Nine Guards Stabbed or Burned and Four Prisoners Injured—May Cost Two Million to Repair Damage at St. Vincent de Paul, Quebec

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL, Que., Nov. 5.—Fire and riot yesterday raked the isolated St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary on the Ile Jesus in the St. Lawrence River, fifteen miles from Montreal. Nine guards were injured by stab wounds or burns in a flaming melee which was started by a giant negro convict named Crossley. Four convicts were injured. No lives were lost.

The outbreak occurred in a big workshop of the prison, valued at $500,000, which was totally destroyed. Crossley was still in the tailor shop after the fire gained headway. He stabbed himself when the outbreak failed and is reported to be in critical condition. All other prisoners were locked in their cells by noon.

Crossley was finally saved from the burning workshop by firemen who kept a hose trained on him until they could saw through the bars to the part of the workshop to which he had fled.

Indications are that the affair was carefully premeditated. The jail-break, if successful, would have let loose hundreds of convicts to pour into the city of Montreal. Failure of eighty men outside at a concrete mixer to see Crossley's signal and quick action on the part of the guards is believed to have saved the situation.

While the damage is placed at $500,000, the cost of replacement is estimated at as high as $2,000,000.

The trouble flared up in the tailor shop when, it is understood, Crossley threw gasoline on a pile of waste and fired it. Guards dashed over and were set upon by 30 men who had armed themselves with knives and hammers. Major Emil Jacques, head of the tailoring department, was crowded into a corner and tossed into the flames by the convicts but was rescued when rifle-armed guards poured into the building. Guard Aube was stabbed in the neck and Guard Forest was knocked down.

The flames spread rapidly. Convicts slashed hose brought in by the guards, combatants milled about. The guards, aided by the smoke, assumed command, however, ushering the convicts out of the building and to the cells in the main penitentiary. Thirty convicts, trapped on the fourth floor, now thoroughly frightened, were rescued by firemen who used hack saws to cut through the bars. The riot was then definitely over.

Sweeping inquiry will be made immediately into the riot, it is officially announced.

GROTTO IS VICTORIOUS

Tobaccoists Defeat Kaiens 36 to 25 In Senior Basketball Game

Comets Forfeit

Merchants Stage Last Minute Rally to Defeat Warriors

Before a fair sized crowd of fans, an interesting card of basketball games was played in the Auditorium last night.

In the Senior division, the Grotto, playing their best game this season, defeated the Kaiens, 36-25.

In the Ladies' League the Comets conceded the game to the Cardinals on account of an insufficient number of players to make a team. The Cardinals gave them one player so an exhibition game could be played and this game, although slow at the start, speeded up towards the end and, in a 5-minute overtime period, the Cardinals just topped the Comets 16-12.

The Intermediates played a stirring game and, quite unexpectedly, in the dying moments of the match, the Merchants overcame a 5-point lead and won over the Warriors by a narrow margin of 23-21.

The Junior tussle turned out to be a very one-sided affair with Meteors winning over the Rovers 24-8.

Senior League

The first half of the Senior game was slow but effective with the teams trying to feel each other out. Occasionally they hit their strides and showed some speedy basketball. The Grotto was depending entirely on long shots. The Kaiens depended too much on individual play but, when they did happen to click, scored points. The first half was very even, the score ending 17-16 in favor of Grotto.

The boys started to pep it up in the second half, the Kaiens struggling hard to get a slight lead. Thus the game stood for many minutes but Cross, playing a stellar game at guard, could not hope to do all the checking himself and the Grotto, using short, snappy passes so different from their usual style, put in basket after basket in the last 10 minutes of play, and put the game on ice, 36-25.

Currie (1), Pierce (12), D. Gurvich (9), S. Gurvich.

Kaiens-Mitchell (3), Cross (9), Unger (6), Irvine (5), Tobey, Scott (2).

Intermediate League

In the first half of the Intermediate League game, play was energetic and fast enough but lacked the clock-work co-ordination that has been seen in the last few Intermediate games. Both teams were playing in sort of a long range which meant many intercepted passes and fumbles. However, both were playing the same and the half ended with the close score of 10-11.

The second half started with the Warriors scoring with rapidity to give them a 6-point lead which they held until the last five minutes of play. Then the Merchants thought it was about time to do something. By putting the speed up another notch, the Merchants played themselves within range of the leaders and then McNulty, with a nice long shot, turned the tables to give Merchants the lead 23-21 which they held till the final whistle blew. Merchants winning this game made a three-cornered tie in the Intermediate League.

Ladies' Game

Although it was disappointing that the Comets could not field a team and an exhibition game had to be played, there were tense moments of excitement when the Comets after playing most of the time raggedly picked up and managed to tie the score 12-12 at the end of the second half. An overtime period had to be played in which the Cardinals put on just a little extra spurt to win 16-12.

Cardinals-Lowe (8), Gilchrist (2), Webster (2), Stone (2), Krikev-ky (2), Rivett. Comets-Tite, Irvine (10), Dickens, Smith (2), Brochu.

Junior League

The Meteors, lead by their dead-hot Santurbane, did not give the Rovers the least chance and completely outplayed them to the tune of 24-8.

Insomnia

"INSOMNIA does not kill its man unless he kills himself—sleeplessness is the most common cause of suicide. It kills the joy of living, it saps his strength, it sucks the blood from his brain and from his heart like a vampire." So writes a famous nerve specialist.
Sleeplessness can best be relieved by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food which soothes and restores the tired nerves and removes the cause of sleeplessness, headaches, indigestion and other symptoms of exhausted nerves. Under this restorative treatment discouragement and depressed feelings give way to new hope and confidence.

A SATURDAY SERMON

The Hopeless Regain New Hope

(By Rev. P. M. Fosse, St. Paul's Lutheran Church)
"He expounded unto them in all the scripture, the things concerning himself."—Luke: 24, 25.

The two disciples on the way to Emmaus received great blessings from their journey. The companion that joined them proved to be the Supreme Teacher and Interpreter in whom all wisdom dwelleth.

The Lord Jesus humbled himself to be a Gospel preacher and, true to his calling, whether the audience were one, two or thousands, we find him just as eager. He had come to seek to save the ones that were lost. This Supreme Teacher used the best textbook. Although he could have revealed new truths he chose to expound the old truth. He knew all things and his method of teaching was getting results. He expounded Moses and the Prophets—no speculations whatever. This was the surest and quickest way to wisdom and will always be the true study of God's own word. It is the absolute way to get spiritual riches in Heavenly knowledge—to dig in this mine of diamonds and to gather pearls in this heavenly ocean. When Jesus made others rich, he dipped out of the Holy Scripture, the greatest of all topics. He expounded himself—all that was written about him. The diamond cut the diamond. The Lord of the house opened the doors and placed them at his beautiful table. Dear reader, let us come to Him and surrender entirely. He is the Hope of the Hopeless—extending His invitation to all of us, saying: "Come now, let us reason together, though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool." Reader, try Him!

Canadian Landings Down This Year — Relief Brought in Most Fish This Year — Individual Production Records For Season

The grand total of Canadian halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert for the 1932 season was 4,142,250 pounds as compared with 5,697,800 pounds in 1931, 6,445,500 pounds in 1930, 7,452,750 pounds in 1929 and 7,481,300 pounds in 1928. The principal reason for the large decrease in production of Canadian halibut this year can be found in the low prices which prevailed for fish almost throughout the season. This condition made it impossible to operate the gasoline-driven vessels at a profit. The only boats that had a chance to make it pay this year were those equipped with the more economical diesel engines and even some of these lost money. The net result of the low price situation was that such of the halibut vessels as could do so deserted the halibut fishery for other lines of endeavor while many other boats tied up for varying periods during the season. The 1932 season was undoubtedly the worst on record so far as the Canadian fleet was concerned financially. Happily enough, fatalities were at a minimum during the season although early in the season two or three of the Canadian fishing vessels came to grief by burning and other causes. Weather conditions on the banks, taking it as a whole, were about average.

Following is a table showing the number of trips made, the amount of fish landed and the average fare per trip for each of the boats of the Canadian fleet during the 1932 season.

The latest official bulletin on the British Columbia canned salmon pack shows that, up to October 22, the total coast pack this year stood at 1,029,013 cases as compared with 664,207 cases at a similar date last year. The Naas River pack was placed at 79,052 cases this year as compared with 14,674 cases last, the Skeena River pack at 223,322 cases as against 173,543 cases, the Rivers Inlet pack at 71,634 cases in comparison with 76,517 cases, the Smith's Inlet pack at 26,362 cases as against 13,915 cases, the central area pack at 264,629 cases in comparison with 126,934 cases and the Queen Charlotte Island pack at 6,851 cases as compared with 6,187 cases.

Coho trolling is continuing on Skidegate Bar, according to word received in town, a few boats packing to Prince Rupert for themselves. Since the buyers left the Queen Charlotte Islands, the run of cohes is reported to have been extra good.

Capt. Sam Larsen, one of the pioneer trawlers of the Queen Charlotte Islands, had the misfortune recently to break his crankshaft at Cumshewa and had to be towed back to Skidegate Inlet. Capt. Larsen has hauled his boat, which is named Liza Jane, out of the water and will put in the winter with Jack Renner at Last Chance Farm, Skidegate Inlet.

final landings of American halibut at Prince Rupert following the closing of the fishing season on Tuesday of this week. During the past week a number of the larger American vessels have called here but, finding the prices none too high, decided to go on to their home port of Seattle in the hope of striking better market conditions there. They would have been going on to Seattle in any case.

H. and R. Sinks
Finn was written to the career of another of Prince Rupert's well known pioneer halibut boats late last week when the H. and R., Mary and Isabella Shrubbsall of Prince Rupert, registered owners, struck Hammer Rock, near Lucy Island, while on a hunting trip with the Shrubbsall brothers and party on board, and sank soon after in deep water, a total loss. The H. and R. cleared the rock after striking but soon began to founder and those on board took to the life-boat and rowed to Lucy Island where, after spending the night at the life-house, they were picked up the next day and brought into Prince Rupert. There was insurance coverage on the boat. Built in Prince Rupert in 1925, the H. and R. was 28 feet long, 9 feet two inches beam and 12 feet in depth. She was equipped with a gasoline engine and Capt. R. Shrubbsall was her skipper. Owing to unfavorable market conditions, the H. and R. had made one trip in the halibut fisheries this year.
