Great Ore Strike Is Made At Stewart FIVE VESSELS OF CANADIAN NAVY ARE TO GO INTO DISCARD

Discovery Made At Exchange Group, Near Premier, May Be Best Ever in Portland Canal

STEWART, May 13.—While doing assessment work last week on the Exchange Group, a property just north of the Premier mine, Albert Peterson made a discovery of solid ore, high in gold and silver values, which may prove to be the most startling strike in this district for years. The big find was made when Peterson was putting in an open cut on a large mineralized zone which is some 80 to 85 feet wide striking northwest and southeast with a slight dip to the northeast.

The new lead has actually been traced along the surface some 700 feet but it is known to extend much further. The cut which Peterson put in is 25 feet long and is in solid ore all the way. While the rock on the surface does not look very promising assays obtained from the bottom of the cut show exceptionally high values in gold and silver. Native silver has been dug out from crevices in the rock with a pocket knife. So far neither end of the cut has touched the wall so it is hard to say how high the values may go. The ore appears to be a sulphide exactly similar to the best ores found in the Premier, the rock on the surface being a quartz porphyry.

"John the Finn" Again. The Exchange Group consists of four claims situated between the Indian and Bush mines, north of the Premier and lying in the valley of Cascade Creek, a tributary of the Salmon River. The owners are John Haahli, better known as "John the Finn," who made the lucky strike at the Silverado some two years ago, Albert Peterson and William Noble, all of Stewart.

The rock on the surface at the Exchange Group is of such a barren nature that the ground has been walked over by prospectors for years without being particularly noted. Although staked in the early days, little or no work was done and even Haahli and his associates, who have held the ground since 1919, did not give it any serious attention until this year, having contented themselves in the past with merely doing the necessary assessment work. It was not until Albert Peterson went up this year and gave the ground closer scrutiny than before that it was realized that they had what promises now to become one of the biggest mines in the district.

The British naval radio station at Bunbeg, Donegal, was destroyed by fire. It was held by mutineers who evicted British coast guards some days ago. They left last night after firing the building.

The Anti-Blue Sunday League, in view of the tremendous victory, now proposes to initiate for a repeal or modification of the Lord's Day Act.

General Agreement With Russians Is Impossible; France Done With Issue

GENOA, May 13.—As a result of the meeting of the economic conference sub-committee on Russian affairs today, the situation became so critical that it seemed doubtful whether the British and French positions could be reconciled whatever. After adjournment, the British delegation announced that a serious though friendly discussion had occurred.

While the Russian reply has practically disrupted the program of the conference and it appears that a general agreement with the Russians at the present meeting is impossible, a commission may be formed to investigate such questions as credits, debts and treatment of foreign and private property in Russia with the hope that something constructive may be accomplished. The dominant task is to reconcile communism and private property rights.

SAD MISSION IS EXECUTED

Special Constable at Stewart Investigates Death and Buries James Holden's Body.

A report has just been received by A. C. Minty, provincial police chief, from Provincial Constable Cyril G. Jackson, of Stewart, who was recently sent up in to the upper Naas River country by the Provincial authorities to investigate the death and bury the body of James Holden, a prospector, whose frozen dead body with that of his dog was discovered in a tent some miles from Tide Lake, early in April.

Constable Jackson, accompanied by John Berndgen, a prospector, left Stewart on April 22, and were storm bound for two days at the Spider cabins. They reached Tide Lake on April 25 and the following day the two men reconnoitred the glacier for a passage. On the morning of April 29 they followed down the south bank of the river, where an old man-trail in the snow running from the river back into the bush was noticed. This trail was followed and after going some 200 yards they came upon a little "V" shaped ten in a thicket of balsam and cottonwood trees. This spot was about seventeen miles north of Tide Lake.

A pack-saddle, snowshoes, and traps were hanging against the outside of the tent and the flap was tied. Upon going inside Constable Jackson saw the body of Holden lying upon a rough bed covered by blankets. The dead body of a little dog lay curled upon the bed by the side of the man.

The body was clothed in undershirt, topcoat, mackinaw pants, one sock and no under-drawers. Everything orderly.

A rock about the size of a man's head, lay against the soles of the feet. There were no marks of violence on the body and the body reposed as though asleep. The face of the corpse was not discolored. The cooking utensils were all clean and there were no dirty cups or plates. Enough food was discovered in the tent to last a healthy man for three or four days. The heater was in good condition.

Upon examination of the body of the dog the constable decided it had starved to death. No papers or letters of any description were found amongst the dead man's personal effects and there was nothing which would identify the body. The constable had packed a shovel from Tide Lake and with this inside the tent he dug a grave across the tent parallel with the front and back. Placing the body in the grave he filled it in and placed a cross at the head on which was inscribed "J. Holden." The only thing that Constable Jackson took away from the tent was a rifle which he handed to the provincial police of Stewart on his return.

The constable stated in his report that in his opinion the deceased was not a woodsman and did not know how to look after himself in the bush. He also knew very little about trapping for the traps were not oiled. A trapper intending to trap for a whole season in a place would have put up a cabin especially where the right sized timber is so plentiful and handy. In the opinion of the constable the deceased contracted a severe chill, and this aggravated by internal trouble so lowered his vitality that he succumbed to the cold.

SIXTH AVENUE BRIDGE OVER CREEK CLOSED

Board of Works Gives Instructions that Vehicular Traffic Will Have to Detour.

CITY ENGINEER FINDS IT IN BAD CONDITION

On recommendation of the city engineer, the Board of Works committee of the city council last night decided to close the Sixth Avenue Hays Creek bridge to vehicular traffic for an indefinite period and official notification to this effect was ordered to be placed in the press today. The order affects vehicular traffic only such as automobiles and teams which will now have to make the detour by McBride Street, McClymont Park and Eleventh Avenue to reach the east end of the city. Pedestrians may still use the bridge.

The order comes as a result of an inspection recently made by City Engineer F. J. Whittaker with a view to having repairs made. When he examined the structure he found it in worse condition than was generally expected, the majority of the caps and bents being rotten and the whole bridge in a bad state.

The question now will be whether a new bridge altogether is to be built or whether extensive repairs will be undertaken. The council is to inspect the structure and the Board of works will likely, at a later date after further consideration, bring in a report.

The Question Of Immigration.

The question of immigration is becoming a live one in Canada and since Prince Rupert is the centre of the last great agricultural district of the West it is a matter which is of particular importance to the city. There are many variant opinions on immigration and the methods which should be adopted. Some favor general immigration with little restriction, others think it should be selective, while others opine that immigration should not be encouraged at all at this time. The opinion that seems most general and is very reasonable is the second one—for selective immigration. That is the plan on which the local Minister of Lands is working. It seems also a very sensible one. There would be great danger without restriction and the country would remain undeveloped without immigration at all. It is the plan which will no doubt be accepted.

Some Are Suited; Others Are Not.

The strong complaints from certain British settlers in Canada which have been published in English papers will do no particular harm if they are in the end the means of making it clear that, while certain classes of people have an excellent opportunity of improving their position by coming to the country, there are other classes who are only likely to meet with disappointment and who therefore should not come says the Winnipeg Free Press editorially. The latter include those who are not suited to the climate, those who intend to farm but are unfitted for the life, and those who are generally lacking in qualities of industry and perseverance, which even in this land of opportunity are necessary in order to attain success.

Should Be No Misrepresentation.

It goes without saying that there should be no misrepresentation by immigration agents of the government or of private interests in regard to conditions in Canada with a view to attracting settlers. And it should be abundantly apparent that the wholesale immigration of British settlers, which some suggest in order to increase the proportion of British-born in Canada, would be most unwise because it would bring many who were not suited to the country, who would not make good and who would loudly express their disappointment as some are doing now.

Necessity For Selective Immigration.

There are, on the other hand, thousands of British settlers who have come to Canada and have prospered, and others who are of the right class and the right character can do the same. For such, Canada has opportunities by which they can greatly better themselves and they are not likely to be deterred from coming here by the complaints of those who have been unable, or have failed, to avail themselves of the opportunities of the country. The discussion which has been started in England may serve to clear the air a bit and show the necessity for selective immigration.

"Song Of The Soul" Will Be Repeated Tonight at Empress Theatre

Vivian Martin comes into her own in her first production to be presented by Messrs. Kendall and Robert W. Chambers, "The Song of the Soul." The photograph, which is released by the Goldwyn Distributing Corporation, is based upon a story by William J. Locke and furnishes Miss Martin with a genuinely dramatic role which gives her a greater opportunity to act than her previous screen comedy roles. Miss Martin portrays Barbara Seaforth, a blind girl. The role is an exceptionally difficult one. It is necessary, naturally, to interpret the part without the aid of the eye except insofar as to denote blindness. But so charmingly and intelligently does she use her features that she succeeds admirably in her unusual part.

"The Song of the Soul" will be repeated at the Empress Theatre tonight.

"A WISE FOOL" MADE A HIT LAST NIGHT

James Kirkwood Makes Good in Exacting Role in Sir Gilbert Parker's Story

Presenting charming pictures of life in Quebec, "A Wise Fool," an unusually refreshing George Melford production for Paramount, scored a decisive hit at the Westholme Theatre yesterday. The story which is based on Sir Gilbert Parker's novel, "The Money Master," deals with an egotistical French-Canadian philosopher who is wrapped up in his own dreams of self-importance, but who is later disillusioned when he makes the discovery that the outside world knows him no better than the merest worm that crawls. James Kirkwood makes the most of this exacting role and he is admirably supported by Alice Hollister and a cast of picked players. The picture is well worth seeing, for aside from dramatic interest of the story, the various scenes have been delightfully photographed. It will be repeated tonight.

Two Men in a Car

A short account of a Trip to California in a Ford Flivver By H. F. Pullen

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—It seems to me that the bigger the city the less it is regulated and the smaller the place the less tolerant the people. In Portland people park their cars almost anywhere they wish and they do not seem to be bound down to any particular manner of parking. The only apparent restriction is the time limit and that is not enforced very strictly.

In this city there is a surprising laxity in the matter of driving cars, so much so that people are often in danger as a result of negligence to observe rules. There are point police at crowded corners but they do not worry themselves very much and are very tolerant. In small towns, however, things are quite different. We passed through one little place of two or three thousand inhabitants where lines were drawn on the paved street inside of which parking alone was permissible. To be outside the lines meant a ten dollar fine, we were told. There was plenty of room on the street for everybody but rules and regulations had to be strictly obeyed.

There is no intention to decry proper regulation and an insistence on carrying out the law. I simply mention the facts as they appeared to me as being curious. Possibly there is something in Captain Freeman's claim that we are overgoverned and that there is no need for so much regulation in small communities.

Crossing Market Street.

There is one main street in San Francisco. It is Market Street. Everything radiates from it. Almost all street cars find their way in and out of Market Street. There are four tracks, two running each way, and it is very difficult to dodge between the cars in crossing the street. In fact the faulty of crossing Market Street successfully and elegantly is acquired only by practice. We have crossed a number of times but I doubt if we have yet done it with dignity. I have watched the old timers do it and have tried to imitate them but as we have only another day here I doubt if we shall learn the art.

Perhaps on the next visit I may have time to devote to passing back and forth a sufficient number of times to preserve that "sang froid" which is necessary to the occasion. Several times I have driven Lizzie across but have felt thrills go down my spine on each occasion. The best way, I find, is to get behind some other car and try to follow it across. It is embarrassing, however, if just as the other fellow is headed for the open, the policeman's whistle is sounded and I have to remain with the fore part of the car jutting out on to the danger zone until permission is given to pass. They tell me Los Angeles is worse than this, but I do not quite see how it could be more difficult to navigate. Here the streets are full of gorges where danger may crop up in unexpected directions.

I have no intention of inflicting on the readers a description of San Francisco. This afternoon we visited Chinatown and saw the fine Oriental shops packed with Oriental goods which the white Americans buy. The Chinese are rapidly becoming Americanized. They keep their places clean and many of them dress in American clothes and carry on in that carefree manner peculiar to American people. Some of the Chinese are very rich, so rich that they could buy Prince Rupert and still have some money left. They live in fine houses, drive big cars, and have considerable influence in the community. San Francisco would not be the same city without the Chinese. It might possibly be better without them and yet too it might be worse.

Chinese do not come here any more. That is why the Oriental is no longer a menace. Those who are here learn the ways of the country. It takes a long time for them to do that. With new immigrants coming all the time things would be different.

Mrs. and Miss Carson were arrivals yesterday on the Princess Mary from the south.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

May 13, 1912.

Not a single boat could be had for love or money on the waterfront yesterday afternoon. Everything that would float was hired and out on the harbor in the ideal weather. Warmth like that of summer in its strength prevailed. Coats and waistcoats were discarded by the masculine population. The eternal feminine, fresh and cool in her gossamer garb of midsummer texture and radiance, paraded her charms in superb sunshine. Streets were shimmering in the haze of sheer hotness rising from their parched surface. Prince Rupert yesterday was like Toronto in June, yet with the refreshing tang of the great sea in her soft breezes so different from those of the lakes. Today is even more perfect. The city is basking in sunshine. All the air is steeped in it.

During the auction sale at the Majestic Theatre yesterday, the name of the townsite at the first divisional point on the Grand Trunk Pacific was changed from Amundson to Nicholl and the new town has been registered as Nicholl. Since the auction a large number of lots have been sold at private sale by the Continental Trust Company, selling agents. The Trust Company will continue to dispose of the remaining unsold lots at private sale. It is expected that within a very short time a large force of workmen will be employed at the new town in building round houses, yards, etc. for the railway. All purchasers of lots in Nicholl are making preparations to build and that within a very short space of time Nicholl will be a flourishing place seems assured.

ON WAY TO TAKE MOVIES IN FAR NORTH REGIONS

Silver Screen Called Here Yesterday on Way to Arctic Circle

The power yacht Silver Screen, of Seattle, owned by a private moving picture corporation and skippered by Capt. Klemenschmidt, put into port yesterday to the Imperial Oil Co.'s dock for oil en route to the Arctic Circle with a party of movie actors to produce a new picture in that territory. All the necessary arctic equipment is aboard including Eskimo canoes, fur clothing and several miles of film.
 The Silver Screen was originally built for the American Navy as a submarine chaser, and was used for that purpose during the war. She is built along the lines of the British torpedo boat destroyer, being long and narrow in beam. Her dimensions are 120 feet long, 20 feet beam. The craft is fitted with high power oil burning engines capable of developing between 20 and 25 knots per hour. A full wireless equipment is fitted on her.
 The Silver Screen will be away from her home port for some months. She left here this morning.

CHANGE IN WORDING OF BAPTISMAL AND BURIAL SERVICES

Proposed by Annual Meeting of Victoria Methodists—Former Minister Here Makes Suggestions

The phraseology of the baptismal service in the discipline of the Methodist Church has been under discussion at the annual Victoria District meeting in the Metropolitan Church. It was argued by Rev. J. F. Dimmick that the modern teaching of the church does not require the present wording of parts of both the baptismal service and the burial service. In the baptismal service it was proposed that the words, "Grant that the old Adam in this child may die in him," should be deleted. A resolution recommending this to the annual conference and asking it to recommend the changes to the general conference was passed. The changes in the burial service were suggested because it was considered that the service is altogether too gloomy and does not fully express the teaching of the Church in this regard.

LISTENING TO TALK IN COMMONS GETS TIRING TO MEMBER

WINNIPEG, May 13. — J. S. Woodsworth, M.P. for Centre Winnipeg, writing about his experiences as a new member at Ottawa, says:

"Even while sitting in the House one need not give continued attention to the proceedings. To be condemned to do this would be worse than being committed to an insane asylum. It is bad enough to have to listen to a preacher or a lecturer for half an hour a week, but if we had to listen to a flow of oratory for six hours a day, week after week, our little human brains could not stand the strain of attempting even to hold the information which is poured forth by a score of men, each of whom thinks that he is solving the problems of the world."

CHERRY BLOSSOM TEA AND CONCERT

Helping Hands Society of Baptist Church Entertained Delightfully Last Night.

Fully eighty guests enjoyed the Cherry Blossom Tea and Missionary Concert given in the Baptist Church parlors last night by the Helping Hands Society. The rooms presented a very pretty sight with cherry blossoms everywhere and Japanese lanterns hanging from the branches. The members of the society were attired in Japanese costumes and altogether the scene was one of rich Oriental splendor such as is not often seen here.
 The program of the concert consisted of a pianoforte duet by Miss Mary Muse and Miss Eileen Garruthers which was very creditably rendered. This was followed with a chorus by real Japanese children. Miss Laura Frizzell gave a selection on the piano and Miss Barbara Peyton and Miss Mary Muse sang "A Japanese Love Song." Several choruses were well received. Miss Jean Grieve and Miss Vera Shockley sang a duet delightfully and a pianoforte trio by Miss Eileen Garruthers, Miss Lillian Cross and Miss Mary Muse brought forth great applause. During the evening Miss F. Hudson told some interesting missionary stories. Miss Nellie Wilson, the treasurer, made an appeal which was most effective in its results. Dainty refreshments were served and after the singing of the National Anthem the merry party broke up.
 Miss A. Dawson, leader of the girls, is deserving of much credit and praise for the unqualified success of the entertainment.

PRETTY ANKLES HELP WOMAN WIN LAWSUIT

PARIS, May 13.—Mademoiselle Blanche Otero has much to thank her pretty features—and particularly her pretty ankles—for. She admits it for both of these played an important part in swaying the jury's verdict in a recent lawsuit in which the well-known dancer claimed 100,000 francs damages for a crushed foot sustained in a taxicab accident.
 Blanche Otero claims that she has the prettiest ankles in France and that these are an asset, as she is a professional dancer.
 The lawyer of the taxicab company said Mlle. Otero was much too old to dance professionally. A controversy raged, for the dancer was not in court. The jury decided that Blanche Otero should come to court. She did and, after showing her face, revealed her pretty ankles. Five minutes later a verdict in her favor was returned.

TENNIS DANCE FINE AFFAIR

Decorations Were a Feature of Annual Event in Rink Last Night

The annual dance of the Prince Rupert Tennis Club held last night in the Auditorium was, by general consensus of opinion, one of the most successful and enjoyable dances of the season and by far the best dance ever held by the Tennis Club.
 The hall was beautifully and uniquely decorated. The Westholme orchestra, which furnished the dreamy music, was surrounded in the centre of the hall with evergreens. At the end of the hall a miniature drawing room was partitioned off with evergreen trees, flags and bunting, in which card playing and social chat was indulged in. The walls were delightfully decorated with the Allied flags, tennis nets and tennis racquets being much in evidence. The whole decorative scheme did great credit to the committee responsible, and certainly produced a most pleasing effect.
 Dancing commenced at 9:30 sharp, and between 100 and 150 couples enjoyed it fully. A dainty supper was served upstairs, at midnight by the ladies of the dance committee.
 T. B. Hooper, president of the club, performed the duties of master of ceremonies in a very capable manner.
 The committee, to whom the success of the evening is due, comprised of Miss Louise Wakefield, Miss Grace Curtin, Lawrence Wakefield, Bert Wearmouth, Steve King and Douglas Stork, they being ably assisted by other members of the club.
 The patronesses were: Mrs. E. F. Doby, Mrs. H. St. G. Lee, Mrs. T. McClymont, Mrs. S. P. McMorde, Mrs. G. A. McNicholl and Mrs. H. E. Tremayne.
 The dance broke up at 2:30 a.m., everybody agreeing that the evening was one of the most enjoyable of the season.

TO MAKE MOTOR TRIP IN EUROPE

Mr. and Mrs. Olof Hansen and Family Leaving Here for Holiday at End of Month.

Olof Hansen, the well known contractor, returned today on the Prince Rupert from a business trip to Spokane.
 Mr. Hansen is now putting his extensive business interests in shape preparatory to leaving the city at the end of the month to spend a holiday in Europe. He and Mrs. Hansen and son, Olof, and daughter, Linnea, are planning to leave Prince Rupert on May 27 on this trip. They will sail on June 10 from New York on the Scandinavian-American liner Dronholm and will take an automobile with them from this side. On arrival at Göteborg, Sweden, will commence a motor tour, visiting first Mr. Hansen's old home near Stockholm which has not been seen for some twenty-five years since he left the Old Country for America as a youth. From Stockholm they will motor south through Germany, France and Belgium and perhaps on to Italy and other European countries. Returning they will then motor back to Sweden. It is expected that the trip will take about three or four months.
 The children may be left for a year in Sweden to go to school there but this has not been definitely decided upon yet.

 This will be Mr. Hansen's first real holiday for about a quarter of a century and he and his family expect to enjoy it greatly and return much benefited in health as a result.
 At one of the western camps, a rookie had been made the victim of so much giving that he had long since given up the idea of taking any statements seriously. One night while on guard a tall figure loomed out of the darkness.
 "Who's there?" challenged the recruit.
 "Major Moses," replied the figure.
 "Glad to meet you Mose. Advance and give the 'Ten Commandments.'"

Short of Breath

As old age creeps on about the first bodily organs to play out are the kidneys.

With less activity and less exercise less food is required. But there is a tendency to eat too much—particularly too much meat.

The liver, kidneys and bowels become congested and there is suffering from indigestion, pains about the heart, backache, pains in the limbs, shortness of breath, etc.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are great favorites among the older people, because they correct the action of these filtering organs, purify the blood and bring comfort and health.

It is the poisons in the system which cause the pains and aches which so many elderly people needlessly endure.

Mr. Wm. Hyde, Warton, Ont., writes: "My wife and I have made use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a household remedy for the last five years, and think them splendid. My wife suffered from shortness of breath, especially when going upstairs. When she reached the top she would be completely tired out. After using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for a while this trouble disappeared."

Put Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to the test and you will feel that you have added years to your life. One pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

to catch a couple just to prove that Frank is off the track. Al says a little salt put on their tails will induce them to climb over the side and there you are.

The permanent roadway around Cow Bay which is being built in place of the overhead is coming along in good shape and the surfacing is practically completed as far as Akerberg & Thompson's machinery hospital.

The Inez H., Captain Ness, hit port on Wednesday with 5000 pounds of fish. Dirty weather was encountered and consequently the catch was on the small side.

Thirteen carloads of fish have been shipped east this week.

The Viola, Captain Strachan, arrived on Tuesday with 2000 pounds of halibut. He reported a satisfactory trip.

Jimmy Thomas, left port during the week aboard his newly purchased salmon troller for his maiden trip of the season. In the event of the salmon not coming to come aboard Jimmy will recline in his observation cabin and take bearings from the political books in his library.

Flossie Flirt left port during the week aboard her billion dollar yacht on an oil prospecting cruise. Porcher Island was the first landing place. The natives report that since Flossie's arrival the countryside has taken on quite a different topographical appearance and some of the ranchers have lost themselves in trying to get from the house to the barn with so many derricks and so much loose earth lying around. Prior to her departure Flossie studied geology for a few hours. Learning that Cap. Freeman had several valuable books on mineralogy, geology and spiritology, Flossie made a raid on the Nabethong library, while Cap was visiting one of his Sunday girls, and purloined the whole darned shooting match.

Flossie has since learned a new language and can now cuss in classic style. During the week the Cow Bay Amazon electrified the waterfront by calling the Lieut. Commander of the Olympic a rhomboidal dodecahedron, thereby nearly causing mutiny among the crew.

A wire was received by the wireless operator of the Mug Up yesterday from Flossie to the effect that she had struck oil. Having caught one of her engineers putting hair oil on his head she had struck him down with a 200 pound sledge, dislocating his hair reception tank.

The idea Flossie has in mind is to locate a local oil well which would enable her to corral the fuel oil business of the Mosquito fleet and which would enable the local fishermen to operate at less cost. The largest drill at present on the ground is operated by a sewing machine and Capt. "Frenchy" has been engaged at enormous cost, to take a turn at the pedalling. In anticipation of the early return to port of the female oil magnate, all the old boys have purchased new overalls and shirts, washed their socks, cleaned their boots and sandpapered their faces. The flagship has been swarmed with old bucks springy of step and a slight kink in the ankle, with smiles that hover on the verge of wrinkles and with their gold teeth polished like Kohinoor diamonds. They are hanging around with the anticipation of making a hit but if Flossie is armed with the usual mauling spike she may take a hit first which might last for a long time.

One or two small fur arrivals are reported during the week, mink, marten and otter predominating.

The D. C. F., Captain Charlie Wallace, has undergone a re-painting since his recent matrimonial adventure. The secret service scented something unusual was going to happen when Cap was espied slapping war colored naval paint on his craft. It is evidently Charlie's intention to carry out war to the hulk on the deep sea unsuspecting amphibious creatures. Joking apart, the Mosquito Fleet wish Captain and Mrs. Wallace every future happiness.

Captain Rosang, with his new fishing craft The Wing, left port during the week for his maiden fishing trip.

The Ringleader, Captain Lee, after undergoing minor repairs, left port on Friday morning "to look 'em over."

The Big Bay Lumber Company received a scow load of lumber and fish boxes, the latter for the local fish houses, from the Georgetown Mill during the week.

The Allen, Captain Bassi, arrived in port on Monday with 60,000 pounds. Cap hit a good price and everybody is happy.

The Wake, Captain Paul Armour, arrived in port from Georgetown during the week and his boat has gone on the dry dock for repairs.

The Prince John landed a shipment of finished lumber from the Islands for Albert & McCaffery upon arrival in port Thursday. It will be used for local consumption.

Frank Lockwood, captain of the President, and his first mate, Jack Lockwood, arrived in port during the week after a strenuous trip among the emerald isles seeking the elusive salmon. Frank says he tried to coax them into the boat by making a noise like a piece of fish bait but either none of them heard him or he didn't make the right noise. It is understood he is taking a case of Shampain with him next time and if he doesn't hit a good catch he'll return and marry a rich widow or—do—something quite as desperate. Flossie

Waterfront Whiffs

Doings of the Mosquito Fleet Which Is the Chief Source of Prince Rupert's Prosperity

The price of fish hopped up to the 15c mark this week and consequently the morale of the fleet hopped up too. In fact the whole waterfront is on the hop these days. Up to yesterday morning the amount of fish landed at the port during the week amounted to 288,500, including 5,200 pounds of red and white salmon landed by the Kaizen and Pop. The total increase over the same period last week was an even 5,000 pounds.

The unseasonable and cold weather has affected the spring salmon run and until climatic conditions improve somewhat it is not anticipated that any colossal catches will be made.

The Dominion fisheries protection steamer Malaspina, Captain H. Newcome, arrived in port on Sunday afternoon last with the American boat Johanna in tow. The craft had been caught fishing within the three mile limit off Tuft Island. John Wick and S. Antonson were aboard, also some 3,000 pounds of halibut.

During the operation of the Prince Rupert Lumber Company's saw mill at Seal Cove the employees became very popular and made a number of friends in the city. It may be interesting to readers to learn how they have scattered to different parts of the province.

Gilbert Campbell, chief engineer, is now in the Crows Nest Pass working as engineer for the Moss-Saskatoon Lumber Company, at Waldo Arthur Gray, who was chief electrician at the saw mill, is now with the Graham Electric Co. of Vancouver.

Ernie Hudson, saw filer, is now filer with the Robert Dollar Company of Vancouver.

M. Ferris, boom-man, has just left the south for the Naas River country where he has purchased land from the government and intends going in for logging.

Geo. Stanley, who was the carpper at the Seal Cove mill, is now down in Oregon.

Bob Rodgers, millwright, is still in the same line with a small company near Marpole, Vancouver.

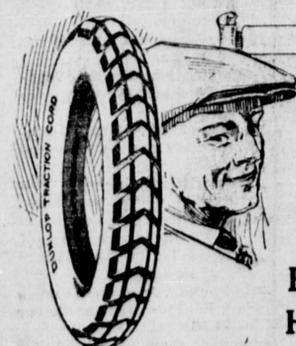

A scow load of gravel arrived Thursday morning from the Seal Cove quarry for city use.

There is a good deal of cleaning going on these days along the waterfront, and the fishermen are putting their fishing houses in order in the hope that some balmey sunny days will strike us, if only in a carload shipment. The favorite color for painting the outside of boats used to be green but from experience it has not proved successful and the halibut boys are now going in for a navy paint of the drab gray color adopted by the British navy and of British manufacture. They say if its good enough for the navy its good enough for them.

The Dolphin, Capt. P. Byrne, arrived in port on Tuesday with 12,000 pounds of the best halibut in the world. Cap says that everything went off fine.

Al Seaberg of the Emu is fitting out for a salmon trolling stunt. The interior of the craft has taken on the air of a mill-honoree's salon and is fitted with all the latest improvements including shoe polish and stove polish. Al says the shoe polish works best on the stove and the stove polish puts a wonderful gloss on the hole covers. He thinks the makers got the dope mixed when the tinning process was on. He also thinks that Frank Lockwood's idea of catching mermaids, which is a fleet secret, is all bunk. He intends

DUNLOP TIRES

Ensure HIGH-MILEAGE—DOUBLE-LIFE

- Dunlop leadership in Tiredom is most manifest. Mileage records almost unbelievable are piling up all over Canada.
- The Special Mileage-Making Process, which is the basis of our Fabric Tires, has worked wonders.
- Perfect shape and balance, stronger side walls to resist curb and rut abuse, special wear-resisting anti-skid tread, etc., add the last touch to popularizing to the full a tire that has long stood in high favor.
- Dunlop "Cords" made good from their inception.
- These tires taught motorists to expect more resiliency, greater air space, larger amount of material, better carrying capacity—in short, bigger mileage; and that is the standard by which all Cord Tires are judged to-day.

overheard the remark and putting her pretty lips, said that a case of the joy fluid wouldn't catch a cold let alone a merry maid or a widow.

Napoleon Pruno, aboard his namesake, drifted into the harbor last Sunday, with a considerable catch of furs. Among the many beautiful samples of fur Cap exhibited a wonderful hide of the "Whistletoe." This animal is only to be found on certain islands known to Nap. its habitation being above the tide line. In some manner, Cap says, it bores a hole in the solid rock for twelve feet with its eyelashes, and derives its name from the fact that at the slightest approach of danger it sticks its toes into its mouth and emits a huge like whistle, evidently for reinforcements.

The following boats have marketed fish during the week, the majority having since cleared port for the high spots: Allen, Liberty, Chancellor, Hatti, St. Eloi, Annie May, W. P. Semh, Westerner, Amblin, Bringsgold, Adeline, Johannna, Cora, Torberg, H. N. Nilanos, Lillian M. P. Doreen, Kabeu, Alfa, Flattery, Hippo, Minnie V. Thelma, Dolphin, Viola, Speculator, Pop, Azores, Brothers, Gedrie, Inez H., Emma D.

Captain Hanson, of the Iris, left port for the deep sea fishing grounds on Thursday.

The following boats are at present in port: Glacier, Fram, Atlantic, Yellowstone, Horseshoe, August, Bekia, Kaien, Lenore, Eel, Duck, Eleanor Mae, Hanaeo, Nabethong, Dixie Rupert, Florrie, Noda, First Place, Florence Mae, Annie, Laura E. and Rose McGoy.

Paddy Raymond, of the Dollar Sign, is in port. Paddy has been ready for sea for several days. The secret service are trying to find out the whys and wherefores of his not leaving port. When the S.S. submit their report to the Admiral we'll probably get a front page story.

PRINCE GEORGE

The citizens of this place have received with a great deal of disappointment the announcement of Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, that negotiations between the provincial government and the Fraser Timber Syndicate with a view to the establishment of a pulp mill here have come to an impasse over the question of royalties.

A public meeting was held on Tuesday evening to discuss the matter of fire risks in the city with Provincial Fire Marshal Thomas who has been here for the past few days on a visit of inspection.

John Fixter, experimental farm supervisor, Superintendent Helmer of the Summerland farm and Mr. Richards, the newly appointed inspector for this district, were here at the first of the week.

The Vanderhoof, Board of Trade is asking for a road from that point into the Omineca and are making energetic representations to the government on the matter.

Charles Johnson, manager of the Prince George Hotel last year, is back from Vancouver and will remain here for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Ogilvie entertained a number of friends at dinner on Friday in honor of Mr. Justice Morrison. Later the party went to a dance at Fort George.

Ben Baird has let the contract for the building of a new cement building here next to P. Burns store to Gaul & Bennewitz. The total cost of the building will be about $8,000.

Mrs. W. Sager of Port Simpson, arrived in the city yesterday from Vancouver.

Was Troubled With Her Stomach For Five Years

Mrs. Samuel Ward, Millersdale, Sask., writes:—"I feel that I must write to you before another day passes I am so happy and so grateful to your splendid medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, for after an illness of five years I am better."

I had stomach trouble so bad, I could not bear the smell or taste of food of any kind, and got so thin and weak I could not work. I had four doctors attend me, but they did me no good. I was in no pain, but felt so ill, at times, I thought I would die, in fact, all my friends were sure I could not live many months.

This time last year I saw where a man was relieved of stomach trouble by Burdock Blood Bitters, so my husband got me two bottles, but I had no faith in it after all the different medicines I had taken, however he insisted, and after the first two days I must say I began to feel better, and after the first bottle I felt so much better I went out a little every day, but could not go alone I was so weak, but I soon got so I could walk and eat, and have got quite stout.

I am nearly seventy years of age and I feel better than I have for years, and can do all my housework.

You may make use of this letter if you wish, as it may be the means of making others as well and as happy as I am."

BAZAAR AND DANCE OCEAN FALLS CHURCH

Affair on Thursday Night in Paper Town Was Great Success—$300 Raised.

OCEAN FALLS, B. C., May 13.—The Women's auxiliary of St. Paul's Anglican Church held a very successful bazaar and dance on Thursday evening.

In spite of the fact that most of the residents had been affected by the recent shutting down of the mill through lack of rain, the very substantial sum of $300 was raised. This satisfactory return was from the many stalls of delicate and useful articles. The stalls included aprons, fancy childrens, candy and busy bee. The last mentioned stall showed the very fine work of the girls of the church.

Refreshments were served in Cafeteria style and the evening closed with a dance. The Blue Bird trio supplying the music.

The proceeds of the affair will be used to assist in paying for the splendid church which can be seen so conspicuously now from the water as the steamer catch their first glimpse of the town.

FALSE ECONOMY

The family that does not provide for laundry service in the weekly budget is practicing false economy. Under our new plan, Laundry work by the pound, practically the entire family bundle washed and returned, damp almost ready for ironing, for $1.25.

This is the cheapest Laundry Service ever offered locally, and the husband who has the welfare of his family at heart cannot afford to pass this service up without serious consideration.

We have also our Soft Finish Service, where for a small additional charge, everything is dried and all flat pieces ironed and folded.

To those who can afford the small additional cost, this is the most complete service possible, without finishing the entire bundle. The cost will be found to be considerably below the prevailing price.

A trial will convince you of the merits of this service.

The well known Vancouver wholesale house of W. H. Malkin & Company has written to Ken. McKay, secretary of the Prince George Lacrosse Club, stating that in response to a suggestion by the firm's traveller, W. H. DeCourcy, it has been pleased to offer a challenge cup, to be known as "Malkin's Best Cup" to be competed for by the Lacrosse League of the central interior section of the province. The firm has asked Mr. McKay to send in a suitable inscription which will be engraved upon the cup.

The first scheduled football game of the season at Prince George will be played there tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. The following Vets are lined up:

A. Ogston, G. Burley, G. Smith, P. London, A. Wimbles, G. Sutherland, W. Stubbs, W. Hodgson, S. George, J. Ferguson, A. Young, H. Mellson, A. Ackerman, J. Norrington.

The City team will be the Veterans' opponents.

The Ben Self shield has at last arrived from Prince Rupert and is on view in the window of the Prince George club. The shield is not a very beautiful thing, but might be called strong and durable. It is in the form of a hardwood shield with a glass covered space for the inscription of the winners' names.—Prince George Citizen.

B. O. Albertson of Terrace has issued a challenge to any and all fighters and boxing artists there for an exhibition boxing bout of four three minute rounds. The match will be held under the auspices of the G. W. V. A.

The executive committee of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association, acting for the council of that body, has notified France of Canada's withdrawal from this year's Davis Cup contest. The opinion of all the members of the council, from Halifax to Victoria, was taken, and that opinion was overwhelmingly in favor of this course. In view of the fact that tennis has hardly commenced in Canada yet, that the matches have to be played in France in six weeks' time, and that the French players have been engaging in tournaments on the Riviera since early in February, coupled with the difficulty of selecting four representative players here, the council concluded it would be futile to undertake the sending of a team this year.

Canada has on three occasions been a contestant in Davis Cup events, two of which have been played abroad and one, that of last year, at home, when the Australians defeated the Canadian team in Toronto. On the first occasion, in 1913, Canada made an excellent showing in beating the South African and Belgian teams in England in the first two rounds, but suffered defeat by the United States team in the final at Wimbledon. In 1914 Canada lost to the Australian team in Chicago.

It is expected that the Davis Cup regulations will be modified at the meeting of the Lawn Tennis Federation in London in June next in such a way that first-round matches at least will be arranged by geographical groups of sections, so that unnecessary travel will be avoided.
