NEW YORK YANKEES WON SECOND GAME WORLD'S SERIES THIS AFTERNOON

Babe Ruth's Home Runs and Pennock's Pitching Make American Victory

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Two home runs by Babe Ruth and Herb Pennock's southpaw pitching won the second game of the world's series today at the Polo Grounds for the New York Yankees by a score of four to two over the Giants. Ruth poled out two circuit clouts into the left field stands and these, together with two other runs, one a homer by Ward, were enough to beat the Giants.

While the Giants made nine hits they were unable to connect at the necessary times with Pennock and they scored only in the second and sixth innings.

Final Score—

	R.	H.	E.
Yankees	4	10	0
Giants	2	9	2

Batteries—Yankees: Pennock and Selang. Giants: McMillan and Snyder.

Contractor George Scott reported to the school board last night that the repair work on the Borden Street School was progressing well and that the building would be ready for occupation again by November 15. Half the foundation work was done and the cost had reached $1,500.

Members of the board felt that a good job was being done but Trustee Parker thought that the estimate of $3,000 would probably be exceeded.

CHILDREN FROM THE FAR NORTH

Much Interest Taken in Little Bessie and Teddy Jacobsen by Local Kiddies

LIFE IN ARCTIC CIRCLE

Capt. O'Kelly Tells in Interesting Manner How Eskimos Hunt Seal

The presence in the city of two children dressed partially in Eskimo clothes and having some of the Eskimo features caused a ripple of excitement among the youth of the city yesterday. Bessie and Teddy Jacobsen are on the way south from Kent Peninsula on the Hudson Bay Co.'s schooner Lady Kindersley, to be educated. They are bright youngsters and seem to be enjoying the trip immensely. They like the things that other children like, with the one exception of ice cream. That they do not relish.

Yesterday the children went shopping and visited some of the local stores and it was not long before crowds of city children were there curiously watching the visitors.

In their northern life these children had no real home, as it is understood here. The Eskimos live on seals and they have to build the winter igloo where the seals may be caught. They travel little, owing to the rough nature of the country which is all broken up by the severe winter weather.

Catching Seals

Capt. T. P. O'Kelly, who is in charge of the expedition, tells interestingly of the manner in which the seals are caught. The winter igloo of the Eskimo is built along one of the lanes between the masses of Arctic ice pack, as the ice is thinner in these lanes than elsewhere. There the seals make themselves air holes.

When the ice begins to freeze the seal breaks it with his nose and this breaking process is kept up in one place until, as the ice around thickens, there is a hole large enough for the seal to crawl into and breathe. Once the snow has covered this hole, he is safe for the winter, as it will not freeze very hard under the snow.

With the aid of a dog the Eskimo hunter finds one of these breathing holes and drives his spear into it in such a way that when the seal comes up to breathe he can send the spear through his body. He waits until the shaft of the spear begins to quiver and then he knows that the seal is below. The spear is driven home, the shaft comes out and the spear head with its strong barbs remains in the seal's body and is held by a tough thong fastened to the spear shaft.

Wife Fetches Carcass

When the seal is speared he has to be chopped out and this is a laborious task as the ice is very thick and hard. Once he is captured, the hunter cuts him open, eats his liver and then goes home to the igloo and sends the wife to fetch the prey home.

The seal is covered with a thick layer of blubber which keeps it warm. The Eskimos use this blubber for food, for lighting and heating the igloo. The hide is used for clothing and the seal meat is used as food for the Eskimos and the dogs. Also the bones of the creatures are utilized for weapons and hunting implements.

Delegations desiring to meet the President on railway matters concerning the west will be heard at Winnipeg in future, instead of being required to journey to Eastern Canada.

British Proposal to Finance Dominion Undertakings is Laid Before Imperial Council, London

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The British Government supplemented yesterday's offer of preferential treatment for the colonies by offering to extend to the Dominions the same system of subsidizing public works as they are now giving to British cities. The British government would guarantee the interest and capital invested in development schemes or advance a part of the interest on anticipated schemes if the overseas governments would hold some sort of joint responsibility and if the orders for material were placed in Britain.

Australia and Newfoundland favored the scheme.

Sir Lomer Gouin said he could not promise that all orders would go to Britain because Canadians would naturally want to get her chance at the business.

Discussion of the proposal was postponed for a week to permit of consideration.

KENNECOTT ABANDONED

Officers Standing by on Cordova—Copper Ore Cargo Is Lost

SEATTLE, Oct. 11.—Motorship Kennecott, ashore on Hippo Island north of the Queen Charlottes, has been abandoned according to a message from the steamer Cordova. Officers of the Kennecott are standing by on the Cordova but the crew has been taken to Ketchikan by the cutter Unalga.

Messages convey the impression that the motorship will be a total loss. She is leaking badly and has swung broadside to the beach exposed to heavy swells. Her cargo of forty thousand cases of salmon valued at $240,000 it is believed will be saved but the cargo of six thousand tons of copper ore will be lost.

Commissioner Frank Oliver is out in Favor of Equal Rates for this Province on Railways

OTTAWA, Oct. 11.—Hon. Frank Oliver, giving a minority decision dissenting from other members of the railway commission, says: "I am entirely in agreement with the contention of British Columbia and Alberta that the grain producer of the prairies, the bulk of whose product must find an export market, has a right to an equal per mile rate over the National Railways westward to Prince Rupert and Vancouver as has been given him by Parliament over the same system to the head of the lakes."

Mr. Oliver said he could not admit that because the Canadian Pacific cost over the mountain grades might justify higher rates, that similar higher rates are necessarily justified over the Canadian National, which was expressly built to avoid the excessive mountain haul.

BASEBALL RECEIPTS BROKE ALL RECORDS AT GAME YESTERDAY

Of the total sum received the players will get $92,775.12; each club gets $30,929.05 and the baseball commission gets $27,286.80.

FOREIGN POLICY IS TOPIC AGAIN

Economic Conference Studying This Matter Again—Empire Debts Next

DOMINION PREMIERS HONORED TOMORROW

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The main Imperial Conference today returned to consideration of Great Britain's foreign policy. An endeavor will be made to close the discussion on this topic this week so as to prepare the way for a discussion on Empire debts. Owing to the ceremony of conferring the freedom of the city of London on Premier King of Canada and Premier Bruce of Australia tomorrow, it is unlikely there will be a sitting.

Preliminary to the discussion on British preference and financial proposals in detail by the economic conference, experts representing the various Dominions are now engaged in an analysis of these matters.

LABOR FEDERATION AT PORTLAND ASKS FOR BEER AND WINE

Would Like to Have Volstead Act Modified Because of Poisonous Liquor Sold

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 11.—The American Federation of Labor went on record yesterday as favoring a modification of the Volstead Act to permit Americans to get beer and light wines instead of poisonous liquor. A delegate from the glass workers union said the manufacture of whiskey glasses had greatly increased since the advent of prohibition.

The milkmen's delegate said milk bottles were difficult to get for that reason.

"There Were Many Things Which I Could Not Eat"

Mrs. H. Robert Wells, English Harbour, Trinity Bay, Nfld., writes:

"I was troubled with nervous dyspepsia—so much so that there were a great many things I could not eat at all on account of the distressed feeling afterwards. I used many different remedies, but they did me little good. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills, and was surprised at the relief this combined treatment gave me in such a short time."

Railway Rates

Reduction Welcome.

While the railway rates reduction, as announced yesterday, is very welcome and will tend to help us in our request for an elevator, Premier John Oliver explains that it is not the granting of the appeal of the province for complete equalization of rates between the west and east. British Columbia is still being discriminated against in the matter of general merchandise and the judgment of the privy council must be awaited in regard to this matter.

Hon. Frank Oliver Friend Of The West.

It did not take Hon. Frank Oliver long to express himself on the matter of railway rates after he was appointed to the Railway Commission. A report received today quotes him as saying that the rate westward to Prince Rupert and Vancouver should be the same as for a similar distance eastward.

In the appointment of Hon. Frank Oliver to the Railway Commission we see another evidence of the friendliness of the present government toward the west and its determination to uphold the Canadian National Railway.

Real Service To Community.

There are in the city two service clubs and a good many fraternal and other organizations, all organized with the idea of serving either all or a portion of the community. These are all excellent in their way and are worth a good deal to the community, especially in creating a spirit of good fellowship.

The person who sells groceries or drygoods or any other commodity and does it in such a way as to give the greatest possible service at the lowest possible price is really helping to build up the city. The person who organizes or carries on a factory, mill, fish plant or any other industry which helps to make this a centre of commercial life and at the same time serves the people of the continent in providing them with good food or clothes or necessities of life, is giving the very best service possible.

CHANGE SYSTEM OF COMPETITION FOR STUDENTS AT FAIR

Superintendent H. S. Burn expressed dissatisfaction at last night's school board meeting at the manner in which school competitions had been conducted at the recent exhibition. He felt that the plan of having the classes of the various schools competing with one another as groups should be discontinued.

Principal Brady also felt that the system employed this year had been unsatisfactory. It was not even representative of the class work for one student might put in several drawings. He suggested that there might be a display of class work in the schools before the close of the spring term and that the exhibition should feature individual effort.

The question was left by the board with the teachers to take up with the Fair Board.

ATTENDANCE AT HIGH SCHOOL HIGHEST YET

Principal Brady Reports to School Board That 119 Students are Enrolled - 43 in First Year

Principal Brady reported at the meeting of the school board last night that there were 119 students attending the High School, the largest number since the High School had been opened in the city. Girls were in the majority numbering nearly 80. There were 43 students taking first year work and some 20 in the commercial class.

The first year class was somewhat congested but he would not suggest breaking it up at this time until it was ascertained how the pupils were getting along. Doing so would require the engaging of another teacher.

Trustee McLennan expressed gratification at the increased number of pupils in the High School. It reflected growth of the population of the city.

NORTHERN BRANCH OF TRUSTEES' ASSOCIATION

School Trustee Casey Urges Advantages of Such Organization and Would Have Convention at Early Date

Expressing the belief that such an organization would prove of great benefit to educational interests in this part of the province, Trustee Casey urged at the meeting of the school board last night that efforts should be continued with a view to establishing a branch of the B.C. School Trustees' Association with Prince Rupert as its centre point.

Some time ago the board decided to invite other boards in the district to participate in such a move but it was impossible to get in touch with them all. Secretary Vance stated that he would take the matter up with Inspector Fraser and try to communicate with the various secretaries.

Mr. Casey felt that a convention should be held here before the next session of the legislature convened if possible.

HALL CAINE'S BIG STORY IS SHOWING HERE

"The Christian" is One of Most Dramatic Tales Ever Told and Film is Fine

Selfishness, superstition and bigotry are almost as rampant today as two thousand years ago. This is shown in "The Christian" a story by Sir Hall Caine and pictured this week at the Westholme Theatre.

The story opens on the Isle of Man, where John Storm and Glory Quayle have lived since childhood. Polly Love and her brother Paul complete a quartette of playmates. John, only 18, barely realizes his love for Glory when Lord Storm, his father, sends him on a trip around the world in order to prepare him for the political life for which he had been educated.

Four years later, John Storm returns and finds Glory grown to a beautiful young lady, and unhappy in the poor cottage of her grandfather, the vicar. Polly comes down from London, and suggests that Glory escape from uncongenial surroundings by becoming a nurse in the London hospital where Polly works. John Storm announces to Glory and his father that he has become a Christian Socialist, and will enter the church, renouncing all worldly preferment and gain. His decision is a terrible blow to his father, and a great disappointment to Glory, who hates poverty and loves beautiful clothes and possessions.

Glory enters the hospital, and John the Church. Both in service and in love with each other, their paths diverge, because of the different spirit in which they work. Polly, meanwhile, has been betrayed by Lord Robert Ure, a trustee of the hospital. Horatio Drake, discovers in Glory a talent for acting, and offers to sponsor her on the stage. John has become chaplain of the hospital, in order to be near Glory. When he sees how Polly is condemned by the board, he resigns from the hospital and from the Church. Finding that Glory will not give up Drake and the worldly set, John bids her goodby and enters a monastery.

Renounces Vows But even here, torn between his ideals and his love for Glory, he finds no peace. Renouncing his vows and coming back to the world, he finds Glory a star on the stage and the toast of London. He remonstrates with her, and points out her danger, but she does not see it his way. He decides that his work is to help fallen girls, and opens a mission, to which Polly comes to die. She is survived by her baby, which John arranges to have adopted by Lady Robert Ure, thus incurring his Lordship's enmity.

This leads to a plan to ruin John's work to tearing down the Mission and replacing it with a music hall for Glory's use. Lord Robert expects to use for this purpose the winnings of his entry in the Derby. Meanwhile, Lord Robert is having circulated a report that Father Storm has predicted the destruction of London at midnight on Derby Day. John denies this, but Lord Robert, rich and influential, keeps the rumor afloat by paid agents.

Derby Day Derby Day arrives and John goes to Epsom, where he tries to speak to the people for the good of their souls. Meantime, many devout and credulous are giving away their worldly goods and preparing for the last hour. Lord Robert's horse wins the race. That evening, a big dinner is given in Glory's honor, while crowds are gathering in the squares of London to await the end. John, in a religious frenzy.

Make the Rinso liquid first

Do not put Rinso direct from the package into the tub. Mix half a package of Rinso in a little cool water until it is like cream. Then add two quarts of boiling water, and when the froth subsides, you will have a clean amber-colored liquid. Add this liquid to the wash tub, until you get the big lasting Rinso suds. Then soak the clothes clean.

NOTE: In hard water it takes from 1 to 2 packages of Rinso to a tub to make good suds. In very hard water you will need from 3 to 4 packages to a tub to get the big lasting suds that loosen all the dirt.

Reimar Remidav is Preparing Way For Immigration of Swedes to This Province

"There are 120,000 people out of employment in Sweden today, and Canada needs home makers, people with a little money who would be willing to settle on the land. That is the class of people we propose to bring here," said Reimar Remidav, B.A., editor of the Swedish Canada News and representing also the publishers of Norrona, a Norwegian paper also published at Winnipeg.

Mr. Remidav is passing through here on his way to Victoria to interview the government in regard to immigration matters and conditions of settlement. He is returning to Alberta and then to Winnipeg for Christmas, after which he will return to this district and will visit the outlying parts, investigating conditions and writing articles for his paper in regard to the opportunities offering here. He sends 6,000 copies of his paper to Sweden every week for free distribution in connection with immigration.

British Columbia is like Sweden, according to Mr. Remidav. People who come here from Sweden do not want to be pap fed. All they need is a sporting chance to enable them to make good. They adopt a new country like adopting a wife, but they still revere the mother.

WHO DECIDES ON ACTIVITIES

Will Work for Improvement Conditions at Salt Lakes Also Help Hospital

AIR SKATING RINK IS PROPOSED

Movements at the Salt Lakes are the special object in view of the bathing facilities for children and making the latter than it is at the present time. One of the items on the program for future public activities of the Prince Rupert Gyro Club, which was discussed and discussed at the regular club luncheon at the St. Regis Cafe last night. Material assistance to the Rupert General Hospital another cause that it was discussed. Committees further into the matter of ways and means of raising money for the work at the Salt Lakes, which include the providing of needed equipment, it is proposed to establish an open skating rink this winter on N.R. property lying on the between the station and the offices. The club intends to have carnivals and hockey and the ground may be so that it may be used in summer as tennis courts, will be charged and the proceeds will go towards the fund to be established for work at Salt Lake. The executive committee in a report on the matter a committee comprising Holby, W. W. Wright, Stork, Roy Nicholls and Grey was appointed to go fully into the matter and report. Approval of local C.N.R. to the undertaking has been obtained providing, of that the property will be available when it may be required by the company.

In Aid of Hospital

Matter of assisting the hospital was brought up by Pres. Gonzalez who suggested funds might be raised in the future by means of a concert. It had been reported that the hospital this year had need of financial assistance more than it had been in the past. Sterilizers in the operating room had to be changed, and in the electric were necessary and supplies of linens must be replaced. The filling of these items was being hampered by lack of funds as the result this year was not nearly as good as last year. While members as a body were in favor of doing everything possible to aid the hospital, there was some division of opinion as to how this might best be achieved. Some favored the holding of a concert while others felt that a play or farce with talent might take more to the public. S. K. Bell felt that something should be done by the club in its life more pleasant for the members of the hospital. After considerable discussion, the matter was left in the hands of a committee comprising S. K. Bell, W. F. Roberge, Dr. L. W. Virgin, E. Valentine and Fred Pringle to report back at next meeting of the club.

Address by Wright

In connection with the subject of the club's future activities, Wright delivered an address on the ideals and objects of the club. He expressed the opinion that the principle of friendship and cooperation could best be obtained by working together on projects for the public good. It would be better to undertake a humble work and to do it than to embark on some ambitious proposition the successful accomplishment of which would be dubious. Above all it was his opinion that each Gyro individually put his very best effort into anything that was undertaken and that the body work with the spirit of corps.

In the course of the evening, the matter of starting a club was left in the hands of S. K. Bell and W. J. Nelson. President Milton Gonzalez was in the chair.

THEOLOGY LOST EVERY BATTLE WITH SCIENCE

So Says Canon Barnes of Westminster Preaching at Liverpool Cathedral

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 11.—Canon Barnes of Westminster, preached at Liverpool Cathedral. It was a commonplace, he said, that all religions, even though their formularies and sacred books seemed to guarantee absence of change, were constantly modified. Unless religion was moribund it was dynamic and not static. It was a living process within the spirit of man and as such it was affected by the ideas and emotions of the community in which it existed. Religious thought and feeling alike were influenced for good or ill, by contemporary political, social, and intellectual movements.

Opposed by Leaders

Canon Barnes emphasized the gain to Christianity which had come from secular progress external to itself. The assumptions and methods of science, he said, had affected the whole outlook of educated men. In particular those branches of science which were concerned with physics and biology had radically changed our conceptions both of the structure of the visible universe and also of the development of life upon this earth. The effect of the scientific movement, alike on organized religion and on private faith, had been prodigious. Under any circumstances it would have been far-reaching. But unfortunately representative Christian leaders, with the eager support of their communities, opposed the new scientific conceptions as they appeared. Science was then compelled to fight for autonomy on its own territory; and, as Dr.

Hobson had said in his Gifford lectures, the result had been a prolonged struggle in which theology had lost every battle. As a consequence it was now widely believed by the populace that Christianity itself had been worsted.

Mythological Accretions

At least a generation must pass before it was generally recognized that, with regard to religion, science was neutral. Educated men knew that the traditional representation of the Christian faith must be shorn of what had become mythological accretions. But Christianity resembled a biological organism with a racial future. In the struggle for existence it gained strength and power by utilizing its environment. It sought both freedom from old limitations and increased mastery of hostile forces. Amid all change its essential character was preserved, for it rested on historical facts combined with permanent intuitions and continually repeated experiences of all human spirit. It must never be forgotten that all human activity, and not merely those aspects which they called science and religion, rested upon improved and improvable assumptions. Faith, however, was a necessity of existence. Zealots sometimes contended that there was a moral value in blind faith, but the modern world, so far as it had fallen under the sway of scientific method, demanded that faith should be reasonable and not blind.

Universal Mind

As they passed from science to philosophy and religion, they had to assume the existence of a universal mind in order to bind together the sequences of phenomena which science observed and described. Then, as the basis of religious faith, they further assumed that the values which they instinctively deemed supreme expressed the quality of that mind to whom all natural process was due. Just as there was a unity between the human mind and the processes of nature—a unity which made science possible—so there was a unity between the moral and aesthetic judgments of the human spirit and the God to whom that spirit owed its creation. Through these processes God revealed Himself. It was a fact that, by loyalty to the highest ideals implanted within us, we experienced the certainty that nothing could separate us from the love of God.

Obsolete Dogmas

Science had given a new conception of what they meant by reasonable faith. In doing so it had strikingly altered the way in which they approached religion. Some old modes of argument and their attendant dogmas had rapidly become obsolete. Among religious communities there was, in consequence, much confusion, some bitterness, fear of change combined with recognition of its necessity. Theological thought, which claimed to be scientific and was still widely accepted, preserved bad traditions. The dogmatic inconsequence of much current religious apologies was painful.

Canon Barnes concluded by saying that scientists could do much to help the community in the period through which we were passing, and he urged them to take every opportunity to set forth their religious ideals and to show how in their minds Christianity and science reacted.

CANADIAN NATIONAL OPENS ONE OF WORLD'S LARGEST RAILWAY YARDS FOR GRAIN

Some idea of the extent of the Neebing Terminal opened at Fort William this fall by the Canadian National Railways is given by the above pictures, showing part of the 43 miles trackage with capacity for 2,000 cars. This new terminal is doing much to minimize the possibility of grain car congestion on Canadian National lines at the head of the lakes; expedite delivery of grain to elevators for shipment down the lakes and also the movement of other "loads" and "empties" both east and west and thus further improve the transportation service provided. Views shown are as follows:

- 1.—Classification yard looking eastward from the "hump."
- 2.—Twenty-four stall round-house with electrically operated turntable in the foreground.
- 3.—View from center of the classification yard, showing car coming from "hump."
- 4.—Eight and one-half million bushel elevator at Port Arthur, owned by Canadian National Railway, the picture showing grain going into elevator from cars at one end and being loaded on boat at the other.
- 5.—The "hump," where the force of gravity is the only power used in placing cars in the classification tracks assigned to them. Two cars have just been released and are shown on their way to classification yard.

NO CONFLICT WITH SCIENCE

Is but One System of Truth Says Sir Oliver Lodge in Address at Presbyterian Church

INCIPIENT DIETY

LONDON, Oct. 11. (by mail) — A striking address was given by Sir Oliver Lodge at Sefton Park Presbyterian Church.

He recalled that fifty years ago there was supposed to be conflict between religion and science. Fifty years back he was present at meetings of the British Association, when great men like Huxley and Tyndall dealt with certain discoveries and indicated their view of the universe. At that time it seemed to be hardly realized that one system of truth could not be in opposition to another system, and it was probable that scientific men enthusiastically engaged in the pursuit of truth hardly realized there were other avenues than their own. Mistakes were doubtless made on both sides.

Revelation of Sky

space, and said that the same system of law and order ran through all the magnitude of the universe. The same laws of physics held throughout, and the same chemical elements existed in the most distant star. Chemical analyses of the stars he described as a wonderful achievement, while the size of the stars as recently discovered had been a revelation. The sun was a gigantic body compared with the earth, but it was known as a dwarf among the stars. Beyond the stars we see were clusters, innumerable, which were an indication of other universes beyond and outside our own—not exactly other universes, but other stellar systems. Our stellar system was the Milky Way, consisting of millions of worlds, but beyond and away in the depth of space were other systems, perhaps larger, and so on without end. It was a revelation of the infinitely big. Then there was the revelation of the infinitely small—the atom and its structure, about which they had heard in Sir Ernest Rutherford's presidential address.

Hampered by Ancestry

Among the immensities man might appear insignificant, and he was hampered by his animal ancestry. He had much to contend against and overcome. Sometimes he seemed evil and ugly, but he was immature. He was in the process of making. Man was a comparatively recent comer on the planet, and was as yet far from perfect, but he had in him the seeds of majesty. He was a being endowed with a free will, and not like a mechanism, constrained to go right. He had the power of going wrong, and he utilized that power to his own hurt. If he had not that power, however, he would not have a kinship with Divinity. Man was related on his bodily side to the animals, but on his mental and spiritual side he had some incipient kinship with Deity. He had infinite possibilities of development, and when the work was completed through the slow process of the ages we should see that the product was worth all the labor and sacrifice, and pain which seemed to have been necessary to bring it about, and thereby to create a creature who went right because he so willed, and not because he must.
