FINAL SESSION LABOR CONGRESS

Strong Objection to Suggestion That Unions Should Incorporate.

MONTREAL, Aug. 25.—The Trades and Labor Congress closed its annual session with the adoption of the report of the executive with practically no opposition from the delegates.

FREE STATE TO CONTINUE

Cardinal Logue Issues Manifesto Asking for Peace in Ireland.

DUBLIN, Aug. 25.—The Irish Free State Government will continue on lines laid down by Griffith and Collins. William Cosgrove and Richard Mulcahy, who have been the working executives for some time will continue to give adherence to the Anglo-Irish treaty.

All Dublin showed grief and respect in the procession following the body of Michael Collins and Cardinal Logue issued a manifesto expressing the hope that Irishmen who have been showing patriotism by drenching Ireland in blood would now see the error of their ways.

for the dealers its objects include a policy of giving information to the government and assisting in every way possible in conservation measures.

Officers Elected. The officers elected were as follows:

President, R. Boyd Young, Port Simpson.
Vice-President, W. J. O'Neill, Smithers.

Secretary-Treasurer, W. G. Mennie, Hazelton.

In opening the meeting, Mr. Boyd Young explained the objects and purposes of the organization and gave a brief outline of the steps that had led up to its inception. They were especially fortunate in having a member of the Game Board present, Mr. Anderson, of Hazelton.

Mr. Anderson, being called upon, reported on the recent meeting of the Game Board at Victoria and told of a proposal that had been made to have an open season for beaver between February 1 and April 30.

The meeting passed several resolutions embodying requests governing the industry that are to be made of the provincial government. Among these were a request for the reduction of the royalty on beaver skins less than 24 inches in length from $1 to 50c; changing of the present perforating method of stamping skins to a self-cleaning or stamp system in view of the damage that perforating caused to the larger pelts; issuing of free permits for private parties bargaining for skins direct with the trappers. It is also to be asked that the provincial constable act as game warden in smaller centres and a separate game warden be appointed for the larger places.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Hazelton again.

R. B. Young, of Port Simpson, and J. E. Ormheim of Prince Rupert, who attended the meeting returned to the city last night.

Mr. Young, who is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Ruth Young, will leave for Port Simpson today.

Cold Storage Plant Shipped 160,000,000 Pounds Fresh Fish Since Opened Eight Years Ago

During the eight years the Canadian Fish and Gold Storage Company has been in business here it has shipped over the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway 160,000,000 pounds of fresh fish which, packed in railway cars placed end on end, would reach half way from the Pacific to the Atlantic, said T. H. Johnson, manager of the company at the Rotary Club luncheon held in the company's dining room at Seal Cove yesterday.

In addition to handling fish the company has manufactured and sold 125,000 tons of ice, an average of 17,000 tons a year.

of mackerel on the Atlantic or by the Siberian fish on the Pacific.

Mr. Johnson expressed the opinion that the fish business of Prince Rupert was only in its infancy. There was a branch of the business much more important than any here today which had not yet been started. He referred to the curing of fish. He said he could imagine a series of fish curing establishments all the way along the shore from Seal Cove to Section Two with smoke houses alternating. This would mean an immense thing for Prince Rupert and he prophesied that it would come in time.

KILLED COLLINS BUT NOW SAYS NO; JOINS NATIONALS
CORK, Aug. 25.—Tom Hales, who led and accepted responsibility for the ambush which killed Michael Collins, repudiated it yesterday. He threw down his arms and offered to join the National forces.

REPARATIONS NOT SETTLED

Commission Leaves Berlin For Paris Where Moratorium Will be Discussed

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Negotiations in Berlin between the reparations commission and the German government officials ended today without producing a compromise on the German reparations question acceptable to both the British and the French representatives.

The representatives are leaving Berlin this afternoon for this city. New proposals were submitted by the Germans but were not considered important enough to warrant the mission remaining in Berlin longer.

It is believed that the commission will hold a special meeting on Monday at which the moratorium question will be disposed of.

SHOT MATE OF WHALER

Sailor at Massett Wounded First Officer of "White" With Rifle Bullet

MASSETT Queen Charlotte Islands Aug. 25.—During the visit of the whaler "White" here yesterday, two of her sailors while ashore obtained some lemon extract and became exceedingly drunk. When they returned aboard, one of the men named McEachern went to the bridge and abused Captain Anderson, who slapped his face and ordered him below. McEachern obtained possession of an army rifle belonging to another member of the crew and returned to deck, when he shot at the first head he saw above the storm canvas of the bridge. His victim proved to be Mr. Matthews, the mate. The bullet tore along the officer's scalp and through the smokestack. The mate is seriously but not dangerously wounded.

Captain Anderson rushed at McEachern who jumped overboard. After lowering a boat, the captain dragged McEachern aboard, took him ashore and gave him in charge of the police. The preliminary hearing is taking place here today before Judge Mallory.

German Question is Discussed by Montreal Financier at the Rotary Luncheon Yesterday

"That the amount of the indemnity against Germany would have to be reduced but that pressure would have to be brought to bear on her eventually to enforce payment," was the opinion expressed by F. Perry, of Montreal, president of the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd., who addressed the Rotary Club yesterday. Mr. Perry was also a member of the Imperial Munitions Board during the war.

Mr. Perry outlined, step by step, the different phases of the reparations claims by the Allies against Germany under which it was decided to demand thirty-three and a half billion dollars of which twelve and a half millions was to be a preferred claim. The interest on this preferred claim had now been defaulted and the impasse in Europe had to do with what was the next step to take.

In introducing his subject Mr. Perry explained the significance of the figures he was about to quote by saying that the public debt of Canada amounted to between two and three billion dollars; Rockefeller was supposed to be worth one billion. The indemnity to Germany paid by France following the previous war amounted to one billion dollars. These figures would give some idea of what was meant by a billion.

The financial question with Germany commenced with the Treaty of Versailles in the spring of 1919. The Allies did not ask Germany to pay the war costs but only the damage done to the civilian population. There was a difference of opinion as to whether there should be a set amount or whether the account should be rendered later. The businessmen at the conference favored a fixed amount. They considered it bad business to leave the German nation with an uncertain liability hanging over it. The Germans also pressed for a fixed amount. The suggestion was made by those who were supposed to be her friends that she was willing to pay five billion pounds or approximately $25,000,000,000, but that amount was to be spread over a period of years and its present worth was only about half that amount.

The politicians, however, decided that the rendering of the account would come later. Both English and American politicians were agreed in regard to this. There was nothing to choose between them when they forced on Germany the basis of having to pay an amount to be arrived at later.

Valid Liability. The next question that had to be considered was as to what should constitute a valid liability under the treaty. There was no difference of opinion as to the devastated areas and the payment for merchant ships but the bills for war pensions were introduced and in the end accepted. The basis was to add the war pensions to the damages. This doubled the original amount of the bill to be sent in. The item of upkeep of the army of occupation was also added as well as the losses of allied citizens.

ATTEMPTS TO END SHOPMEN STRIKE FAILS

Santa Fe Line Reports Conditions Improved And Will Not Take Back Strikers

EXTENSIVE VIOLENCE

End of Eighth Week Marked By Bombings and Greasing of Rails Many Places

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—The railway shopmen's strike reached the end of the eighth week today to the accompaniment of bombs, explosions and extensive violence. Attempts to end the strike by separate settlements with individual roads failed and the conferences were broken off this morning. Bombings followed a night of rail greasing and cutting airbrake hose.

At the roadhouse of the Illinois divisional point, bombs were exploded near the hotel and roadhouse and the town was plunged into darkness. Disturbances in other parts of the country are reported. A New Orleans passenger train was stopped by the crowd which was dispersed by the police. The Santa Fe Railroad announced that conditions were improving and that it would be impossible for them to take back the strikers.

DELORME WAS GOOD MANAGER

Look After Murdered Brother's Estate and Increased Its Value.

QUEBEC, Aug. 25.—It is understood the reason Superintendent Brochu of the Beapert Asylum concluded Adelard Delorme capable of handling his own affairs is the fact that the estate of Raoul Delorme, the murdered Ottawa student was administered by the priest so ably as to increase in value from $140,000 to $260,000. The priest carefully improved the property.

It is believed information about the estate, not available at the time of the trial of Delorme, has been placed before Brochu.

Custom To Rave At Lloyd George

It is the custom for labor leaders to rave at Lloyd George, formerly the revered leader of the Radicals and now for many years Premier of Great Britain. The difficulty with many labor leaders is that they see things from the narrow viewpoint of their own selfish interests. Lloyd George, being a big man with a wide outlook, tries to approach every question from the viewpoint of the general welfare.

We are no apologists for Lloyd George or any other leader, but the very fact that the British people have trusted him for so many years during the troublous times of war and reconstruction marks him as one of the great men of the world.

The complaint is made that the British premier is not consistent. Of course he is not. No great man ever is. He is so big a man that he can change his opinion when he sees he is wrong, or even at times he can submerge his own opinion for the sake of the general good.

Lloyd George is so liberal in his views that there is a constant upheaval of the old Tory group against him and only the overbearing sense of their own weakness and of the Premier's strength keeps them back from rebellion. On the one hand he curbs the radical tendencies of his time, and on the other he commits the reactionaries to policies in which they do not believe and which they are bound to accept against their will.

When we read of an English member of parliament named Carter denouncing the British premier it makes an ordinary reader smile. Lloyd George they know, though they have never seen or heard him, but Carter? Who is he?

Strike Bug Has Almost Run Its Course.

With some of the big strikes being settled, it looks as if the strike bug had about run its course and the people of this country and the United States would once more get back to work. These outbreaks are periodic and the strike disease is catching. Usually the strikes last for a few weeks or a few months, usually a few months, and then the men return to work, both they and the employers much poorer for the waste of time. However, it seems as if there was no method of preventing strikes. If people do not wish to work they have a right to stop. No form of legislation yet devised can prove effective against industrial troubles. Sometimes the fault seems to lie with employers and sometimes with the employed, but in every case each side seems to think it is right in the attitude it takes.

Not Bad Sign Is This Discontent.

All this seething discontent that is seen around is not a bad sign. It makes for progress. It is part of the evolutionary movement that is going on and that in generations to come will probably develop into a better order of things. Already we find employers trying to see things from the viewpoint of the employed, and occasionally, but not quite so often, we find men trying to get the viewpoint of the employers. There will be a gradual coming together. Much experimental legislation will be passed and repealed. There will be political upheavals and social changes. Governments will fall and others will take their places, themselves to give way to still others. The human family is groping for something better but as long as they continue to look for the light there is a chance of their getting it. Often they get a wrong steer. Political nostrums are as common as are nostrums for the body. One sees the millenium in the future when some vague socialistic schemes are put into effect, and another sees the salvation of the world in the single tax. Any untried scheme has an advantage over one that has been tried out, for the ones that have been tried have always failed, as they will always fail. The education of the individual, mentally and spiritually will have to precede any successful governmental plan. Given the right kind of people and almost any government scheme is a good one.

WEEKLY LUNCHEON OF ROTARY CLUB AT SEAL COVE YESTERDAY

The Rotary Club meeting was held yesterday in the dining room of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Company's boarding house at Seal Cove. A large number of the members went there in George Bryant's launch Harla while others drove in cars. Practically all the members were present. The occasion was a fish luncheon made from the cold storage products. Such reasonable viands as clam chowder, boiled spring salmon, black cod, fried sole, were enjoyed as well as dessert. There was also the opportunity of meeting the president of the company, F. Perry of Montreal, who is also president of the company owning the Dunsmuir mines on Vancouver Island, whose address on the German situation is published elsewhere.

At the close, Rev. Dr. Grant proposed a vote of thanks to the company for the excellent entertainment and to Mr. Perry for his unusually instructive and interesting address, the gathering concluding with the singing of "They are jolly good fellows."

ANOTHER ROAD TO WATERFRONT

People of Section 7 and 8 Agitating for Changing of Mays Cove Cinder Walk to Roadway.

In view of the defeat of the Hays Creek bridge bylaw and a need that is felt for better communication with the waterfront, an agitation for the changing of the present cinder walk, which leads down Hays Cove from Sixth Avenue to the dry dock, to a roadway is being started among the residents of Sections 7 and 8.

These people believe that the cost of widening the trail would be small and the benefits accruing would be fully worth the expenditure. Besides giving access to the waterfront, such a road might also connect up with the present drydock road from Cow Bay and be used as a thoroughfare to the city. In any case it would be convenient for many people whose business and work calls them to the waterfront.

Permission would have to be secured from the railway company for the building of the road on its property and also from the railway commission for another level crossing across the C. N. R. tracks.

CANADIAN STORY IS SHOWN HERE TONIGHT

Gilbert Parker Story Takes Place of One Previously Advertised.

The scene of "The Lane that Has no Turning" shown here tonight and tomorrow is set in Eastern Canada and is taken from Gilbert Parker's book.

To the wedding feast of Louis Racine, descendant of a noble French family, and Madelinette Lejeunesse, in the Canadian village of Pontiac, comes the news of the death of the Seigneur of Pontiac, estranged relative of Louis, who has died in Paris leaving no will, but a provision for 50,000 francs to be paid Madelinette to make possible her operatic debut. Tardiff, former servant of the Seigneur and an enemy of Louis, mocks Louis' new title, insinuating that there probably is a will hidden away somewhere. In a brief ensuing struggle, Louis feels a pain in his back and is gripped by fear that he will suffer a malady of his ancestors—hunchback.

Madelinette prepares to make her operatic debut in Paris a honeymoon as well. George Fournel, an Englishman and close friend of the late Seigneur, comes to Louis with a letter which indicates the Seigneur intended to leave his estate to him, and he demanded the right to search the house or the will. A surgical operation discloses to Louis that he is doomed to be a hunchback and he tells Madelinette she must go to Paris alone, as he must stay and defend his rights against the Englishman. During Madelinette's absence the growth upon Louis' back materializes and fearing her love for him will waver upon her return, he seeks to build up his power as Seigneur, to offset this affliction in her eyes.

Madelinette returns and sees with horror Louis' condition, but after a brave inward battle, decides to give up her career and devote her life to her husband. One night in the manor library, Madelinette accidentally finds the will, concealed in a panel picture frame in the wall. Next morning Tardiff comes and pleads with her to be taken back again into Louis' employ, threatening that some day the will which he witnessed will be found. Fearful of this truth, Madelinette, in spite of the will to see if his name is attached thereto, and while examining it, realizes she is observed through the shutter of the window. That is not the end of the story. The thrills follow.

Portland Lumber Journal Gives Account of Manner in Which Queen Charlotte Logs Will Be Handled.

Particulars of the Los Angeles end of the big project which will soon be under way, as a result of the efforts made by F. C. Buckley, the Vancouver timber man, whereby rough timbers cut on the Queen Charlotte Islands will be taken to the plant of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co., Los Angeles, for remanufacture, are contained in the current issue of the Portland Timberman. The article is accompanied by a panoramic view of the big Los Angeles plant.

It says in part: "The Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Docking Corporation, which, in connection with the Massett Timber Co., Vancouver, B. C., is installing a remanufacturing plant at Los Angeles Harbor, will handle rough sawn canals, transported from the mill located on Graham Island, B. C. The new mill will have a band head rig, arranged throughout with hand gangs, each machine breaking down the cant in size for the following machine, so as to provide a continuous operation for the product through the mill and its delivery in grades as required. The first unit will comprise a sawmill, dry kilns, planing mill, box factory and storage yard, with a large shed capacity for the upper grades. The plans provide for the increase of any part of the first unit as conditions require. A shingle mill will be operated at the plant on Graham Island, B. C. The southern plant will be driven by electricity and compressed air. "The company owns a tract of about 110,000 acres of timber on Graham Island. Arno Meehan has charge of construction and operation of the Los Angeles plant."

HENRIETTE IS LOST IN FIJI SERVICE

Historic Old Craft Can Never Die Say Pacific Coast Shipping Men

Press dispatches state that the American iron sailing ship Henriette has been lost at Fiji and her insurance of $46,000 paid over to the owners, says a Vancouver exchange. Waterfront men of this port, who know the vessel, claim she will appear here again in another incarnation, as they do not believe she can ever die. The vessel is the old Henriette of the G. T. P. north service. Built at Havre, France in 1874, as a sailing ship, she was wrecked many years ago on the Columbia River bar. Wreckers bought her and she was offered on the market as a hulk.

Captain S. F. McKenzie and his brother bought her. They used her freighting, under tow, to northern ports. Later she was fitted with two compound engines and twin screws and was chartered to carry mail from Prince Rupert to the Queen Charlotte Island. Then she was purchased by the G. T. P. and operated by that company.

Adventures in North

The old vessel's adventures and successes in the north would fill a book. Some marvellous luck or providence has kept her from total ruin innumerable times, says marine men. Borks might tear her bottom but she always struggled to some place where she could be doctored and brought back to health.

When the steamers Prince Albert and Prince John went on the north run the Henriette was sold to the Granby smelter, then to the present owners, who reside at San Francisco. By the time she reached San Francisco she was a hulk again, her machinery having gone somewhere in the transfers. There she was re-rigged as a sailing ship, and has been working steadily since, carrying oil to the South Sea Islands.

LOCAL GIRL IS AHEAD CONTEST

Fair Manager Gives First Announcement as to Standings of Popularity Contest Candidates

Miss Thelma Knight, of Prince Rupert, is leading in the Exhibition popularity contest and Miss Rose Moffatt of Anyox is running a good second according to the first report on the standings of the candidates which has just been made by J. F. Venables, fair manager. Mrs. B. McDaniels, of Prince Rupert, and Miss Grace Green, of Anyox, are third and fourth respectively.

The standing of candidates as per returns at the end of the triple vote count is as follows: Miss Thelma Knight, Prince Rupert, 6,544,000; Miss Rose Moffatt, Anyox, 4,725,000; Mrs. B. McDaniels, Prince Rupert, 2,693,000; Miss Grace Green, Anyox, 1,732,000; Miss Gertrude Owen, Francois Lake, 135,000; Miss Ward, Masset, 60,000; Mrs. Grieve, Prince Rupert, 60,000; Mrs. Bert McEvoy, Prince Rupert, 60,000; Miss Wattie, Hazelton, 60,000; Miss Onnolee Greig, Terrace, 60,000.

Failed Make Returns

Unfortunately some of the candidates failed to make their returns in time to receive the benefit of the triple count as the rule of the triple count as the Prince Rupert candidates turn in all stubs to the Exhibition office before 6 p.m. on August 19, and outside candidates have their stubs mailed and postmarked before 6 p.m. of that date.

Some of the outside candidates may have mailed their stubs in time, but they have not yet reached the manager's office.

A double vote offer which lasts until 6 p.m. of August 31 is now in effect.

So far every candidate in the field will receive a prize, providing her sales are at least equal to the value of the article.

WELL KNOWN AND POPULAR COUPLE WERE MARRIED

Miss Augusta Roehning Becomes Bride of Donald Crerar, Rev. Dr. Grant Officiating

A wedding of interest to many friends in the city took place quietly at the Manse at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Rev. Dr. H. E. Grant officiating, when Miss Augusta Roehning became the bride of Donald Crerar. Lionel Holtby was the only witness.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Crerar left on the evening train to spend a month's honeymoon at Jasper Park, Edmonton and other Eastern points. On their return they will take up their residence in the Clements residence on Third Avenue West. A large crowd of friends were on hand at the train to give them an enthusiastic send-off.

Both bride and groom are well known and popular in Prince Rupert and the best wishes of a host of friends will be extended to them. Mrs. Crerar for years has conducted the Inlander boarding house and Mr. Crerar, who is a returned man, is a member of the local G. T. P. freight office staff.

GERMAN QUESTION IS DISCUSSED BY MONTREAL FINANCIER AT THE ROTARY LUNCHEON YESTERDAY.

zons living in Germany. To meet all this a large amount of gold was handed over and coal was delivered to France and German ships were surrendered to the allies. This was all credited to her but the cost of the army of occupation was barely met by these payments.

The preparation of the reparations account took over a year and then the allies brought in a bill for thirty-three and a half billion dollars.

Germany said she could not pay anything like that amount but the agreement was signed at London a year ago as to the manner in which the debt should be met. The French objected to any reduction and it was agreed that twelve and a half billions should be a preferred credit with immediate obligation. Bonds for that amount were issued and the country undertook to pay interest on them at the rate of five per cent and one per cent sinking fund.

Defaulted on Interest.

Germany made two payments and then defaulted and a reduction was made. Then she defaulted again and there the matter stands at the present time. The period of default marked the divergence between the views of Britain and France. France said Germany would not pay and Britain said she could not.

England was emphatic in the view that the thirty-three and a half billion dollars could not be paid and advocated reducing it to an amount that could. France said Germany had not tried to pay even what she could and strong measures should be taken to force payment.

"But what about Germany? Had she the ability to pay?" inquired the speaker. "Before the war the German chancellor estimated the annual income of the country to be ten billion dollars. Taking that as a guide and cutting of one-eighth for loss of territory and adding for rise in prices it was absurd to say that she could not pay six and a half per cent of that amount if she wished. Britain and France were paying that much interest on their war debt.

Value of Money.

Another complication that arose was the value of German money. Germany could pay internal debts with her own money but in this case she could only pay in goods. The debt could not be paid in any other way. Her paper money had no value outside the country in which it was issued and there was not half a billion dollars of gold in the country. The whole payment had to be made in goods.

Ordinarily a trader exported goods and received payment and then paid his debts in marks. In this case that has not happened. The principal reason why the debt was not paid was the weakness of the present German Government. It was too weak to tax its own people. The people did not pay half the taxation of the French. They had been printing paper marks and the values were going down until they had no foreign value at all. German exporters were not taking the money they received for goods into the country because on account of the unstable currency it was better to keep it in foreign banks. The mark had nothing but a speculative value. Exporters were building up heavy balances abroad and to make the reparations payments the Government printed more paper marks.

What to Do.

The question now was what to do about it. France wanted to go into Germany while England wanted to first cut down the amount of the demand. The sensible thing he thought would be to combine the two. Germany could pay a substantial amount and he thought twelve and a half billion dollars should be the minimum. This she could pay. It was not an enormous obligation considering the burdens borne by other nations, but history does not indicate that Germany will pay unless pressure is brought to bear on her. Even if the amount should be reduced, pressure must be put on the country to make her pay the debt and this may involve the fall of the Government. The whole question is one of business rather than of sentiment. Germany had to be treated like a company that was bankrupt. In private affairs a solution was generally found. In politics the sensible course was often arrived at only after much talk and delay.

At the close of the address a vote of thanks was passed to the speaker.

LATEST STYLES IN FALL HATS

Prevalence of Bobbed Hair Gives Prominence to Head Wear

There are fashionable fall hats before already in the city which comprise a veritable fairyland of My Lady's headgear, and the comprehensive stocks will doubtless prove of great interest to the fashionable dressers. Both at Demer's and Jambour's the latest fall styles are displayed in profusion and a visit to either of these emporiums will convince the women folk that Prince Rupert is well to the foreground in fashionable millinery.

With the ever-growing vogue for bobbed hair millinery designers are doing their best to make the hat to be woman's crowning glory. Judging from the first showing, the new modes promise to play an important part in making the fall costume. Not only is there a wide range of colors in all the high shades to choose from, but the majority are in rich tones which enliven the complexion and are most becoming.

This season the hats also vary in size. While there is a leaning toward the larger hats for fall, there is a tendency at present to start the season with close fitting shapes. There is also a tendency toward the high trims though flat effects are very good.

Metal Trimmings

Possibly the most dominate note in the new modes is the extensive use of metal and tinsel trimmings. Cocksades or chous of ribbon, flowers, embroidery and some feathers, also ornaments and pins made of galalith, are noted among other trims.

Color Effects

Among the new colors shown are reds, pinks, browns, tints, king blue, and tomatoe. Ge-rise promises to be a fashionable color, as do all shades from tangerine and gold to copper. Among some of the new colors to be worn are robins' egg, bittersweet, poinsettia, pheasant, maple sugar, spark and caramel. Brocade velvets with thick pile and woven with a metal thread, also metal cloth and panne velvets are used in many of the hats.

Shapes

In regard to the shapes, mushroom effects are seen again. Soft draped crowns, with stiff brims, slightly drooped and wider at the sides. A smart model is developed in brown hatter's plush in a toque cuff shape, trimmed at the side front in amovely brown lacquered quill edged in monkey fur. Velvet toques show honeycombed effects in the modes which roll off the face, the only trim being a fancy metal pin. Among the fancy shapes is a slightly tricorne model the brim rolled away from the face. The crown is fairly large and soft, and the brim tends to droop slightly.

He reports that another trip of the machine to Lake Thutade is scheduled for next Sunday. A party of four will be going in at that time.

SONS BEAT ELKS AT BASEBALL IN VERY POOR GAME

Grotto and Sons of England meet tonight in the second eliminating game of the Gihuly Cup soccer series. The winners will advance into the finals as the opponents for the Gallies in the play-off in connection with Labor Day celebration and the losers will be out of the running. A good evenly contested match is being looked for and the fans are expected to be out in force. Alex. Holmberg, the pioneer arbiter, will referee.

The Empress Theatre has been secured as the working out quarters for Ad. Gustavo and Jack Olsen, the two wrestlers who will meet next Wednesday night. Gustavo's hours are 5 in the evening and Olsen's, 7, daily. Training started in real earnest on Wednesday evening and will continue until the evening of the match which will also be held in the Empress Theatre.

Success with his blades evidently has not turned the head of young Walter Hoover of Duluth, who recently won the Diamond Sculls in the Henley Regatta, says the New York Post. Returning on the Majestic, the new champion was too modest to tell reporters how he had vanquished the best England had to offer in watermanship. The reception he received down the bay overwhelmed him, and his modesty aboard ship provoked the comment of the 858 passengers that came over with him.

In bringing the noted sculling trophy to United States, Hoover attained a notable victory, since only once before in the history of the rowing classic had an American won the trying race. Yet the royal reception the English gave him seemed of more concern to him than his display of rowing prowess on the Thames.

Hoover is a real champion and a credit to the sport he represents.

The Man in the Moon SAYS—

FOLLOWING the baseball match last evening it is reported the Elks crawled into a hole and pulled the hole in after them.

WHERE, oh where can I crawl To hide my shameful head, Since I cannot play baseball, I might as well be dead.

WHAT makes some of the bad eggs is being too fresh.

ANYTHING you get at the cost of your self respect isn't worth the price.

THE usual baseball fans must have known the Elks were going to make an exhibition of themselves. That is why they stayed away.

IT is reported that the Sons of Canada ball team had to wear their baseball caps all evening because their heads would not go into the regular felt roofs after that thirteen to three victory.

THE Elks and the defeated by-laws will now be able to condescend with each other.

Canadians Clinched Senior League Honors Through Their 13 to 3 Victory Last Night

The Sons of Canada clinched the season's Senior League baseball honors last night when they defeated the Elks by a score of 13 to 3 in a game which had only one bright spot—Eady's consistently good pitching. The Sons' hurler held the game so well in control that his team mates were called on few occasions to his assistance and thus were given little opportunity of showing what they could do except to take part in the merry round of hits and strikes that came their way. As far as the Elks were concerned, it was their worst exhibition of the season, and everything for them seemed to go awry. Eady and Curtis composed the Canadian battery throughout. Selman pitched five innings for the Elks and Frizzell, one. George Shaw being behind the bat. The strikeouts were: Eady, 11; Selman, 4; Frizzell, 2. The game went six and a half innings and was witnessed by a smaller crowd of fans than usual. K. Laporte was umpire of balls and strikes and B. Moore, bases.

Charlie Blythe doesn't need to tell Clark Eady more than once.

Disastrous Second

If things had gone throughout as they started in the first inning it might have been a good game for neither side made a score and only one man got on bases. For the Elks, W. Mitchell struck out, Delcourt was walked, Easson was put out on Farquhar catching his foul, and O. P. Smith was put out at first. For the Sons, Farquhar, Menzies and Curtis went down in quick succession, each being put out at first from Delcourt's fielding. The second frame was a mess from start to finish, however, Howard Frizzell struck out for the Elks, but George Shaw managed to get around the sacks by himself when he knocked a fly to right field which Charlie Blythe failed to retrieve, allowing the runner to get to third. Shaw finished the circuit for the first run when Blythe recovered the ball and relayed it to Menzies who overthrew to third. The Sons made no less than seven runs in their part of the seven runs in their part of the second when Selman was apparently helpless before the Canadian batters and his field made many errors behind him to add to his misery. Charlton, in the course of this stage of the game, poked out a long one to this side of the rock pile which counted him a two bagger.

The Other Innings

The Elks made one more in the third and each side made one in the fourth. There was no scoring in the fifth, but the sixth, when Frizzell was put in the Elks' box,

ATTEMPTED RESCUE PRISONER AND GETS FREEDOM FROM JAIL

Action Warmly Commended by Sheriff and Murderer is Now Free.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The thrilling story of Thomas Gray's heroism in attempting to save a drowning prisoner of Peterhead Jail has been a sequel in keeping with his courage—he has won his own freedom from prison. Gray, a convict in Peterhead Jail, under life sentence for the murder of a Glasgow woman, had served fifteen years of his sentence when the incident in question occurred.

About a month ago Thomas Gray, Alfred Coates and other Peterhead prisoners were engaged loading stone beside a waterlogged quarry hole at Stirlinghill when Coates leaped into the hole, which contained fifty-five feet of water. Coates had been sentenced to ten years of penal servitude, and was mentally defective, and his sentence evidently was preying on his mind. Gray at once threw off his coat, plunged in after Coates, gripped the drowning man, and made heroic efforts to save him. Those peering down into the hole were witnesses of a desperate fight, in which the issue was life or death. So violent were the struggles of Coates that both he and his would-be rescuer were drawn under the water. Gray was compelled to relax his hold and come to the surface.

Thus Coates went to the doom he sought, and Gray—thoroughly exhausted—was saved from death by another convict, David Alexander.

At the inquiry Sheriff Laing warmly commended the action of Gray and Alexander. The former is now enjoying his liberty, and it is probable that the latter will receive some consideration from the authorities. Gray's

LIVES MUCH LONGER THAN FORMERLY IS RECORD IN ENGLAND

Ministry of Health in Britain Shows Average Increase in Years Men and Women

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The expectation of life in this country has largely increased since the period of 1834-1854, according to the annual report for 1931 of the Chief Medical Officer of the Ministry of Health, Sir George Newman. At that period the expectation at birth was: for males 40 years, and for females 42 years. The present figures are: 51 for males and 55 for females.

This, with some reservations, means that a baby born now has a chance of living twelve years longer than its grandfather. The reduction of mortality is most marked, however, in early life. The life-expectation of men of 45 is but little better today than it was 70 years ago. Sir George Newman, in his report, indicts alcohol and faulty industrial environment as the chief causes of this adult mortality. He points out, too, that respiratory diseases, pneumonia, bronchitis and tuberculosis, are the chief causes of death.

"It is absolutely within our power to prolong the days of human life and enlarge its capacity," Sir George says. "The length of life in this country is much less than it should be, and there is no inherent reason why as much as three years should not be added to the average lifetime of Englishmen of 45." To secure this, he says, maximum emphasis should be laid on the need of developing and fortifying the physique and powers of resistance, first of the child, and then of the adult.

The body should be well bred, Sir George continues, well nourished, kept clean within and without, trained in healthy living in fresh air and exercise, and excesses and overstrain should be avoided. The health, capacity and resistance of the body is the only sure defence against early mortality, in Sir George's opinion.

THROUGH WITH MONEY

English Fanatic Says He Will Never Touch Another Penny

BRIGHTON, Eng., Aug. 24.—"Money is a curse and the root of all evil. I will never touch another penny as long as I live."

This was the extraordinary resolution made by a Brighton man, who, of his own free will, has become penniless and is determined to live without money.

He is Henry Mitchell, who until recently was a commercial traveller employed by a well-known firm, and was earning £600, or about $2,700, a year and commission.

When Mitchell came to his decision he gave up his job, drew £200 commission due to him and gave it to his wife. He had £28 10s. left. This he gave to the local poor, and with his last penny he bought a newspaper.

Referring to his action, Mitchell, who is a middle aged man, said: "I have come to the conclusion that money is the cause of all the unhappiness in the world. Three weeks ago I decided I would never touch it again. In future I shall endeavor to lead the life of Christ on modern lines."

"I believe I possess gifts that the ordinary man does not, and as the result of my experience I shall be able to give advice to people with business or personal worries. In return for my services I shall be willing to accept only food, drink and lodging. All I ask for is bread and water."

DEMPSEY-WILLARD FIGHT HANGS FIRE

Willard Says He Cannot Get into Condition This Fall

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The match between Dempsey and Willard which Rickard is expected to stage in October seems to have faded away. Willard insists he cannot attain fighting condition until late October and Rickard complains that it is too late for an outdoor bout. They couldn't take in enough money to pay the boxers.

Should the south American champion Firpo be unwilling to meet Dempsey this fall, the champion will probably go to Europe in the spring for a second meeting with Carpentier.

Campbell River Has Report That One May be Established in Sayward Valley

CAMPBELL RIVER, Aug. 25.—It is reported here that there is a possibility of a pulp mill being erected at Salmo River in the near future but this report has not been confirmed from any authoritative sources. It is said that an expert visited the Sayward Valley a few weeks ago and made a very favorable report to his company as to the resources of that district.

FISHERMAN LOST.

The Juneau Empire of a week ago has the following:

Ernest Olson, a fisherman, early this week walked away from his boat where it was anchored on Prince of Wales Island and has not been seen since that time, according to telegraphic advices received from Petersburg by U. S. Marshal George D. Beaumont. A searching party was authorized by U. S. Commissioner Clifton of Petersburg, and headed by Deputy Marshal McGregor, is now looking for the missing man.

Others who were aboard Olson's boat have been searching for him several days. The information received by Marshal Beaumont said it was feared that Olson is demented.

Mah Get and Lee On, Nass River Chinamen, charged by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police with having opium unlawfully in their possession, were found guilty by Stipendiary Magistrate J. H. McMullin and sentenced to $200 fine or 6 months imprisonment. Chew Kai, facing a similar charge, has been heard and judgment reserved until tomorrow. The fourth, Yee How, was dismissed.
