BRITISH PARLIAMENT DISSOLVED TODAY

POINCARE DECLares BRITAIN TO BLAME FOR THE PRESENT DIFFERENCES

France and England Approach Parting of the Ways Through Failure to Agree on Policies

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Indications are multiplying that France and England are approaching the parting of the ways on the question of how to deal with Germany. France's threatened penalties against Germany if Berlin does not recede from her position on the extradition of the former crown prince and the re-establishment of full aided military control in Germany, is declared in government circles here to be wholly unacceptable to England.

PARIS, Nov. 16.—Premier Poincare took issue with Premier Baldwin of Great Britain as to who was to blame for the present Franco-British differences when he unexpectedly spoke today in the chamber of deputies. He declared "for several years we have not ceased to make concessions from our rights and it is not on our side that the attitude is uncompromising."

FOUR KILLED IN ARGUMENT OVER A GIRL

Bad Man Who Did Shooting Is Now Fugitive from Angry
Posse

KELLIHER, Minn., Nov. 16.—Argument over a fifteen year old girl named Myrtle Saunders caused the death of four persons.

Leonard Portana, looked upon in the district as a bad man, argued with a farmer named Oscar Timmy, aged 30, as to which should have the girl. Before the quarrel was finished the girl's father and mother, Timmy and a sheriff named Wilson were shot dead.

Portana is a fugitive and the posse is seeking him everywhere. The girl was not molested.

PRESUMED TO HAVE DROWNED

Police Give up Search for Joseph Flowick, Kwinitza Section
Man

After a thorough search of the district for two days, it is presumed by the provincial police that Joseph Flowick, Galician section man at Kwinitza, missing since last Sunday, has been drowned. Special Provincial Constable George Crate returned to the city last night after having conducted a search. The tracks of the missing man, who left the station at Kwinitza with a shotgun presumably to go hunting, were followed along the flats up the Kwinitza River for four miles where they disappeared into the river. There were also numerous bear tracks and Flowick, becoming alarmed, may have taken to the river and thus lost his life.

Flowick was 33 years of age and was married, his wife and three children residing at Hamlin, Alberta.

Ask For Regular Steamship Service Between Eastern and Western Canada

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16.—The associated Boards of Trade of British Columbia at their annual convention here endorsed Vancouver's fight for equalization of the railway rates and the establishment of a Canadian customs officers at New York. Support also was extended to the request for a British preferential tariff on Canadian raw fruit products.

A plan to use the provincial government's information bureau for a greater campaign to secure tourists and settlers for the province was favorably considered.

The convention recommended that immigrants to Canada and province be given training by the governments concerned to fit them to make a living.

The Dominion government will be urged to establish a regular steamship service between Montreal, Halifax and United States ports and the Canadian Pacific Merchant Marine boats.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCK HERE

Digby Island Reports Tremor at 8:15 Last Night—Natives at Hartley Bay Excited

There was a slight earthquake shock felt in Prince Rupert and district last evening about 8:15. The wireless station at Digby Island reported it this morning.

The tremor was distinctly felt at Hartley Bay down the coast about 40 miles from here according to officers of the steamer Venture which arrived at noon. The boat called there shortly after 8:15 last evening and the natives were quite excited.

Capt. Johnstone of the Venture reported that the shock was so distinctly felt at Hartley Bay that the natives in alarm rushed from their houses. Port Esquimalt and Sunnyside also felt the tremor very plainly. Its duration was about two seconds.

F. G. Dawson yesterday wired to J. S. Emmer son asking if it was true that the mill had been sold as reported. He received word that the deal had been consummated but gave no particulars as to who were the purchasers.

Anton Lang of Oberammergau, world famed as the performer of Christ in the Passion Plays of 1909, 1910 and 1922, is bringing a party of thirty craftsmen to this continent to exhibit carvings in wood. His son is with him.

Vancouver a Festering Spot of Bootlegging Vultures is Anathema of Prohibitionist

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16.—A description of Vancouver as a "plague spot on the Pacific coast" and "a festering spot of bootlegging vultures engaged in a conspiracy against American law and Anglo-American friendship," featured the presidential address of Rev. A. E. Cooke, who presided over the opening session of the annual convention of the British Columbia Prohibition Association here yesterday.

Mr. Cooke spoke with regret of the recent reverses experienced by the prohibition party in Manitoba and Alberta, but stated that he was not disengaged. "In time the cause evening will be triumphant from coast to coast," he said. "A wave recedes only to push back with greater impetus than ever."

A number of guests and delegates are present at the convention which will close this evening.

British Government Majority is 95 in Final Division before Dissolution Prior to Election

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The House of Commons after a debate in which the Prime Minister and Lloyd George took part amid heckling and derisive cheers rejected the labor motion of censure introduced by Ramsay Macdonald, labor leader, by a vote of 285 to 190 amid ministerial cheers.

Following the vote the government applied the closure on the closing debate dealing with routine matters.

The third woman member, Mrs. Phillipson, by a curious coincidence made her first speech on the last day of parliament, showing the effect of her stage experience in an effective three minute address supporting the Government policy.

Parliament Dissolved

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(noon)—King George, acting on the advice of the cabinet, today dissolved Parliament in preparation for the general elections to be held on December 6. Parliament will re-assemble December 20.

Most of the ministers and practically all the members are now away to their several constituencies to conduct a hard rapid fire campaign. The protection issue is drawing a more or less distinct line which will cause considerable political change. Labor so far has shown itself opposed to the Government, but except in the industrial centres many workmen will support the new home.

The alliance between the Liberal factions, while strengthening the opposition, has not altogether healed the cleavage between them. The revenue received during the six months was $10,255,986, while the expenditures were only $8,646,724.

VICTORIA, Nov. 16.—The report of the auditor general of British Columbia for the six months ending September 30, shows a surplus of $1,609,262.

Canada is an Example to Rest of World says W. L. Mackenzie King in London

Premier Mackenzie King has been making himself heard in Great Britain and he is spoken well of wherever he goes. He has not been aggressive, like Premier Massey, because he feels that Canadians have no right to interfere with the fiscal policy of Great Britain. It is their business. He does not like them to interfere with Canadian policy and naturally he would want to treat them as he would have them treat us.

One of the important speeches made by him was before the Canadian Club at which the Duke of Connaught, High Commissioner Larkin, Earl Beatty, Viscount Long, Winston Churchill, Sir Haiman Greenwood, Admiral Fremantle, Sir Maurice Hankey, Sir John Simon, Lord Desborough, Hon. J. J. Astor, and a number of other titled men and notables were present. A report of that speech just to hand follows:

Mr. Mackenzie King, who was loudly applauded on rising to reply, spoke first of the interest shown by so many different members of the Royal Family in visiting Canada, remarking that nowhere in the Empire was there greater love and affection for them than in the Dominion, and also expressed, on behalf of his colleagues in the Government, how much they appreciated the great service which Mr. Larkin had rendered the Dominion as its representative in London. "We felt," he said, "when we asked Mr. Larkin if he would assume this great position that he would do so not only with credit to himself, but with great credit and distinction to the Dominion. We feel that he has done that. He has our entire confidence. We feel proud of the part which he has played here, and I can assure him that the pride which the Government feels in his work, as representative of his country here, is shared by the people of the Dominion in all parts. I would like to congratulate him, to congratulate the Canadians in London, and to congratulate the people of the Dominion, on having obtained at last, here in the heart of the Empire, an official home, which we hope will continue through the years to give to Canada in London the place which we had long hoped she might hold. We think that, in securing the Union Club building, we have at last acquired what we have been searching for many years — offices which would be located in a part of the city that would help to serve the end for which they are intended—but we hope still more that these offices will be worthy of the great square which they face, and worthy of their place in the heart of the Empire."

In quashing the conviction in the appeal court today, Judge Cayley said that "he had never heard such nonsense."

PLAQUE SPOT OF PACIFIC

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16.—Wholesale denunciation of civic and provincial authorities for their part in the sale of liquor in British Columbia and description of British Columbia as the plague spot of the Pacific coast featured the address of Rev. A. E. Cooke, president of the Prohibition Association of British Columbia at the opening of the annual convention of the association yesterday.

The day was devoted to speech making by prohibitionists from both sides of the line and reports from various committees.

BOOTLEGGERS GET LITTLE SYMPATHY WINNIPEG COURTS

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16.—Liquor law violators are finding little sympathy from the police magistrate here. The fines, which for first offences have been fifty dollars, have now been raised by His Worship to $200 and a hotel keeper was assessed $1,000 this week for bootlegging.

Magistrate Macdonald declares that as the people of the province have declared in favor of Government control of liquor he intends to assess heavy fines on liquor law violators in future.

Getting Immigrants Properly Started.

Alderman Theo. Collart yesterday told the Rotary Club of some personal experiences on his arrival in Canada from Belgium twenty years ago, knowing no English except yes and no. The difficulties which he experienced, he thinks, might be avoided if greater care were exercised in seeing that each immigrant was placed on the land under proper conditions. This he considers to be the duty of the government.

To allow people from foreign lands to come here and wander around without guidance and then to be fleeced and to fail from lack of a helping hand does much harm to the country as all write back to their native home and tell of their impressions.

Mr. Collart made good because he had plenty of pluck and stuck to it. Also he worked hard.

Premier Seems To Have Made Impression.

Every day there are despatches or newspapers come to hand from England which seem to indicate that the Canadian Premier has made good. Independent of party allegiance every Canadian will wish to see the Canadian representatives make a good impression. We are jealous for the honor of the country for it is by our public men we are measured as a people. What our public men are in London will be the gauge of what the British people think of us. It is the only way they can judge us. For that reason we are all, Liberal and Conservative, pleased that Mr. Mackenzie King has made good. He has been mingling with big men, and it would seem as if he has been received as an equal by all of them.

Make Conditions Good As Possible.

The Gyro Club has decided to devote its attention to making conditions for boys in this city as favorable as possible. There could be no higher aim or ambition for any club or group of men.

There are two general methods of making conditions favorable. The negative method is to suppress anything which would be harmful and the positive method is to provide counter attractions, development schemes and activities which will keep boys out of mischief. A combination of the two is very desirable.

Mill Sale Means Much To District.

The transfer of the Prince Rupert lumber mill and the timber limits from the Emerson interests to the hands of those who will operate the mill and further develop the business, means much to this city. It is the best news that has come through for many a day. It means that there will be a steady payroll at Seal Cove, that there will be logging camps established in the vicinity, that a good deal of construction work will soon be in progress and that ships will be calling here regularly to load lumber for all parts of the world. We are just a little firmer on the map than we were before the sale was announced.

At the time of writing there is nothing to indicate just how long it will be before actual work commences here, but with a favorable market and with a heavy investment on which to realize, the new concern is not likely to wait long before putting the mill in order and getting out logs with which to operate. While the logging on the Khutzemateen River is a summer logging proposition, there will be no difficulty in getting logs once the mill is ready to operate. There is always a certain amount of hand logging and operation of small donkey outfits that could keep the plant supplied.

The general local impression is that preparations will be made to open up in the early spring and camps will then be put in and the logs will be towed here. The waters are practically all inside and the logs can be towed in flat rafts.

THREE WISE FOOLS ARE ALL BACHELORS

Spectacular Play at Week End is Interesting Study and Full of Variety

A photoplay that has angles of appeal for every picture-goer is King Vidor's "Three Wise Fools," adapted by the director from Austin Strong's successful stage play. It will be the attraction here for the week end. The picture is a blending of charming comedy, romance, reality and spectacle. It retains in full the quaint comedy of the play, but develops and strengthens the dramatic story and depicts in full some episodes that were but hinted at, or which took place off the stage, in the original.

The persons in the present picture, "Three Wise Fools," are very human, very homely, but yet possess that peculiar charm that is characteristic of whimsical characters and situations.

Crusty Bachelors

The story concerns three crusty old bachelors, to whom is confided on the deathbed of the woman they had all vainly loved in their youth, the care of her daughter. One of the three wise fools, Judge Trumbull, fifteen years before, had sent the notorious criminal, Benny the Duck, to the penitentiary. Benny had vowed to get the judge when he got out and now word comes that he has broken jail with Crawshay, a man who has been sentenced on the charge of forgery, and another convict, Sydney, the girl who was confined to the care of the three men, is greatly interested when she hears that Crawshay was one of the men to escape with Benny.

A message is conveyed to her through the personal column of a newspaper to come to a Mott Street address, and there she finds Crawshay, who is in reality her father, and Benny the Duck. When Benny decides to make his attempt on the life of Judge Trumbull, he finds that Sydney lives at his home. As he is still determined to accomplish his purpose, Sydney blows the police whistle which summons the detectives guarding the house. Frightened by the danger to her father, she helps Benny to escape, and in trying to explain his escape gives herself away. She is trailed to the Mott Street address and is taken to jail, but Gordon, the nephew of Findley, who is head over heels in love with Sydney, arrives in time to effect her release. Benny, seeing that the game is up, confesses that he forged Crawshay's name to a check. With her father thus proved innocent, Sydney accepts Gordon's love and the picture ends on a note of general happiness.

Breaking Jail

A big spectacular scene in the picture is the jail-break on the part of Benny the Duck and other convicts who use an armored motor car. This armored car later dashes over an embankment and is wrecked, adding thrill upon thrill to the picture. The production is one of the most entertaining and artistic of the season's photoplays. It is a picture which can be counted upon to prove satisfactory to every person who sees it because of the variety of its moods and action.

"Dr. Wood's" Norway Pine Syrup For Coughs and Colds

Mrs. David Thompson, West River St., Paris, Ont., writes:—"I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. For myself and children I use nothing else.

My little girl, five years old, has had bronchial trouble ever since she had the "flu" a few years ago, and now, whenever she gets a slight cold she develops a very nasty cough, but all I have to do is give her a few doses of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Also for myself, and the other children, can find nothing to equal it, in fact, it was only a short time ago that I gave it to my ten months old baby, and could immediately see the difference it made in her. Now, I always keep Norway Pine Syrup in the house, as I feel there is nothing to equal it."

BY NO MEANS ALLOW YOUR BOWELS TO GET CONSTIPATED

If you allow your bowels to become constipated you will have bilious attacks, sick headaches, coated tongue, foul breath, sallow complexion, specks floating before the eyes, whites of the eyes dull and yellow, heartburn, water brash, etc.

Keep your bowels regular by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, as by doing so you will be able to keep well and have no more trouble with your liver.

Mrs. L. Rubin, Balbride, Sask., writes: "I was very badly troubled with constipation, often had bad headaches, my tongue was coated, and I felt anything but well."

After taking Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills I have felt much better as they certainly did me a lot of good."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CANADA IS AN EXAMPLE TO REST OF WORLD SAYS W.
L. MACKENZIE KING IN LONDON.

of their history would probably have to be rewritten from these original records. A few days before it had been his privilege to receive them from the hands of Sir Leicester Harnsworth, in memory of his brother, the late Lord Northcliffe, a very valuable collection of papers, known as the Monckton collection. They related to the commissions which were given to General Monckton, and subsequently to General Wolfe before he left for Canada. They might picture the feelings of Canadians in possessing, in the original manuscript, the orders given by the Minister of War to General Wolfe—the secret orders which he was not to open until he had left the country, and the various communications that he himself read as he went up the St. Lawrence and thought of the great battle ahead. All these things were there told, in his own hand-writing—not only that, but one saw, in the handwriting of General Wolfe, a plan for the administration of Canada, should it be God's will that the country should come into the possession of Britain; also the terms of capitulation, in his own hand-writing. Associated with these were also records of the great man who was Wolfe's opponent in the conflict—Montcalm.

League of Nations

These records had been presented to the nation in a very beautiful form, bound in red morocco, embossed in gold; they formed a collection which the nation would prize as one of its great treasures. It meant a great deal to them to have the story of their nation, beginning with the romantic history of its earlier days, and following the successive developments down to the present moment, with their record of political evolution. They had gone through the period of Crown Colonies, they had worked out their representative institutions and a system of responsible government, and had become a Dominion. In a miniature way, they were a League of Nations which went to make up the British Empire, and still further suggestive of the larger League which they hoped would come more and more into being as a great reality for the purpose of uniting together all those who had common aims and common objectives towards the peace of the world.

Canada's Example

"We have had our differences in Canada," continued Mr. King. "We have had our wars between races; we have had our political revolutions, but we have learnt how to bring out of these differences a unity which emphasises the things which we have in common rather than the things which divide us. That, it seems to me, is the great service which Canada has rendered as an example to other parts of the world. The antipathies of past generations lie buried. We have there, side by side, people who have fought, and who have demonstrated to the world that having fought they were able to work together and to construct a nation. We have learnt how to live and let live, and how to forget and forgive. God grant that, whatever else the Imperial Conference we are now holding may do for the British Empire as a whole, we may bring out the one great truth I have sought to emphasise, that, between different nations and different continents, the things that we all have in common are vastly greater than the things that divide us."

In a reference to conditions in Canada, the Prime Minister said the country had turned the corner and was rapidly coming back into its old normal state. Everything considered, he thought the coming year should be one of great prosperity for the Dominion, and he hoped this part of the Empire would feel that Canada was a land which offered great opportunity for investments of every kind—men, money and markets—all three would be welcome from this particular source.

Fisheries Treaty

Dealing with criticisms of the Halibut-Fisheries Treaty with the United States, Mr. King pointed out that no citizen of the Empire or of any part of the world could have engaged in the fisheries except from the shores of British Columbia or of the Western States. So far as dealing with criticisms of the treaty, he said that they had full rights of self-government, and that as regards matters of trade and tariffs and the like it had long been established that they had the right of negotiating with their neighbors or any other countries. In addition, there was at the present time a treaty between the United States and Canada under which matters in dispute as regards levels of lakes, power, fisheries, etc., might be referred to a joint commission. Some 20 different questions had been referred to it in the past few years, and in who would represent the British every case but one the commissioners had been unanimous in their finding. They could, if they so desired, have referred this particular question to the Commission, and the agreement would have been signed by the Commissioners. When an arrangement had been come to about bird sanctuaries some years ago, the question was referred to London and had to be settled through the Ambassadors; but that day was past.

Not Discourteous

"Some," remarked Mr. King, "have gathered the impression that in asking to have the Minister of Marine and Fisheries given plenipotentiary powers to sign the agreement we were doing something discourteous to the British Ambassador at Washington. Nothing was further from the mind of anyone. We were only asking for what was done at Versailles and Washington, where our Ministers signed on behalf of Canada in so far as Canada was concerned—that we should have the same right in negotiating that treaty. I feel that it does not take away from the prestige of the British Empire as a whole that a Canadian Minister should have authority given him by the King to sign a document with full plenipotentiary powers where the matter is one that relates so exclusively to his own country and its neighbor. But were any international question to come up which would affect other parts of the British Empire, or which would be of vital concern to any one of them, I would be among the first to say that no steps should be taken by any government of any part of the Empire without the full knowledge and consent of all; and that where we are all vitally concerned, or where the questions are of higher politics, involving the prestige of the whole Empire, the signature should be that of one person who would represent the British Government.

I can think of no expression.

Mr. King went on, "that more splendidly voices the true significance of the British Empire, than the one which was used by the King when he addressed the school children throughout the Empire by means of a gramo-phone record on May 24—that the British Empire is a unity of free nations." A unity of free nations, that is our feeling in regard to the British Empire.

We believe it is a unity—in other words, that we have common interests, that we have those things which we prize most in large measure in common; that whenever the honor and interest of the community are at stake, every part and portion of the British Empire may be expected to rise and act as one. We believe also that it is a unity of nations, and that as you give expression to the national life of the different parts of the Empire—as you permit them the authority and the full-right which go with the growth of nationhood—so you help to instill in them a feeling of greater pride in their own country and in the Empire to which they belong."

Mr. King strikingly pointed out how, in matters of government, a great deal could be learned from the way in which Nature did her work. As shown through both the telescope and the microscope, in the infinitely small and in the infinitely great alike, the order of creation spoke to us of unity, in which there was still preserved individual identity. The British Empire would not go far wrong in the order of development if it adhered to the teaching of Nature. Another symbol of the Empire Mr. King found in the main entrance of the reconstructed parliament buildings at Ottawa, with its great central column—a symbol of mutual support and of unity amid diversity—a unity preserving the identity of the different parts. What they were trying to work out at the Imperial Conference, he declared, was a method of government which would help to preserve that unity, which would help to make it strong and enduring, and which might make it of service, not to one part only, but to every part.

best Crowd That Ever Gathered There Was Present and Dancing kept up Till Four

SMITHERS, Nov. 16—Gaily decked with the Union Jack and national colors, liberally interspersed with the flags of the U.S. and surmounted by a magnificent floral cross, the town assumed a martial appearance on Monday night on the occasion of the Armistice ball held under the auspices of the G.W.V.A.

The greater number of returnees attended in uniform, while all branches of the service were represented, while "air men" came down out of element to hob-nob with the veterans.

The weather became of a very pleasant nature in the afternoon if Old Jup. Pluvius thought dampened the enthusiasm those bent on attending, but he was sadly disappointed as a mammoth crowd never inside the four walls of the hall.

A special orchestra of seven rendered a number of remembered marches and songs prior to the dance, the songs were heartily joined in by the crowd.

A midnight supper was served, which dancing resumed continued until "lights out" sounded at 4 a.m.

Various committees responsible for the success of the ball have the thanks of the people for the manner in which carried out their respective

As a preventive remedy for coughs, colds and chills. Dissolved in the mouth, these breathable tablets instantly fill the chest and lungs with their healing germicidal vapours. These strengthen the air passages and repel germs attack.

Peps end the sniffling and sneezing, the wheezing, soreness and cough before it develops into bronchitis or dangerous lung trouble. Peps are speedily effective and vastly safer and better than dangerous drug-laden mixtures or tablets containing harmful chemicals.

As a preventive remedy for coughs, colds and chills, wheeziness, hoarseness, grippe, bronchitis and sore throat, nothing can equal Peps. Splendid also for weak-chested children and old folk, and for preachers singers and public speakers.

enthusiastic than for many a season past. With the venue of the games more conveniently situated than ever before, the expectations of the league management for a bumper attendance will in all probability materialize. With Intermediate, Ladies' and Senior League games on the program there will be games for every taste to say nothing of the attraction that will be offered in the dance that is to follow. The League has gone to a good deal of trouble and expense in its efforts towards making this opening an unusually auspicious occasion and its reward will be found in the measure of patronage that is given.

The games set down are as follows:

Intermediate League — Grotto vs. Colls.

Ladies' League — Maple Leafs vs. Adanacs.

Senior League — Sons of Canada vs. Colls.

Much better results have been obtained with local deer hunters recently and last week many good bags were brought into the city. There seems to be no scarcity of the popular fleet-footed quarry this fall and especially has this been so since snow fell on the mountain tops and the deer have been making their way lower. Many were shot last week close to the water's edge. Good reports have come in alike from nearby points and more distant ones. This week-end will see a large number of nimrods hunting forth in view of the fact that the hunting is improved and the season is nearing a close.

THERE is talk of several new organizations being added to the miles of organizations already in existence in Prince Rupert. The two latest are the Loyal Order of Grass-Widowers and the Ancient Order of Bachelors. Their constitutions are poor but what can you expect?

I STRONGLY object to the commander of an exploring expedition having a cockney name like Notee. Why not choose something English?

"I AM the master of my fate," exclaimed the man with the roll as he was being rolled.

I KNOW a hen that takes a daily dozen and I know another hen that helps to lay a dozen. Life is life.

DID you ever hear that fairy tale about the girl who did her own washing, face and all, and also mended her stockings and never wanted to go out in the evening.

THE most unreasonable people in the world are the people from whom I borrow money. They want it back on time, silly things.

THE only possible reason why some women got married must have been that they were either blind or hypnotized and deaf into the bargain.
