OUTLOOK FOR GERMANY ADMITTEDLY BAD

SELF-STYLED DISCOVERER OF NORTH POLE GETS FIFTEEN YEAR SENTENCE

Chancellor Stresemann Declares Country's Internal Position is Hopeless; Future Looks Black

LONDON, Nov. 22.—In an address before the Reichstag today Chancellor Stresemann declared that Germany's internal position was hopeless and, so far as he could see, there was not the slightest prospect of effecting an improvement.

France, he said, had expressed fear of serious German developments arising from recent incidents, but he could assure France that any developments that might occur would be due entirely to France herself.

MAYOR TOUCHES UP SIR HENRY

Asks When Local Projects Are to be Proceeded With and Gets Reply

Mayor Newton, on Tuesday evening, sent the following telegram to Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways:

"As a result of your visit in Prince Rupert our citizens hoped for quicker action covering your statements regarding grain elevator, steamship for Alaskan service, tourist hotel as well as two smaller boats for local service out of this port. If these are to be of service for next summer's business, strong feeling exists here that immediate action is essential. Can we hope for such?"

Sir Henry's reply received yesterday afternoon was as follows: "Your message received. The various matters referred to are under consideration. I am on the line at present and will be absent from headquarters for a week but, on my return, I will make you a more definite reply without undue delay."

MARTIN JONES MUST SERVE HIS TERM IN PEN. FOR WOUNDING

Prince George Cases Decided Against Prisoner by Full Court of Appeal

(Special to Daily News) VANCOUVER, Nov. 22.—Martin Jones will serve his four years in the penitentiary for wounding another man several months ago in Prince George with intent to maim. The five judges of the appeal court decided unanimously against the contention of Robert Cassidy, K.C., counsel for the defense, that Jones had no intention of maiming when he slashed his opponent with a razor in a fight over the girl.

EARL CAVAN WILL PAY VISIT CANADA

No Official Motive Imputed to Forthcoming Empire Tour of British Chief of Staff

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—No official motive is imputed to the forthcoming visit to Canada of Earl Cavan, Chief of the Imperial Staff, Hon. E. M. Macdonald, minister of defence, stated this morning. Earl Cavan comes to Canada in the course of a tour of the Empire and while here he will confer with the government in a friendly manner on military matters.

PERJURY CHARGE IS DISMISSED BY COURT

Dry-Squad Official Found Not Guilty but Judge Admonishes Him

VANCOUVER, Nov. 22.—J. A. Reilly of the Vancouver dry squad, was acquitted of perjury by the assize jury yesterday.

Mr. Justice Gregory in commenting on the verdict said he was indispensed to find fault with the verdict but the judge thought Reilly practically admitted threatening G. L. Fraser, a Vancouver lawyer, and the matter ought to be brought to the attention of the police commissioners. "A man in your position who so far forgets himself is liable to do it again."

The charge of perjury arose out of the fact that Reilly denied having threatened to "get" Fraser in connection with the bill Fraser obtained against him in the small debts court.

In court later Reilly denied having threatened Fraser.

REDISTRIBUTION IS BEING CONSIDERED

Bill Will be Brought Down by Government Very Soon: Great Expectations

VICTORIA, Nov. 22.—The Government's redistribution bill is about due to be brought down and a great many members are looking forward to it with keen interest, especially those in the north.

Naturally there have been many revisions of the bill since it was first drawn by Premier Oliver. One thing seems certain that Prince Rupert constituency will be sliced up a good deal in order to make it small enough for one man to keep in close touch with all its activities.

There is a rumor that Oniceca will be changed very considerably, and also Prince George. Northern members are insisting on greater representation for northern and central British Columbia, especially in view of the certainty of rapid developments in that part of the country.

It is being realized in the south that Queen Charlotte Islands alone would make a large constituency, although the present population is not very large. Still the population is increasing.

While Esquimalt has been protesting against the elimination of that constituency, it is pretty certain to go as it can well be divided among nearby constituencies. At least one of the interior electoral districts will also be abolished.

SEIGNEUR NEXT LUMBER VESSEL

Being Diverted from Australia to Japan Service for C.G.M.M.

VOLUNTEER TO TAKE DUTHIE MINE ORE

Coastwise Double Weekly Service Will be Maintained Until Christmas

C.G.M.M. steamer Canadian Seigneur, at present in the Montreal-Australia service, will be the next freighter to come to this port for lumber cargo for Japan. Reginald Beaumont, C.G.M.M. superintendent, stated this morning on his return from Vancouver. She is being diverted from the Australia to the Orient run on completion of her present voyage. The vessel has not yet left Australia, so will not be here for a month at least. It will be her first call at this port.

Mr. Beaumont also stated that the Canadian Volunteer, at present in the local dry dock for overhaul, will take the first shipment of Duthie mine ore from here to the smelter at Selby, California. The first consignment of 304 tons will be loaded at the end of this week immediately after the steamer leaves the dry dock and she will make regular calls here monthly in future.

The double weekly coastwise passenger and freight service performed by the steamers Prince Rupert and Prince George will be maintained until Christmas when the first of the steamers will be taken off for annual overhaul on the local dry dock. The winter time table of the coast steamers will be issued in the course of the next few days, Mr. Beaumont stated.

PREMIER KING SAILS FOR CANADA FRIDAY

Any Statement He Has to Make on Imperial Conference Will be Made When He Reaches Home

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, Premier of Canada, will sail for home on the Montclair tomorrow. He says that any statement he has to make in connection with his attendance at the Imperial Conference will be made when he reaches Canada.

J. B. Fitzmaurice, brother of the late George Fitzmaurice who died this week, is expected from Vancouver on Saturday to attend the funeral which will take place with full military honors under the auspices of the Great War Veterans' Association probably next Sunday.

Capt. J. R. Turner, field engineer for J. F. Duthie, the Seattle mining investor, returned to Dorreen on last night's train.

Mrs. Wallace Reid, widow of the late "Wallie" Reid, of screen fame, is crusading through Canada and the United States against the drug evil that blasted her home. She was photographed in Toronto recently with her young son, "Wallie, Junior."

Breweries Amalgamate to Supply Beer to Provincial Liquor Board and Scheme Thought Beneficial

VICTORIA, Nov. 22.—The British Columbia breweries have created a central beer distributing agency from which the government will purchase all beer for sale in liquor stores. Amalgamation of all breweries in the province has just been completed and the creation of the agency will improve beer conditions in B.C. it is stated.

Under the new plan of all beer being sold through one organization the element of competition among breweries will be eliminated and this will effect great improvement and aid materially in enforcing the province's liquor laws, is the opinion of Attorney General Manson.

OCEAN TEMPERATURE BELOW THE SURFACE TO BE ASCERTAINED

Thermometers to be Placed on Bottom of Transpacific Liners of C. P. R.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 22.—To secure temperatures at depths well below the surface of the North Pacific ocean, thermometers are to be affixed to the bottoms of all Canadian Pacific liners by the Dominion meteorological department.

Scientists now believe the temperature of the north Pacific has an important bearing on the weather of Canada and the department is taking steps to learn if this is a fact. With this end in view J. Patterson, chief meteorological physicist of the department, is here to arrange for installing the instruments.

Frank Goddard is Declared Heavyweight Boxing Champion of Britain

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Frank Goddard became heavyweight champion of Britain because Jack Bloomfield, his opponent, hit him when he was down. The men were contesting for the title recently retired by Joe Beckett.

DR. ADDISON JOINS THE ENGLISH LABOR PARTY

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Dr. Christopher Addison, former minister of health in the Lloyd George cabinet, has joined the labor party.

Dr. Cook the Explorer Goes to Penitentiary for Fraud in Connection with Oil Promotion

FORT WORTH, Texas, Nov. 22.—Dr. Fred A. Cook, Arctic explorer, was yesterday convicted on twelve counts of using the mails to defraud in connection with oil stock promotions and was sentenced to fourteen years and nine months in the penitentiary. He was also fined $12,000.

Cook's partner, A. K. Eckman, was sentenced to seven years in the same institution and fined $12,000.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook first became internationally known in April, 1908, when, upon arriving in Copenhagen from a trip into the far north, he announced that he had discovered the North Pole. His story was accepted as true and he was received with high honors.

Upon returning to this country Dr. Cook published reports of his journey and wide credence was given his narrations for some months. Since then his claims have been disputed, and he ultimately was branded as a faker, but in the meantime he was the recipient of many honors. He was made president of the Explorers Club, New York, and a member of the Kings County Medical Society, the American and National Geographical Societies, the American Ethnological Society, the American Alpine Club and lesser organizations.

Was With Peary
 Dr. Cook was graduated with a degree of doctor from the New York University College of Medicine in 1890 and the following year was appointed surgeon to the Peary Antarctic expedition. Two years later he led a party up the west coast of Greenland, and the next year he explored the south portion of the same island.

In 1897 Dr. Cook was appointed surgeon to the Belgian Antarctic expedition and as a result he received numerous decorations including the Order of Leopold, the gold medals of the Belgian Royal Society and the Municipality of Brussels, and the silver medal of the Belgian Royal Geographical Society.

Again yielding to the lure of the North, Dr. Cook, in 1903, undertook an expedition to reach the summit of Mount McKinley, the highest point on the American continent, more than 20,000 feet above the sea level. The expedition failed but in 1906 he financed another and this time he claimed to have been successful.

It was two years later that he announced his claim to have reached the North Pole.
 Voluminous Writer
 Dr. Cook has written voluminously for magazines along the lines of ethnology, anthropology, geography and other sciences from his observations in the Arctic and Antarctic. He was the author of several books, including "Through the First Antarctic Night." In 1913 and 1914 he lectured in this country and in England, but led a life of comparative retirement until he came to Fort Worth in 1919, and went into the oil business.

FISHING BOAT COOK EXPIRES

Harry Moore Died in Hospital This Morning—Well Known in Waterfront Circles

Henry W. Moore, until recently cook on the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co.'s trawler James Caruthers, died suddenly in the Prince Rupert General Hospital this morning. Deceased, who was suffering from Bright's disease, was taken seriously ill last August and was then admitted to the hospital. He seemed to recover his health, however, and he was discharged. Another sudden attack came on and he again entered the institution yesterday, this time failing to rally.

Moore, who was a member in good standing of the Deep Sea Fishermen's Union, was 45 years of age and a native of England. He had been associated with the local halibut fisheries for some years.

Funeral arrangements are in the hands of the B.C. Undertakers. At the time of joining the union in 1917 he had a wife, Mary Moore, living in England.

LONGSHOREMEN ARE AGAINST OPEN SHOP

Vote of 1007 to 19 Against Accepting Proposal of Shipping Federation

VANCOUVER, Nov. 22.—All hope of an amicable settlement of the longshoremen's strike here was defeated when the strikers in secret ballot voted 1007 to 19 not to accept the conditions of the shipping federation who asked for work to be resumed on an open shop basis at present strike wages.

FUEL OIL TAX WOULD CRIPPLE INDUSTRIES

Delegation Waits on Government to Register Objection to Its Levy

VICTORIA, Nov. 22.—Imposition of a tax of one cent a gallon on fuel oil imported into B.C. would cripple many industries, the Government was told yesterday by industrial leaders. Premier Oliver declared that if the figures as presented were correct the Government was prepared to consider a smaller oil tax, it to be for revenue purposes.

Regret Death Of George Fitzmaurice.

George Fitzmaurice, better known here as Fitz, who closed his earthly career early yesterday morning was to a large extent a public character. He knew everybody and everybody knew him. He was one of those likeable men that make the world brighter for his presence.

Fitz was a pioneer of Prince Rupert. He had great faith in the city and its future. Occasionally he wrote articles for this paper and they were always welcome. He was at one time on the staff of the paper and of recent years was ready to help out during any time of stress. That was true of anything that was going on. Fitz could be counted on to help any good cause or to take part in any event where his services were needed. He had an artistic temperament which prevented him gathering any store of this world's goods. Finance was a bore to him and he had no need of money except enough to carry him over the present.

Prince Rupert will be the poorer for the loss of one of her important citizens.

Quick Changes In British Politics.

Rapid changes are taking place in British politics. Party lines do not amount to much there among the biggest men, when there is a question of principle at stake. The recent stepping back into the Unionist ranks of Lord Birkenhead, Austen Chamberlain and Sir Robert Horne was a great event in the history of the country. These men, prominent in the Lloyd George cabinet, refused to desert their chief at the time of the defection prior to the last election. Now, when it is seen that they are needed to help carry a big measure they step into line and are ready to do their part.

In this country these men would have to answer charges of instability and unfaithfulness to party. Doubtless they are criticized in that country, but the fact that they can move from one side to another and still keep their prominence in public life is an indication of their greatness.

After all, political parties are simply means to an end. They are formed to unite people in carrying on a certain policy. They are formed by the people who dominate them and are useful only as long as they help to carry out the purpose for which they are formed.

McRae Party Is An Example.

Take the recently formed provincial party as an example. A lot of money has been spent in organizing it, so much that people are wondering who it is that is willing to spend so much. Yet the organizer of the party declares that they have not yet adopted a policy but that it will be formulated at a convention to be held soon. It looks like putting the cart before the horse. If there was some great outstanding policy that was before the country and the new party was formed to place it before the people and to try to carry it through to fruition, there would be some excuse for its existence. It has no such policy and consequently has no excuse for existence. Also it may be mentioned that there are no big men in the party who look like leaders.

If the new provincial party is no greater success than was the new farmer's party in Ontario it will be anything but beneficial to the country.

Take No Pay For Making Corrections.

Someone sends in an unsigned note and fifty cents for a correction in connection with a local item that appeared in this paper recently. It was in connection with the position of a lady who recently left the city. The error was very trivial and one quite likely to be made under the circumstances. We do not take pay for making corrections and if the writer of the note will call at the office the money will be paid her.

PRINCE RUPERT CURIOUS CITY

So Thinks C. Hanbury Williams Writing in Montreal Gazette of His Visit.

It was fair time when C. Hanbury Williams of Ottawa, visited Prince Rupert and naturally he wrote of things as he saw them at that time in an article in the Montreal Gazette, one of a series, he says:

All the way from Terrace to Prince Rupert the Skeena River unfolds scenery like a moving picture show; there is one fairy peep after another, impossible to photograph from the rear platform so as to get satisfactory results because half the beauty lies in the vivid color changes, the peeps of silvery water seen afar off through a framework of green islets; the broken splash of a rising salmon; as you get nearer to the sea, the water gets saltier. The sea-gulls congregate on the sand shoals, and the broad current flows slow and smooth, a contrast to the hurrying waste of white water which you have watched till the eye got weary in the mountains you are leaving behind you. In the penultimate stage, you pass canneries built out on piles over the estuary, which, at this time of the year, seem to be deserted except for a few stolid, incurious Chinamen, and the whole thing seems foreign and unfamiliar.

Like No Other

Prince Rupert itself is like no other town of its size in Canada; verily it is a city founded on a rock, and mostly blasted out of the rock, for that matter. Then they lay wooden sidewalks down on the rock to make it look civilized and like a pukka city, and—to reach the hotel—you have to walk up wooden steps, dozens of them, and long wooden inclines with ravines below you, and the town rises on shelves one above the other away up to the hills at the back and the population is white and yellow, mostly yellow, being Chinese and Indian, fat and prosperous looking; and on all the doorsteps of the stores and business buildings are squatting squaws and papooses, who appear to have nothing in the world to do except to stare round-eyed at the passers by; and, this being fair day, to munch fruit and exhibit toy balloons for the admiration of the public.

The middle of Third Avenue, which is the Broadway of Prince Rupert, is blocked almost across by two large and substantial houses which are being transported on rollers from their original site where the new City Hall has been erected. I remained there for three or four days and they made no appreciable progress during that time in spite of the fact that one of them had a huge notice pasted on it warning you against exceeding the pace of fifteen miles an hour.

Manners Good

In the dining room of the hotel there were almost as many Indians as white folk and the American tourists didn't quite like it, although the autochthonous guests seemed to mingle with them on terms of perfect equality, and the manners of the Indians were at least as good as those of many whites whom I have come in contact with in the country hotels one stays in when travelling on the wilds of the western prairies. A train acquaintance from Seattle and I started to the Fair together after dinner and climbed more perpendicular stairs and side inclines, the last lap being laid over a musk which yielded under your feet exactly like a bath sponge, when you stepped off the wood. We had another staircase to climb in order to enter the building itself and the first thing we saw was a couple of Chinese babies in gorgeous array and looking so like dolls that I felt inclined to pinch them to make sure they were real.

Artful of Repute

There was an Indian artist of repute carving little totem poles and bracelets and other adornments out of prehistoric mammoth ivory, and weaving pretty little baskets which will hold water like a tin pail. Apart from this the show was very much like all the other shows of the kind, except, perhaps, that the fruit was finer than most which I have seen. We were late in getting there and later in getting home but the squaws were sitting on the same doorsteps, the only difference being that the poor little papooses were yelling loudly being evidently bored stiff and disapproving of their parents dissipated hours.

In Eastern Canada we are always told by the dwellers on the Pacific Coast that "while it does rain in Vancouver and Prince Rupert it's a dry rain." I used to wonder just what this meant but I got a sort of clue the morning after I arrived. I glanced out of the window, and found the sky overcast but saw that people were walking about without umbrellas and rain-coats, and that men in their shirtsleeves were hanging about at the corners of the streets, apparently gossiping at their ease, and it was not until I got downstairs and looked out of doors that I discovered it was pouring in a way that would send Montrealers or Ottawans chasing street cars or taking refuge in the nearest doorway.

Gigantic Halibut

A friend called for me to take me to look over one of the big cold storage plants, and the car was decorated with flowers (I believe it was the identical car which had the honor of transporting the "Queen of the Fair" backwards and forwards) and we raced our triumphant way to the shore looking like the advance guard of a circus. I had been warned to take a coat in spite of the fact that the weather was muggy and was glad I had done so because we spent most of our time in a temperature of twenty-five below zero, gazing at gigantic halibut, hanging up and taller than a man, cold clammy objects which made you shiver to look at them, and salmon by the thousand frozen to a crisp, and other marine monsters, while the crew of the fishing schooner which was unloading at the wharf wore their oilskins and looked quite wintry. It was very interesting, but I was glad to get to the room where they kipped the herrings in smoke-filled cupboards, and there was a chance of warming up; I am sure I could smell fish for three days afterwards.

Many Norwegians

Seventy-five per cent of the fishermen are Norwegians, they told me, and the halibut weigh up to 300 pound. They are caught all the way from close inshore up to a thousand miles out at sea, and the fishing season lasts all the year round. Further, if you are fond of figures, there is a dry dock here which will accommodate ships of 20,000 tons. Prince Rupert will certainly be one of the important ports when trade to the Orient has opened up as it must indubitably do some day, in not the remote future.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

November 22, 1913.

In connection with a telegraphic interview from Victoria, the Vancouver Province describes Mayor T. D. Pattullo as being "brimful of optimism" with respect to Prince Rupert's future. Mayor Pattullo is at present in the capital on city business.

J. P. Graves has resigned as general manager of the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelter & Power Co., and is succeeded in that position by F. M. Sylvester of Vancouver.

To prevent overflowing and tearing out of banks during the spring freshets, the provincial government is building a wing dam on the Bear River near Stewart. The bridge is also being improved.

The Man in the Moon SAYS:

PEACE River seems to be the wrong name for those people up north of Edmonton. First they rag the Government at Victoria and then they get after the railway commission. Next thing we hear they will be asking for other equal privileges with the rest of us, and that is not the way to keep the peace.

Health Rundown?

Health Restored

Mrs. F. F. Malcolm, Lucknow, Ont., writes:—"My system became run down and I was very nervous. I was easily irritated and any trivial matter or noise from the children would upset my nerves. I also suffered from indigestion, and often gas would accumulate in my stomach, causing great distress. For about a year I was unable to attend any kind of gathering or be in a crowd, my nerves were so bad. In fact, it would be difficult to outline fully just how I felt. I called on the Doctor, and took the medicine he gave me, but did not seem to improve. One day I read of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and what it was doing for other people suffering from nervousness. I resolved to try it, and by the time I had taken three boxes, I could notice an improvement. I continued this treatment until I had taken nine boxes. By this time I felt real well and strong again. All my old troubles and symptoms had been removed, and I felt like my old self once more. Since then, I usually keep Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in the house, and when I feel the least bit run down or fagged out, I take a few more. By following this plan I keep strong and healthy."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Will do wonders for you if you only give it a chance. See all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

"NOTHING SERIOUS," you say, "guess I will soon be all right." And yet you do not feel well, are easily tired and irritated, have some digestive troubles and headaches perhaps, and have spells of depression and discouragement.

You know that you are not getting the most out of life, but do you realize that you are drifting into a condition of chronic ill-health.

Perhaps you are already familiar with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and need only a reminder of what you may expect from the use of this great restorative treatment.

There is scarcely a community in this great country but can produce evidence to the unique quality of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a means of forming new, rich blood, strengthening the nerves, and building up the system generally.

Try it when you are tired out and discouraged. Try it for sleeplessness and irritability. Try it for nervous headaches and indigestion.

It is not a mere relief, and for this reason you must persevere in its use until the lost vigor is restored to the nerves. The fact that the results are thorough and lasting will encourage you to keep up the use of the Nerve Food until you feel strong and well.

You are not experimenting when you employ this great reconstructive agent, but can turn to it with confidence that what has restored the health and vigor of many thousands of men and women will not fail you.

it is understood a lot of the young bachelors in town have been inquiring about the rates to Honolulu.

HEART WAS SO BAD HAD TO SIT UP IN BED

Mrs. A. E. Fitzgerald, 106 Ross st., St. Thomas, Ont., writes—"In the Fall of 1921, I was taken ill with my heart, but did not pay much attention to it. I kept on with my household duties, but seemed to become worse and worse, and finally had to call in a doctor. He said I was all run down and was a nervous wreck. I had a severe pain in my chest which would move over to my heart and it became so bad I could not lie down, as when I did I had such a smothering feeling I would have to sit up in bed all the time."

Bound from western Alaska ports to Seattle, Alaska Steamship Co.'s steamer Alameda was in port this morning from 6:15 to 9 o'clock. ZAZA IS STORY OF A BEAUTIFUL GIRL

Theatrical Star, Heroine of Play, Reaches Pinnacle of Fame

Zaza, the heroine of the picture play shown here this week end, is the star at "The Odeon," a cafe chantant at St. Etienne, near Paris. The Duke de Brissac showers her with costly presents and attentions, much to the delight of Rosa, aunt of the orphaned Zaza.

Florianne, a soubrette on the same bill, makes a play for Bernard Dufresne, a member of the French diplomatic corps, who is a frequent visitor at "The Odeon," just to get a look at the lovely Zaza, Florianne being extremely jealous.

On this particular night, Dufresne saves Zaza from the advances of a rough-neck. The girl is terribly upset at not seeing Dufresne after the incident and tells her manager, Rigault, that if he wishes her to sign any contract he will have to bring Monsieur Dufresne to her that night.

Before leaving for Paris, Dufresne stops at "The Odeon." Florianne, whose jealousy and rage has increased, cuts the rope of the swing Zaza uses in her act, and the girl plunges into the audience beyond the orchestra pit. Dufresne is first to her aid and as he holds her in his arms both realize a tremendous love. The doctor orders a complete rest so Zaza takes a cottage at the edge of town — a beautiful spot where she and Dufresne find that cupid makes a splendid healer.

Blissfully Happy

They are blissfully happy together until Madame Dufresne arrives from Paris to claim her place with her husband. Zaza goes into a frenzy when Florianne comes to the love nest and tells her that Dufresne has just left for America with a woman he called "my dear."

The realization that Dufresne is married stuns Zaza. She determines to go through with her plans, but the sight of Dufresne's little daughter, Yvonne, dissipates her desire for revenge. Zaza returns to her cottage heart-weary and dejected. Dufresne arriving a short time later to say good-bye. Zaza asks him if he is taking his wife and child with him. This puzzles Bernard, and he asks her what she means. In the scene that follows Zaza tells him that she has told his wife all of their love—their kisses—and of many other things that never happened.

Wild With Rage

Dufresne is aghast at this. He is wild with rage. Zaza defies him. Then she becomes penitent and confesses that she has lied—that she did not tell his wife anything. At this Dufresne declares his love anew, and vows that he will get a divorce. Zaza insists that his first duty is to his wife and child and that he must go to America as he has planned. They part, but love remains in both hearts.

Years go by. Zaza reaches the pinnacle of fame in Paris. One night in the city Dufresne and his daughter, Yvonne, back from the States where Madame Dufresne had died, see the lovely Zaza again. Reconciliation follows, and Zaza's love nest in the country becomes a home.

Considerable of the material for the job including wooden pipe for the main arrived yesterday. It is expected that three or four weeks will see the system in operation. Labor will be supplied by the natives themselves.

The source of the Metlakatla water supply will be a small lake about a mile back from the village. The main will be laid to a convenient centre in the village and from it laterals will be laid to supply each house. The material is being taken over by scow to Metlakatla today. Indian Agent W. E. Collison accompanied the engineers across to the village.

It is hoped that a small hydro-electric plant for the supplying of light to each of the houses will also be put in at Metlakatla in the near future.

STABILIZING OF TURKEY MARKET

Demand This Year is Very Large and no Price Decline is Expected

Opening prices for Christmas turkeys will be announced shortly. Thanksgiving turkeys were well cleaned up in local stores 24 hours before closing on the eve of the holiday and it is estimated that the sales this year more than trebled any previous Thanksgiving business in the last ten years. Prices for Christmas stock will not suffer the big decline of a year ago, and it is expected to stabilize the prices at the beginning of the business and maintain them until the finish.

The Valencia orange season is nearly over and the new naval oranges are already on the southern markets. This line will not be popular for two or three weeks as they are generally quite green at this time of the year. Jap oranges have arrived and will be in big demand for the next four or five weeks.

Egg prices are still rising and butter shows a slight sharpening tendency. Otherwise there are few changes to be recorded on the local retail market.

THELMA DUE HERE FRIDAY

Local Mailboat Boat is Virtually Stripped Clean Above Deck—
All Gear Lost

Beating the marks of her terrific pounding by heavy seas off the Fairweather fishing ground-last week, in the course of which storm she lost two members of her crew, Tom Wilson and Spencer Allen, both well known fishermen of this port, the Canadian hullabaloo schooner Thelma No. 2, Capt. George Fritz, is expected here some time tomorrow, according to latest word received on the waterfront.

The Thelma crossed at Juncos early Tuesday under tow of the Lituya. Scurvily the Lituya, after making temporary repairs at Yakutat late last week, the vessel left there under her own power but off Pt. Adolphus the engine crankshaft broke and she was forced to put into shelter, being picked up there by the Lituya and brought to Juncos.

The craft is virtually stripped clean above deck. Her mast is lumpy out; the wheelie carried away, leaving only a small stub of metal to show where it had been; her deck lights are swept away; handrails alongside the deck house are sheared off cleanly; all the gear and dories, anchor, etc., stowed on deck was taken, and the brass steering wheel, located forward on the outside of the pilot house, is badly bent where a member of the crew rammed it and held on until the force of the pounding sea broke his hold and swept him away. This was one of the men who was drowned. The hull of the ship is undamaged but beneath the deck, the force of the waves split lengthwise the pin-boards, or partitions,

WIFE WAS CRUEL SO HUSBAND ASKS DIVORCE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 22.
—The "Diggs Bill" recently passed by the Alabama Legislature, and which provides that a man can obtain a divorce on the grounds of cruelty if his life is endangered by his wife, now is undergoing its first test. The "Digger" happens to be a woman,
A. Green Rutledge, who has filed suit for divorce against his wife, Katie Rutledge.

Green charges he has been the victim of disputes, dishes, well-aimed rolling pins and even axes.

"She's been picking on me for five years because I couldn't give her all the luxuries of life," Green said, "and when she get-ted me the nearest weapon in the house."

SHIFTING CONDITIONS

"Our constituents say your speeches are not as convincing as they used to be."

"Perhaps they are right," replied Senator Scoville. "It's dangerous to convince a crowd of voters so thoroughly that you won't be able to make them follow a new line of argument in case circumstances render it necessary for you to change your mind."—Washington Star.

SOME IMPROVEMENT

"Father," confessed the col-low youth, "I have married her.
We are two souls with but a single thought."

"Well, you've gained something. A single thought isn't so steady, but it is one more that I ever knew you to have before."—From the Boston Post.

power and your head to the sea as she was driven before a heavy wind, the Thelma was left afloat for two days while the surviving members of the crew bailed and pumped out the water and worked to get the engine started. With her power restored, Capt. Fritz took the ship on to Yakutat at the end of that time.

WATERFRONT SWEEP BY SOUTHWEST GALE

Little Damage Was Done by Last Evening's Duster,
However

The waterfront was swept by a strong southwesterly gale last night but no damage was done to boats. The Prince Rupert Rowing and Yacht Club wharf came in for a grinding while several boats in Cow Bay pulled out for more sheltered anchorage. Several boats at the yacht club broke their bows and stern lines but no particular damage was done.

FISH ARRIVALS

Only Few Boats and Prices Paid
on Exchange Were Not High

The fish sale was a small one at the Exchange today and prices were lower than has been the case generally of late. Following were the catches:

Reveille, 7,000 pounds, at 11.5c
and 10.5c, to the Cold Storage Co.

Gibson, 4,500 pounds, at 14.5c
and 10.5c, to the Cold Storage Co.

Verna, 1,500 pounds, at 11.5c and 10.5c, to the Royal Fish Co.

AN AWFUL ATTACK OF PIMPLES ALL OVER HIS FACE

Pimples breaking out on the face and other parts of the body is a sore sign that the blood is not in proper shape.

While the skin is the subject of the attack the real work of the disease is in the blood as a result of the entire circulation being poisoned.

Burck's Blood Purifier quickly and effectively removes pimples and all other skin diseases as it goes right to the root of the trouble by cleansing and enriching the blood.

Mr. Conrad Anderson, Kildale, Sask., writes—"A year ago I had a fatal attack of pimples. They broke out all over my face and I could not get rid of them in any way. One day a friend told me about your Burck's Blood Purifier and let me have a bottle to try it upon. After using it I noticed a change, so I bought three more bottles, and now I don't know there is such a thing as pimples."
