RT. HON. ARTHUR BALFOUR ACCEPTS TITLE KNIGHT OF GARTER

Crisis in British Government Continues in Spite of Action; Unionists Back Lloyd George

LONDON, March 4.—(Noon)—Austen Chamberlain's declaration of solidarity behind Lloyd George has had little appreciable effect on the situation which threatens to bring about the resignation of Lloyd George, in the opinion of the majority of political writers in today's newspapers. It is generally conceded that the crisis continues at an acute stage. Friends of the Coalition Government are continuing their efforts to keep it together.

LONDON, March 4.—(8 a.m.)—Lloyd George has rescinded the threat to resign following a request by a majority of his

COLLART POSTS NOTICES MOTION

Would Ask City Heads to Present Sliding Scale of Wages—Street Work.

Two new notices of motion, one affecting the wage question and the other dealing with street work, by Ald. Theo. Collart, made their appearance on the council notice board at the city hall yesterday afternoon. They will come up at the meeting of the council on Monday night.

The first reads: "In order to arrive at a more settled condition as regards salaries and wages of city employees, I will present the following resolution on Monday night which I will ask the city council to pass: 'That the heads of the different departments of the city be instructed to bring in a tentative proposal for a sliding scale of salaries and wages, giving minimum and maximum for each employee or job, the increase from the minimum to the maximum to figure over a length of service of 25 years in the continuous employ of the city, said salary or wage to be adequate to the work performed, having due regard to the city's as well as to the employee's interest and tending to eliminate all overtime work of any employee.'

"This means to say that every department head shall be responsible for all work done in his department and shall have at his disposal as many employees as are necessary to do the work with due regard to efficiency, thus leaving him alone as a city official.

"This notice is not given with any prejudice towards the present proposed cut in salaries or wages as it stands before the council."

The second notice is as follows: "That the city engineer be instructed to report as to the advisability of putting in permanent concrete catch basins to take care of the water on Second and Third avenues before any work is resummed on the said streets."

Accepts This Title After Refusing All Others, Even Peerage.

LONDON, March 4.—Right Hon. Arthur Balfour becomes Sir Arthur Balfour. After refusing titles for many years he has now accepted the coveted Knighthood of the Garter. He refused a peerage two weeks ago.

Only two other commoners have been given the title of Knight of the Garter in modern times. Sir Edward Grey, now Viscount Grey, was one, and Viscount Lascelles is the other.

POPE BENEDICT'S WILL SHOWS NO PROPERTY

USK TIE CONTRACT NEARLY COMPLETED

The 20,000 tie contract undertaken by the Kleanza Company, Limited, is practically completed, reports John Willman, the president and general manager of the company who was in the city this morning.

Of the total 20,000 ties 11,000 have already been taken across the ice to the railway side of the Skeena, and there are at the present time 8,000 on the Kleanza side of the Skeena ready to be taken across the river as soon as the slush ice abates and permits of this work, 4000 of these ties are already stacked on the river bank.

The additional 4,000 ties to complete the contract will be cut on the Usk side of the river.

The 60,000 feet capacity sawmill will be completed and operated as soon as it is definitely known that the railway freight rates are to be reduced.

High School Students Excelled Themselves in Oratory Contest of Rotary Club in Booth School

Six budding orators made their debut at the oratorical contest for High School students held last evening in the auditorium of the Booth Memorial School and it was shown that talent along the lines of public speaking is not lacking among the younger generation of the city. Indeed, the speeches made by these very young men and women were very fine and would have done credit to persons many years their seniors. It was demonstrated that the rules of public speaking had been studied to good effect, and the articulation, delivery and coherence of thought and statement written for the contest.

The singing of "O Canada" opened the program and songs by the High School Glee Club accompanied by Miss Lorna Tite rounded out an excellent and novel program which was thoroughly enjoyed by all those present.

Lee Gordon.

The oration of Lee Gordon, the prize winner, was on "Prince Rupert and her Future." It was couched in an optimistic vein and was punctuated with many delightful bits of caustic humor. The younger speaker referred to the great hinterland and the boundless resources of the city and its strategical geographical position on one of the finest harbors in the world. A word

STEAMSHIP AGENT DIES AT KETCHIKAN

KETCHIKAN, March 4.—The death occurred here this week of Victor A. Peterson, aged 36, agent for the Pacific Steamship Co. at this city. He had been ill for a week and passed away at the Arthur Yates Memorial Hospital. He is survived by a wife and small son.

Ten Million Loss in Montreal Fire City Hall Burned

MONTREAL, March 4.—The city hall, built thirty years ago at a cost of $800,000, has been destroyed by fire. It will cost a million dollars to rebuild it.

Many valuable papers, such as signed debentures, in the safety vaults in the building it is believed will be saved.

Several of the Montreal firemen were injured in fighting the fire, one man losing an eye.

The total loss as the result of the fire is at least ten million dollars, according to Mayor Martin, without counting the incalculable loss of historic documents, works of art and records of moral and sentimental rather than financial value.

Mayor Martin includes not only the value of the building and its contents, which he believes are uninsured, but also the cost of replacing and recomposing the lists of assessments, taxation lists, etc., temporary accommodation and other expenses.

PRINCESS BEATRICE CALLED HERE TODAY OPENING NEW ROUTE

The Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Beatrice, Captain Thompson, reached port at 12:30 last evening on her first trip, inaugurating the new service to Prince Rupert and way ports between here and Vancouver. The Beatrice did not call at the Skeena River canneries on the northern voyage and this accounted for her making port earlier than schedule time. The steamer took fish from here and sailed south at 1 o'clock. She will call at Inverness Cannery this afternoon and will take on paper at Ocean Falls and three large rollers which are going to Vancouver for repairs.

The Beatrice brought mail and general cargo north, as well as a light passenger list.

Are Moving Picture Makers Immoral?

Following the disreputable Arbuckle disclosures and the later murder at Los Angeles of a man named Taylor, a moving picture director with the probability of a love motive, it has become the habit to stigmatize all movie actors and actresses as bad characters. The chief difficulty with them is that they earn large salaries, and not very many people are able to stand up against good times. They are, however, much like other people, neither better nor worse.

The mayor of Los Angeles has recently issued an appeal to the public and press on behalf of the movie people in part as follows.

"The Arbuckle case and the slaying of Mr. Taylor were indeed unfortunate affairs, but it is not just to criticize an entire group of people such as those engaged in the motion picture industry for incidents, many of them not true as to fact, which have been published broadcast recently."

"I believe that the Hollywood motion picture colony should not be condemned for the actions of a few of its members any more than a district or an industry located in San Francisco, New York or Chicago."

"I am convinced that there are hundreds of clean, law-abiding men and women engaged in the making of motion pictures, and in their behalf I ask the open-minded judgment and the even-minded justice characteristic of our American people."

An enormous amount of flagrant misstatement and vague and unjustified speculation and insinuation has been sent broadcast in regard to the Taylor murder, largely because neither the authorities nor the newspapermen on the case could find many established facts on which to base their conclusions and inferences.

Stripped of wild theories and reckless exaggeration, however, the facts appear to be as follows:

A director of some importance in the film world was killed mysteriously in his own home. He was a man of peculiar popularity with women. Love notes from several women were found in his home, and there is a possibility, but by no means a certainty, that he was murdered on account of some love affair.

The case is so exactly similar to the Elwell tragedy in New York—first as to the character of the two victims, second as to the possible motive of the murder, and third as to the circumstances surrounding the murder—that they might be exact duplicates one of the other, with merely a change of scene.

Under these circumstances there would seem to be no more basis for the wicked distortion and exaggeration of the simple facts in regard to the film people than there would have been of similar attacks upon society people on account of Elwell's social connections.

Every class, every profession, has its "black sheep." There are some shyster lawyers who rob their clients, some doctors who are actually criminal in their operations, some statesmen who figure in Standard Oil disclosures, some architects who build criminal death-traps.

There are, in fact, disgraces to every class and every profession; but intelligent and judicious people do not hold a whole profession or a whole industry or a whole element of society responsible for the acts of a few delinquents and disreputables.

Greater Efficiency Among Workmen.

The hard times is having the effect of making workmen more efficient according to innumerable reports received from various quarters. The First National Bank, Boston, sends out a report which says in part:

"While the volume of hand-to-mouth buying is perhaps increasing slightly, business as a rule is being done on a very narrow or no-profit basis. Fluctuations in raw material prices, high labor and transportation costs, varying demand for finished goods, make manufacturing uncertain and very difficult. Expectation of lower prices for manufactured goods continually unsettles the market. Northern mills throughout New England are reducing wages and lengthening hours, the result meaning about 10 per cent. less money for 42½ per cent. more work. This action is primarily forced by southern competition, but at bottom is another step in the process of deflation destined to bring the prices of finished goods and farm products nearer a parity. The farmer can not buy freely at relatively high prices, while his own products bring low prices."

and as it may be 30 years hence was drawn.

"Let us look on the city as it appears thirty years from now," said the speaker. "Now we have street cars on every hand and the suburbs of the city extend beyond Westview, now a gorgeous residential section. A cement bridge with double car tracks and rows of beautiful lights connect Section 2 with the business section of permanent buildings. Everywhere there is confusion and noise. There are numerous theatres and the streets are filled with elegant motor cars. Huge skyscrapers thrust their glistening domes into the sky where the hum of airplanes may be heard. A traffic officer at the corner of Sixth Street and Third Avenue is directing the never ceasing flow of vehicles. In the centre of the city is a fine permanent free library with people flocking up and down its stone stairs. The old government buildings at the Market Place are no longer majestic but have been added to until they now look like those at Victoria. Up McBride Street may be seen the new university of Prince Rupert. The road to the wharf is lined with heavy commercial trucks and moored at the piers are many large freight and passenger vessels. The Oriental commerce is fully developed.

"Turning from this picture of future and coming back to the present time, we find that Prince Rupert is already on the highway of prosperity. It is up to all to work together and hasten the day when Prince Rupert will take its place among the cities. All will then reap the great reward of their investment and pioneering and will be the honored citizens of a great city."

The young speaker commenced his oration in a burst of machine-gun like speed which moderated as he advanced. While his speech was perhaps not as smooth and easy flowing as some of the others he showed that he had his subject well in hand and handled it with a style that appealed to all.

Howard Frizzell.

"The Growth of Canada" as a nation was the subject of Howard Frizzell's oration. This young orator had an easy flow of language and a very pleasing and free stage manner. The signs of nervousness were less in evidence in his speech than in any of the others. Many thought before the announcement of the judges was made that he would be the winner.

Opening his subject, the speaker traced the early days of French colonization and settlement, the establishment of the British flag after the Battle of the Plains of Abraham and the framing of Confederation and the British North America Act. The development of the nation had been rapid, due to its constitution which was the best in the world. Immigrants flocked in and developed the natural resources. Foreign trade was its greatest asset and was responsible for its very existence. Mining, fishing, lumber and agriculture were its greatest natural industries and the manufactured products of Canada were taking their place on the world's markets. Great statesmen and a noble womanhood had played its part in the country's success. Canada had responded in no uncertain manner to the call of the Motherland in the Great War. The people of Canada had made honorable names for themselves in the world. West of all was the great province of British Columbia with Prince Rupert as the centre of its industries and the western gateway of the Dominion. The phenomenal growth of Canada had made it the brightest gem in the crown of the British Empire.

Miss Pete Tremayne.

Miss Pete Tremayne's address was also one of great excellence. This young lady, taking as her subject "The Value of a Higher Education" had a very smooth and clear speaking voice and made quite an impression. She declared that the men and women with higher education were always found guiding the affairs of state and business of a nation. Canada, especially, demanded an educated people and they were necessary for her development. The future of the country depended as much on the character education of the people as it did upon the natural resources. Minds were useless without education and no expense or pains should be spared in providing it. It was gratifying to see that the school Board of Prince Rupert had shown that it was alive to the situation by establishing a first year University class in connection with the High School. "It would be one of the greatest assets the city could have."

Willie Kergin.

Willie Kergin also dealt with "The Growth of Canada" as a nation. He traced the 100 years history of the country. The resources and industries had had a great growth until now the country was one of the foremost producers of raw materials and manufactured products. Canada had taken her place among the powers of the world and had grown from a mere colony to a mighty nation. The dawn of an era of 1000 years of continued prosperity and growth was in sight.

Miss Gertrude Nelson.

Miss Gertrude Nelson, speaking on the same subject, "The Growth of Canada as a Nation," delivered her oration in a clear and forceful manner. She dealt considerably with the ideals and workings of the governments.

SORES SPREAD
All Over
FACES AND BODIES.

Mrs. Howard Houleau, Sask., writes:—"I wish to tell you of the benefit we have received by using your valuable medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters. My children started to break out on their faces with small white pimples which kept getting larger each day. Pus would form under the sebs and they would come out, and each time the sores would be larger; some were as large as twenty-five cent piece, and would spread all over their bodies. I was nearly in despair and sent to the village for a bottle of good blood medicine. The druggist sent me a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, which I commenced giving them at once."

In about ten days I saw an improvement and they grew steadily better each day, and in one month the sores had all disappeared."

All blood and skin diseases are caused by bad blood, and to get it pure and keep it pure you must remove every trace of the impure and morbid matter from the system by a blood cleansing medicine such as

Calgary Team Wins Amateur Championship Western Canada
by Three Points.

GALGARY, Mar. 4.—The Fourex team defeated Vancouver Tigers last night and gained the western amateur hockey championship of the Pacific Coast Hockey League. Cook scored on a long shot from the blue line on a fluke and the most determined efforts of Seattle failed to pierce Vancouver's defence.

The outcome of the series remains chiefly a matter of the play of next Monday's game at Vancouver. The aggregate number of goals scored is the deciding factor, so Seattle still has a good chance of winning.

Sport Chat

No one has contributed more to the success of the winter basketball season which has just closed than Eddie Mann, the referee of the Senior League games, who has arbitrated these fixtures throughout the schedule with such fairness and satisfaction to all. The position of referee is often a ticklish one and it requires a cool but determined hand to keep the situation in hand at all times, but Mr. Mann has come through without a single remark being made concerning his stand. The Basketball Association is fully aware and appreciative of Mr. Mann's services and players and fans also join in the feeling. Mr. Mann is one of the pioneers of the game in this city and is an expert on the various playing rules.

The second open billiard handicap at the Prince Rupert Pool Room is now under way and a few games have already been played in it. The schedule of games for the first round is as follows: J. Suden vs. J. Judge, F. Aldrich vs. Geo. Waugh; J. A. Allen vs. R. Smith, W. Balagno vs. A. A. Easson, C. Balagno vs. H. Day, E. Green vs. W. Barbour, P. Burke vs. J. Hodgins, H. R. Charlton vs. B. F. Blythe, Green, McRae, McMordie and Russell have won their games in this heat, eliminating Barbour, Wiggins and McEvoy respectively.

Strength

Strength of muscle does not indicate strength of nerves. On this account many people who look healthy enough suffer from nervous troubles and cannot understand what is ailing them. Sleeplessness and irritability are among the early symptoms. Indigestion and tired feelings soon follow.

Read this letter from an Ontario man:

Mr. W. L. Gregory, Charles St. E., Ingessoll, Ont., writes:

"I had been troubled for quite a while with indigestion. At times there would be a twitching of the nerves of my stomach; and I also found it difficult to get a good night's sleep. I am a moulder, and owing to the nature of my work my system became run-down. I took a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and found great benefit from this medicine. They did me a great deal of good. I have not been bothered at all with indigestion since, and can sleep much better. I have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to many of my friends, as I think it splendid for anyone run-down and needing a tonic."

Waterfront Whiffs

Doings of the Mosquito Fleet Which Is the Chief Source of Prince Rupert's Prosperity

The Admiral of the Mosquito Fleet reports that with the bad weather prevailing at the beginning of the week it has meant that a number of boats have been stormbound in port. Although many of the boats arriving report a hard passage home the storm has not been attended with any serious damage to gear, although in a few cases minor repairs and additions to equipment will be necessary before some of the boats will be hitting the high spots again.

The quantity of fish landed in port during the month of February exceeded the quantity for February 1921 by 20,750 pounds, which goes to show that the output of the fleet is on the upward grade and that everybody concerned is on the job.

The offices of the Admiralty report that the flu epidemic has been noticeable along the waterfront during the week, and several cases are reported. Even the fish houses are not immune from the complaint and are working on depleted staffs. However, the medical department has the situation well in hand, and Doctor Gatto is giving complete satisfaction to his patients.

Good fur trapping is reported from Pitt Island, Dundas Island, and Estevan Island, at which points some excellent mink skins have been obtained.

Two fur arrivals are reported during the week. Captain Nichols of the J. & N. arrived with 247 pelts consisting of mink, marten, and otter, valued at approximately $1200. The local price offered not being satisfactory they are being shipped to the east.

The troller Ely arrived in port early in the week from Dundas Island with a fine cargo of skins, the majority consisting of mink, which were sold locally.

The crews of a number of the smaller craft are still out on trapping bent and it is expected will be making for home in the near future.

It is reported that during the trapping season of 1920-1921 approximately $500,000 worth of furs were landed at this port, and it is expected that at the end of the present season this figure will be equalled if not exceeded.

Captain Hansen of the Iris is busy refitting at Cow Bay, and will hit for the halibut banks again over the week end.

The Dixie Rupert, Captain Newcombe, arrived in port on Wednesday night from the Zanardi Rapids, where he has been with a party engaged on government telegraph repair work. Cap reports that the snow in that locality is two feet deep in places, and that snowshoes will be added to the equipment on the next trip.

The Wigwam, Captain Claude Ketchum and Chief Officer Jimmie Thomas, arrived in port on Wednesday morning with a boom of logs from Inverness for the Dry Dock shingle mill, and left on Thursday morning with a scow load of coal for the Port Simpson hospital.

Captain R. E. Lambly, of the Clare, injured his left hand recently while chopping kindling in the dark. The axe hit the wall behind him with the result that he struck his knuckles practically paralyzing his fingers, which has prevented him from taking any active part in the fishing industry for the time being.

However, the injury, with careful nursing, is progressing favorably and he is still able to tackle the dominoes to the delight of his fortunate audiences.

Flossie Flirt, who is still sojourning at the Seal Cove hotel day resort, has written a very interesting letter to Jack, and some extracts are given here with.

"Yesterday afternoon I was around the proposed Pulp and Paper Mill site figuring out the advisability of putting a little change into this proposition as from first hand observations the thing looks very feasible to me. I never made paper myself but I guess the guys that are going to run it can make paper. Any-

Jud says, "what's the use of going to fish if bad weather won't let you fish," and there is a deal of logic in that.

The Bartolome, Captain H. Seitz, arrived from Ketchikan during the week with a cargo of halibut, and is clearing for the deep sea fishing grounds over the week end.

Captain Peterson, one of the prominent ranchers of Porcher Island, arrived in port aboard the Betty on Tuesday. Cap is in the city on business.

Captain Doh Yelf, left port with the Tip Top on Thursday morning to look for herring.

The S. & S., after taking on ice and bait at the Cold Storage, hit for the high spots on Thursday afternoon.

The Baluart, a logging boat from North Arm, Wark Channel, came into port on Monday for repairs to machinery. After the necessary repairs had been executed she cleared for an unknown destination on Tuesday.

There is something fascinating to the wild ducks around the Prince Rupert Yacht Clubhouse and blue bills, golden eyes, etc., by the swarm, can be seen diving under the moored boats. If the ducks remain in this vicinity long enough it should prove a splendid rendezvous for the sportsmen around Cow Bay.

The 28 ft. pleasure boat, which is being built for Captain Sanders of Digby at the N. M. McLean shipyards is making excellent progress, as is also the halibut-boats, which is being built for the Lear Brothers.

I met several people lately from Prince Rupert and they tell me people are asking after me, nod isn't that nice of them. I mean the people who did the asking. There are lots of boat-building guys around here and they all seem busy hammering and sawing, and have very kindly told me a lot about boat-building, which I forgot. The great excitement, to me, is the arrival of the motor bus, and I often go and meet it, and sometimes see old friends. The people I am staying with keep chickens and they are very tame birds, I think they call them wine-dots, but I don't see where they got the idea of the wine part from in naming them, although there are a few dots on some. The rooster crowed so much one night that I threw one of my best shoes out of the window at it, and instead of going and hitting the rooster the blamed shoe went in the rain water barrel, and I had to do a Mack Sennett bathing beauty stunt to get it back. Such is life give my best regards to all the good people around the Bay."

The E. Lipsett, Captain Peter son, is on the high spots on her maiden trip.

The Annie May, Captain Jack Robins, arrived in port on Thursday morning with 7000 pounds of halibut. Cap reported very heavy weather on the inward voyage, but nothing untoward occurred, and that excellent morale prevailed aboard on the entire venture.

Martin Miller, foreman, and Chris Dickson, boom-man, of the Georgetown sawmill arrived from Georgetown on Monday night aboard the launch Gladys B. Owing to the very heavy weather encountered they experienced a hard trip in.

The gas boat Starston, Captain Brodhurst, brought in a scow load of fish boxes and lumber last Friday from the Georgetown mill. The fish boxes were for delivery to the Cold Storage and the lumber was for the Big Bay Lumber Company, for local use.

George McAfee, manager of the Georgetown mill, will return to the city on Wednesday next on the S. S. Prince Rupert.

The tug Fir Leaf arrived in port on Wednesday with a scow load of coal for Albert & McCaffery, for local consumption.

The launch Oh Baby, Captain Myhill-Jones, cleared port on Thursday morning, with a party of some eight men, for Smith Island quarry. The party will be engaged on quarry work in connection with material for the dry dock.

Captain A. Swanson is laid up with the influenza, but is progressing satisfactorily.

Captain Svensen, of the gas boat Starratt, took all precautions to avoid accidents on his last trip for herring to Captain's Cove, which was undertaken in a south-easterly gale. Before leaving the harbor he "hove to" to make his anchor and cable secure, and also lashed his mate to the mast to prevent him from being washed overboard while pumping the ship out. The Captain then lashed himself to the steering wheel and proceeded on his way. Beyond having a few sore

Bob Hanna, who is sick in hospital with the flu is progressing favorably, and it is anticipated will be out again in the near future.

J. and C. Currie left with the Ruby Mae for the north on Thursday, on a timber cruising and logging expedition.

Captain Jud Thurber, had every intention of leaving port aboard the Mayflower early in the week, but the bad weather interfered with his plans. As

The W. & F., Captain Cook, arrived in port on Monday morning with 10,000 pounds of halibut. The skipper said that the finest kind of weather was experienced on the trip and that for seven entire days there was not enough wind to blow a match out. Extensions are being made to the fish hold. Cap says that with the low price of fish he will have to make provision for packing a greater quantity, otherwise the chief engineer will have to be laid off.

FOG ALARMS KETCHIKAN

New Station to Be Erected at Entrance to Tongass Narrows.

KETCHIKAN, March 4.—W. C. Dibrell, superintendent of lighthouses for Alaska, announces that new fog stations are to be established at Guard Island and Point Retreat, the former at the western entrance to Tongass Narrows. At present there is a fog bell at Guard Island but its value is limited. A reinforced concrete building will be erected surrounded by a tower and lantern and another dwelling will be built so that there may be another lightkeeper with one always on duty.

A similar installation is contemplated for Point Retreat at the northern end of Admiralty Island about 35 miles from Juneau.

Automatic lights are to be established at Slate Island, Menndall Bar, Peril Strait and Sitka Sound and several lights along the Alaskan peninsula. In all the sum of $125,000 is expected to be spent.
