BAD BLIZZARD TIES UP TRAFFIC IN GOTHAM

TELKWA BUSINESS MAN IS OPTIMISTIC OVER OUTLOOK FOR COMING SEASON

New York Suffers from Worst Snowstorm There in Years: Howling Gale

NEW YORK, March 8.—One of the worst snowstorms of the year overtook this city yesterday, tying up traffic both on the streets and in the harbor. It was accompanied by a howling gale that caused discomfort and suffering and resulted in many accidents.

When the blizzard abated, the bodies of two people who had been frozen to death were found in snowbanks within the city limits. Another person slipped from the icy platform at the railway station falling under a train and was killed. Several people were injured from falling down.

It took the efforts of ten thousand men shovelling snow to clear the main streets of the city so that traffic could proceed.

The condition in the harbor was just as bad as on land. It remained at the quarantine station afraid to enter the harbor in the howling gale.

SCHOOL REPORT FOR FEBRUARY

Attendance Totals 671—Cases of Absence May Have to be Dealt With

The report of H. L. Campbell, superintendent of public schools, for the month of February submitted to the school board last night showed a total attendance of 671 children divided among the several schools as follows:

Boys, Girls,
Booth School	204 165
Borden Street	129 123
Seal Cove	30 23

Totals . . . . . 360 311

Mr. Campbell reported that action might be necessary in regard to parents who persisted in keeping children at home. The board asked for a further report on the matter.

Daily instruction in health rules was being given in the schools.

Speaking on the difficulties of conducting nature study here, Mr. Campbell suggested that 250 plants be ordered from Vancouver for the pupils and that the results be exhibited at the Fall Fair. The idea was favorably received by the board and the suggestion was also made that garden plots might also be developed at the schools. The matter was left in Mr. Campbell's hands for further investigation.

Inspector's Report

In connection with Mr. Campbell's report, a report from Inspector Fraser on the progress and work in the schools was also read. This report said the work was much improved over last year and was especially complimentary to Mr. Campbell's work of supervision. There was an ever growing solidarity and uniformity apparent and good methods were being employed with valuable supervision. The general progress was satisfactory. Arithmetic, which was criticized last year, showed improvement. The teaching staff included several excellent teachers, and, generally speaking, good service was being given. Mr. Fraser questioned the policy of having school go in at 9 o'clock all the year round and suggested that, especially where the smaller children were concerned, the hour of 9.30 as set by the department might be reverted to in the months of December and January.

Interior Mining Prospects Look Better Than Ever Before Says McNeil; Activity Dome Mountain

As far as mining is concerned the situation looks more prosperous than ever in the history of the Telkwa district according to J. J. McNeill, well known resident of that place who arrived last night from the interior enroute to Vancouver on a fortnight's business trip.

Twenty-five men are now working at the Dome Mountain mine recently taken over by the Guggenheims. Mr. McNeill says, Henry Lee, the manager, expects to get boilers, engines and compressor to the mine over the snow before the break-up comes.

Mr. McNeill stated that nothing definite was yet to be learned in the interior regarding the rumor that Trites & Taylor, of Fernie, had acquired the Babine Bonanza mine from James Cronin. If no such deal has been made, Mr. Cronin should arrive soon from Spokane.

The bridge over the Telkwa River connecting the Betty coal mine with the railway at Telkwa has been completed, Mr. McNeill said, and coal is now being shipped from the mine. Six men are employed under the direction of John Gillespie.

There is not a single idle man in or around Telkwa, Mr. McNeill declared.

The settlers have pretty well finished their tie contracts. Most of the ranchers had individual contracts and they made good on them, the work having helped them out considerably in view of that fact that last year's crop was light. A few new settlers are coming in this spring taking up land around Walcott east of Telkwa.

Mr. McNeill sails for the south coast of the Prince Rupert tomorrow morning.

HOUSING SCHEME CAUSED DEFEAT

This is Explanation of Conservatives Defeat in By-Elections

LONDON, March 8.—Many Conservatives in the House of Commons appear to think that the housing question was the sole cause of the defeat of the three members of the Bonar Law government in the by-elections recently. It is thought that matters will go more smoothly once a clear-cut housing policy is announced.

Other quarters, however, regard the recent labor victories as definite indication that the labor parties are considering their relations to one another. If this view is correct there may be a revival of the coalition idea.

Fisheries Report Before Parliament.

While the Fisheries report as submitted to Parliament seems to be much like the forecasts given out at the close of the session of the commission, it indicates that in spite of adverse influences the commission has stuck to its guns and is insisting on changes in the fishery laws. What success they will have when it comes to implementing the report in legislation remains to be seen.

Fred Stork, member for Skeena, who was a member of the commission, is likely to be very insistent in regard to the changes which it is recommended shall be made and so will William Duff and other members.

Journalism

That Does Things.

The following editorial is from "Editor and Publisher." Journalism is thinking for itself once more. It is shaking off the coils that prejudice and propaganda shackled it during the last decade. The signs have been increasingly frequent during the past twelve months, but they are unmistakable in the successful efforts the American press is making to place before its readers the news of an ancient civilization that is being uncovered in Egypt. That work is real journalism.

Its proportion as a news-getting achievement can be realized when it is considered that America is reading at its breakfast table column upon column—not skeletonized stickfuls inflated into lengthy stories—of informative, tightly-packed, well-written and well-edited cables of events that had taken place less than 24 hours before. In addition to the excellent dispatches furnished by the regular press associations, the newspapers of America are publishing daily column-long cables written by expert Egyptologists in daily contact with the men who have put years of labor and study into the search for the tombs of Tut-Ankh-Amen and the 18th Dynasty of Egypt's Kings. Their stories are of the highest educational value and are being used daily as texts for school children to whom Egyptian history has been as dry as the dust in the Luxor caves. And the story is worth a dozen pornographic divorce cases as a builder of circulation.

Mechanical Difficulties Were Overcome.

Mechanically, the feat of delivering this volume of cable from an isolated point far up the Nile is unprecedented. The sleepy town of Luxor, without a morning newspaper of its own, reads of events in the Valley of the Kings when reports cabled to England and America are recabled for the local afternoon papers. A single telegraph line, owned by the Egyptian Government and probably manned by native operators, carries the Luxor file to Cairo, where it is taken over by the Eastern Telegraph Company. From London or Paris cable points the news proceeds over regular trans-Atlantic lines. Nothing has come from Luxor on the difficulty of handling such a daily volume of "press" with meagre facilities, but American cable and telegraph experts declare that the Luxor-Cairo line must be working full speed 24 hours a day. On days when no great discoveries are noted, the news takes the usual course of press matter, but when the dramatic entrance to the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen came, economy was forgotten in the rush to flash developments to the world. Those bulletins, every few moments, came through at urgent rates, 4,500 miles from Luxor to America, relating in less than the flick of an eyelid what had been hidden since 15 centuries before Christ.

There has been a healthy rivalry among the correspondents on the Nile, some slight dissatisfaction with the arrangements for making the news available. That was inevitable. But there has been no hesitancy on the part of American newspapers and news associations in realizing a big story and in assigning to it the men best qualified to report what transpired. The achievement is a body blow at the theories of Prof. Usher and other smart alecks that the newspapers of America depend upon smut and slush to hold their readers and that their cable news is the product of a 10-line bulletin and a healthy bicycle pump.

SECOND SCHOOL AUDIT IS ASKED

Resolution Passed by School-Board Last Night Calls on Contractor to Produce Books

The school board passed a resolution last night calling upon Col. McMorde to produce his accounts in connection with construction of the Booth Memorial School so that a complete audit may be made. This action was taken following the refusal of Col. McMorde to submit to a second audit of his books by George Rorie as had been decided upon previously by the board.

In communicating to the board in regard to the matter, Col. McMorde stated that before he had been released from his contract an audit had been made and his accounts had been found correct and all parties had been shown to have been paid according to the vouchers. Therefore, unless evidence was submitted to him that this audit had not been proper and correct there would be no further evidence as far as he was concerned.

C. V. Evitt, who had made the audit, appeared by request before the board and explained the extent of the audit, after which it was decided by the board that it had not been complete enough. The resolution passed was as follows: "That in the opinion of the board the audit of Mr. Evitt does not give the information in detail pertaining to the expenditure of money in connection with the construction of the school necessary for the enlightenment of the board and the public and it is desirable to have a complete audit from beginning to end of all accounts and, furthermore, the purpose is not moved with any suspicion of fraud but to clear the situation in order to make as clear and concise an explanation as possible to the public."

Report on Audit

In reporting on his audit, Mr. Evitt stated that he had examined the vouchers and comparing them with the monthly statements submitted to the board had found that the disbursements had been made correctly. He had not understood that he was to make a complete audit but had simply examined the checks as approved by the board showing the accounts had been actually paid. The only information he had was that the money paid by the board to Col. McMorde had been paid to the persons intended. His audit covered the entire period of construction. Col. McMorde had given him all the information he had asked for and had shown all the accounts he wanted.

Dr. Kergin explained that the school board had not seen all the invoices but had simply paid out according to Architect Potter's statements. There was no check on actual disbursements except by Mr. Potter's statements which did not cover all the requirements now wanted.

Wanted to Know

Trustee Casey said that some $300,000 had been spent on the school. What he wanted was to know how this money had been spent. He wanted a detailed statement of expenditure covering labor and material. He could not see any comprehensive statement in Mr. Evitt's report.

Dr. Kergin said that the board had nothing more than Mr. Potter's statements. There was no way of getting the information now required other than from Col. McMorde's accounts.

Mr. Casey asked if Mr. Evitt could revise his audit to give the information required to which Mr. Evitt replied this would be impossible for he did not have the information himself.

There was further discussion of a technical nature which resulted in the passing of the resolution as stated. In case, Col. McMorde still refuses to produce his books, it was decided to have the committee in charge of the matter of the audit take steps immediately to convene the board in special session. This committee consists of Dr. Kergin, Mr. McLennan and Mr. Montgomery.

Word has been received from Ed. Brown, who is now in Seattle. He says he will be up here this spring. Things are quiet there and he hopes to see Prince Rupert on the up grade when he arrives.

HOLLINGER GOLD MINE IN NORTHERN ONTARIO IS WORLD'S GREATEST

How many know that the greatest gold mine in the world is in Northern Ontario asks a Canadian National information publication. It is the Hollinger and is located at Timmins, 500 miles north of Toronto. It has become the leading gold producer within the last few months. For two years it had been running a close race with its nearest rival the new Modderfontein of the Rand, South Africa; but is now steadily forging ahead, figures issued by the Ontario Department of Mines show, and may now be regarded as the greatest gold mine in the world. ### in the Remedy for Present ills Declares Famous Statesman

LONDON, March 7.—Viscount Grey of Fallodon delivered the Hart Grey Memorial Lecture at the Armstrong College, Newcastle, today, and reflected that politics were much more simple than now. The dominating question then was the simple one of the extension of the franchise, which was then as the complete abandonment of representative government based on the house of suffrage. The issue was simple. There was then no distinction between Liberals and Conservatives. In those countries democratic government was not regarded as an ideal. He did not take what happened in Russia as an instance, because Russia had never had democratic representation and, therefore, had a trial, it could not be discarded. But what was significant in Italy was that a democratic government, but quite recently it had been superseded by some-thing which, no doubt, must have regular support behind it, but which was based not on parliamentary election, but on organized force. For some time, it was that system of government which was regarded as ideal in this country had been suspended in Italy.

May Go Down

It may be possible, under the conditions and chaos in Europe, that the representative government might go down for a time in favor of some other system, under the stress of circumstances. One heard of many people here who questioned democratic representative government in a way in which it was never questioned before. Personally, he was as attached to democratic representative government as he has ever been. He considered the guarantee of democratic representative government in this country was that the government selected by the popular vote, was dependent, day by day, on the confidence of the representatives of the people.

Much of the shortcoming of democratic government, he said, is due to the fact that public opinion was not necessarily statesmanlike. The most important question at the moment was the relations between Capital and Labor. He thought that the majority of people, while they were deeply impressed with the view

Many people become run down, but can't know just exactly what their trouble is, when, as a rule, it is improper circulation of the blood.

All they need is a good tonic to build up the system and put the blood into proper shape.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

It regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system.

Mrs. B. Poole, Port Dover, Ont., writes: "My system was run down and my blood out of order, and I suffered a great deal from pains in my head which made me feel very miserable. A friend told me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got a bottle and before I was used I found it was doing me good. I kept on until I had taken three, and now I feel like a different woman."

My husband also took it and it has built him up."

that the relations between Capital and Labor were not satisfactory, were not yet of opinion that nationalization would make things better, and that, though attempts ought to be made to change them, they looked for the change in their directions.

Labor's Claims

Referring to the claim that labor desired security against unemployment, a status and a maximum share possible of the profits of industry, he said that in regard to the former he believed that the best way would be insurance by the great trade themselves. A share in the management was very important, but it could not be dealt with by parliament. It must be dealt with by statesmanship on the part of the employers and the employed. The question of wages was again a question which could not be settled by the State, but must be settled between the great organized bodies of employers and Labor together. Those questions were all questions which required great statesmanship, just as much as was required for domestic problems which could be dealt with by parliament. If the great need was statesmanship in democracy, what was the remedy? The remedy was education; not primary, not secondary education, but adult education which one could gain oneself after getting the best primary and secondary education.

A committee consisting of Mr. Casey and Mr. Parker was delegated by the school board last night to award the contract for the year's school supplies.

Image of King is One of Best Finds in Outer Tomb Tutankhamen

LUXOR, Egypt, March 8. — Of all the fine things found in the outer room of the disturbed resting place of King Tutankhamen, the finest, from the antiquarian standpoint, is the "Ushabti," a small image of the king himself. That, at least, is the opinion of Lord Carnarvon.

The "Ushabti," or "Answerer," showing the definite monarch in the guise of Osiris, was customarily placed in royal tombs with an inscription stating that the image was prepared to do any work imposed upon it. Then the tomb was sealed so tightly nobody could get to the "Ushabti," and request it to do something.

Back in what Tutankhamen may, in his language, have referred to as the good old days of yore, the Pharaoh, when he died, was accompanied to the underworld by a slave, sacrificed during the royal funeral ceremonies. In more "modern" times the slave was allowed to live and Ushabti was substituted for him. This was done in the case of Tutankhamen.

King Tutankhamen took some of his money with him when he died, but it was gone and his purse, also, when the outer chamber was opened by Howard Carter. The archaeologists were quite sad about this, for they believe there is only one example of such a purse in existence.

LARGEST BENTONITE DEPOSIT IN WORLD

Located at Rosedale, Alberta, on Line of C.N.R. near Drumheller

In a speech delivered by him before the Calgary Board of Trade, Professor Piteher, professor of mining at the University of Alberta, Edmonton, stated that one of the purest deposits of bentonite in the world had been found at Rosedale, Alberta, situated on the Canadian National railway near Drumheller. There are millions of tons of it in Alberta he said, and its proper development would mean a fortune for the company taking the work in hand. Bentonite is a hard, rock-like substance, which swells greatly when exposed to water. It is used in soap making, is a base for thermoplastic, and is used as a sort of mud massage by barbers. It is also used as lubricant, with other constituents.

So Suggests Correspondent of London Times in Article on Order

Seven years ago a band of thirty-four men set up a fiery cross on the summit of a mountain overlooking Atlanta, Georgia, and, garbed in white robes and peaked hoods concealing all but their eyes, swore fantastic and complicated oaths. So was the Ku-Klux Klan reborn says the New York correspondent of the London Times. The leader of the band was William J. Simmons—"Colonel" Simmons by grace of Southern courtesy—a former Methodist minister. They made him "Imperial Wizard." He was a strenuous supporter of the doctrine of goodness by force.

With great energy he set to work to build up his organization. Within a week he had secured a charter for the Klan from the Superior Court of Fulton County. Its purpose, the Court was told, was "to inculcate the sacred principles of chivalry, the development of character, the protection of the home, the chastity of womanhood and patriotism," and "to maintain white supremacy." There was no mention of the maintenance of the doctrine of chivalry, the development of character, the protection of the home, the chastity of womanhood and patriotism; that was to come later.

Punishing Offenses

At first the Ku-Klux Klan, which spread rapidly through the Southern States, seemed to be interested only in punishing minor infractions of the moral code, mainly among the negroes, but by degrees it took shape as an anti-Roman Catholic organization, which professed to see in the activities of the Knights of Columbus and other Roman Catholic associations an effort to bring the United States under the rule of the Vatican.

About two years ago masked and hooded men in characteristic costume of the Klan began a series of outrages in the States of Texas and Louisiana. Men and women touched by the breath of scandal were taken from their homes in the middle of the night and severely beaten, sometimes tarred and feathered. Even when the perpetrators of some of these deeds were caught it was impossible to obtain their conviction before a jury, so terrified were the townsfolk of the "Knights of the Invisible Realm."

National Scandal

The unpunished crimes began to be a national scandal; and when in the summer of 1922 two men were seized in Mer Rouge, Louisiana, and carried away, never to be seen alive again, the United States Government began an investigation. It is still going on. The bodies of the two men were recovered from a lake, fastened by steel wire to iron cartwheels. There was evidence that they had been horribly tortured before being killed, fed, it would seem, into the maws of a machine of some sort. Responsibility of the Ku-Klux Klan for the murder has not yet been definitely established, though the weight of circumstantial evidence is strong.

The Klan has probably a million members, three-quarters of them in the Southern States. It claims a membership of 160 in the halls of Congress. There is no reason to believe that as an order it advocates violence to attain the objects set forth in its charter application. What has happened to it is just what happened to the original order; it has got out of the control of its founders. As a political influence it can claim to have elected a United States Senator from Texas, and to have eliminated denominational schools from Oregon. Otherwise the results of its activities have been politically unimportant.

ENJOYABLE WHIST DRIVE AT WESTVIEW

A very enjoyable whist drive was held at home of Mrs. McRobbie, Atlin Avenue, Westview, on Thursday night, at which the following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Anderson, Mrs. Prendergast, Mrs. J. Watson, Mrs. J. Sutherland, J. Sutherland, Miss N. Holmberg, Mrs. Eldred, Mrs. Alex. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. T. Pederson, Mrs. J. N. Morin, Mr. and Mrs. J. Munro, Mrs. J. A. Smith, Miss H. Sims,

Mrs. Wm. Brown, Mrs. M. Smith, Miss B. Munro, Mrs. McRobbie, L. Arroll.

There were six tables and the prize winners were Mrs. Wm. Brown and J. Munro. Consolation prize winners, Mrs. Pederson and Wm. Anderson.

Sport Chat

Present plans for the forthcoming football season in the city indicate that there will be a four club Senior League like last year but whether this plan will be carried out seems yet a little doubtful. It is said that the Sons of Canada and Sons of England are pretty well organized already and the Callies will also be in the running. Some doubt has been expressed in regard to the ability of the Grotto fielding a team but Bert Morgan says plans are being made with that end in view. Some fans say it will be lucky if there are three teams. Certainly there will be no more than four.

Like other lines of sport in the city, the ranks of football have been affected by the loss of several good players leaving the city since last season and this condition makes 1923 planning somewhat difficult. The younger element will be called upon this season to fill up the vacancies. In fact there is a strong feeling that more attention should be paid to the younger men and

ICE BREAKER SMASHES WAY
Worst Season in Many Years Between Canada and Newfoundland

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., March 8.—(By Canadian Press.)—The car ferry Prince Edward Island, the link which connects the island with the mainland of Canada, is having the hardest fight of her career, this memorable winter, to maintain her service across the ice-choked Northumberland Straits.

Captain John L. Read, the steamer's master, who commanded icebreakers in Hudson Bay and twice took Canadian icebreakers to the White Sea during the war for the Russian government, is finding the ice heavier in the Straits this winter than it was in those northern waters. Many times in the past months he has not had four hours rest in 24. Once recently he worked forty-three hours without rest, slept two hours, and started on another twenty-four hours' shift.

Captain Read is a son of the Captain Joseph Read who represented Prince, P.E.I., in the Federal House after the 1917 elections, and who, after his death, was succeeded in the constituency by the present premier.

In summer the Prince Edward Island makes her nine mile run in less than an hour but since the first of January she has often been twelve to twenty-four hours smashing her way across.

Passengers who before the car ferry days crossed the same route in the small steel runnered mail boats which they had to help pull across the Straits, and pay for the privilege of so doing, or who had been caught for days or weeks on the icebreakers Stanley Minto or Earl Grey on the Pictou-Georgetown route, say they never saw conditions in the Strait worse than they are this winter. It is only because the car ferry

Had Bad Pains in Her Heart
Nerves were very bad

Mrs. John Case, R. R. No. 4, St. Catharines, Ont., writes:—I wish to say that I have been bothered very much with my heart and nerves. I doctored with two different doctors, but did not find much relief. I would have such bad pains in my heart, at times, I would be almost afraid to move or breathe, and at night I could not sleep. If the pains in my heart were gone, my nerves would be so bad I could not lie still and would only get a little sleep by being tired out. My stomach was also very bad and I could eat but very little, and then only certain things or I would have so much distress which always made my heart worse.

I had been suffering for nearly two years until one day I was talking to our druggist about the way I felt. He advised me to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a fair trial. I have now taken five boxes and am feeling so much better, I am able to do my own work, and can eat anything I wish. I cannot praise

BRITISH PAY LARGE SUMS TO RAILWAYS
LONDON, March 7.—The Railway's Amalgamation Tribunal has approved an agreed scheme presented by the railway companies for the distribution of £25,000,000 of the second instalment of £30,000,000 payable to them by the government under the provisions of the Railways Act, 1921.

Sir John Simon, who appeared for the railway companies, stated that the allocation would be between sixty two companies, and was based on the amount which they were in arrears in respect of maintenance, renewals, and rolling stock on December 31, 1920.

The payment sanctioned practically completes the sum payable by the Government in compensation for all claims during the period of control due to the war. The Railways Act provided for the payment of £60,000,000, and £35,000,000 had already been allocated. It is probably that a considerable proportion of the £25,000,000 will be available for the extensive program of construction work which has been mapped out by the companies.

MODELS NEEDED FOR GERMAN STUDENTS
Death of Models at Dresden and Munich and Other Art Centres

DRESDEN, March 8.—Such a dearth of living models for artists has developed in Dresden, Munich, and other art centers of Germany, that the government art academy here has taken steps to remedy the situation.

The pre-war days one of the sights of Munich and some other cities was the market of models where artists regularly made their selections. It was a gay crowd which assembled, and usually there was a surplus of young women eager to offer their services as models of one kind or another. But times have changed, and in spite of the surplus of women in Germany, models are hard to get.

The art academy of Dresden has appealed to the young women to come back to their vocation, and insists that even to the modern artist living models are absolutely necessary. Not only are models essential for painters and sculptors of the human figures, says the academy notice, but young women are required who wear their clothing particularly well, or who have the knack of draping themselves artistically to suit the artist's needs.
