Daily Trains to Operate Permanently FARMERS WANT NATIONALLY OWNED RAILWAYS REORGANIZED

Leader of Progressives Outlines Railway Policy

OTTAWA, May 18.—Discussion on the railway estimates last night brought forth Hon. T. A. Crerar's statement that the railway policy of the Progressives advocated the closing up of that part of the Transcontinental lines in the wilderness along the north shore of Lake Superior and the unification of all nationally owned lines with a re-valuation of the entire system on a re-valuation basis.

Mr. Crerar urged the settlement of newcomers along the National lines and the adoption of such policy of preference in regard to farming and mining as would throw traffic to the National railway. He said that, if the National railway were turned over to private ownership at any price, Canada would lose the potential value of the roads without escaping the liabilities involved.

ALEX. MANSON ON ORIENTALS

Says Actions of Japs Warrant Drastic National Action.

VICTORIA, May 18.—Hon. A. M. Manson, attorney-general, told the Retail Merchants' association yesterday that the Oriental question was one for all Canada to solve rather than for British Columbia only. He hoped that the visit of the Federal Cabinet ministers to the province this summer would furnish the opportunity of convincing them of the conditions on the fishing grounds in the Skeena where naturalization certificates are filed away in safes after the fishing season is over, for the use of other Japanese the next year. This practice, he said, warrants drastic national action against the Japanese.

LONDON, May 18.—The most amazing series of robberies that London ever knew culminated last night in the discovery of loot on the doorstep of a detective inspector from Scotland Yard. It was found to be a valuable silver tray draped in a big Union Jack.

PRINCE RUPERT AND KETCHIKAN

Delegate Sutherland Tells Business Men Fishermen Will Have to Be Satisfied.

FACILITIES OF TWO PORTS ARE COMPARED

KETCHIKAN, May 18.—Business men of Ketchikan last week conferred with Delegate Dan Sutherland and the secretary of the Deep Sea Fishermen's union with a view to securing the co-operation of both in getting through congress legislation which will bring the fresh fish industry from Prince Rupert to Alaskan ports. The business men gave the delegate the following written guarantee:

"We are informed that your objection to the legislation now pending before congress relative to the Alaska fresh fish business is due to the lack of facilities, and transportation between Alaska and the rail terminal at Prince Rupert, B. C.

Facilities Compared.

"In order, therefore, that this objection may be overcome and Alaska receive its full share of the benefits accruing from the fisheries operations along the North Pacific coast and to conserve this industry to the American instead of Canadian people, we, the undersigned, whom you know to be financially responsible, agree to provide, upon the passage of the suggested legislation, satisfactory transportation facilities for all shipments of fresh and frozen fish between Ketchikan, Alaska, and the western terminal of the Grand Trunk Pacific railroad, at a rate which shall not exceed the present cost of delivery, and we offer for your consideration the hereto attached statement of the facilities now available at Ketchikan for the economical and expeditious handling of the product of these fisheries as compared with those at Prince Rupert, B. C."

Statement of Facilities.

"In addition to the foregoing guarantee, the commercial club presented the delegate with the following statement of fact relative to the facilities at the Canadian port and at Ketchikan for the handling of the fish:

"For the purpose of giving you positive assurance, that there is now at Ketchikan, Alaska, adequate facilities for icing, freezing and packing for shipment the entire amount of halibut, salmon and sable fish that is now being handled at both the Canadian port of Prince Rupert and the American port of Ketchikan, Alaska, we beg to give you the following figures, showing the capacity of the refrigerating plants at Prince Rupert and at Ketchikan; and wish to state that at Ketchikan during the past year, an amount running into hundreds of thousands of dollars has been expended to provide facilities for handling fish taken from the Alaska banks for consumption in the United States, which we believe, would, through a protective tariff measure, be handled at American instead of Canadian ports, where this Alaska resource is now centered.

Prince Rupert Situation.

"At Prince Rupert, which is now the headquarters of the big fleet fishing on the Alaska banks there is located but one cold storage, or fish-freezing plant, and this has been subsidized and fostered for the past eight years by the Canadian government for the purpose of assisting the development, at her port, of this

B.C. BONDS TO BE SOLD IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 18.—Notice has been given that the province of British Columbia will open bids on May 23 for a two million dollar bond issue with interest at five per cent.

HARDING STILL HOPES TO PAY ALASKA VISIT

WASHINGTON, May 18.—President Harding told a delegation from Portland, Oregon that he still hoped to visit the Oregon city late this summer at the same time he be able to carry out his plan to make the trip to Alaska.

fishing industry, the products of which are consumed in the United States. The capacities of ice-making and cold storage plants are estimated by the compressor capacity installed; and the measurements of that of the Canadian Fish and Gold Storage company is 150 tons per day. The Canadian government has provided its wharf with suitable sheds in which fish may be packed in ice for immediate shipment, the ice being supplied by the above cold storage plant.

"The above are the entire facilities now in existence at Prince Rupert, through which they handled during the past year 25,000,000 pounds of halibut, nearly all of which were caught off the shore of Alaska, and consumed in the United States; but the Canadian port has reaped the benefits of the industry, while stagnation has ruled in Alaska. At Ketchikan two substantial cold storage and fish packing plants have been constructed with American capital—one of them built entirely by Ketchikan citizens, with no government aid, as compared with subsidies amounting to $300,000, which have been given by the Canadian government to foster this industry at Prince Rupert."

Ketchikan Facilities.

"The compressor capacity of the New England Fish Company at Ketchikan has been increased this year to 240 tons, and that of the Ketchikan Cold Storage Company to 170 tons, making a total compressor capacity at Ketchikan of 410 tons, as compared with 150 tons at Prince Rupert. In addition, at Ketchikan we have in existence 4,200 feet of wharf frontage set aside exclusively for handling this class of fish business, and our existing facilities are sufficient to handle four times the volume of business we have had to handle, or than we can expect to have, without the enactment of a congressional measure which will in effect bring to Alaska ports the permanent fishing industry which we have permitted Canada to take from us."

Delegate's Attitude.

Delegate Sutherland said that he would favor the tariff on fresh fish provided a meeting could be secured with the fishermen and their approval be secured. He also said he would not, under any circumstances, agree to an embargo on the importation of fresh or frozen fish from Canadian ports as advocated by the Ketchikan business men.

He accepted the guarantee of the business men and said it was perfectly good but he said the fishermen and not he would have to be satisfied that it would bring about the desired results."

BAD FLOOD AT NICOLA

VANCOUVER, May 18.—A wall of water many feet high swept through the little town of Nicola this morning. It is not known yet if any lives were lost in the town or further up the valley. All government roads and bridges in the vicinity were swept out in the first mad rush of water and at least three houses were swept away. It is estimated that the water in the Nicola River rose thirty feet in less than 20 minutes. The flood came when a dam broke. It is feared many crops will be damaged.

General Manager Warren Says Intention is to Make Daily Train Service Here Permanent

That the daily train service to Prince Rupert by the Canadian National Railways had been put on for the benefit of the people and there was no idea of taking it off after having once started it was the statement made this morning to the Daily News by A. E. Warren, general manager of C. N. R. western lines, before he left for the East to continue his inspection of the road. Mr. Warren said that as far as he knew there was no reason for the daily train service not being continued all through the winter and the year around.

The policy of the Canadian National Railway was to boost this northern route for tourist traffic, Mr. Warren said. Its scenic beauty was fast gaining favor in the opinion of the travelling public, and he looked for a good season in tourist travel over the route during the summer.

Satisfied With Fish

The general manager expressed great satisfaction with the amount of fish which had been shipped during the year and stated that last month 95 carloads of fish were handled from Prince Rupert. Mr. Warren contemplated that at the present rate of increase in fish shipments this quantity would be doubled in five years. In speaking of business conditions generally he said that things were picking up very well indeed and he was optimistic for the future.

He said that it was the present intention to go ahead with the usual maintenance work on the line and that a programme is already drawn up for bridge and track repairs to be immediately undertaken.

In speaking of the future welfare of the Canadian National Railway, as affecting northern British Columbia, Mr. Warren said what was needed was to get more people in the northern country. The settlement of all places tributary to Prince Rupert was imperative to the future prosperity of the city. In other words it was most important to increase the backing of the community with a greater number of settlers.

Finishing Ocean Dock

Mr. Warren stated that the barrel conveyors for the new salmon dock were on order, and would be installed as soon as possible, thus completing the dock. It would be operated as soon as sufficient business was forthcoming. In speaking of the salmon dock and the dry dock, Mr. Warren said that the Canadian National Railways were right after business for both and that canvasses were being made at all likely points covered by the system including Vancouver.

Regarding the putting on of a trans-Pacific steamship service between the Orient and this port, Mr. Warren said that this matter did not come within his jurisdiction and he had nothing to state as to future intentions in this connection.

Mr. Warren and his party left by motor car speeder at 9 o'clock this morning, and will travel as far as Jasper in this manner, to make a minute and first hand inspection of road maintenance, bridge repairs, and other vital matters affecting successful operation.

Fred Stork's Speech in House of Commons Debate on Oriental Immigration

Fred Stork, M.P. for Skeena, delivered a lengthy and effective speech in the House of Commons in support of the McQuarrie resolution for Oriental exclusion according to Hansard in which he is reported as follows:

"This is a question which very vitally affects the province of British Columbia and, as a member for that province, I am very pleased to have the opportunity of rising in support of this resolution. We have in this House 13 members from the province of British Columbia, and it is very pleasing to know that all thirteen are unanimous, so far as I can gather, in their opinion regarding this resolution.

First Orientals.
"The Oriental first came to the Pacific coast in 1849 at the time of the California gold rush, and the people of California were tremendously pleased with the Orientals because they were of the opinion that the fame of their mines had challenged the attention of the whole world, and that the fact of men coming from China bore tribute to the fact that California was a big mining country. In the first Fourth of July parade ever held in San Francisco, Orientals took part, lending to it an air of novelty and Oriental splendor, which was very pleasing to the people of California. But the joy of the Californians was very soon turned to dismay when they discovered the effect that the Orientals were having on the social and economic life of the state of California. From California the Orientals spread north into the province of British Columbia. The British Columbians had at their disposal the experience of the people of California, and those earlier settlers of the Pacific coast province did not view with a great deal of approbation the influx of the Oriental, because they believed that as the number of Orientals increased, the opportunities for the white race decreased, and ceived in 1891. In 1899 the head tax was increased to $100, and in 1902 it was again increased to $500. Last year the province of British Columbia enacted legislation to prohibit Orientals from taking part in any work on government contracts. This legislation, we understand, has since been disallowed. I am not prepared to discuss the disallowance of that act of the British Columbia legislature, any more than to say this, that the very fact of the legislature of British Columbia deeming it wise and expedient to enact such legislation simply goes to prove the absolute and complete necessity of having something done to restrict the progress and the march of the Oriental so far as British Columbia is concerned.

Prophecies Fulfilled.
"All of these proceedings that I have related were accompanied by much argument, by long speeches and lengthy talks in the various legislatures, and there were very great prophecies as to what would happen if Oriental immigration was not somewhat curtailed. We are today in the presence of prophecies matured, prophecies fulfilled. The seed has been sown, and the harvest is here. We find that these various acts and the different attempts that have been made to deal with this question have to a very large extent merely skirted around the question. There has never yet been a comprehensive dealing with the issue. We find legislation passed against men with long hair; we find that a head tax has been imposed from time to time, but these attempts have been altogether ineffectual to cope with the situation. We are now confronted with a fifty years' growth problem. There is an old saying, and a very true one, that possession is nine points of the law.

Settle It Now.
"I believe that it is good policy to settle this Oriental problem with the Oriental while the white population is still in possession of the province of British Columbia, rather than to defer the settlement of the issue until the time when the Oriental himself is in full and complete possession of that great province. One of the serious handicaps, Sir, that we suffer from, I think, is the handicap of indifference. There was a time when that great stretch of country now known as the states of Oregon and Washington was British territory—the Columbia river was supposed to be the international boundary. When the question of boundaries arose and demanded settlement, tradition has it that one of the officials dealing with that question stated that the country was of no use for the reason that the salmon in the Columbia river would not rise to the fly. I am not prepared to say whether that story is true or not; but I believe that indifference had a great deal to do with the moving of the international boundary up to the forty-ninth parallel. Later on we had the Alaskan boundary award. If you will look at the map you will find that there is a very small, narrow strip of northern coast line of what used to be British Columbia but is now part of Alaska. This piece of coast line is not of any particular benefit to Alaska because they possess no hinterland. But it is a very vital land to the province of British Columbia because the location of the boundary line deprives us of over half of the coast line of our province, and we find ourselves today without sufficient ground upon it to erect even a wireless station. Take the Premier mine, the richest in British Columbia—I might even say the richest on the North American continent. That mine is in Canada within half a mile of the international boundary. The product is brought down to tide water by means of a tramline, extending for a distance of thirteen miles and this tram line travels almost entirely through American territory. In covering the northern part of my constituency I have to travel through Alaska by way of Skagway, the White Pass and Yukon railway. The people of Canada regard this, I suppose, as a matter-of-fact proposition. They say no doubt, "Well, that coast line belongs to Alaska" and they are very largely indifferent to it. But to the people who live on the northwest Pacific coast this is a very vital matter. Today we are having daily reminders of the disabilities under which we suffer, and I may say that in the settlement of that question indifference on our part played a very large part.

Absorption of Province.

"So we find ourselves today confronted with the silent and steady absorption of the province of British Columbia by the Orientals. A few years ago the Japanese were regarded as a simple, childlike and interesting people; but experience has shown us that they are the very incarnation of commercial aggressiveness. In the year 1920 in the matter of the number of post office money orders sent out of Canada, the United States had the largest number, Great Britain was second, and Japan was third. We find in the same year that the total number of money orders sent to Japan from Canada was 28,807; and the number of money orders arriving in Canada from Japan was 434. These Oriental people came to British Columbia willing and anxious to serve, but, Sir, they have no intention of remaining as servants. The Jap who pulled the oar in the fishing boat on the Skeena river is now in full possession of a gasoline launch operating on the Fraser river. He has performed menial tasks in the cannery and incidentally he has mastered the fishing business and so we find that he is now in the fishing game on his own hook, so to speak. The humble cook who has done the work in the lumber camp has, at the same time, made himself conversant with the lumber industry; and we find throughout the province of British Columbia that a great deal of the lumbering business is carried on there by Japs who first took their post-graduate course through the cookhouse door. The chore boy who has done the chores on the farm is now the man who owns or leases the farm on which he was formerly employed as a servant, and the oncoming hordes which are operating in Canada are glad to do the menial work in connection with that province. So as master and servant we find them working in perfect unison; they are proceeding to roll up the map of western Canada so that one day we shall find that the summit of the Rocky Mountains will be the western boundary for the white population of this Dominion. There is no lure on the plains and the prairies of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba for the Oriental. It requires brain and muscle, intelligence and patience to farm successfully in the vigorous climate, and the Oriental prefers the warm sunshine, the mild climate and the fertile valleys of British Columbia—British Columbia with its wealth of fisheries, of timber, of agriculture, the California of Canada which fronts on the Pacific whose waves wash the coast of Canada as well as the shores of the Orient.

Unequal Contest.

"An unequal contest, Mr. Speaker, is going on in the province of British Columbia. The white man is handicapped by the responsibilities of civilization; the Oriental is prepared to struggle for his solitary existence. Organized society has erected a fabric and an institution to which the Oriental contributes nothing. He is not concerned in municipal, provincial or federal problems; he is filling a field that would solve the unemployment problem in western Canada. He is the human torpedo so far as organized labor is concerned because he has created an industrial strata into which the white man cannot descend. If the final occupation and possession of British Columbia is to be determined by such an unequal contest, we from British Columbia decline to enter such a contest. This is our country and we regard this House as the proper tribunal in which to state our case. We ask this House to pass an act for the total and absolute exclusion of all Orientals on the ground of pressing economic necessity. If in the considering of this problem the principle of sacrifice is involved I have no hesitation in saying that I am opposed to the sacrificing of Canadians for the benefit of Orientals or the inhabitants of any other country. If the powers who settled the terms of peace in the Old Country had decided that British Columbia was to be given over to the Oriental you would find the people of this country on their feet to a man disputing that proposition; you would find them once more pledging the last man and the last dollar in defence of British territory. Let me say that thirty-three years of knowledge of the conditions in British Columbia justifies me in expressing the belief that unless we deal with this matter we are parting with the province of British Columbia just as effectually as if we gave British Columbia away by signing a treaty."

Member is Questioned.

"I did not wish to interrupt the honorable member's argument while he was speaking," said Mr. Carroll, M. P., "but I would like to ask him a question now. Does he argue that we are incapable of contending in commercial life with the Japanese or Chinese? Is that my honorable friend's argument?"

"I would say that they have a standard of living so much lower than ours," said Mr. Stork, in reply, "that they are gradually absorbing the province of British Columbia."

A MAN named Ball fell six stories in New York without getting hurt. His first name must have been Rubber.

"HOW many prescriptions for intoxicating liquor were issued in Ontario from Oct. 1920 to Oct. 1921?" was a question asked in the Ontario provincial legislature on May 7. They are still working overtime on the count.

A SIGN in front of an old country house reads, "Young Men Taken in and Dun For." Evidently a boarding house for suckers.

SOME sweet young thing asks "How much does it cost a girl to live and keep in good shape?" The last part seems to be the most important item.

Don't wake me up again, Until the sun is shining bright. Add the rain has ceased to rain.

DRINKING is not always a habit. In some cases it seems more of a gift.

Johnny—"He's a dresser in a butcher's shop mum, he puts the lights on the sausages."

At the Majestic Theatre last night a slight hitch in the installation of a new and costly rectifier caused a temporary breakdown.

With the first sonorous boom of the steam siren on the Prince Rupert this morning the sordidness of the city, men who know the north and have earned their reputations in the Yukon where the standard of manhood is high, thronged to the waterfront. Some fifty or a hundred strong they lined up to await the coming of the boat, while beside them blared melodiously, the trumpets of the Kilkatla Indian band. This was the sordidough welcome to Dr. Alfred Thompson, member for the Yukon, on his visit to his old friends in Prince Rupert as he journeyed north.

A short account of a Trip to California in a Ford Flivver
By H. F. Pullen

THE MOVIES AT HOLLYWOOD.

LOS ANGELES, May 9.—Nothing is too good for the people from British Columbia. We were told by a number of people that we would not be able to get into the motion picture studios to see the work done but we got into two and could have seen more if we had had time and inclination. I must say it was not an easy matter to have the gates opened to strangers but we did it, and that at the making of one of the most important plays of the day. We saw one short piece of film being made for "Robin Hood" or "The Spirit of Chivalry" with Douglas Fairbanks in the leading role and Enid Bennett as leading lady.

How did we manage it? I will tell you.

Wild West Play.
We inquired from a number of people what were the chances of getting into the studios and in every case we were told we could not do it, as visitors interfered with the work. This did not daunt us. Dick set out to find a way and succeeded. He went to the executive secretary of the Hollywood Board of Trade Carl Bush, and told him we were two newspapermen who wished to see how pictures were taken. After some negotiations it was arranged that we were to be in Hollywood at ten o'clock this morning. We were there before that time and Mr. Bush took us in his car to the United Studios where we saw a scene of a wild west show, with little Ruth Roland as heroine. Ruth arrived just after us in a fine limousine and she almost at once took part in the play. It was an outdoor scene, just outside a saloon.

Prince Rupert Man.
Honestly we were not much impressed. We had seen so much of the bar room and sheriff stuff with the wild gunmen that we began to cast about us for something better. The scene was "shot" several times and the company was preparing to take further scenes in the wild west village. Mr. Bush had left us after telling us to stay as long as we liked. Just then a young man stepped up to me and asked if I was Mr. Pullen of Prince Rupert. I owned up like a man, and he explained that he was Martin Kruger, formerly of the Daily News staff, Prince Rupert. He said he was now a movie actor and was taking part in Douglas Fairbanks' new play. He was just going over there. While he did not think he could get us passes to see it, he could put us in the way of getting what we wanted.

We went with him and arriving at the studio tried to get an interview with the publicity man, Mr. Larkin or another executive who could give us the necessary pass. They were not in. The people we met thought they were in "The Lot" but we could not go to look for them and the only thing to do was to await their return.

Lady Fell for Us.
Twenty minutes elapsed and it was now about noon. We did not wish to go back to town without seeing this picture work. We were tired of waiting but just then our opportunity arrived. A young lady came out of an office and we at once solicited her aid. We told her we had come all the way from Canada to see that picture shot and we did not wish to be disappointed.

"Mr. Erickson is somewhere in the lot," she said. "You go and look for him and call at the office and see Mr. Larkin on your way out."
We went.
We did not find Mr. Erickson and indeed we did not look for him. The movie people had just knocked off work until after lunch and would be doing some close-ups afterwards. We wandered about the place and saw the fine new Nottingham Castle which had been built especially for this play. The building had all the appearance of massive masonry on the outside but on the reverse side it was very different. Nothing could be seen there but scaffolding and wood-work. There were some finished interiors, especially courtyards, and there was a moat and all

NORWAY'S NATIONAL DAY IS CELEBRATED

Scandinavian Had Delightful Evening in Metropole Hall

The anniversary of Norwegian Independence was celebrated in a royal manner last night when the Scandinavian Society gave a most enjoyable dance under the auspices of the Valhalla Lodge, in the Metropole Hall.

There was a great attendance of members who danced from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m. to the strains of Arthur's orchestra.

The hall was very prettily decorated for the occasion with red, white and blue streamers, the Norwegian flag being given a prominent place in the decorative effect.

Delicious refreshments were served in buffet style, this not interfering to any extent with the dancing.

Mrs. L. O. Larsen gave several vocal selections of Norwegian National melodies which were very much appreciated.

Speeches befitting to the occasion were made during the evening by B. M. Simpson and A. Akerberg.

The success of the evening was entirely due to the untiring efforts of the dance committee, composed of Pete Nelson, Mrs. Geo. Rich, Mrs. L. Anderson, Mrs. M. Jacobson, and Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Larsen.

The singing of the Norwegian National anthem at 2 a.m. brought a very successful and enjoyable evening to a close.

HEADS That Ache and Pain

It is hard to drag along with a head that aches and pain all the time. In nine cases out of ten, persistent headaches are due to poisoned blood, the blood being rendered impure through some derangement of the stomach, liver or bowels, but no matter which organ is to blame the cause must be removed before permanent relief can be obtained.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS which has been on the market for the past forty-five years, removes the cause of the headache by starting the organs of elimination acting freely, and when the impurities are carried off from the system, purified blood circulates in the brain cells, and the aches and pains vanish.

Miss Clara Murphy, Centre Dummer, Ont., writes:—"My system was greatly run down and my blood out of order. I suffered a great deal from severe pains in my head which made me feel very miserable. After having tried other remedies I purchased a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and was very glad to notice a decided improvement in my health. I took another bottle and it has done me an enormous amount of good. I have recommended it to some of my friends who were in a similar condition and they all say it is a wonderful remedy."

B. B. B. is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Reuter's Sydney correspondent cables London that Walter Lindrum, playing in Sydney, made a new world's record break under the new billiard rules, scoring 1,417 off the red against H. W. Stevenson, the English champion.

Jess Willard, former heavy-weight champion, mentioned in recent dispatches as a possible opponent for Jack Dempsey, is not seeking a return match with the world's champion, according to a statement attributed to Willard by a Los Angeles newspaper. The newspaper story quotes Willard as having said that his private business was keeping him on the jump and that he did not have time to give the ring game serious thought.

An English women's soccer team will invade the United States this month and make the tour during June and July to meet the best American men's clubs, if the United States association sanctions a proposal of the Newcastle United Ladies' organization, champion in the women's division of the game in Great Britain.

Permission to arrange an exhibition tour has been asked of the American Association by the Todd Shipyards' Club of New York, champions last year and runners-up this year. The United ladies plan to sail for Boston on the Samaria reaching United States May 24, and to return early in August.

If the project is approved, a trophy may be created. The itinerary of the club would include New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Fall River, Pawtucket, Newcastle, Bridgeport, Chicago, St. Louis, Pittsburg, Detroit and Cleveland.

Famous Beauty Regains Health and Strength through Ironized Yeast

"A Wonderful Help in Keeping My Figure Perfect" Says Beautiful Elsie La Bergere

"It was by purest accident that I picked up a package of Ironized Yeast just as I was about to give up the struggle for a long needed rest. The results that it brought in me proved that it was just what I needed. For today I actually feel like a new born woman!"

Such is the amazing statement of Elsie La Bergere, known to vaudeville lovers all over the continent for the beauty of her figure.

"My stage work," continued Mrs. La Bergere, "just such severe strain on my nervous system that every performance became a hardship. I lost my appetite, and always felt tired and worn out. Then I discovered Ironized Yeast—and I cannot give enough praise to it. I find it keeps me absolutely fit in every way, and that it is a great help in keeping the shape of my body in wonderful condition. Ironized Yeast has a permanent place of honor in my traveling bag."

How New Process Makes Yeast Doubly Effective
The reason IRONIZED YEAST brings such remarkable results is because it embodies a new scientific process which enables yeast to bring its great benefits often in just half the usual time. Yeast alone is good, but tests show that it needs some other agent in order to quickly convert its wonderful health-bringing elements into firm tissue, tony checks and sparkling vitality.

Everyone knows that iron is of great value in converting our feet into living cells and tissue, also working on this problem, our scientists finally discovered the wonderful process of ironization—the process through which the combination of yeast and iron becomes doubly effective.

Do not think, however, that any combination of yeast and iron will do. Yeast brings its best and quickest results only when it is treated through the scientific process of ironization. And this process is embodied only in IRONIZED YEAST, the one scientifically correct yeast treatment.
