CAPETOWN, South Africa, Nov. 21:-Having abandoned the idea of flying back to England following her record flight of last week, Amy Johnson, famous British aviatrix, decided, instead, to loan her plane to aid in the search for Victor Smith, nineteen year old South African flyer, who had not been heard of since he left Duala on November 15 for a flight from the Cape to England. Soon after the offer had been made, however, Smith landed safely at Gao, French West Africa. He had landed at Dci and was unable to communicate with the outside world.

BERLIN, Nov. 21:-Adolph Hitler, leader of the German National Socialist party, emerged from a one-hour audience with President Paul von Hindenburg on Saturday as the possible new cha-4cellor of Germany in succession to Franz von Papen, who resigned with his cabinet last week. It is the goal for which Hitler has been campaigning for nine years since he became a power in German politics.

Following the conference von Hindenburg offered the chancellorship to Hitler but under certain political conditions which some observers believe may make Hitler's acceptance improbable. There will be another conference between the two this week.

> NEW YORK, Nov. 21-Speculation is rife in political quarters as to the personnel of the cabinet of President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt. fish. On such a principle there seemed to be agreement among such speakers as G. W. Nickerson, secretary of the Canadian Halibut Vessel Owners' Ass'n. J. M. Morrison, former agent of the Deep Sea Fishermen's Union, Col. J. W. Nicholls. comptroller of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., and John Dybhavn, president and general manager of the Royal Fish Co., who were among those to be heard by the Commission.

The session of the Commission was presided over by J. P. Babcock. chairman of the International Fisheries Commission and assistant commissioner of fisheries for British Columbia, other members of the commission present being W. A. Found, federal deputy minister of fisheries, and Edward W. Allen of Seattle.

The hearing opened with a sketch of the halibut fishery situation over the past several years up to today by Dr. Will F. Thomson, director of scientific investigation for the Commission. Reviewing discoveries which had been made in regard to the life history, habits and conditions of the halibut, Dr. Thomson stressed the fact that it had been ascertained that an increase in the amount of gear used, or in the intensity of fishing, was almost immediately followed by a decrease in the production per unit. Conversely, it had been proven that a decline in the amount of gear in operation was always associated with an increase in the catch per unit of gear.

It was becoming obvious that neither the fisherman, the boat owner

or anyone else interested in the industry benefitted by the use of an increased amount of gear. Not only from a business standpoint but,
