Oliver Puts Up Plea for Lower Rates

LOCAL MAN BACK FROM ANTIPODES SPEAKS ABOUT PROSPECTS

Parliamentary Committee is Asked to Include Fish With List Preferred Commodities

OTTAWA, May 26.—Appeal for the inclusion of fish in the list of basic commodities upon which rail reductions are to be granted was made to the railway costs committee of the House of Commons this morning in a telegram from W. D. Burdis, secretary of the B.C. Canneries Association. Consideration is asked for fresh, frozen and cured fish equal to that given to lumber and grain.

Following discussion of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement between Premier Greenfield of Alberta and members of the committee, Premier John Oliver of B.C. objected to the idea that "it was as the laws of Medes and the Persians." Premier Oliver held that it was subject to revision by two parties. "I would lay down the principle," said Premier Oliver, "that with reference to the claims of the prairies for special rate on grain, if it is necessary to carry goods of some industries at less than cost that the loss should be borne by the nation as a whole and not by other industries."

He argued that Vancouver should be on parity with Fort William as a distributing point. Regarding the shipment of grain via the Pacific he said that if the grain rate westbound was given a rate equal to eastbound rate British Columbia would provide facilities before Premier Greenfield could provide the grain. He urged that the time had come when the Crow's Nest agreement should be revised.

SOLDIERS ASKED FOR REPAYMENT

Action Taken in Regard to Those Who Took Advantage of Exchange.

OTTAWA, May 26.—Canadian soldiers who made money by exchanging for more than they were entitled to and taking advantage of the difference between what was actually exchanged through the Bank of Montreal in London or after arriving in Canada, and the amount that should have been exchanged, have received notices asking them to repay.

Between four and five hundred soldiers in Canada, England and the United States, have received these notices.

The amount due the government is about $50,000.

This action follows an investigation conducted eleven months ago on behalf of the government by Geoffrey Clarkson.

RAILWAY MEN RETURN HOME

G. A. McNicholl Says He is Surprised at Amount of Settlement in Interior

GOOD PROGRESS ON JASPER PARK LODGE

N. B. Walton, C.N.R. general superintendent, W. S. Featherstonhaugh, divisional engineer, and G. A. McNicholl, assistant general freight and passenger agent, of the Canadian National Railway returned to the city last night after having accompanied A. E. Warren, general manager of Western lines, as far as Edmonton. According to the latter the crop prospects for this season around Edmonton are excellent and the people are very optimistic.

Mr. McNicholl was agreeably surprised to note the amount of new land that has been and is being cleared between Smithers and Prince George and the number of settlers that have arrived in that locality during the past few months. He also noticed a big improvement in this respect between Prince George and McBride.

The people of Prince George were naturally disappointed at the pulp mill prospect falling through, but it is the general belief locally that the proposition is only stalled temporarily.

Jasper Lodge

At Jasper, excellent progress was being made with the work on the erection of the new Jasper Park Lodge situated on the shores of Lac Beauvert. A large gang of men were employed. The lodge consists of a group of log buildings, including a large lounge building with open fire place, dining hall, dancing pavilion, and a number of separate sleeping buildings, each containing four bedrooms and a sitting room. All the buildings are of log construction, rustic and harmonious, fittingly furnished and electrically lighted. The sleeping quarters are equipped with modern conveniences, including running water and baths. It is anticipated that the Jasper Park Lodge will be open for the reception of guests on June 15 and will be a big attraction to eastern Canadian and American tourists this summer who will undoubtedly pass through Prince Rupert either on the incoming or outgoing journey. It will be operated under the direct management of the Canadian National Railway's hotel department.

Lac Beauvert is beautifully situated and has already become the rendezvous of a number of well-known Canadian and American authors.

GERMANY WILL PAY CHILIAN WAR DEBT

SANTIAGO, May 25.—Chile will receive approximately 1,500,000 pesos gold from the German government in payment of expenses incurred in connection with the internment of German sailors in this country during the war, according to an announcement by Dr. von Eckert, German Minister here. The sailors were members of the crews of the German cruisers Dresden and Seeadler.

The inter-allied commission which directs the payments of indemnities imposed on Germany under the treaty of Versailles has just authorized liquidation of the debt, it was stated.

INSPECTOR WILLIAMS TO BE SUPERANNUATED

J. T. C. Williams, inspector of fisheries for No. 2 district, left for the south on the Prince George last night.

Mr. Williams' health has been unsatisfactory for the past two years and in consequence his superannuation will become effective shortly after a service of 27 years in connection with the fisheries of this district in which period he has given valuable and alert attention to the various matters coming under his jurisdiction, first as assistant inspector then as inspector.

A. Mackie, formerly revenue collector at Vancouver, has arrived in the city to take up the duties of inspector for the time being at least.

Between 200 and 250 members of the Third District Rotary Club of New York will arrive in Prince Rupert on the steamer Prince George on June 21 and will leave for the east on a special train of fourteen cars the same day. The train will consist of sleeping cars, compartment cars, three diners, and an observation car, and will constitute one of the largest private trains to ever pull out of Prince Rupert. The party is comprised of many prominent business men not only of the Fifth Borough of New York but from the entire Third Rotary district. The printed itinerary of the trip has already been received by the Canadian National passenger department, giving the name of each person accompanying the party with their allotment of accommodation on the train and boat.

New White Star Liner Has Living Equipment Weighing 56,000 Tons

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., May 25.—The outfitting of the liner Majestic, 56,000 tons, which made her maiden trip to New York this month was a colossal affair and quite on a par with her size, which is the largest in the world. Seventeen tons of blankets, 16 miles of sheets, 10 1/2 miles of bed covers were being utilized for the sleeping apartments.

For the dining rooms there were 49 miles of table cloths and 29,000 pieces of glassware, China and earthenware totalled 80,000 pieces.

The electro-plate and cutlery extra 5,500 pieces for the French consists of 50,000 pieces, with an restaurant.

The crew of the ship will wear something like five and one-half miles of aprons during a passage.

Much interest attaches to the announcement that the program will include addresses by leaders of the bar of the United States and that representatives of the bar of France and other countries are also expected to attend.

The Canadian Bar Association was organized in 1914, and incorporated in 1921. The president is Sir James Aikins, K.C., of Winnipeg, and among the vice-presidents are included such outstanding figures at the Canadian Bar as Eugene Lafleur, K.C., of Montreal, and Isaac Pibblado, K.C., of Winnipeg; L. WHERE BALFOUR'S TITLE WAS FOUND

LONDON, May 26.—The title of Viscount Traprain, assumed by the Earl of Balfour, is taken from the famous hill, Traprain Law, on his East Lothian estate of Whittingehame.

This hill, with its Roman and Norse remains, is a favorite hunting ground for archeologists who about a year ago during excavations brought to light "the Vikings hoard," a rare and valuable collection of old silver which is believed to have been buried by Norse raiders in the early centuries of the Christian era.

On the arrival of the Prince George from Anox last night, Capt. W. S. Moorhouse, turned a stowaway named P. Gilgany over to Chief Minty of the provincial police. Gilgany was discovered on board trying to beat his way from Anox to Vancouver. The accused was brought up before Magistrate McMullin this morning and was remanded until tomorrow.

J. W. Nicholls Forecasts Operating of Cargo Ships From Here to Australasia

"At the present time Australia exacts from Canadian merchants the same tariff as she exacts from everybody else, except from Great Britain, but there is a movement on foot in Australia to arrange for reciprocity in trade between that country and Canada. The great argument the Australians have is that last year we exported to Australia eighteen million dollars worth of goods and that we only imported some four hundred thousand dollars worth. It seemed to be the general opinion between merchants and politicians in Australia that some arrangement could be effected which would be beneficial to both sides," said J. W. Nicholls, comptroller of the Canadian Fish and Gold Storage Co. Ltd.

In his speech telling of his recent visit to Australasia to the Rotary Club members at the luncheon held in the St. Regis Cafe.

Mr. Nicholls said that among the Canadian goods which he considered were capable of considerable development, as far as Australian market was concerned, was lumber and canned fish. On his return to Vancouver he had interviewed Mr. Keeley the manager of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, and had enquired as to the possibilities of that line of steamers operating from Prince Rupert to Australia and New Zealand. While Mr. Keeley was unable to say anything definite he was very sympathetic to the suggestion and promised that before very long we would see steamers operating direct from Prince Rupert to both Australia and the United Kingdom. If we could only get him 1,000 tons of freight for either Australia or the United Kingdom he would send a steamer up here.

Mr. Nicholls was also able to discuss the question with one of Vancouver's biggest exporters of lumber and he made the definite statement that immediately a line of steamers started operating direct from Prince Rupert either to Australia or the United Kingdom that he would give them half a million feet of lumber which would only leave some 150 tons to be found from this port. Mr. Nicholls said that when one considered Australia imported last year 200,000 cases of canned fish, of which half came from Canada, and it only takes 25 cases to a ton, it should be a comparatively easy matter to make up 150 tons.

He thought that, with a regular line of steamers operating from this port, a large amount of the Alaska traffic, which at the present time is being sent to southern ports, could be diverted through Prince Rupert.

Hawaiian Islands

In speaking on his trip to the Antipodes Mr. Nicholls said that, after leaving Vancouver on February 10 last on the steamer Makura, their first port of call was Honolulu in the Hawaiian Islands. Honolulu was a very beautiful city, sub-tropical in climate, but it had been somewhat spoiled by the native characteristics having disappeared with the advance of commerce.

From Honolulu the next point of call was Levu, the capital of the Fiji Islands, and there he gained his first experience of the tropical climate. Levu was a very quaint city retaining all of its native characteristics but was a very busy spot. The principal products of the Fiji Islands were sugar, bananas and copra or dried coconuts. The Fiji Islanders were a fine race of people and were much above the average native in intelligence. They were, however, inclined to be indolent and the only time they would work was when a boat was in port. They were fine longshoremen and unloaded a cargo of lumber in six hours which took the longshoremen in Vancouver twenty-four hours to load.

The laborers employed on the islands were imported Indians, who were brought in under what was known as the indenting system. These Indians up to a short time ago were quite contented and peaceful but on account of the agitation of several of the Ghandi supporters, who were sent over from India, they were now a very discontented race. The rate of pay was 2s. 6d. per day, about 65c which was subsequently cut to 4s. 6d. or 35c per day. When it was considered that the Japanese were only paid 12c per day and performed similar labor it could be seen that the cut was necessary. After one or two strikes the reduction in wages had been accepted.

RUSSIA INTENDS TO SUBJECT JAPANESE POLICY TO EXPOSURE

MOSCOW, May 26.—The Far Eastern Republic has determined to bring the Japanese military policy in Siberia to a definite exposure, according to a dispatch from China. The Red troops, who some weeks ago scored a number of victories over the counter-revolutionists in the Amur district, are now declared to be advancing deliberately in the direction of Vladivostok, with the intention of forcing Japan either to help the anti-Soviet forces openly, or to open the road to the coast.

CHINAMAN GUILTY OF DRUG POSSESSION

Lee Yan, Chinaman, was arrested last night at 11 o'clock by Police-sergeant McGlinchy on Second Avenue, for having drugs in possession after having been under police observation for some time. He was brought before Magistrate McGlymont this morning in the city police court and pleading guilty, was fined $200 or, as an alternative, six months imprisonment at the Okallo Prison Farm.

ALBANIA HAS NO NATIONAL DEBT

New Balkan Nation Occupies Happy Position Among European Countries

GENOVA, May 26.—Happy Albania is the term which has been applied to that country for it is stated that it occupies the unique position among European nations of being the only country which has no national debt and has a gold currency.

Mehedi Frasher, the head of the Albanian delegation to the conference here, in an interview indicated that all would be well with the country "if only we are left in peace for a little while."

Moderation Characterizes Fielding Budget.

The Fielding budget presented to the House of Commons this week is, perhaps, less sweeping than many people had expected. Considering that it is the first budget to be presented by the Liberals in eleven years, during which period a Conservative regime was in full sway, the changes made are very moderate and it seems difficult to find a spot at which the Conservatives can attack, much less the Progressives.

The High Protectionists certainly cannot, under the circumstances, launch much opposition towards the few tariff changes that are made. If they do, they will not get the support of the Progressives.

To make up for slight reductions in the tariff both to United States and Great Britain, and the increased gulf between revenue and expenditure, some $130,000,000 on the side of the latter, the minister has raised taxation on certain forms of business and luxuries. Here again he has shown a good deal of moderation although it is true the increasing of the sales tax and the inauguration of the bank circulation tax present something approaching the radical. Liquor and confectionery taxes are reasonable enough. The income tax has been left as it is in spite of the hopes of some that it might be reduced and the fears of a few that it might be increased.

The tariff, now that it is known, should cause little delay in the winding up of the business of the session which, it is now generally believed, will conclude about the middle of next month. The consideration of freight rates may cause a little delay, but that business is now getting pretty well lined up and it may be disposed of with more despatch than many people, up to the present, have looked for.

Is Public Doing Duty To Children?

The appearance of so many children in the course of the various activities in connection with the observance of Empire and Victoria Days seems to have been a visual revelation for many people in Prince Rupert. Apparently many people of the city either did not know or did not realize that there were so many kiddies in the community. The pleasing feature of it all, however, was not alone the numbers of children here but their healthy and active air. That is something that should be maintained.

Whether Prince Rupert has or has not a greater proportion of youngsters for its population than the most places we would not at this time be prepared to state but, of this we may be certain—that the children form an important and large part of the community and they are deserving of and are entitled to more consideration and attention on the part of the public than they have been getting. The providing of playgrounds and physical training for children are just as important features as their school education on which thousands of dollars are spent annually, yes, monthly. Extravagance is not advocated when the suggestion is put forward; does the expenditure for the recreation and physical training of the children bear a sufficient ratio to the moneys expended on simple school education? All recognize that the whole teaching staffs are doing all that is possible in this regard but does the public generally bear its share? That is much to be doubted.—Therefore any individuals or organizations that may advance claims on behalf of the children are deserving of a great measure of support.

Two Men in a Car

A short account of a Trip to California in a Ford Flivver
 By H. F. Pullen

BIG AND LITTLE

HOOD River, Oregon, May 18.—Again we are reminded of the importance of small places and of the unimportance of big places. Cities are like people in that respect. The small ones like to show their authority and the big ones are tolerant. Hood River is a small place in a picturesque situation on one of the finest highways in the world. It has every opportunity to become extremely attractive and draw heavily from the tourists and others who visit Portland. Instead of doing so it is ill-kept, poor looking, untidy, unpainted. Instead of spending its spare cash on things which will make the city attractive, it puts in such things as dummy policemen at the intersection of streets in the form of dome-shaped castings with a red light shining inside to warn motorists that they must drive around and not cut corners. As was to be expected many of the red globes are not shining.

It is only small places that put in dummy policemen. Big cities either place a policeman at the intersection or leave it vacant. Driving through Portland today at noon we found only one point policeman on Broadway, and that just at the busy hour. There was no trouble as a result.

In this town we see notices to the effect that a half hour is the limit of time allowed for parking cars on the street. Except in the very congested part of the city, Portland allows two hours. Lost Our Number.

The trip north has been uneventful. We lost our front number plate soon after getting away from Los Angeles. At Modesto we notified the police and were told not to worry as it was not likely anyone would worry us. At Sacramento we reported by telephone to the office of motor vehicles. Again we were advised similarly. They did not see what they could do for us. We had our state registration, which was given us gratis, and the best thing to do was to get a new plate after we arrived home. So far we have not been molested. People look at the place where the plate should be and evidently notice its absence but they say nothing. Yet automobile regulation is a very important thing in California as nearly everyone has a car.

Being a big state inhabited by big people it does not worry about little things, unless there is evident reason for doing so. In British Columbia I expect to be held up before I can get to the office to repair my loss. A Wonderful Drive.

This afternoon we came here from Portland and returned there in the morning and then at once proceed northward. The Columbia River Highway, over which we came, is the most wonderful highway I have ever driven over. The first twenty miles out of Portland is not very interesting, but after that there is fifty miles of constantly changing panorama interspersed with picturesque waterfalls. A description of the drive can be obtained from any guide book but none of them over draw the picture. The famous Multnomah Falls, which is described by one of the books as a "masterpiece of scenic beauty," is really a wonder. Not only that, the fall is placed in such a picturesque setting that it excites admiration. The water falls sheer about 550 feet and then there is a second fall directly below of approximately 600 feet. The pictures show it as a thin white line framed in foliage. As a matter of fact it is nothing of the sort. It is an ever changing cascade, full of life and vigor. The noise it makes seems to add to the picture and causes even the most careless passer by to gaze in wonder. No photograph can adequately picture it. Everyone who has the opportunity should make a point of driving over this wonderful Columbia River highway.

The Old Camp Fire.

The other day we saw a horse being driven hundreds of miles in an automobile trailer, crated like a circus lion. Again we saw horses led by men driving autos and it seemed rather sad to witness the decay of the horse as a means of transportation. Occasionally, however, a team of horses hauls an auto out of the mud, and I notice that the horse is still used almost exclusively on the land even on large farms. Now and then a tractor may be seen but the horse seems to hold his own in the part of the country we have travelled.

While changes are taking place, there is occasionally a reversion. Let me give you an instance.

On this trip we have a new fangled contraption for cooking. It is a gasoline stove with two burners that folds so small that you can almost put it in your pocket. It has done us good service. Dick is in charge of this piece of machinery and I am in charge of the car. I oil up the car while he oils up the stove.

The other morning we arose at our accustomed hour, five o'clock. I lighted a big bonfire to keep off the early chills and Dick got busy on the breakfast. He put the stove together, lighted it and turned to put the kettle on. When he got back the light had expired. Again he applied gasoline, but after a few sputters and a flicker, the light again failed.

Whispered Softly.

Dick whispered softly to himself and repeated the priming. He then asked for a match and tried the blamed thing a third time. It was apparently successful until his back was turned, when it died again.

Dick has been carefully brought up, so does not use bad language under provocation, but he murmured incoherently and even to this day I do not know what he was saying. He tried that stove again and again, wasted something like half an hour of our valuable time and then allowed me to put the kettle on the camp fire and packed the gasoline stove sadly away until a more auspicious season. Since that the stove has worked well.

We have had similar troubles with Lizzie. Now and then she refuses to start in the morning, and other little things happen, but on the whole the machine is a great improvement on the horse. The new surpasses the old in usefulness and efficiency.

JACK MORRISON AND SERGEANT MCGLINCHY HAVE BACKYARD MIX

Police Sergeant Hugh McGlinchy and Jack Morrison mixed it in the lane back of Frizzell's butcher shop last night with the result that the latter was taken to the police station and released later on $50 bail. Morrison was to have appeared this morning to answer to a charge of intoxication but he failed to do so and accordingly the bail was estreated.

The trouble arose after a phone call had been received at the police station last evening from the Royal Cafe intimating that a man was lamm-ring at the door for admittance. Sergeant McGlinchy proceeded to investigate and, upon arrival, found Morrison in a state of intoxication and disorderliness. On sighting the officer, Morrison made for the yard back of Frizzell's store and, throwing off his coat, declared that no policeman could arrest him. However, the sergeant's intentions were set and the challenge was accepted with the result that science combined with a goodly gift of strength, prevailed and Morrison was duly landed in the Chateau de Vickers, events culminating this morning as reported.

In the Letter Box

Terrace, B. C. Editor, Daily News:

There are quite a few returned boys along this line who are out of work including the writers of this letter.

We left Terrace a week ago to load lumber at a mill not far from here and we just worked a week. We went out to work Monday morning and found three Chinamen at work, so we asked for our time.

Could you blame us? We don't see why something can not be done to give the men along this line some work.

TWO RETURNED BOYS.

Editor Daily News:

I want to commend Aldermen Collart and Montgomery on their stand taken in regard to daylight saving at Monday night's council meeting. Someone has said that whoever sees and profits by past mistakes is a wise man, but the gentlemen of the council who refused to repeal this unpopular act seem to think that to rectify past mistakes is to appear ridiculous. If these gentlemen are so sensitive why didn't they make sure of what was on the other side of the fence before they took the leap? Parents complain that they have trouble getting their young ones away from play and to sleep an hour earlier in the evening to say nothing about the confusion caused by having an hour's difference in the time of the city and the railway. An extra hour of daylight in the evening is no doubt advantageous to sport, but after all, sport to the majority is merely a pastime while bringing up children is a serious business. If our evenings under standard time are too short for them why don't the sport lovers arise an hour earlier in the morning? Exercise at that time of the day is said to be very beneficial when the digestive organs are at rest. The early morning sun plays on the dew-drops and kisses the fragrant tips of the marigold and skunk cabbage.

Dr. H. E. Young, Provincial Health Officer, On Hospital Problems And Their Solution

"Health tax means a health service to all, if you are agreeable to that idea, to so organize the finances which are devoted to health work in British Columbia as to distribute the burden in a more equitable manner to produce better results ultimately, and to carry on the work through a sense of duty, devoting more time to the management of hospital affairs," said Dr. H. E. Young, provincial officer of health, of Victoria, in his address on Health Tax at the convention of the hospitals of British Columbia held at Kamloops.

The doctor said that those concerned in the question of the administration of the hospitals of the country were feeling the effects of increased cost of maintenance; the increased cost of equipment; the greater demand for hospital space on the part of the public, without a corresponding increase in income, and with the knowledge that there was no realization on the part of the public as to what their demands for increased hospitalization meant. Voluntary contributions, which formerly could be relied upon in any emergency, had become woefully meagre, owing to the great demand upon the people by the present taxes levied to pay our national debts, and hospitals were forced to depend upon governmental and municipal aid to supplement the income from the patients.

There never had been any definite scheme upon which governmental and municipal assistance had been granted, except that in some instances a per capita grant was made, but this grant was based upon running costs as applied fifteen or twenty years ago and there had not been any attempt on the part of the authorities to readjust these grants to meet the increased costs of the hospital.

Effort Made. In British Columbia a very decided effort has been made during the past year to convince the authorities that if the hospitals are to be conducted upon modern and efficient lines some means are to be devised to meet the increasing cost, continued Dr. Young.

A government appropriate within the limits of the funds available, largely according to the apparent popular demand for each of its activities and until the people generally become awakened to the absolute and relative value of health work our legislature cannot be expected to grant the funds necessary on a reasonable adequate scale. With the great advance in medical science necessitating the enlargement of our hospitals by an increase of the number of departments, involving increased cost for the installation of expensive apparatus together with the higher salaries necessary to pay experts to look after these departments, and also from the fact that the people are patronizing the hospital to a much greater extent than in former years, the government is being forced to recognize that, at the same ratio of increase in cost of maintenance and increase in number of patients, the hospitals will become such a burden on the general revenue of the country as to prevent the government from financing them on the same basis as they are being financed and it is becoming more apparent to all governments that the question of hospital support must be dealt with in a radical way.

Governmental Basis. As Public Health work affects all the people, it appears logical for it to be conducted essentially as governmental business. The establishment and maintenance of reasonably adequate governmental health agencies, properly co-ordinated to function in a common-sense business-like way in every community in Canada is so logical, in fact, that its realization eventually may be expected. That the cost of Public Health activities be met with funds obtained from equitable taxation of the people seems right.

"We have been depending upon voluntary organizations for assistance, but the Government is alive to the fact that this work will pass, and pass very rapidly to the taxpayer. We must secure the co-operation of the people by admitting them to the management of their own affairs, with the handling of their own finances, always with the idea predominant that this work must be made self-sustaining. They will adopt the easiest way of making it so by instructing the government to impose a voluntary tax which will be known as a 'Health Tax,' just exactly as we impose a school tax today. Six per cent of the community are always in need of medical attention.

Nation Below Par. "If we are to get the best return from our educational system we should be able to produce a generation that will be physically able to give effect to their mental attributes and we have to confess that as a nation we are below par. One-third of our men were rejected as being unfit to fight. If they are not fit for the army they are not fit for civilian life, that is, they are not an asset to the state because they can barely do more than support themselves and there is no thought of their being able to produce anything over and above their own support to increase the national wealth.

"We are allowing the children to grow up to become charges upon the state. In other words, we are not preventing physical defects and the result is that in the year 1929 we spent for hospitals, insane asylums, industrial schools and care of the sub-normal, a million and three-quarters of money from the Government revenue of the province besides what the municipalities spent.

"Our hospitals are overloaded with cases of disease that should never have reached the hospital simply because we failed to recognize the fact that the human being is the greatest national asset we have. If we are to increase our wealth by developing our national resources, our forests and mines, we must have men fit and able to carry on the work. If a man cannot work he becomes a burden on his friends or upon the state and those who are dependent upon him lose all the advantages that should belong to them. Not only are they a direct burden upon the taxes but they are an economic loss from the fact that they cease to be producers. How can this be remedied? By an extension of the knowledge of what prevention means. We paint our houses, we repair our automobiles, we patch our clothes and shoes to preserve their usefulness, and we do this as soon as there is a suspicion of wear, yet we neglect to patch ourselves." Extensive Application. When speaking of Health Tax Dr. Young explained that he did not mean the tax to be applied to hospitals alone, but that a sum of money should be raised through the medium of the health tax that would provide for the care of the child through childhood and on through life.

In conclusion the doctor said "Divide your country into districts, make your hospital a centre, have the state provide the more costly part of it from the consolidated revenue. Tax your people who are in that district to maintain the hospital in efficient shape and everybody will contribute. If it is logical to take the children and examine them once a year and discover defects, why is it not just as logical to go into the home and say: How are you feeling? Are you fit to continue your responsibility as parents? Are you able to support these children until they become self-sustaining? What will be the answer? Give me a chance, tax me."

LADY MISSIONARY TELLS EXPERIENCES Large and Appreciative Audiences Listened to Miss Florence Jack in Methodist Church Yesterday

Miss Florence Jack, who has been engaged for some years in missionary work in West China, delivered a very interesting and inspiring address before a large and appreciative audience in the Methodist Church last night. A mass meeting for children held in the church in the afternoon was also well attended.

Telling the story of her experiences in the Orient, Miss Jack said the first place at which she was located was Lu Chew, a large port city on the Yangtze-Kiang river, where she obtained her training and took up the Chinese language. After becoming proficient in the Chinese tongue she proceeded to Tientsin, a city with a population of a million people, and became principal of the Chinese girls school there. This city was a great manufacturing centre and abounded in salt wells which supplied the whole of China with this commodity. The Methodist mission, with which Miss Jack is connected, had several churches and schools for the children and grown people, and branch schools were located all over the city to which schools the senior pupils were sent for the purpose of instructing the younger children under the supervision of experienced teachers.

The makers of "Kayser" Silk Hosiery recommend LUX

Every lady knows "Kayser" silk hosiery. Here is a word of advice from the manufacturer of these famous Made in Canada silk stockings:—

"Silk stockings should be washed every night to remove perspiration which is the enemy of Silk. There is nothing better for this than Lux."

Lux with its generous suds is ideal for the quick thorough washing silk stockings require. The thin, satin-like flakes of Lux, which are made by our own exclusive process, dissolve in hot water as quickly as snow. There is nothing like Lux—it stands supreme as the only product, eminently suitable for washing silken hosiery, and garments, or other fine articles of wear.

Lux is sold only in sealed packets—dust-proof!

J. W. NICHOLLS FORECASTS OPERATING OF CARGO SHIPS FROM HERE TO AUSTRALASIA.

lands to Auckland in New Zealand was about three and a half day's sail. On leaving Auckland for Australia Mr. Nicholls said he received his first intimation of his lack of knowledge of the southern hemisphere. He had imagined it was something like a ferry ride between New Zealand and Australia. However the distance between the two countries was about equal to the distance between Prince Rupert and Los Angeles and took approximately four days on the steamer.
Australia Wonderful
In speaking of Australia Mr. Nicholls said it was certainly a wonderful country, and nature had provided it with all the good things to make life worth living, the climate being particularly enjoyable. In Queensland the climate was sub-tropical and in the cities in the south there was never any snow or cold weather. In Adelaide the temperature was 105 degrees but was not unpleasant. The people had certainly taken advantage of the opportunities which existed and had been provided with beautiful botanical gardens, which as far as his experience went, were unequalled anywhere in Europe. All the important cities had fine art galleries, and very large museums. Each city has its university, in fact the University of south Australia had the reputation of turning out the finest doctors in the world.
In speaking of the city of Sydney, Mr. Nicholls said that the harbor was certainly magnificent. The shore line was covered with trees and wonderful gardens. The harbor was of such great proportions that the total fleets of the world could be accommodated in it.

Commercially Speaking

Commercially, Australia was in about the same position as most countries and was suffering from the effects of the war. The labor question has been a big issue. In each of the states and in the Commonwealth house the people have from time to time elected labor parties, but were now getting tired of labor government and, at the present time, Queensland was the only state which had a labor government. Mr. Nicholls said that while he was in Sydney they had a state election for New

Debt

Debt, grinding debt, whose iron face the widow and the orphan fear and hate; debt, which consumes so much time, which so cripples and disheartens, is a teacher whose lessons cannot be forgotten.

It is incumbent on all right-thinking people to do more than avoid debt. It is necessary to accumulate a competence for one's dependent years. If, with a definite earning power you find it hard to live within your income, how could your wife support the home in the event of your death deprived of your earning power? "Your salary stops with your pulse."

A Manufacturers Life policy provides for all these contingencies. Systematic saving will keep you out of debt, and build a competence for the sunset of life. Should you not live to old age, your life insurance will create an estate for your dependents.

Write, giving us your age at nearest birthday, and we will submit a proposition to you which will not place you under any obligation.

R. E. HARRAP,
Supervisor for Northern British Columbia, Prince Rupert.

THE MANUFACTURERS LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

HEAD OFFICE, - TORONTO, CANADA.

South Wales and the labor party was defeated. He thought that industry could not exist under the present scale of wages and the conditions exacted by the labor unions. They had a system of minimum wage or basic wage. The basic wage was the scale upon which unskilled labor is paid and skilled labor was built up according to its qualifications. This scale was fixed by a labor board, similar in character to our arbitration boards. It was the general opinion in Australia that this board had fixed a very high scale of wages and one which very few industries could stand. When reductions were made by the board the labor unions would not accept the findings. The consequence that a large number of the manufacturing plants and industries had had to close down for the reason that they could not compete in the world's markets. This action had caused a tremendous amount of unemployment and was taxing the resources of the country to provide unemployment doles. In other words they were practically living on capital. Were it not for the fact that three of their primary industries were in the fortunate position of producing what the world requires today, namely, wool, butter and mutton, they would be in a very precarious position.

New Zealand

Mr. Nicholls visited the towns of Wellington and Auckland in New Zealand, and during the eighteen days he was there twelve days were public holidays and everybody was out of town. For the Easter week they closed up shop on the Wednesday preceding Good Friday and opened again on the following Wednesday morning.
Commercially New Zealand was not suffering very severely, sheep and wool having been in considerable demand during the past 12 months. The climate was very different to the Australian climate. In summer the thermometer rose from 75 to 90 degrees and the air was always tempered with a cool breeze. While sitting in a small hotel in Wellington Mr. Nicholls met Mr. Johnston, formerly with the C. N. R. here. Mr. Johnston had not visited Australia but was working New Zealand. He told Mr. Nicholls that he had wonderful scope for the reason that everybody returning to Europe went over the Canadian Pacific. "But," the speaker said, "Mr. Johnston being a good old Prince Rupert booster he is going to see that as many travellers as possible pass through Prince Rupert." Mr. Nicholls said he believed large numbers of Australians and New Zealanders would be coming through Prince Rupert in the near future.

To say the least of it, the exhibition of baseball put up by the Elks in the four innings of exhibition game on Victoria Day was distinctly poor. The fact that it was the first game of the season and that the players were out of practice may have had something to do with it. It is also evident that the quality of ball will have to be better than what was shown then or else it will be a poor season here. However, it is not necessary that that game be taken as a definite indication. As the season progresses and the best talent is sorted out and the players become practiced up the necessary improvement may come about. There is no doubt, however, that local baseball clubs are going to feel the loss of several of the best players who have left the city since the end of last season.

His penance all performed, Babe Ruth the prodigal son of baseball, has again taken up his abode, as the New York Yankees open a long home series at the Polo Grounds with Ken-eth Williams, the Ruthian invader from out of the West, coming to make his 1922 Metropolitan debut this beginning of the season for George Herman. Since he has read of the ball-playing prowess of Williams, Babe has been shown that Commissioner Ken-eth M. Landis means to "enforce the rules and since he has discovered what it means not to allow to play, it is reported that Ruth's uniform—including cap—fits better.

But regardless of the introduction of Mr. Williams, who is intent upon galloping past Babe's highwater mark of 104 home runs for last season, regardless of the fact that Ruth has a "record"—as a baseball player, if one there was, would be that of the Crowned King of Batters is still the pride of the team and the biggest baseball swing ear the world has ever known.

ness to "play the game" and his apparent determination to make up for lost time—all of this will bring as many people to the ball yards to see him this year as did last.

According to those who have the Bambino's confidence he has been elated over the fact that the Yankees have set without him in the line-up and now that he knows that he is a trifle more valuable as a magnet to the box office than as a counter in the total scoring he will attempt more than ever to be more of a first-class baseball player and a more diligent purveyor of satisfaction to fandom in general.

Ruth's appearance in the line-up this week marked his first appearance in a league game this year, 38 days after the opening of the season and with one-fourth of the season gone, necessitates Ruth slamming out one homerun at least every other day and three on one day to surpass his record of last year.

Ruth, unquestionably the greatest hitter of all time, has batted out 75 homeruns in the last six years. He scored four in 1915, three in 1916, two in 1917, 11 in 1918, 29 in 1919—breaking the then world's record, 54 in 1920 and 59 last year—a total of 133. His homerun hitting has become so prolific that it was suggested last season that he be handicapped by being allowed only two strikes or to bat only with one hand.

Few expect that he will come near equalling last year's mark, let alone establish a new record, considering that one-fourth of his playing time for the year is gone, although on May 20 last year, Ruth had collected only 12 circuit smashes, approximately one-fifth of his total in one-fourth of his time. His attempt, however, will supply interest for the lagging period of dog days.

Do Your Bowels move regularly, or do they become constipated

There is no medium through which disease so often attacks the system as by allowing the bowels to become constipated, and there is no other trouble that flesh is heir to that is more liable to be neglected, because material inconvenience may not be felt, at once, from irregular action of the bowels. When there is not regular action the retention of the decayed and effete matter, with its poisonous gases, soon poisons the whole system by being absorbed into it, causing violent sickness and bilious headaches, internal bleeding or protruding piles, heartburn, jaundice, etc.

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS will regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the bowels, thus making them active and regular, and removing the constipation and all its allied troubles.
Mr. Samuel Buckler, Tatamagouche, N. S., writes:—"For over a year I suffered with constipation. I took several different kinds of medicine, but could only get temporary relief. I was told to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I prepared two vials of them, but after I had taken one I found that I was relieved of my trouble. I do not hesitate to recommend Laxa-Liver Pills for any kind of constipation."
Price, 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PRACTICE FOOTBALL GAME LAST NIGHT

A practice football game between the Callies and the Grottos resulting in a 2-2 draw, was played on the Acropolis Hill grounds last night before a good crowd of spectators. The game was played for the purpose of trying out new men and getting the regular players warmed up for the season's encounters.
R. McIntosh, playing outside right for the Callies gave a good exhibition of ball kicking, his rushes down the touch line being to say the least, spectacular. Kinghorn took a turn in goal for the Callies and acquitted himself creditably. Kirby and Butters were the outstanding players for the Grottos.

FASCINATING STORY IN DE MILLE PICTURE WESTHOLME THEATRE

Charlie Chaplin is Further Attraction to Splendid Week-End Bill.
A fascinating story of stage life is William de Mille's latest Paramount picture production, "After the Show," which opens at the Westholme Theatre tonight. Jack Holt, Lila Lee and Charles Ogle, the featured players appear to fine advantage in their respective roles.
Mr. Holt as a millionaire "angel" of a musical comedy of the chorus of which Lila Lee is a member, and Mr. Ogle as an old disappointed stage door keeper, contribute much to the enjoyableness of the picture. There are many dramatic and pathetic scenes artistically portrayed, while the production as a whole is fully up to the high artistic de Mille standard. It rivets one's attention and is in every respect a production of the highest grade.
Charlie Chaplin's latest release "Pay Day" rounds off an altogether splendid week-end program.
The question for the advertiser to consider is how many people read the paper. You can't get results without circulation.

SMITHERS

Niss Margaret McAndrew and William Swift were married recently. They have taken up their residence on a ranch near town.

The town of Houston is making a bid for an experimental farm and a widely signed petition is to be sent to the government. The Houston site is generally favored by the communities throughout the Bulkley Valley.

J. E. Kirby has presented three lots to the Bulkley Valley Hospital Association as a permanent hospital site.

The Smithers branch of the Northern B. C. Regiment now boasts a membership of thirty. Major R. L. Gale of Smithers is officer commanding the unit and Capt. G. L. Murray of Telkwa is second in command. Rifles have been received.

Diamond drilling by the York-shire Guarantee & Trust Co., of Vancouver, is to commence early in June on the extensive coal holdings in the Copper River Country. Preparations are being made for a party of eight or ten men under K. S. Robinson to start work.

Miss Olive Tennant, of Vancouver, is spending a short holiday in Smithers, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Douglas Campbell.

R. J. McDonnell, Tommy Bailey and Johnny Salt were in Smithers last week enroute to the Cedar Creek gold diggings.
