Cress escaped from the custody of two officers on the train while being brought to Okalla to serve a prison term.

TIE VOTE RECORDED

City Council Fails to Settle Question of Reducing Aldermanic Board As Requested

On the negative vote of Mayor C. H. Orme, the city council divided evenly last evening on a proposal to submit a bylaw to the people at the annual civic election next month reducing the aldermanic board from eight to four members. The question came up in connection with the consideration of a petition from 200 ratepayers, requesting that the aldermanic board be reduced from eight to four members and that the aldermen be elected for one year terms instead of two year terms as at present. This petition had been originally presented to the council two weeks ago but had been laid on the table so that the aldermen might give the question more consideration.

Ald. Pillsbury, stating that he could see virtue in arguments on both sides, did not see how the council could consistently refuse to submit a plebiscite which had been asked for by 200 ratepayers and, therefore, moved that the necessary bylaw be prepared for submission. This motion was seconded by Ald. Collart.

Ald. Casey felt that to reduce the council from eight to four aldermen was cutting a bit deep. There was no guarantee that the four aldermen would not increase their indemnity to that now received by eight. He could see no harmful effect in numbers. Years ago he had supported a movement to reduce the aldermanic board to six members. He was still willing to support a plan of six aldermen but not four. The council was not bound to accept the petition but could use its own judgment.

Views of Aldermen
Ald. Macdonald was in accord with Ald. Casey's views. He would support a plan for six aldermen but not four. After all, the indemnity was a small consideration.

Ald. McCutcheon was in favor of four aldermen but he thought the people should be given a chance to say whether they wanted four or six.

Ald. Black was in favor of the plan for six aldermen.

Stewart Hotel, Campbell & Duke General Store, Stewart Drug Store, Newspaper Office and Butcher Shop Among Premises Destroyed This Morning

The Stewart Hotel, of which James McAleenan, formerly of Prince Rupert, was proprietor; Campbell & Duke's general store; the Stewart Drug Co.'s drug store; the Stewart News newspaper office, H. W. M. Rolston, publisher, and Lyons meat market were destroyed in a disastrous fire which visited the far end of Fifth Street, main business thoroughfare of the town of Stewart, early this morning, according to wireless advices received in the city. The government liquor store and other adjoining buildings are reported to have been saved.

With telegraphic communication to Stewart out of commission since late this morning, it was impossible to obtain full details of the conflagration except what could be gleaned by wireless. Some of the buildings destroyed were quite imposing structures. The drug store and Campbell & Duke general store would contain full stocks of goods. The Stewart Hotel was a two-and-a-half storey structure and was well furnished. A good deal of modern machinery and equipment would be destroyed in the Stewart News office.

It is, apparently, the most disastrous fire which has ever visited Stewart and the loss will run into many thousands of dollars.

Lifeboat Bearing Name "Sandbeach" Washed Ashore With Body of Dead Sailor

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Dec. 6.—Wireless operators combed the North Atlantic today for word of the steamer Sandbeach which left Cornerbrook for Halifax December 2 and has not been reported since. Fears for the safety of her crew of about 25 were expressed when a message was received today by the government which stated that a lifeboat bearing the steamer's name and containing the body of a dead sailor had been washed up on shore 12 miles west of Highlands, West St. George.

SIR GEORGE BURN DIES

Well Known Banker Passes Away at Age of 85—Former President of Bankers' Association

OTTAWA, Dec. 6.—Sir George Burn, former president of the Canadian Bankers' Association and general manager of the Bank of Ottawa and until his retirement several years ago a prominent figure in Canadian banking and financial circles, died at his home here yesterday at the age of 85 years.

Born in Thurso, Scotland, on April 10, 1847, the son of Rev. David Burn, the late Sir George Burn obtained his first banking experience with the Royal Bank of Scotland. Coming to Canada, he joined the staff of the Royal Canadian Bank at Toronto in August 1866. Eventually becoming an inspector of the Exchange Bank in Montreal, he was appointed general manager of the Bank of Ottawa in 1880, retiring from that office in 1917. He was vice-president of the Canadian Bankers' Association for 17 years and succeeded the late Col. Wilkie as president in 1915. In 1916 he declined unanimous re-election and was then elected an honorary president.

Taking a keen interest in charitable and public matters, the late Sir George was a member of the central committee of the Canadian Patriotic Fund during the Great War. As a Royal Commissioner, he investigated certain methods existing in the Canadian Civil Service in connection with the Martineau frauds. He was prominently identified with various philanthropic institutions including the Perley Home for Incurables, the St. John Ambulance Society, the Victorian Order of Nurses, the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis.

Deceased was honored by the King, who created him a Knight of Grace, Order of St. John, Jerusalem.

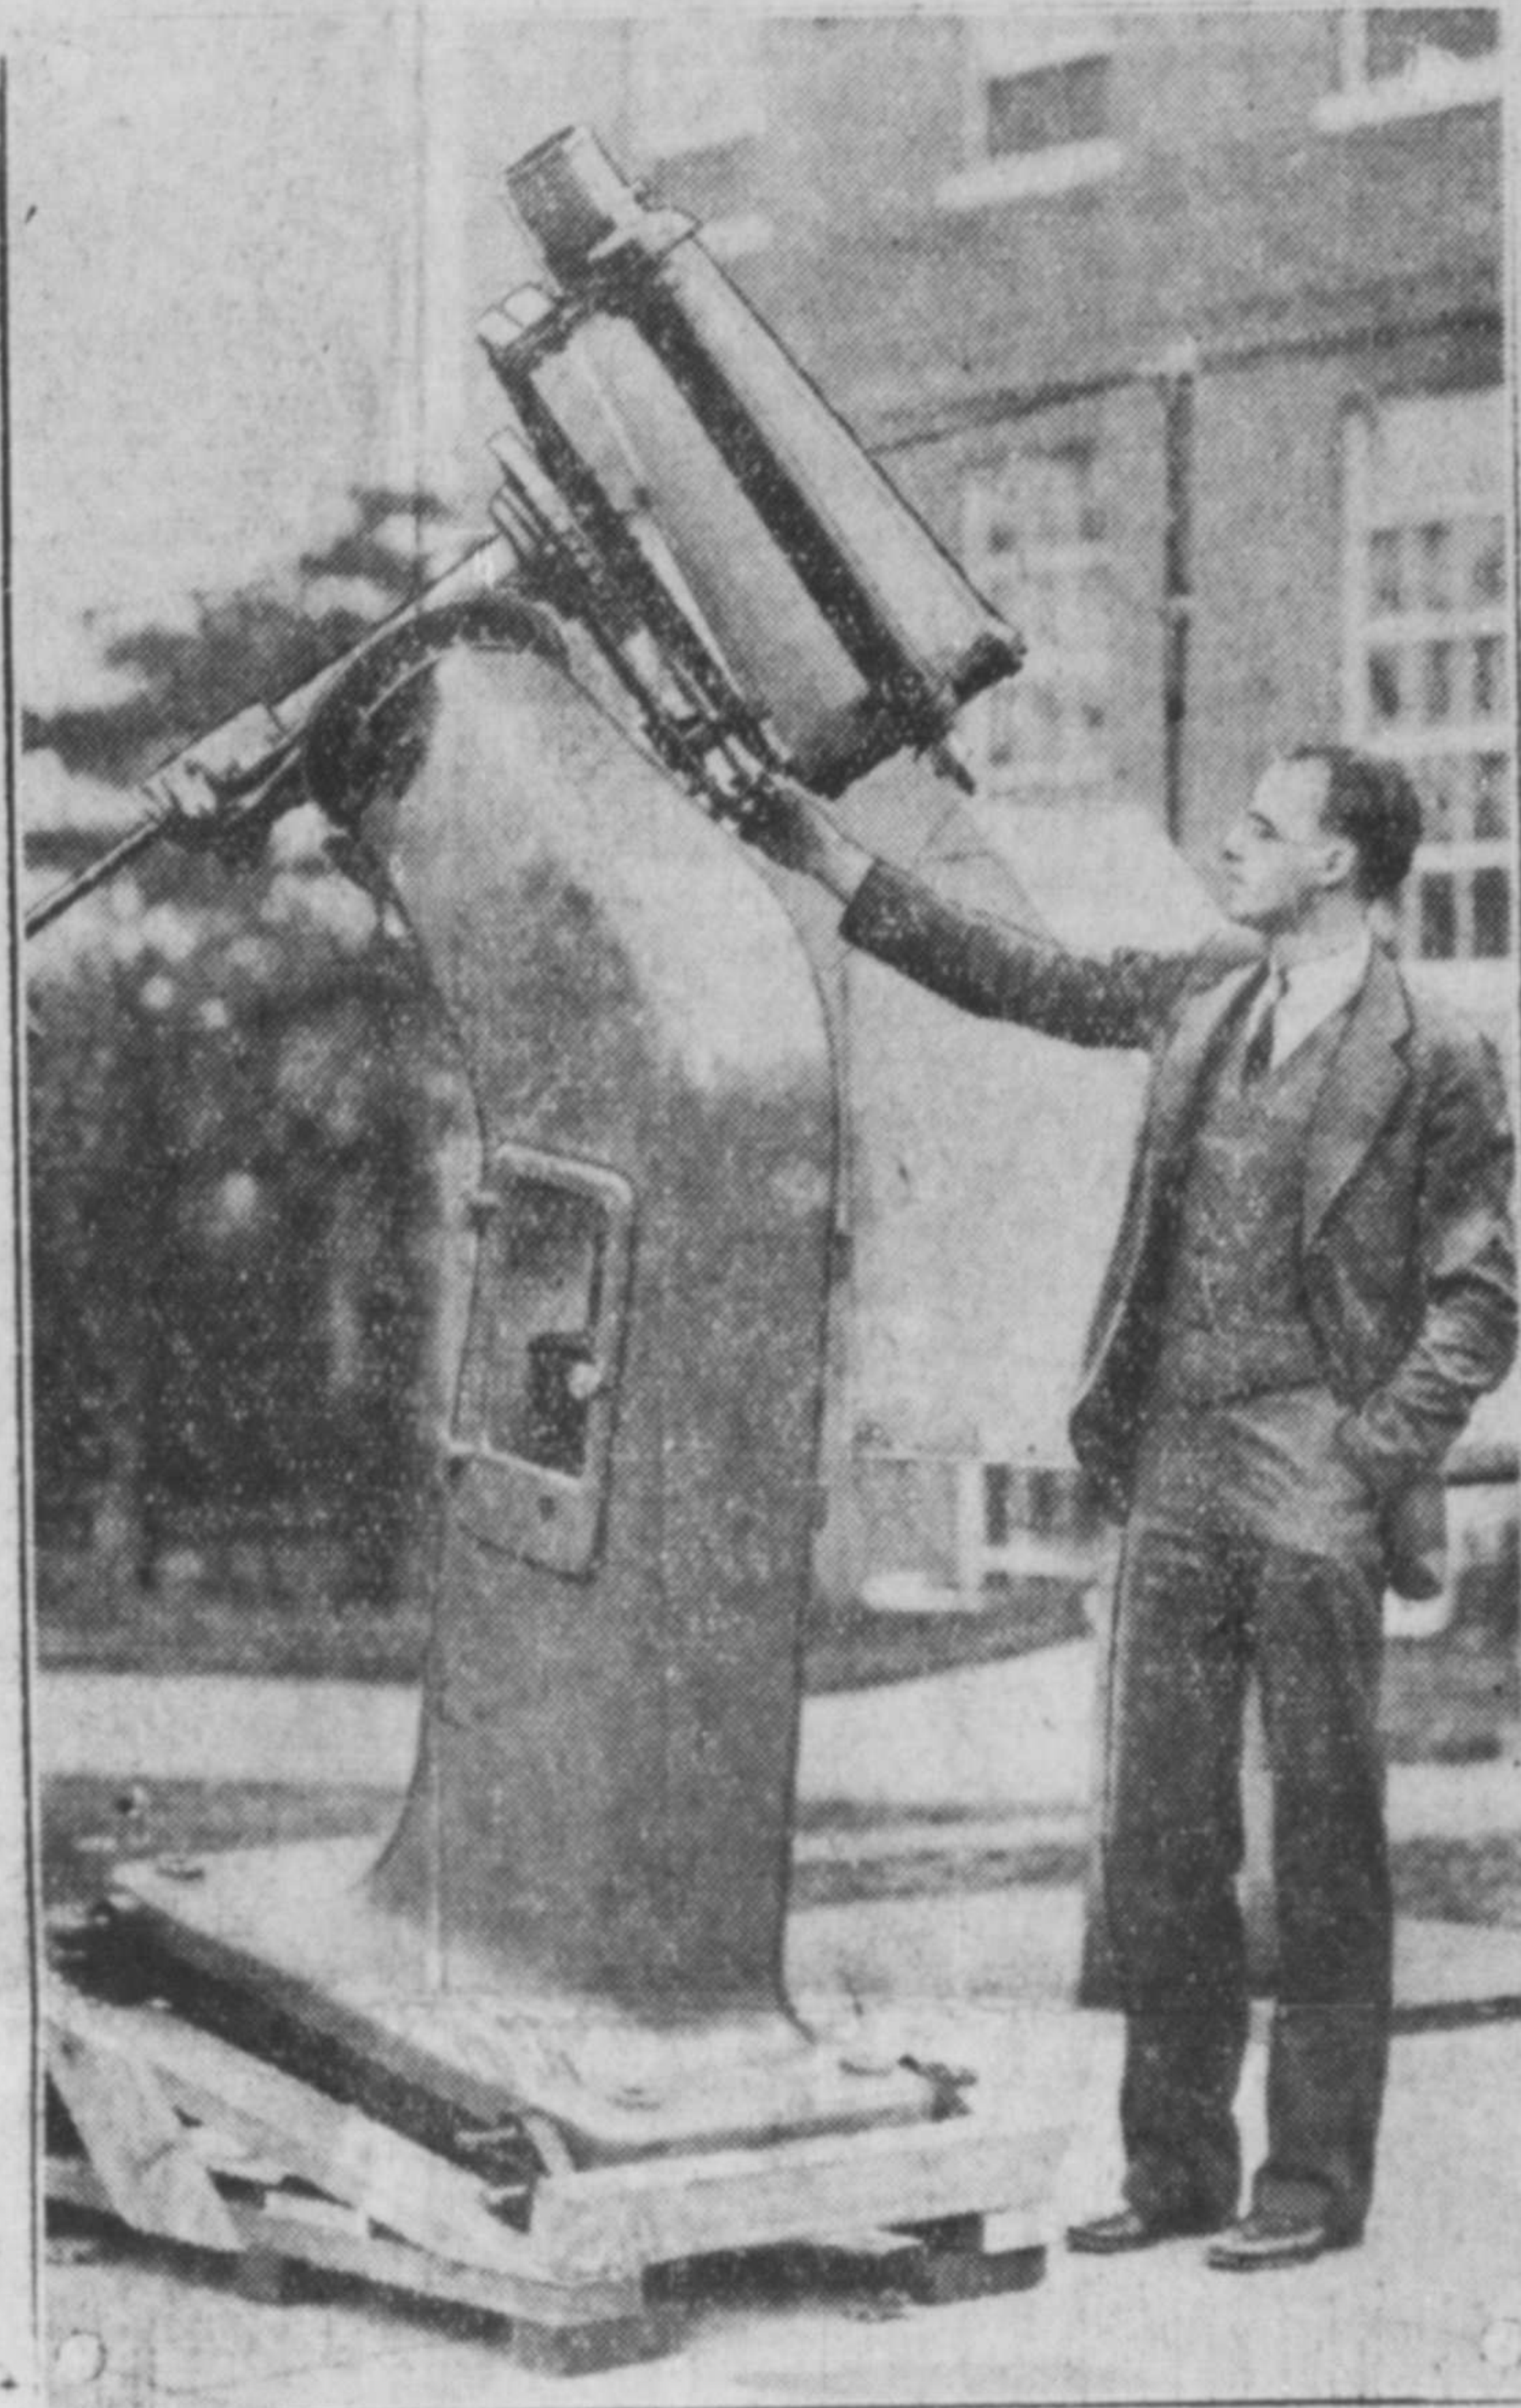

In addition to his association with the Bank of Ottawa, Sir George was a director of the Toronto General Trusts Corporation and was vice-president of the Canadian Surety Co.

Sir George was married in June 1872 to Kate Fraser Drummond of Toronto. Their home was in Ottawa. Deceased's favorite recreation was golf.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Dec. 6.—By a narrow margin of six votes, Speaker John Garner failed yesterday to receive the necessary two-thirds vote in the House of Representatives for his resolution to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment. The vote was 272 for the resolution and 144 against. Under the two-thirds rule, 278 votes was required to carry

CHANGING OF BANKS

Explanations Made of Recent Action of Council—Some Protests Heard Too

Explanations were made at last night's meeting of the city council of the recent action of the council in transferring the city bank account from the Royal Bank of Canada to the Bank of Montreal. The matter was brought up by Ald. McCutcheon who inquired as to the reason of the council in changing banks.

In answer to Ald. McCutcheon, Mayor Orme stated that the council had believed that it was going to be financed until the end of this year by the Royal Bank and had then received the information at the last minute that this would not be done. The council had felt that, since it had been informed definitely that it would not be able to get accommodation from the Royal Bank until the end of the year, it might do better by changing to the Bank of Montreal.

"What concession did the Bank of Montreal make you?" inquired Ald. McCutcheon.

"The Bank of Montreal made no concessions," replied the mayor. Ald. McCutcheon declared that the Royal Bank of Canada had financed the city to the extent of $170,000 when neither the Bank of Montreal or the Canadian Bank of Commerce had wanted the business. He (Ald. McCutcheon) did not see the advisability of a change of banks now. He felt that the action of the council had been "ill-advised and not business-like."

In explaining why he had seconded the motion of Ald. Linzey to change the bank account, Ald. Macdonald recalled how the manager of the Royal Bank last spring had stipulated that, if his bank was to carry the city, there would have to be an improvement tax. The council had agreed to this on the understanding that the city would

President Urges Big Sales Tax And Cut in Employees' Pay as Means Toward Balanced Budget

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—A blanketing manufacturers' sales tax covering virtually everything but food and an additional eleven percent cut for federal employees was recommended to the United States Congress today by President Hoover.

In his final message which reaffirmed his previous stand on war debts and did not touch upon prohibition, Mr. Hoover asserted three separate efforts to be necessary foundations to any other action. They were balancing the budget, complete reorganization of the banking system and wholehearted co-operation with other nations in the economic field.

Fishery Floats To Be Opened Up

Removal of Dry Dock Fence Will Give Traffic Temporary Means of Access

A recommendation from the finance committee that the fence on the dry dock premises near the approach to the fishermen's floats be removed in order to give access to the floats and that the work be done on relief on the condition that no cash outlay is involved was adopted by the city council last night.

Mayor Orme explained that, if the fence was removed as recommended, it would be possible for cars to drive almost to the approach to the floats. This would give temporary access until such time as finances permitted the construction of the level crossing and continuation of the road along the east bank of Hays Creek as originally planned.

CITY GETS RAIL LAND

Grand Trunk Pacific Development Co. to Turn Over Parcels Held Under 999-Year Lease

On recommendation of the finance committee, the city council last night decided to accept an offer of the Grand Trunk Pacific Development Co. Ltd. to turn over to the city in fee simple all parcels of land held by the city on a 999-year lease.

Ald. Collart, chairman of the finance committee, explained that some of the parcels of land referred to were on the Acropolis Hill, Prince Rupert Boulevard, the hillside back of Third Avenue east and west of Fulton Street and a square in Section 4. Under the 999-year agreement, the land could be used only for certain specified purposes but, now that it was to be turned over to the city, all restrictions would be removed.

BEWARE DRASTIC ACTION

It would be easy enough to pass laws for a city, province or country were it not for the reaction these laws are likely to have on relations with other countries. This is seen in a despatch published in the Daily News yesterday in regard to halibut boats being driven out of Seattle by the proposed new income tax of the state of Washington.

If it were not for interfering with relations with other countries it would be a simple matter to increase the death dues to enable the province to absorb a large proportion of the big estates, but that would prevent rich people from coming to the province, which would be a mistake.

There are two sides to every question and problems that seem easy of solution often prove very difficult.

OLD FASHIONED CHRISTMAS

While there are many who will be unable to celebrate Christmas in the old-fashioned way, there are also many who will do so this year. They are tired of saving and will be willing to spend money to provide enjoyment for themselves and friends. Already there are signs that people are spending more freely than last year for Christmas things. Merchants this year have a better selection of new goods for the Christmas season and they are advertising them more freely. The result should be generally beneficial.

One of the first steps to a more normal condition will be the desire of those who have money to put it to the use for which it was intended. As long as money is hoarded there will be no good times. We have had our orgy of over-spending. Since that we have had our period of niggardliness resulting from fear. Now we are on the verge of a movement in the other direction. Keeping Christmas properly is one of the first steps in the return to normal.

NEWS OF THE MINES

Transformation of Anyox Plant Would Be Large Undertaking—Pitt Warns Against Increased Mine Taxation—Premier Lets Contract

To transform the plant of the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power Co. at Anyox into a customs smelter to handle the wide range of British Columbia Coast ores following the imposition of four cents per pound duty by Great Britain upon copper smelted in other than an Empire country would require not only time but considerable capital expenditure which would not be justified unless it can be shown that the tonnage available would be sufficient to last for a long period of years, it has been pointed out. If such conditions could be complied with, perhaps no site on the British Columbia coast would be more advantageous than Anyox for a large metallurgical plant such as would be required, there being ample power, plus space for additions and it is isolated. At present this smelter is only equipped to handle its own production of 5200 tons of ore per day. The suggestion has been made that, following the imposition of the British tariff, ores from the Britannia mine, near Vancouver, might be smelted at Anyox instead of at Tacoma where they are at present treated.

Large ore reserves are reported to have been developed during the past season on the Skidegate-Sunrise gold property at Skidegate by the Kitsault-Eagle Mines Limited. Three veins have been opened, according to the managing director, W. G. McMorris, and plans have been made for a treatment plant to be installed as soon as development has reached a point where continuous tonnage will be available for a mill. The group is situated advantageously for shipping close to tidewater.

Dale L. Pitt, general manager of the Premier mine and president of the Mining Association of British Columbia, the annual convention of which was held in Vancouver last week, sounded a blunt warning in opening the convention that the mining industry of British Columbia cannot stand any more taxation and continue to compete with the eastern mines. "We in British Columbia suffer a geographical handicap," declared Mr. Pitt. "We pay more for our supplies in order that eastern manufacturers may enjoy protection and, under present federal laws, we pay more taxes than Ontario mines. We cannot afford any new social legislation in this province. Industry has to pay for it and industry is already overloaded with taxes. The mining industry has given a fine example of cutting down cost of operation in order to keep going in these times. I think governments can do the same thing by adopting sound business principles in meeting their problems." John D. Galloway, provincial mineralogist, another speaker at the convention, stated that the Premier mine and power plant at Anyox is to be transformed into a customs smelter to handle the wide range of British Columbia Coast ores following the imposition of four cents per pound duty by Great Britain upon copper smelted in other than an Empire country.

and the product of the mine will be shipped in concentrate form. At present, Premier mine is shipping about 4000 tons of crude ore monthly to the Tacoma smelter. The mine also sends to this smelter about 1500 tons of concentrates monthly. In addition, Premier ships about 2000 tons of crude ore monthly to the Anyox smelter. Mr. Pitt adds that Premier mine operations will not be affected by the British preference on copper. The mine produces gold and silver with a negligible quantity of lead and zinc. "Operations are continuing normally," states Mr. Pitt, "following a program which has been in effect for some time. We do not contemplate any change in our program. The crew numbers about 250 men."

PALS ARE VICTORS

Triumphed Over Flashes in Senior High School Basketball—Midgets Also Win

The Flashes, who won their first start last Monday, were humbled by the fast-stepping Pal outfit by the decisive score of 23-0 in High School basketball yesterday. The Pals dominated the play throughout the game and, although the Flashes had their share of the play, they could not get past the sound defence of the Pals to get a good shot at the hoop.

The first half was rough and ragged but, as soon as the boys warmed up, they settled down and played basketball. At the termination of the half, the Pals led 13-0. The second period was practically the same as the first. Occasionally the Flashes filtered through the Pal defence but were unable to score.

Full time found the Pals victors by 23-0.

The Midgets vanquished the Aces 16-4. The former made a vast improvement since their last appearance and used combination to a great advantage. Led by Abuchina and Hirano, they completely outplayed the Aces. Campbell did much to place his team in the win column but was unsuccessful.

Scores were:
Pals—Santurbane (3), Nakamoto (11), Suehiro (2), Greer (1), Kishimoto (6), Miller—23.

Flashes—Smith, R. Allen, N. Allen, Blake, Obata, D. Morrison, Arney—0.

Midgets—Abuchina (2), Hirano (6), Murray (4), M. Johnson (2), Zellsho (2), Munro—16.

Aces—Campbell (2), Lindsay (2), Naylor, O'Neill, Dell—4.

THEIR GAME WAS GREAT

England Leads First Test Match—Sutcliffe and Hammond Set Up Record

SYDNEY, New South Wales, Dec. 6.—At the close of play yesterday in the first cricket test match, England had scored 479 runs for a loss of six wickets. Australia was all out for 360. The invading eleven surpassed the Aussies' total before three wickets had fallen. However, bowling, aided by poor light, became more effective after the tea interval and wickets fell fast.

A brilliant innings by Herbert Sutcliffe, who went in first man for England, accounted for 194 runs. Walter Hammond knocked up 112 and, together with Sutcliffe, had a second wicket partnership of 188 runs, a test match record, surpassing the old record of 151 made in 1893.

Today's Play
With nine wickets fallen, Australia had scored 164 runs in the second innings of the first cricket test match today and had staved off the possibility of defeat by an innings. England had scored 524 in the first innings to 360 for the Australians.

Guide to Correspondents

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism.

Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication.

Letter should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.

Ald. Casey moved an amendment that a bylaw be prepared reducing the aldermanic board from eight to six. The amendment was not seconded.

Ald. Linzey felt that the petition should be accepted and a bylaw prepared to reduce the aldermanic board from eight to four. A bylaw for six aldermen would not meet the request.

Mayor Orme pointed out that it was up to the council itself to decide what it considered best. Personally he believed that four aldermen was too few.

Ald. Macdonald moved another amendment that the matter be laid over for two weeks in view of the absence of Ald. Rudderham. There was no seconder to this amendment, the consensus of opinion of the council being that the question should be settled without delay.

On the question being put, Ald. Pillsbury, McCutcheon, Collart and Linzey voted for the motion to submit a four-alderman bylaw. Ald. Casey, Macdonald and Black voted against. The mayor announced that he was voting in the negative, thus making a tie vote.

The question will probably be brought up again at a full meeting of the council.

RELIEF CUT PROTESTED

City Council to Appeal to Government For More Generous Scale of Allowances Here

The city council last night decided to request the provincial government to make a more generous schedule of allowances for unemployment relief in Prince Rupert in view of local living conditions. A new schedule proposed by the government for the coming winter providing $9 per month for the head of a family for food with $3.50 additional for each adult living with the head of a family and $2.50 per month for each dependent under 21 years of age plus 40% of the food allowance for clothes, fuel and shelter was considered quite inadequate by the council. A communication from the government stated that the provincial government would contribute one-third to such a schedule of allowances from December 1 to March 31, the understanding being that any additional cost would be entirely borne by the municipality. Neither would any charge for municipal water service or taxes be recognized and contributed to by the government. While no program of relief work was provided for by the federal government, it was pointed out that the municipality had the privilege, if it so desired, of demanding that work be done for funds dispersed in relief.

Under the new schedule, Mayor Orme informed the council, families in this city would receive, on the average, $3.58 per month less than they were now getting under the existing relief scale.

Ald. Pillsbury did not believe that the city could expect work from recipients of relief if there was to be any cut in the allowance.

In view of the fact that protests were being made from all parts of the province at the proposed new relief scale, Mayor Orme suggested that the city carry on under the old scale until the end of this month. It was regrettable that a reduction should be made in the relief allowance at the most expensive time of the year.

Ald. Black pointed out that Vancouver was continuing to pay the old scale and had passed a resolution protesting against the new one.

Ald. Casey felt that, in view of local conditions, this city had a strong case for a larger allowance. The council should strive to have the old scale retained. Otherwise, it would be necessary to close down the work.

At the suggestion of the mayor and on motion of Ald. Casey and Ald. Pillsbury, it was decided to have the relief committee dispatch a strong resolution to the government appealing for a higher allowance rate in view of local conditions.

CHANGING OF BANKS

be carried until the end of the year. This having now been refused, the council had felt that the Bank of Montreal might possibly help. Therefore, the council had taken the chance and changed.

Defends Royal Bank

Ald. Casey was not entirely in accord with the explanation which had been given by Ald. Macdonald. As he (Ald. Casey) understood it, the city had not got what it had expected from the Royal Bank and, as a matter of policy, had switched over. Personally, he had not been desirous of switching as there was no guarantee that the other bank would take care of the city either this year or next. The Royal Bank had said that it would like to wait and see how the city was to be carried on next year—whether or not a policy should be continued of spending more than the city was capable of collecting. He thought that that was a fair and business-like attitude. The city had either to raise money or spend less. He only hoped that the other bank would assume its obligation to the city and take care of the finances as required, providing the city showed sane discretion in the disposition of its business. Ald. Casey explained that he had made this explanation in defence of the Royal Bank which he did not think was as bad as some people had made it out to be.

TALKED-OF FILM HERE

"Grand Hotel," Much-Discussed Talkie, to Be Shown Here For Three Days

The long-awaited and much-discussed all-star talking picture production "Grand Hotel" will open at the Capitol Theatre here tonight for a three-day run. "Grand Hotel" is acclaimed as one of the most outstanding achievements of the moving picture industry. It brings together one of the greatest casts of stars and players ever presented in a single picture.

The exotic Greta Garbo plays the part of a Russian dancer who lives on the acclaim of her audiences and is ready to die when they no longer applaud. John Barrymore has the part of an impecunious nobleman whose love for the dancer prevents him from turning thief. Joan Crawford is cast as a seductive stenographer who is willing to sell herself for whatever she is worth to an industrial magnate portrayed by Wallace Beery. Lionel Barrymore, as a provincial bookkeeper broken in health, is said to "steal" the picture. Lewis Stone, Jean Hersholt and many others take part in the supporting cast.

The lives of these strangely different characters are drawn together in the vortex of a fashionable Berlin hotel and the result is a fascinating drama in which love, intrigue, murder, lust, comedy and tragedy all play a part.

Property in Westview Transferred By City Council on Recommendation of Finance Committee

A recommendation from the finance committee that the property of lots 55 and 56, block 12, section 2, held under the Soldiers' Housing Act in the name of the late Wilfrid C. Macdonald be transferred to M. Valentin on payment of $200 and upon his signing an agreement to pay the amortized monthly payments was adopted by the city council last night.

Ald. Collart, chairman of the finance committee, informed the council that Mr. Valentin had applied some time ago to purchase the property which had been duly advertised for sale without further offers being made.
