GALE TAKES SIX LIVES; DAMAGE $200,000

TAMMANY WILL FIGURE STRONGLY IN DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES NEXT YEAR

Puget Sound Visited with Worst Storm in Years Christmas Eve

SEATTLE, Dec. 26.—Six lives were taken and damage estimated at $200,000 was done by a gale, declared by the weather bureau to have been the worst in 25 years, which swept the Puget Sound district on Monday night and early Tuesday morning.

Four persons were drowned when the tug Tyee foundered in the storm at Pedder Bay near Victoria.

Gus Quarnstrom was killed by current from an electric light wire at Aberdeen and Mitchell Grashoff, aged 13, of this city, was electrocuted when he attempted to pick up a fallen light wire.

The steamer Dawn sank at a dock in Lake Washington and two other small vessels foundered but no lives were lost.

Six ships were buried in mud at Hoquiam but suffered no damage to their hulls.

Street-car services here were interrupted by the breaking of power lines and telephone service was also interfered with when poles blew down. Twenty plate glass windows were shattered in the gale and street signs and mail boxes were overturned. Street lights were turned off to prevent injury to citizens by broken light wires.

PASTOR'S WIFE WAS MURDERED

Body of Mrs. Clara Whiteside Found in St. John—Head Was Badly Beaten

The woman's head had been badly beaten with a blunt instrument and robbery is believed to have been the motive. She had been dead several days.

POLICE CHIEF IN AUTO SMASH

William Anderson, Head of Vancouver Force, Lands in General Hospital

VANCOUVER, Dec. 26.—William Anderson, chief of the Vancouver city police, was badly injured last night when his automobile crashed into a street car as a result of a defect developing in the steering gear of the motor car. He was taken to the hospital with cuts and bruises on his head and body.

XMAS DAY OBSERVED AT GENERAL HOSPITAL

Christmas Day was fittingly celebrated at the General Hospital. The wards were prettily decorated and the patients were suitably entertained. A delicious menu of turkey and plum pudding was served to the patients and nurses supplemented with all the good things going with the Yuletide festive board. The nurse's lecture room, in which the nurses received their guests during the day, presented a particularly fine appearance, the decoration scheme being greatly admired by the many visitors.

FISH INDUSTRY IN FIFTY YEARS

Annual Value in 1844 was $125,000—1922, Forty One Millions

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 26.—(Canadian Press)—The existing fishing industry of Canada is the growth of the past half-century, says the bureau of statistics in a return on fisheries. In 1844, the estimated value of the catch was only $127,000. It doubled in the following decade, and by 1860 had well passed the million mark. Ten years later it was six millions, and in 1911, thirty-four millions. In 1922 it was over forty-one millions. The highest record was reached in 1918, with over sixty millions. These figures represent the total values of fish marketed, whether in a fresh, dried, canned or otherwise prepared state. Meanwhile, the number of employees has mounted to over 80,000, and the total capital invested to over $50,000,000 in certain years, though the industry as a whole did not progress proportionately with the marked industrial expansion which set in after 1896 in Canada.

Among individual fish products the cod and salmon have long disputed the primacy; if the record back to the beginning is taken the cod is the most valuable fishery; in the past 15 years, however, the salmon has definitely taken the lead and the lobster pack and high price of lobsters have more than once sent down cod to third place. This, naturally, has affected the relative standing of the provinces. British Columbia now occupying the leadership that formerly belonged to Nova Scotia.

Despite Opposition of Party Bosses, McAdoo Seems Likely to be Presidential Nominee

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—The feature of the preliminary campaign for the Democratic nomination for President of the United States will likely be a bitter and spectacular fight over the candidature of William Gibbs McAdoo, son-in-law of ex-President Wilson and Secretary of the Treasury in the Wilson cabinet. The battle lines are already drawn and both armies are now busy "digging in" for the coming encounter. On the one side are McAdoo and his supporters, and on the other the Tammany tiger and the friends of that dangerous political feline.

That means it will be McAdoo against the field. The Democratic "Bosses" who are hostile to McAdoo are out to get him. Anything—or rather, anybody—to beat McAdoo is their battle cry. They are not likely to waste much effort in booming the stock of any one particular opposition candidate; at least, they will concentrate on no one man for a national pre-convention campaign. They will confine their energies to preparation for fighting the McAdoo faction in the national convention. For this purpose they will encourage the aspirations of as many others in as many different parts of the country as possible, and strive to secure control of a sufficient number of delegates to make the nomination of McAdoo impossible. If they succeed in blocking the McAdoo delegates, anything may happen. The selection of a "dark horse" for the nomination will then be a very likely possibility.

The cue for McAdoo's entrance in the great U.S. political drama was given by David I. Rockwell, of Ohio. The cue-line uttered by Rockwell was: "Mr. McAdoo is the one great figure now available in our party. His friends intend to nominate him and to elect him to the Presidency." Whereupon McAdoo (Continued on page six)

Addressing Masons in Toronto Sir Henry Thornton Connects Canada with World's Problems

Sir Henry Thornton, chairman of the board of directors and president of the Canadian National Railways, who was a guest at the annual "Canada Night" of Zetland Masonic Lodge, held recently in Toronto, laid particular emphasis on the fact that Prince Rupert was one of the great outlets to the west for all of the production of the Dominion of Canada. Sir Henry, in the course of an address, said in part: "This world of ours is passing through critical times. A large proportion of the earth's surface and many of those who produce and have become a burden upon the rest of mankind. If you will draw a line extending from the northeast, skirting the frontier of Belgium, and France and Germany, on the other hand, and around Switzerland to the Adriatic, you will see that practically all parts of the earth which lie east of that line and north of the Himalaya Mountains are in more or less a state of chaos."

"Now it is quite impossible to subtract from the productive capacity of this world so large a population and so great an area without every other country feeling the effect, and until those nations begin to resume their customary place in commerce and industry and in production, the rest of the world will have difficult times and it is to that task which, it seems to me, the nations of the earth should address themselves in co-operative effort and in that co-operative effort no two nations are playing a greater part than the British Empire—or as it is sometimes aptly called, the Commonwealth of British Nations—and the great Republic which lies to the south. I hope that the day will come when the people of the United States will realize the responsibility which rests upon them and join hands in carrying the white man's burden which the British Empire has always carried from time immemorial; and whether we be Canadians or Australians or New Zealanders we certainly can take a pride in the fine traditions of England and the part that England has always played in the advancement of civilization."

Britain Threatened
"There was a day when Spain threatened civilization and particularly threatened the existence of England and that great and courageous band of mariners sailed out to meet the Spanish Armada. The great absolute monarchy was defeated and England lived to continue her destined place in the welfare of the world. Later on there came the Napoleonic wars, when Napoleon attempted to arrogate to himself the dominion of the world. Brave little England stood in the breach, fought Napoleon and paved her feet in the soil of her land and stood true to her traditions and again an attempt at world domination failed. Then we come to the late catastrophe, when the German empire arose and attempted the same thing and again that brave little army that went overseas—the first of those divisions that stood in the breach, on the soil of France—they fought again to uphold all that is dear to those who love democracy and freedom—and with France and all of our great allies we again fought a battle for freedom and again we have won."

But the great battle still lies before us and the battle we have to fight is to bind up the wounds which have been created by this war and to bring to bear all of our brains, our ingenuity, our patience and our courage that we may again restore the world to a normal condition. That is the duty of our generation. (Continued on page two)

Opinion Divided On Closing Port.

To say the least of it, general opinion is much divided in the city as to the wisdom of the action taken at a public meeting last week when it was decided to request the federal authorities to close the port of Prince Rupert to American halibut fishermen. There are undoubtedly influences in the city that are much opposed to such a course and they will probably be heard from. While there were a large number of fishermen in attendance at the meeting where the closing of the port was recommended, the representation of businessmen individually was small.

By closing the port, everything may be gained or everything may be lost. While it is much to be questioned that such action will result in the 2c tariff and other restrictions of the United States being dropped, it is quite conceivable that further reprisals from that direction may follow. It is even questionable if Canadian fishermen would gain their point if such reprisals did not follow.

While everyone here would very much like to see the 2c tariff dropped, there is a very distinct opinion that the stake put up in closing the port may not be worth the game. That is the problem that vexes all. By letting things take their natural course, the view is held by many that influences now working in the United States and Canada might bring about their own redress. It would be a pity to upset that course of events by any untoward action that might be taken here. There may be much to gain through closing the port. On the other hand, it is not hard to conceive that there may be much to lose.

Ottawa's Stand On The Question.

That any request from Canadian fishermen of the Pacific coast asking for closing of ports to American vessels will be given the consideration of the authorities was the advice brought in despatches from Ottawa this week. When the department commented on the situation as it did prior to receiving any request there is reason to assume that it may be favorably disposed to such a move. The same despatch, however, indicates that the department is alive to the situation and is not to be led into any action on account of what has been done on the Atlantic coast. It behoves those interests who are not in favor of having the port closed to get busy at once and submit their representations so that no false impression will be left at Ottawa as to the consensus of opinion here. So far there has been only one resolution passed and that asks for the closing of Pacific coast ports.

"Faith Cures" And Hypnotic Suggestion.

"I told you so," or remarks to that effect have been very frequent since the announcement was made by a committee at Vancouver last week that Dr. Price's "faith cures" had been largely a matter of hypnotic suggestion. If such was really the case—and the committee which passed that judgment was representative of Vancouver's best clerical, medical and legal talent—it does not necessarily mean that Dr. Price is to be condemned. If he is an expert hypnotist he is only following a recognized practice that in many cases has heretofore proved successful, especially during the Great War and this in spite of the fact that he made it to be understood at the time that his cures were not hypnotic but divine. Many of his patients, it was reported, died in the course of the past few months following the treatment. Against this, it is known that several are now enjoying good health following cures. It is quite possible that those who did die might have expired, anyway, in the natural course of events.

The civic court of revision met in the City Hall on Monday afternoon to further consider the taking off and the leaving on of names on the voters' list. Present were Mayor Johnson, J. It was decided to strike the following names off the voters' list, the registrations not having been made in accordance with the act

Quebec to Repeat Carnival Success

1. The Guns which once defended the citadel now accommodate the small revellers. 2. And are Ski-ing scenes. 3. These are out for a "bouncing" good time. 4. Skating in the Exhibition Grounds is also the order of the day. 5. "Negik" was born this year to the Chateau Frontenac dog team and he will probably figure largely in the dog race featuring the Winter Sports Program.

QUEBEC is again to have a real, live carnival that shall be truly representative of the wonderful sporting attractions of the ancient Capital. The success of the dog races held in Quebec last year has encouraged the organizers to sponsor a very much bigger program for this year, and a comprehensive series of sporting events will be held on February 21, 22, and 23, in which all the sports for which Quebec is so naturally adapted will be represented, and culminating in a grand masquerade ball at the Chateau Frontenac. In addition to the international races for the Eastern Dog Sled Derby Trophy, there will be events in snow-shoeing, skiing, ice racing, curling and skating. The whole of these events will take place within the Exhibition Grounds, and it is proposed to once again give Quebec an ice palace.

The people of Quebec take, and naturally, a great pride in their wonderful old city, and the ancient capital is not so large that its people cannot get together on occasion to fete en masse. A carnival in Quebec is not to be forgotten, for the whole populace absorbs the spirit of the season, drawing its visitors into the gay vortex, so that even the walls which rang to laughter centuries ago lose their aged atmosphere, and lend themselves to the fete. By reason of its even and exhilarating climate, its accessibility and natural and artificial opportunities for sport, Quebec is the home of the winter sports for the continent. Each wintry season, more people are attracted to it, and for long periods it becomes the social centre, as well as the sporting centre of North America. Practically everything that is carried on is on an open scale—Quebec is the soul of hospitality. A hundred rinks invite you to skate, as far as you can see, fir-clad hills invite you to ski through their myriad glorious glades, of toboggan slides there are not a few, and there are many excursions which simply must be made on snow-shoes. As for evening entertainment, the ball room of the Chateau Frontenac is the scene of a dance nightly. There are moonlight excursions, events on all illuminated rinks, music, song and dance,—a thousand things to do.

Quinn, J. G. Johnson, J. F. Ritchie Jr., J. A. Teng, J. H. Tait, J. Wolstenholme, L. McHarg.

PERSONAL GREETING FOR PASSENGERS

Every Passenger on Canadian National Railways Received Xmas Telegram

WINNIPEG, Dec. 26.—The smokestack of a railway train is neither sufficiently large nor stationary to allow Santa Claus to make a trip through in to visit passengers who are compelled to travel on Christmas Eve, and so, while they are on board the train, they have to be satisfied without gifts, but the spirit of Christmas event in and diffused itself through the sleeping cars of the Canadian National Railway all over the system, from coast to coast on Christmas Eve and welcomed travellers when they awoke from sleep the following morning. Every passenger on board a sleeping car of the Canadian National Railways, received a real, cheery greeting when he awoke on Christmas morning. This took the form of a telegram printed on one of the specially decorated telegraph forms of the Canadian National Telegraphs. It was handed to each passenger in a sealed, decorated envelope and read as follows: "To all passengers on board train, the officers and employees of the Canadian National Railways wish you a very Merry Christmas and a Bright and Prosperous New Year." (Signed) H. W. Thornton, President.

The fire department responded at 4:45 p.m. on Monday to an alarm put in by the Hyde Transfer, Second Avenue. Upon arrival it was found that a mattress-upstairs had become ignited by a lighted cigarette end carelessly left by the occupant of the room. The use of the hand extinguisher quickly overcame the blaze before any serious damage was done.

PRINCE RUPERT POINT OF RELAY

Message to Bowdoin From France Goes Through Jack Barnsley's Set

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 26.—An amateur radio message from France to the North Pole has covered the farthest distance ever traversed by an amateur relay, arriving safely in the ice-bound cabin of Captain Donald B. MacMillan's schooner "Bowdoin" after a 9,565 miles journey across the Atlantic and the territory of four nations.

The same night after Monsieur Leon Delyot at Nice, France, transmitted a message to the Arctic explorer, a repetition of the dots and dashes came in on the headphones of Donald Mix, radio operator for MacMillan, 11 degrees from the pole and inside the aurora.

In order to reach Refuge Harbor, Greenland, the message took a round-about course across the Atlantic to South Manchester, Conn., where it was received by John L. Reinartz, operating amateur station IXAM. Reinartz gave the message by telephone to Boyd Phelps of Hartford, operator of 1HX, who relayed it to 6XAD at Avalon, Catalina Island, off the coast of California. From thence it was sent to Jack Barnsley of 9BP, Prince Rupert, British Columbia, who finished the relay.

The distance covered by each relay was about as follows—Nice to Hartford, 3,500 miles; Hartford to Catalina Island, 2,500 miles; Catalina to Prince Rupert, 1,305 miles; and Prince Rupert to Refuge Harbor, 2,260 miles, making the greatest amateur relay mileage.

In this remarkable record the French amateur used two foreign model tubes with a 25 cycle plate supply and an output of about 400 watts. The receiving set used by Reinartz was home-made with his own type of w.k. circuit. Phelps' set was a Tuska 220 receiver. Mr. Molt of 6XAD used a Grebe CR 13 for receiving and a quarter kilowatt tube for transmitting. Canadian 9BP used one 50 watt tube for sending, while the North Pole receiver is a Zenith "1R."

The combined efforts of all the amateurs concerned make this one of the greatest achievements ever accomplished in the history of amateur radio short wave communication.

HUNTING WITH DOGS BANNED IN ENGLAND

Such Action has Been Made Necessary by Spread of Foot and Mouth Disease

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The rapid spread of the foot and mouth disease among cattle in this country has induced the Ministry of Agriculture to make a drastic order that will bring dismay to thousands of sport-loving Britons. It is nothing less than absolute prohibition of hunting with dogs through the area affected by the plague, the assumption being that the disease may be spread by dogs.

As the order comes at the very height of the British hunting season, and is of the widest application it will derive thousands of persons of their cherished winter sport and will throw many people out of work. The Prince of Wales, because of the order, has cancelled his arrangements in the Midlands, planning to hunt in the southern countries, which are free from the plague.

Nearly 89,000 domestic animals have been slaughtered in an effort to stop the spread of the disease.

COMMUNITY XMAS TREE AT TERRACE

Successful Affair Staged Friday Night Under Auspices Parent Teachers' Association

TERRACE, Dec. 26.—The Community Christmas tree was held in the G.W.V.A. Hall Friday evening, under the auspices of the Parent Teachers' Association. The hall was filled to the limit of its capacity. The program, which was given by the various grades of the public school was excellent. A novel feature of the evening was a drawing contest in which the girls under thirteen were given a chance to win a Simonds' bed for their dolls by drawing a cat catching a mouse. Ethel Thomas proved to be the best artist and carried off the prize. Mr. Hart was responsible for this item. Later in the evening a number of prizes were raffled among the children, numbers having been distributed among all the school children. In addition to this every child in the community was presented with a large bag of candy, nuts and fruit and a book.

SUCCESSFUL XMAS TREE AT TERRACE

Fine Entertainment Staged by Union Sunday School Last Week

TERRACE, Dec. 26.—The Union Sunday school held a very successful Christmas entertainment Tuesday evening. The primary class under the leadership of Mrs. Grieg rendered the first part of the program very charmingly. The cantata "Kris Kringle" which followed reflected much credit on the participants and Rev. W. J. Parsons who trained them. There were a number of clever, well performed drills, good chorus singing and numerous recitations. At the close of the program there was a Christmas tree with candies and presents for the children. The audience joined in three cheers for the youthful performers, Mrs. Grieg, Rev. Mr. Parsons and Miss Onalee Grieg who acted as accompanist.

LETTER WAS FOUR YEARS IN TRANSIT

Communication From Road Amundsen Posted in Far North is Delivered

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 26.—Four years ago Road Amundsen, the explorer, mailed a letter in the far north to a friend in Minneapolis. After various adventures the communication reached its destination a few days ago, bearing on its face an epic of the postal service at the world's edge.

Esquimo carriers and dog teams, who started with the letter, had succumbed to cold and starvation, and their mail pouch lay for nearly four years preserved by ice and snow until last summer, when a party of Russians discovered it. They sent the letter to Amundsen's home in Norway, where his brother, Leon, forwarded it to the Minneapolis destination.

How much does it mean to you to keep your wife young?

Who hasn't met old women of 25, and young women of 40? It isn't years alone that age—any physician will tell you that undue expenditure of physical and mental energy will make the young old at 30.

More and more men are coming to appreciate that if for no other reason than that of health, it is inadvisable to permit this work by women.

It is such things as washing that soonest wear women out—handling of heavy clothes; stooping and lifting; working in cold water, and then hot; wet feet; trotting in and out from a warm, steamy room, to a cold outdoors.

And there's really no need for it—we can do the whole washing for the family, at a cost that's most moderate—less, in fact, than it costs to call in a laundress.

Call us and have us tell all about this more modern wash-way.

DESPITE OPPOSITION OF PARTY BOSSES, McADOO SEEMS LIKELY TO BE PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE.

stepped out upon the stage and made his 1924 bow.

Rockwell is an astute campaigner and is possessed of keen political judgment. He was pre-convention leader of the James M. Cox campaign in 1920. Cox won the Democratic nomination, but was defeated in the election by Warren G. Harding, the Republican nominee. The Ohio leader set the stage carefully for his presentation of McAdoo. He spent several months in canvassing the sentiment of party leaders in various States. Then he arranged for a delegation of prominent Democrats to wait upon McAdoo and urge him to announce his candidacy for the nomination. McAdoo demanded time to satisfy himself that his services were really required by his party. While he was presumably struggling with this problem, Rockwell came out with his "one great figure" statement, claiming he had assurance of Democratic support for McAdoo in more than forty States.

Likely Candidate

Rockwell managed the preliminaries adroitly. Whether his able generalship will bring McAdoo safely through the big fight that is ahead of him is problematical, but the majority view of the Democratic press seems to be that the former Treasury Secretary has a little better than an even chance of securing the nomination. It all depends upon the strength of the forces that Tammany and its allies can mobilize, and that in all probability will not be known until the delegates gather for the national convention. In this battle the zero hour will be when the balloting begins.

The Bosses of the Democratic party organizations in New Jersey, Illinois, and Indiana are the chief allies of Tammany in the warfare against McAdoo. Their hostile attitude is due largely to McAdoo's relation to Wilson, who, when he was President, did not defer in the matter of patronage as much as they thought a Democratic president ought to do. They dislike McAdoo for his father-in-law's sake; also they dislike him on his own account, for when he was Secretary of the Treasury he shared Wilson's attitude toward Tammany. It was during McAdoo's incumbency that the Federal Reserve system and the Farm Loan system were started and the income tax machinery installed. This meant that he had an immense number of appointments to make. There were many jobs—nice juicy jobs—that should have gone to the faithful, but they went to the efficient instead. In selecting his personnel McAdoo is said to have paid but little heed to the recommendations of the manipulators of the party machine. Thus he incurred their enmity.

In the Democratic convention a two-thirds vote of the delegates is necessary to win the Presidential nomination. There will be 1,994 delegates to the 1924 convention, which means that McAdoo will need 730 to win. Conversely, Tammany and its allies will need 365 to prevent him from winning. Whether they can secure this preventive bloc and hold it solid at the convention is a matter of no little speculation at the present time. Following a meeting which the leaders of the opposition faction held recently at French Lick, an Indiana health resort—the Democratic bosses always seem to meet at a health resort when they plan to make things politically unhealthy for some one—it was reported that McAdoo's opponents expect him to line up nearly 400 delegates who will vote against him to the end. The political writers of some of the leading Democratic papers, however, declare that this expectation will never be realized.

Factor in His Favor

There are two big factors in McAdoo's favor: he has a fine record of public service, and he has a personality that will make a strong appeal to the rank and file. He is modest and unassuming, a man of action rather than words. He is an astute politician, but there is nothing spectacular of flamboyant in his methods. He is an indefatigable worker, sparing neither himself nor his associates and if he is chosen as the Democratic standard-bearer he will undoubtedly conduct a strenuous though dignified campaign. He is probably the outstanding man of the Democratic party both in point of merit and ability. His record is dotted with brilliant achievements.

McAdoo was born in Georgia in 1863. He is a lawyer by profession, but for a time was manager of a street-railway company in Knoxville, Tenn. and for ten years was president of the Hudson and Manhattan Railway Company of New York. He took no active part in politics until he joined the Wilson forces in 1911.

In the pre-convention campaign of 1920, McAdoo was regarded as one of the "possibilities" for the Democratic nomination, but he was subjected to a bitter assault on account of his relationship to Wilson. He was dubbed "the Crown Prince" and was made the target for innumerable shafts of acid regarding the "right of succession" to the Presidency. Just before the convention opened he wired several of the party leaders that he did not want the nomination. Nevertheless he entered the convention a big favorite and persisted so in all of the early ballots. He had 266 votes on the first ballot and rose by various stages to 460 on the forty-first, his highest point. Delegates controlled by Tammy and Company opposed him throughout the voting, and his defeat was generally attributed to this opposition.

Can the Bosses beat him in 1924? This is the question upon which the interest of the press and public of the Democratic party is focussed at the present time.
