUCTIVE CRITICISM AND SECTIONALISM WILL NOT FIND PLACE IN RAILWAY ADMINISTRATION.

are to be administered. In so far as the first is concerned, I have nothing to say tonight, excepting what I have already said, namely, that the headquarters will be placed at that point from which the Canadian National Railways can be most efficiently and consequently, most economically worked, having regard to all of the circumstances. I am sure that, whatever may be the demands of local pride, no patriotic citizen of the Dominion would wish me to proceed upon any other basis. Whatever decision is reached is bound to involve a certain degree of disappointment to some but I hope, when a decision is made, it will be accepted by all with good will and in a friendly spirit.

In so far as organization is concerned, the Canadian National Railways, from the point of view of mileage, is excelled by no other railway system. It serves seaports, prairies and mountains; it embraces a variety of climates; and all are separated by vast distances. Whatever organization is adopted, it is essential that in each one of the grand divisions into which the property may be divided there should be an executive officer with a full staff capable of appreciating and dealing promptly with the reasonable demands of the public.

Respecting Policies

"There must be centralization with respect to policies but decentralization with respect to details. It should not be beyond the wit of the management to devise an organization which will adequately meet this cardinal principle and, at the same time, preserve that cohesion which is essential to economical management. We are now engaged in a study of the position and there is, of course, pressing need to announce at as early date as possible the headquarters of the system. The character of the organization, and its principal officers, and this will all come in due time.

"I should be lacking in appreciation if I did not take advantage of this opportunity to thank many of my Canadian friends for the kind and hospitable hands which they have extended to me. It is refreshing to know and feel how many there and see how quickly your cold will disappear.

"Did you ever notice that if one of the family contracts a cold it generally runs to all the other members?"

Mrs. A. Coghlan, Magnolia, Alta., writes:—"Last winter we all had bad colds in our family, and I didn't know what to do. Some friends told me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so I went and got a couple of bottles, and in a short while our colds were all gone. Now we always keep a bottle on hand in case one of us might catch a cold."

are who wish the experiment upon which we have embarked to prove a success and let me also tonight particularly thank the Canadian press for their kind words of welcome and in many cases, the sympathetic editorials. It is right that the people of Canada should be as closely informed as possible with respect to all matters of importance relating to their railways, and the medium of communication must, of course, be the press. I therefore wish it to be understood that I shall always be glad to meet the representatives of the press and to take them as fully into my confidence as the welfare of the railway will permit.

Stop Taxation Drain

"I have said our first and most pressing objective is to stop the drain on the purse of the taxpayers resulting from the National Railways. We shall do materially better this year than in previous years and will more than meet operating expenses. Roughly speaking and without taking into consideration the amounts which the Government have had to furnish in the past to meet deficits in operation expenses and the guaranteed requirements of capital, our National Railways must earn roughly forty million dollars net annually to stop any further advances from the government, that is to say, to stop the drain on the taxpayers. It will be a satisfactory day for you and a matter of pride to me, when the people of Canada will know that their railways have ceased to be a drain on the public purse. How soon this can be brought about I hesitate to say, but I will go so far as to indicate that it may not be so far distant as most people may imagine. The accomplishment means an increase in gross revenue, and reduction in expenses. I am inclined to think that the latter will be more easy of accomplishment than the former, because the former is involved with the whole question of the Dominion development.

"This brings me to the question of immigration, a subject on which I should like to say a few words. Most thoughtful people in Canada, judging from the public expressions I have heard, feel that we have but one problem in Canada, namely, that of increasing the population, and I think this is largely correct. If the Dominion is to develop as it should, and if we are to enjoy all of the advantages which follow in the train of development in Canada, we must address ourselves vigorously to the question of immigration.

Question of Immigration

By immigration I do not mean throwing down the barriers and making the mistake which was made in past decades in the United States which resulted in admitting every immigrant that chose to come to the States. I think we should adopt a policy which is intensive, but at the same time selective. Other of the British Dominions overseas are up and doing and we must not fall behind lest some of our sister Dominions secure the cream. I have heard what Lord Shaughnessy has recently said upon this subject and I am heartily in accord with him. Just how the details should be developed, I am certainly not in a position to say tonight, but, at any event, the immigration question is sufficiently important to justify the undivided attention and energy of some capable individuals reinforced with an adequate staff. How soon the Canadian National Railways will become self supporting turns largely on what is done in the matter of immigration.

"In conclusion, I want to thank the Board of Trade of Montreal for their kindness and hospitality in giving me an opportunity to meet so many representative citizens of the Dominion and to thank each of you who have patiently listened to what I am afraid must of necessity have been a somewhat rambling discourse, full of generalities and characterized by nothing particular definite. As I have said, had I spoken a year hence, I might have gone much more to the point than is possible now. I am not so foolish as to imagine that single handed I can solve the difficult railway problem which confront not only the board and myself but every citizen of Canada. Neither am I so silly as to imagine if these problems could be solved single handed, I am the only one who could do it. If happens, however, but I have been asked to say who I am, I am the only one who could do it. If happens, however, but I have been asked to
