France Takes Resolute Stand on Reparations Question and Will Have Only Her Own Plan

PARIS, Jan. 3.—In a preliminary speech before the opening of the Allied premiers' conference on reparations, Rt. Hon. Andrew Bonar Law, premier of Great Britain, told a public gathering that Britain and France had the same aim in view in dealing with Germany but each wanted to pursue a different course and there was a danger of a deadlock.

"You can get certain sums by taking possession of Germany but you cannot re-establish German finances by taking over that country," Mr. Bonar Law declared. "The Allies must choose between the British and French methods of collecting reparations. Britain is said to have a selfish aim in seeking re-establishment of German trade but my conviction is that if an earthquake swallowed Germany, Britain would gain because Germany is her trade rival."

The British delegation at an informal meeting this morning practically decided to accept the French reparations plan as a basis for discussion provided Premier Poincare agrees to discuss the British plan. In this way Premier Bonar Law would seek to place the burden of responsibility on the shoulders of Premier Poincare.

The French cabinet council this morning instructed Premier Poincare to move in the conference this afternoon the adoption of the French reparations plan as the minimum acceptable to France. In the event of the conference not accepting this plan, Poincare has been directed to ask the conference to formally register lack of agreement among the Allies. The cabinet council decided that the British reparations plan would be an abandonment of the Versailles treaty.

Alarming Proposal
Premier Poincare, after the French cabinet meeting, said the British plan displeased everybody—not only the French but the Italians and Belgians. He said that the proposal of putting in the hands of the Bank of England gold left there for the Allies was alarming. It is understood that Premier Bonar Law will tell the conference that unless the French agree to discuss the British plan he will announce that the British see no further need for the conference.

At the meeting of the conference this afternoon there was anything but cheerfulness. Premier Bonar Law seemed particularly depressed.

LONDON FOG CAUSE LARGER DEATH LIST

LONDON, Jan. 3.—The recent fog which has prevailed in and around London are responsible not only for a greatly increased expenditure for lighting, but have caused more than the usual amount of sickness and suffering to the population.

This is set forth by medical experts, who quote statistics to show that for the week ended November 25 the death rate in London was 14.3 per 1000 against a death rate for the whole of England and Wales of 12.6 per 1000. Deaths from bronchitis and broncho-pneumonia rose to 238 from the previous weeks figure of 182. This rise which is principally among children, is ascribed to weather conditions, to the darkness and irritation of the London fogs.

Shipments of Fish from Prince Rupert Most Important Feature of Railway's Express Business

The feature of the express traffic on the Canadian National Railways during the year 1922 was the movement of fish in carload lots, according to a report on the year's business which has been prepared by the company. Approximately 1200 cars were handled, an increase of 400 cars over 1921. Over 1100 of these cars were dispatched from Prince Rupert. The less than carload lots also showed steady improvement.

The fish commodity is shipped in specially built express refrigerator cars from Prince Rupert to all parts of Canada and the United States. In the United States, cars are destined to Chicago, Buffalo, Boston and New York. At these points they are redistributed for other destinations.

POWER FOR INDUSTRY

Vancouver Man Asks City For 300 to 400 Horse Power

Visions of past actions came to the city council last night when a letter was read from H. D. A. McCarthy of Vancouver, asking if the city was in a position to supply 300-400 H.P. for a large manufacturing industry which might be established here. T. C. Duncan, superintendent of utilities, told the council that the city did not have any bulk power to sell as they had too little now. He said more development would be needed and, replying to a question from one of the aldermen, stated that if the city had the connection with the drydock plant they might be able to supply the power.

Alb. Montgomery declared that he had been opposed to the agreement with the drydock in the first place and now the city stood to lose a lot by it. He believed that a terrible mistake had been made.

Mr. Duncan, in reply to Alderman Kerr, said the city might be able to increase the capacity by 300 H.P. if new machinery were installed.

It was finally decided to have Mr. Duncan write Mr. McCarthy for more information regarding the proposed plant.

In conclusion the report stated that the net taxable land this year was valued at $5,091,225 as against $6,072,354 last year, or a reduction in the net amount by roughly sixteen per cent.

Will Ship Ore at Once from Mine at Smithers

J. F. Duthie here on way to Inspect New Ore Strike on Hudson Bay Mountain Property

"If my expectations materialize the mine we shall have at Hudson Bay Mountain will make the Premier Mine look small," declared J. F. Duthie, the Seattle capitalist, who is here today on his way to Smithers to investigate the new strike of ore recently made on the Henderson group of claims on his Hudson Bay Mountain property. Mr. Duthie is very enthusiastic over the prospects and is keen to make it a great mine.

"No, the mine is not for sale and will not be," the Seattle man said in reply to a question. "I have no use for the money for I already have plenty, but I should like to develop a good mine. The showings there are similar to some of those in the big silver mines in Nevada. What puzzles me is that no one got in there before me and secured these properties."

Asked for more details in regard to the mine, Mr. Duthie showed a News representative some of the ore taken from the recent strike which showed values, mostly silver of $507 to the ton. There is a good width of this high grade ore and even higher values than that are expected. Some of the sacked ore at the mine goes much higher than that.

Number of Veins
White Mr. Duthie is pleased with this latest strike, the value of the mine did not by any means depend upon it, he said. There are numerous veins, a few of which are high grade but most of which are low grade milling ore giving good values. This is true particularly on the Mamie group where there is gold ore going fifteen dollars to the ton which will mill and will prove worth working.

The high grade silver is somewhat similar to the Premier ore but without the gold values. The new strike is on the same vein from which ore was formerly taken but five hundred feet lower and it indicates that the values increase with depth instead of running out as had been prophesied.

Tram to Railway
The property is situated on Hudson Bay Mountain 3,500 feet above sea level and 1900 feet above the town of Smithers. It will be necessary to put in an aerial tram to carry the ore to the railway. A survey of the route has already been completed and just now the matter of different systems is being investigated in order to get the best possible results.

A shipment of several cars of ore is to be made at once to Trail smelter and it is probable other shipments will follow. The ore which will go on these first shipments it is expected fetch something like seven or eight thousand dollars to the car load. This cannot be treated at Anxox as the smelter there has not the facilities for handling that class of ore.

Spent $100,000 Already
It is not easy to estimate just what it will mean to the town of Smithers and to the whole district to have a good shipping route there, such as this one is bound to be in the near future. Mr. Duthie has already spent $100,000 developing the property and he will have to spend a lot more before he can get it in shape to begin to bring returns in a big way. It will mean a great deal to Prince Rupert, for the development of the interior means the development of this port.

Mr. Duthie is accompanied by his managing engineer, J. R. Turner.

Old Fight is On Again.

Canadian halibut fishermen have become active in their agitation for a removal of the 2c preference in price that is given American fish landed at this port over Canadian and the old fight is on again. The reason for the condition that is objected to is the tariff that was recently placed by the United States government on Canadian halibut entering the United States. It is logical that American fish should get a higher price than Canadian when the latter is faced with the extra duty, but it is more difficult for the Canadian fishermen to understand why all Canadian fish should be paid less. It is claimed by them that such is the case, at present regardless of whether the destination of the Canadian halibut be the United States or Canada. As the principal market of all the halibut landed locally is in United States, that may not be a very big factor in the case, however.

Has Tariff Done
Any Alaska Good?

The offending United States tariff, recently put on by Washington, was inspired by agitation of the business men of Alaska, principally of Ketchikan. It was not asked for by the American fishermen for it really does them little good. The effect is not to increase the price paid to American fishermen but rather to reduce that of the Canadians. The reason actuating the efforts of the Ketchikan people for the putting on the tariff was the object of forcing halibut to land at Ketchikan instead of Prince Rupert thereby getting the outfitting and supplying business of the fishing vessels. It has had little effect in the changing of the place of marketing but, nevertheless, American boats have been making Ketchikan their base lately for outfitting.
Whether the tariff is responsible or not for that is questionable.

Combating Measure May Not Be Worth While.

It is natural that the Canadian fishermen should be seeking for redress. So far there has been no definite plan of recommendation made public but it is likely that, when it is made, it will ask for an equalizing impost on American landings here such as tonnage tax. This may benefit the Canadian fishermen to a certain extent, but it is doubtful if it will do the port much good for it will tend to discourage American landings. In any case, if it were to be put on, it is a certainty that nobody would be any further ahead than if the American tariff had never been imposed or the defensive measure that the Canadian fishermen are seeking. The only interests who will gain anything will be the governments collecting the imposts. Such tariffs and charges, otherwise, only lower the prices paid the producer and increase the cost of the commodity to the consumers. For the same reason that many opposed the American tariff, any Canadian defensive measure may also be opposed.

Indian Nationalists
Waiting For Chance.

The All Indian Nationalist Congress at Gaya has rejected a proposal to boycott British goods in India. The same convention has also decided upon a policy of passive non-cooperation with the British. The anti-Empire spirit is there but economic reasons will not allow of it being acted upon. The congress has demonstrated that it cannot get along without Britain, but it is not sympathetic to the Crown and intends to use British goods and privileges just so long as it is necessary. It will be passive non-cooperation as long as the situation remains as it is today, but as soon as the time seems opportune it will be something more.
Wily people are these Hindu Nationalists.

Consequently, this person has a

It is now just 80 years since Beecham's Pills first began correcting disordered stomachs and stirring sluggish livers and bowels to natural activity—and feeling "like a fighting cock" is associated as inseparably with Beecham's Pills, as the pills are with good health.

BUSINESS BY

Table Supply and Universal Publish Price List for Convenience of Out of Town as Well as City Buyers

Optimism is the keynote prevailng at the Rupert Table Supply these days, for it is the busiest store in the city right now. Business has been good during 1922 and if energy and "faith in ourselves" means anything at all, it will mean better business for 1923. In addition to a large local city trade, the out-of-town business of the Table Supply has been increasing by leaps and bounds and if the same ratio of increase keeps up, it will mean another extension of premises to take care of it, before very long. In increasing numbers, the people of the interior and up and down the coast are realizing that they cannot buy any better, if even as well in many lines, from the large prairie mail order houses, particularly in the dry goods department. Very many city people, know this too, of course.

The half page advertisement in this issue shows very close prices, which cannot be beat anywhere and, from these, buyers will be able to compare from time to time the values they receive. It is these close prices, backed up by the best value possible that is making the Table Supply of Prince Rupert the mail order centre for the Northwestern part of British Columbia.
"Faith in Ourselves" is being demonstrated by the Table Supply people in going after this outside business—and securing it, in the face of severe competition from both the prairies and Vancouver, and by extending themselves in this manner, they also display their faith in this city's development.

Backed by an absolute money back guarantee if not satisfied,
the Table Supply and Universal Stores are affording every inducement to the people of the north to trade at home and keep their money in B.C., which will be for their own ultimate benefit in more ways than one.

POLYTECHNIC DISPLAY SHOWS GOOD RESULTS

Exhibition in Wallace's Store Attracting Much Attention and Favorable Comment

The exhibition of handwork of the students of the Northern Polytechnic Institute which is now on exhibition in the show window of Wallace's is attracting a good deal of attention and many compliments have been paid by passers-by to the accomplishments demonstrated. If the quality and variety of the articles exhibited may be taken as any criterion, valuable results must already be obtaining in the comparatively brief history of the institute. The exhibits have a great range in scope and give some idea of the activities of the various classes including the gas engine, art, dressmaking and millinery departments. There are also several appropriate motions urging further taking up and support of the work by the public.

Many Sensational Changes in Boxing Titles Marks History of 1922 Pugilistic Activity

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—"Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown" in the domains of pugilism—proof of which is the unusual number of sensational upsets featuring the ring record for 1922. Review of the year shows that three world's and two American titles changed hands. With the exception of the heavy-weight ranks, where Jack Dempsey remained supreme but inactive, all the crowns were in jeopardy at some time.

Four of the titles changed hands in New York while the fifth, the world's light heavyweight championship, passed into the possession of the Senegalese, Battling Siki, when he knocked out Georges Carpentier in Paris last September. Siki acquired the European heavyweight title by his victory. Since then, however, he has lost whatever prestige he gained by drawing a long-term suspension from French boxing authorities for improper conduct and adding fuel to the flames of controversy with unsubstantiated charges that his bout with Carpentier was intended as a frame-up for Georges to win but that he double-crossed the ex-pouffe by a "change of heart" during the bout.

Johnny Buff Loses
 Johnny Buff, veteran Jersey City boxer, met double disaster during the year, a former champion of the division, in July and the American flyweight crown to Pancho Villa, the Filipino sensation, in September. Buff, minus much of his former prowess through a long illness, was knocked out by Lynch in the fourteenth and by Villa in the eleventh round. He has not appeared in the ring since then.

Another veteran went down to defeat before stamina and youth when Jack Britton, king of the welter ranks for years and one of the craftiest ring generals of all time, lost a decision and his world title to Micky Walker, of Elizabeth, N.J., in November. But a few months before Britton had put up one of the best fights of his career against Benny Leonard, lightweight title holder, winning on a technical foul in the thirteenth round.

Light Heavyweight Title
 The American light heavyweight title changed possession twice. Gene Tunney, Greenwich Village favorite, took the honors from Battling Levinsky, in January by the decision route but lost the crown in May to Harry Greb, of Pittsburg, who gained a decision after a hard-fought 15-round bout.

The situation in the featherweight and the middleweight divisions was complicated by decisions of the New York State Athletic Commission which took away the licenses of the respective titleholders, Johnny Kilbane, of Cleveland, and Johnny Wilson, of Boston, and declared their laurels open to competition so far as the Empire State was concerned. Kilbane was outlawed for refusal to accept a challenge from Johnny Dundee, of New York, and Wilson for ignoring an agreement to box Harry Greb, Pittsburg mauler.

Dundee and Danny Frush, English boxer who took up an American residence in Cleveland, were picked up by the New York commission, as logical contenders for the featherweight title and the former acquired what honors the commission was capable of bestowing by knocking out Frush in the ninth round of a contest in August.

Middleweight Honors
 Likewise, Dave Rosenberg, of Brooklyn, was declared middleweight champion by the commission after a victory over Phil Krug, of Harrison, N.J., in August but the honors were transferred to the veteran Mike O'Dowd, of St. Paul, former titleholder, when he won from Rosenberg in a foul in the eighth round of a contest staged Thanksgiving Day. The Middle West also ceased to regard Wilson as middleweight king and the recognition was conferred by boxing authorities in several states on Bryan Downey, of Cleveland.

Benny Leonard was the busiest champion of the year. The lightweight being fulfilled a strenuous mid-summer program when he fought in succession Jack Britton, Rocky Kansas and Lew Fendler. He lost to Britton on a foul, knocked out Kansas a few weeks later and left in July defended his title against Tandler, Philadelphia southpaw, in a sensational 12-round no-decision bout at Jersey City, N.J. Leonard received the popular verdict at the ringside, but he was given one of the stiffest battles of his career and came close to defeat in the eighth round under a staggering attack by Tandler.

Benny Leonard Hurt
 Leonard later defeated Ever Hammer, of Chicago, in a contest at Michigan City, Ind., but a serious infection of the mouth, the result of injuries sustained in the Tandler fight, has since kept the champion out of active competition.

Charley White, hard hitting Chicagoan, established himself as one of Leonard's most formidable rivals and may be matched with the champion in the near future. White's latest and most impressive triumph was his knockout of Richie Mitchell, of Milwaukee, in the tenth round of a 15-round contest.

Officially Dempsey's heavyweight title was at stake once during the year in a four-round encounter with a middleweight sparring partner, Jimmy Darcy, at Buffalo, N.Y., in July, but there was little risk involved. The New York State Athletic Commission ruled that under the boxing statutes a decision must be rendered, and Dempsey willingly complied with the technicality, receiving the official verdict.

Dempsey's Rival
 Dempsey also formally accepted the challenge of his dusky rival, Harry Wills, for a title bout, but that was as far as negotiations proceeded, it being agreed that a match could not be promoted before next summer. Wills' prestige gained little from his performances in several bouts in New York with Negro opponents, but he remained generally regarded as Dempsey's strongest rival.

Two other figures, meanwhile, created interest in heavy-weight circles—Floyd Johnson, of Iowa, and Luis Angel Firso, Argentine sensation. Johnson has developed rapidly and included a knockout of Bob Martin among his victories. He will face his hardest test next summer when he meets Bill Brennan, rugged Chicagoan.

Firso came to this country early in the year and knocked out in rapid succession several lesser lights. But while he demonstrated heavy punching ability he showed little boxing

LIVELY DEBATE CITY COUNCIL

Over Letters from Officials Regarding New Working Hours

Several very strong words which came close to ending the meeting of the city council last night. The trouble arose over a letter from the four department heads... Ald. Wood, W. D. Vance, F. Whitaker and T. C. Dunnean...

who sold his services. He was of the opinion that the bargain could not be changed now and that the employees should work from 9 to 5.

"Where do you find that?" asked the mayor. "It has been the custom here. They have worked eleven months like that and a court would take the eleven months in deciding for them."

Does Not Like It Ald. Dybbavn endeavored to stop the discussion by moving that the report be received and filed but Ald. Collart saw another chance to get in some pointers and did so.

"I don't like this at all," he exclaimed. "If they don't like it they can quit and go home. There are plenty ready to fill their places."

Ald. Kerr moved that the matter be left over for the new council to deal with urging the council not to take the bull by the tail or the horns just now.

Ald. McLeod wanted to know if the change was not to be left over to the new council by a motion passed some time ago but the mayor stated it was slated for the first of January.

Mr. Hooper then interjected to ask Ald. Montgomery if this were only a country of slaves.

Work or Starve "I have the right to choose, my employer and I can either work or starve," the alderman replied.

"Then is this a country of contracts?" questioned Mr. Hooper.

Ald. Montgomery, "No." "Then I say to you and Ald. Collart that this is a country of slaves," came back the solicitor.

Ald. Collart maintained that there were no terms of employment.

Just then Ald. McLeod asked if the employees getting overtime pay were being paid for their own work or extra work.

He was informed that extra work piled up at certain seasons of the year which necessitated this extra work being done.

"But you don't find them paying back any money to the city when the work is slack do you?" Let them play fair in this," retorted Ald. Collart.

Leave Council in Hole Mr. Hooper then reminded the council that he had, informed them that the mayor's notice of dismissal some time ago was not worth the paper that it was written on.

"If I had been a smart Alec, I would have let the notice ride and advised the officials accordingly. We would have stepped out on January 1, and then you would have been in a bad hole. I talked with the officials, however, and we decided to see you through although I tell you frankly, Mr. Mayor, I was very tempted to accept your notice."

"We are not discussing the notice now," retorted the mayor. "Nobody can say I left the council in the lurch," continued Mr. Hooper. "And I must say the city clerk felt the same way."

The mayor then asked if there was anything in the act under which all civic employees held their position at pleasure. Mr. Hooper assured him there was with the proviso that a month's notice be given.

Mayor Rochester then remarked that the council had instructed him to issue the notices and he would stand by his action.

Good Law but Poor Business Ald. Dybbavn thought that Mr. Hooper's opinion might be good law but it was mighty poor business. He did not like the stand the officials took and he felt that it reflected their attitude to the city in general and the least the council could do was to carry out the mayor's instructions.

Mr. Woods arose to explain that the city officials were expected to give advice to the council and that their letter was merely advising the council in a gentlemanly manner.

The whole matter ended with Ald. Dybbavn's motion that the letter be received and filed being adopted.

John Watson wrote to the City council last night asking that $50 medical fees be paid on account of injuries sustained by his daughter Catherine in a fall on Fourth Avenue. It was pointed out that the Board of Works and city solicitor had reported that the girl was sitting on the side of the road. On Ald. Montgomery's motion it was left to the mayor to settle on the understanding that a precedent be not established.

Jack Dempsey, perched on the top of the world's boxing pile, is coining in money as fast as he can by virtue of his title but still he refuses to get into the ring with anyone of his numerous challengers until the price is large enough to suit him.

It is nearly a year now since Dempsey defended his title but he still goes around making his thousands every week on the stage without giving such boxers as Tail, Gibbons and many others a chance at the title.

In San Diego recently Dempsey said he would like to meet Gibbons, Willard or any others but "until some suitable offer is made, I am not paying much attention to the challenges hurled at me every day."

As far as receipts for the griddon alone are concerned, the Harvard University treasury is enriched in net profits for the football season by nearly $400,000, according to unofficial figures.

The Crimson team played before a gate of 330,000 or more and the gross receipts of their nine games including the big one in the Yale bowl, reached $700,000, while the expenses necessary to prepare the eleven for the Yale game were nearly $50,000.

Charly Paddock, of the University of Southern California, one of the fastest, if not the fastest runner in the world, will go East in the spring to compete in a number of track meets of importance. For some time there has been a lot of criticism in the East about Paddock's records and a short time ago Paddock in an interview said, "I am going East to show my critics that I am not a false alarm sprint champion."

Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion pugilist, in an interview in Vancouver last week, said he was going to fight Jack Dempsey in New York next June and after he had put the champion away, he was going to tell the public "a few things about that Toledo scrap that

WILL ATTEMPT TO PREVENT ALBERTA DOUBLE HANGING

MONTREAL, Jan. 3.—Strong opposition to the hanging of women was expressed at a board meeting of the Canadian Prisoners' Welfare Association, at which Robert Bickelshike, former member for St. Lawrence, Montreal presided.
 Attention was called by the committee which handles capital cases to that of Emile Picarillo and Florence Lasandra. It was pointed out that no women had paid capital penalty in Canada for thirteen years and in England for fifteen years, although in latter country there are now three under sentence of death. A cable was ordered sent to the home secretary in that connection.
 The meeting decided to circulate petitions in favor of legislation for abolition of capital penalty this session, but in the meantime urged that as long as state killing exists there should be no secret executions as recently took place at Vermont, N.S., soon after the New Brunswick execution had been bungled.
 With regard to the Picarillo-Lasandra case, the board felt that clemency should be exercised for the couple and will urge this on the governor-general.

NORTH POLE IN NEW LOCATION
 Earth is Wobbling on Its Axis and Greenland is Moving Westward

LONDON, Jan. 2.—The earth is wobbling on its axis, according to Colonel P. Jensen, the Danish scientist who returned recently from a degree measuring expedition into Greenland. He reports that Greenland is moving westward at the rate of 20 yards a year. This seems to confirm the recent reports of surprising climatic changes at the North Pole.
 It is now established that there is a periodic shifting of the latitude of the North Pole. The movement is difficult to detect because of the small area of the Pole—about the size of a tennis court. Some authorities say that the poles are gradually changing their positions, and that this alteration to the world's axis will in time mean that regions which are at present ice-bound will become warm and habitable countries.

MACKENZIE RETURNS
 Visit of Old Timer From South Recalls Famous Trek From Manson Creek

Among the passengers from the south this morning was George McKenzie, of Los Angeles, and formerly of the Bulkley Valley, who is on his way to Burns Lake on business. He is an old timer and is well known to all residents of the interior.
 Old timers recall a famous tramp of McKenzie's when he packed out a sack of coal from Manson Creek to Port Essington over twenty years ago. Manson Creek is two or three hundred miles east of Hazelton. McKenzie froze his feet on the trail and was pretty much all in when he reached his destination.

PRINCE GEORGE
 Deputy Attorney-General Carter acknowledged the receipt of the petition on behalf of Mrs. Charles F. Frye and states that the matter is being favorably considered although the original depositions have not reached him yet.
 Mayor Johnson, Alderman R. W. Alward and P. J. Moran are candidates for mayor here this year.
 S. J. Willis, superintendent of education, has advised D. G. Tate, city clerk, that the Prince George schools having passed the daily average attendance of 250 the city had created a city school district of the second class and the board of school trustees will now be composed of five trustees instead of three.
 Three women have been sentenced to terms of six months each in Okalla prison for violation of the Liquor Act here recently. The information was secured by Constables Dixon and Harrison, special operatives of the Board, Mrs. Phyllis Winn, Jewel Murray and Mrs. Mary Granston were the offenders. Bail was set at $1000 in each case and appeals will be entered, it is stated.
 An effort is being made to have Prince George represented at the big curling bonspiel which takes place at Edmonton on January 22.
 Judge and Mrs. Young have been visiting their son, A. McE. Young here.
 If you don't believe co-operation is necessary, watch what happens to a wagon when the wheels come off.
