FEW TAXATION CHANGES FIELDING BUDGET

PEACE DELEGATE ASSASSINATED BY ONE WHO SUFFERED FROM BOLSHEVIKI

No Increase in Taxation this Year says Fielding in Budget Introduced in Commons Today

OTTAWA, May 11.—The galleries were packed this afternoon when Hon. W. S. Fielding rose to present his budget. He announced that he was reluctant to add to the taxes already existing and expressed the hope that the improvement in trade and on the railways would enable the government to get along without new taxes. Increases in the debt might continue for a short time but soon would cease.

For the current year Mr. Fielding said he estimated a surplus on ordinary account of fourteen millions but the railways would take seventy-four millions.

The minister said he proposed to make considerable reduction in the excise taxes imposed at the source. It will be six per cent and will apply to imports and home manufactures.

Few items are added to the list of exemptions from the sales tax including receipts and tax sales. The maximum tax on checks is reduced from $2.00 to $1.00. Excise tax on Canadian wines is reduced from $3.00 to $1.50 a gallon.

There is no change in income tax and if any is made it will be by a separate bill.

The addition made last year to the cigarette tax is dropped.

War Veterans Formally Opened Fine New Building on Third Ave. with Evening of Speech and Song

Last night the local branch of the Great War Veterans' Association planted another milestone in the history of its useful and progressive career in the opening of their fine new home on Third Avenue. Upon the conclusion of the one minute silence observed by the audience standing, as a token of respect to those of their comrades who had laid down their lives for freedom on the battlefields of the Great War, W. E. Denning, president of the G.W.V.A., declared the building open, to the strains of "O Canada" played by the Veterans' band. The spacious recreation hall was crowded to the doors by ex-service men, members of the City Council, Board of Trade, and friends of members of the association. W. E. Denning, president, occupied the chair and was accompanied on the platform by Mayor Newton, Dr. H. R. Grant, Major Macgregor, V.C., Alex. Mackenzie, secretary of the G.W.V.A., and E. C. Gibbons, president of the Board of Trade. An excellent musical program had been arranged and there was a plentiful supply of refreshments and smokes on hand.

President's Speech

In the opening speech President Denning said that he hoped the members of the G.W.V.A. would realize the importance of the evening and that they would make the new home a social ground on which to meet their comrades and also a social debating ground to talk over matters to help their comrades. To the guests of the evening he extended the hearty hospitality of the G.W.V.A. and hoped that they would go away with a kindly regard and say good words for the institution. The building they were opening had been the result of a good deal of thought and care on the part of the returned men in the community in order that they would have the home as a meeting place and a social debating ground. It had not been solely due to his own efforts that the building had been erected but it was due in a great

BRITISH VOTE ON REPARATIONS IS BRIEF AND CLEAR

LONDON, May 11.—Brevity and incisiveness were features of Great Britain's newest note to Germany on the reparations document. It covers two typewritten pages and avoids technicalities and points out in simple language the inadequacy from the British standpoint of Germany's proposal and urges her to try again.

SEATTLE MAN FOUND DEAD

H. C. Schmidt Was Victim of Unfortunate Accident in Woods Near Hartley Bay

H. C. Schmidt, aged 48, of Seattle was the man who was found dead near Hartley Bay at the first of the week. Coming up the coast from Seattle bound for Kelchikan he was wrecked near Hartley Bay in December. He remained there to repair his boat and was on a hunting expedition when he was killed. Going through the bush, he dislodged a rotten tree which fell on him, breaking his arm, and injuring his head and pinning him by the leg to the ground with his head downward. Stunned, he lay unconscious and was found dead the next day.

Provincial Constable Martin, of this city, and Constables Gillies, of Swanson Bay, arrived this afternoon.

Mrs. C. H. Sawle, of New Hazelton, was a passenger for the south on the Prince Rupert last night.

MANITOBA IS NOT WITH B.C.

Isaac Pitblado Retained by Manitoba Gives Opinion on Railway Rates

VICTORIA, May 11.—British Columbia is asking for equality in railway freight rates and equality is impossible under the conditions that prevail, declared Isaac Pitblado when discussing at a banquet of Canadian Manufacturers' Association of the prairie division on the appeal being made by the coast province against the decision of the Board of Railway Commissioners.

Pitblado is retained by the Manitoba Government to represent it at the appeal proceedings in Ottawa. He said there was no objection to British Columbia retaining its natural advantages but it must not seek to deprive other provinces of their advantages and by doing so impose on them disadvantages.

SHUT DOWN ESSEN TODAY

Protest Against Conviction of Baron Krupp von Bohlen by German City

ESSEN, May 11.—Essen is like a deserted city today, the stores, factories, and public utilities being all shut down as protest against the conviction of Baron Krupp von Bohlen and other officials of the Krupp works by French court martial. Not even a policeman is on the streets. Sabotage gangs dynamited an important railway bridge on the main line between Waltrop and Lunen.

Average Child not Bad but is Easily Influenced by Example Judge Young Told Rotary Club

"The average child is not inherently bad," declared Judge Young in an address at the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday afternoon. "The average boy goes wrong because of evil example, of circumstances, and of bad living conditions."

The address on "Boys" was listened to with great attention by the members of the club and visitors, many of whom themselves are parents. It contained much good advice and was replete with sound commonsense.

The speaker quoted Moody the evangelist as saying that if he could save one generation of boys and girls he could put the devil out of business. Some people thought because they had criminal codes and judges and prisons they had provided everything that was necessary. These he thought would always exist. He did not know to what extent the law and its enforcement deterred crime. The difficulty with them was that they waited until the crime was committed and made no effort to reach the cause of the crime and prevent it.

When the Panama Canal was built it was found that malarial fever made the work almost impossible. Instead of trying to cure the patients after they were sick, the breeding places of the mosquito were rooted out and destroyed. It was no good to destroy the mosquito by slapping him when he alights on the face. The same thing was true, of crime. The thing to do was to find the breeding places and obliterate them.

Proper Training
Judge Young then spoke of the importance of the education and care of children. It was difficult to say where the influence of heredity broke off and environment commenced. It was the consensus of opinion that in order to reach the desired end they should see that the child got proper religious, social and moral training and this could best be given in the home. The laws passed for the protection of neglected children in this country were the best on North American continent. He suggested that it was a good thing to look after the rescue homes and see how they were getting on with their work.

Speaking of the importance of home training Judge Young stated that it was in the home the first impressions were received. These were always lasting. It was a great thing when children would give their full confidence to their parents and when later the parents gave full confidence to the children.

Too Many Divorces
The Judge mentioned the fact that in Canada there were too many divorces, more than in the United States, when it was considered that there was but one cause for which divorce could be obtained.

Next to the home training the church was the important factor in child life. The criticism he heard on the street was that the church was losing its grip on the masses. This was not because of its teachings but rather because the church did not keep up with the times. If it was to be reformed, the reform must come from within. He urged the cause of Church Union, for in union there was strength. This was well illustrated in the war when no progress was made until the armies of the allies were united under one head.

The speaker said he considered too much of the time of the church was devoted to the older folks and not enough to the children. Ninety-nine per cent. of the effort should be applied in

LAND POLICY OF RAILWAY

C.P.R. to Issue New Contracts With Purchasers of Their Farms

MONTREAL, May 11.—An installment of the land colonizing policy of the C.P.R. was made public today when E. W. Beatty, president of the system, announced that the indebtedness of the farmers who have made contracts with the company will be taken over by the Canadian Pacific and their contracts will be rewritten with the indebtedness spread over a period of 34 years, the farmer to receive title to his land on receipt of the 34th payment.

There will be no annual payment of interest and the interest and principle combined shall not exceed seven per cent of the cost of the farm. Thirty thousand farmers are affected by the proposal.

Under the plan the farmers should be able to be successful upon their holdings and the government and railroad will encourage prospective settlers to take up unsold or unoccupied farm lands. The plan will absorb the indebtedness of the farmers in easy payments, allowing them sufficient from profits to provide both comforts and enjoyments for his family.

The decision of the C.P.R. will affect agreements valued at approximately one hundred million dollars.

REV. W. BAUGH-ALLEN DIES A VICTORIA

VICTORIA, May 11.—Rev. Wilnot Baugh-Allen, one of the best known Anglican clergymen in the province, died yesterday. He was born in London, England, 65 years ago.

One of Mr. Baugh-Allen's sons was for some time wireless operator at Digby Island station.

Frank Hicks and A. Robertson, of Port Clements, arrived in the city on the Prince John this morning.

NATIONAL HOSPITAL DAY SATURDAY, MAY 12, 1923

The Public are cordially invited to be the guests of the Prince Rupert Hospital Association on the above date from 2.30 to 4.30 p.m. at the Hospital.

Visitors will be given an opportunity to see the inside operation of the hospital and the tea tables will be in the hands of the Ladies Auxiliary and the Graduate Nurses Club.

EVERYBODY WELCOME

IN HARBOR AND RESCUED BY BOAT

Mrs. Maggie Tate, who was with her husband Capt. Tate, arrived in port this morning from Alaska, on a native gasboat, had the misfortune to fall overboard while the boat was tying up at the provincial government dock. Capt. Tate endeavored to recover his wife but her weight proved too much for him to lift, although he managed to keep her afloat by holding her hand. Upon hearing the cry of man overboard Captains Swanson and Gammon, of the Prince Rupert boat house, put out in a rowboat and succeeded in lifting the lady back to solid footing. Mrs. Tate is none the worse for her watery experience.

DAILY EDITION

Both Bylaws Were Approved By People.

Both the bylaws were approved by the citizens of Prince Rupert, at the polls yesterday and the work of constructing a wooden bridge across Hays Creek can now proceed. The school debt is spread over enough years to prevent it being a burden on the people just now and being a handicap to the conduct of affairs. The outcome of the vote is most satisfactory.

Build Trail To Top Of Mountain.

A suggestion was made at the meeting of the publicity committee of the Board of Trade that a trail should be constructed to the top of Mount Oldfield. It is at present very difficult to get to the top owing to the very poor trail and the mud in places making it necessary to wear special heavy boots for the work. There are several little gullies that are difficult to cross which it would be easy to bridge with small trees by the expert use of the axe for a short time.

The cost of making this trail would be small, yet it would be a great thing both for residents of the city and for visitors to be able to get to the top of the mountain. It would be one of the features of a visit here. Possibly there is nothing which would give better return for the small amount of money invested than making that trail.

Colonel McMullin And Provincial Police.

Colonel McMullin has a great opportunity to make a name for himself by seeing that the liquor and other laws of the province are strictly enforced. There has been a good deal of laxity both in the cities and throughout the unorganized districts in this regard with the result that the government gets into disrepute. People in other provinces point the finger of scorn at British Columbia and ask if that is what is meant by "liquor control." They evidently think, and they are very nearly right, that in many cases there is very little control about it, except that it is a government monopoly and the profits go to the people.

While we are prepared to admit that the present law is much better than the old time bar, the conditions do not begin to approach the glowing pictures of complete control that were painted when the vote was first taken. There is no time of day or night in any town or city or almost in any village when a person who is thirsty cannot within thirty minutes raise an accommodating bootlegger who will supply the quantity if not the quality of goods that may be asked for.

No one expects bootlegging to be stopped. That is too much to expect of any police force. What is asked is that a real effort, continuous and determined, be made to carry out the law. In all police circles there is too much spasmodic and spectacular work going on. If there are big raids against bootleggers or any other class of criminals at any time, it indicates that previous to that there must have been laxity. It should not be necessary at any time for the Attorney General or a police commission to have to urge the police to do their duty. The laws are fairly plain and the police are sworn to enforce them. If they fail to do it they are negligent of their duties and should be relieved and better men put in their places.

While here, Colonel McMullin was a most efficient public servant. Doubtless he will carry that same degree of efficiency into the police department and will require it of his subordinates. We have great faith in his ability and judgment and are looking for results.

Hospital Day Is Tomorrow.

Tomorrow is Hospital Day and Prince Rupert people are invited to visit the local hospital and see where their money is being spent and what an efficient institution we have. The Ladies' Auxiliary and the Graduate Nurses' Club will serve tea during the afternoon. Everyone should see the hospital and incidentally they should ask to see the attic rooms in which some of the nurses have to sleep and then make a good sized donation toward the new Nurses' Home.

"I Now Feel Fine"

Mrs. P. G. Murdoch, Box 433, Portage la Prairie, Man., writes:

"I was troubled for years with biliousness, constipation, kidney and liver troubles. I tried many different kinds of medicine, but nothing did me much good until I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I now feel fine, but am never without these pills in the house. Dr. Chase's Ointment has relieved my husband of piles, from which he used to suffer badly."

COMMISSION IS PROUD OF WORK

City is Being Made Uncomfortable for Undesirable Characters

The police commissioners at their monthly meeting yesterday afternoon plumed themselves on the success of the clean-up campaign against undesirables which was instituted recently. Through the stimulated efforts of the police force, several characters had already found life uncomfortable in the city and had departed. Others were being kept on the move with the idea of getting rid of them on their own account or putting them to jail. The chief privately presented a list of undesirables to the commissioners. The cases were being worked on at present and it was not the desire to have the names made public.

Commissioner Shockley drew attention to alleged gambling that was going on in the rear of cigar stores by asking the chief if the practice was not spreading. He did not know why cigar stores should have a special privilege along this line any more than other businesses. The police should take particular caution against minors being allowed to play in such resorts.

Led Girls Astray

The question of two girls who had been led astray by a woman was discussed. Commissioner Shockley stated that the mother of one of these girls was the personal friend of the woman in question. The woman had been chased from one place to another by the police and had finally stayed with the girl's mother. Then the public criticized the police.

Mayor Newton reported having had a conversation with the mother. She had asked why the police allowed such a woman to remain in town to lead girls astray. That was the general criticism by the public and he felt that they were to a measure justified. The police should continue after this woman until she was put out of town.

Best in 15 Months

Commissioner Shockley said that the council had first asked the commission to cut down expenses. Then members of it had complained of such cases and asked that they be cleaned up. He was confident that the police could clean up everything but it would cost money. While they were at it they might as well clean up gambling and bootlegging and everything. He thought that the work of the police department during the past week had been the best in his eighteen months' service on the commission. The former stands of bootleggers had the "For Rent" sign up and undesirables were being closely checked up with the result that things were getting uncomfortable for them and they were either gone or considering moving. One woman had been moved out of two houses in as many weeks and at one place a landlord got two months' rent for two days' occupancy.

Give Information

Commissioner Shockley emphasized the fact that the public should be encouraged to give information. They should be assured that their names would not be given out. If information were given at the proper time, evidence could be secured that would result in convictions and it would much facilitate the police in its clean-up campaign.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

May 11, 1913.

William Manson, M.P.P., states that there will be no change in the site of the provincial government buildings. Tenders for their erection will be invited at once, he announces.

The work of demolishing Centre Street has commenced and after today all traffic to the G.T.P. wharf will have to move by way of Second Street and the over-head.

A petition is being circulated in the city addressed to H. S. Clements, the local member of parliament, urging the appointment of Jarvis McLeod as collector of customs to succeed B. McDonald who has been transferred.

AVERAGE CHILD NOT BAD BUT IS EASILY INFLUENCED BY EXAMPLE JUDGE YOUNG TOLD THE ROTARY CLUB.

The Sunday Schools. The training received there in later life became the strongest and greatest bulwark of after life. If the boys strayed away they always came back.

Boy Scouts

As a means by which the boys could be helped, Judge Young mentioned the Boy Scouts. Here he feared the institution was not at present in a very flourishing condition. He quoted from the chief scout Sir Robert Baden Powell:

"The movement today ranks with the Salvation Army, the Y.M.C.A., the Red Cross, and similar organizations as one of the greatest moral forces of the world. Scouting is character forming recreational education carried on, to a large extent, in the great healthy school of outdoors. It develops the spirit and habit of resourcefulness and of cheerfully facing difficulties. It satisfies the love of romance in every boy and it solves the 'gang' problem."

"The association is helping to develop British unity throughout the Empire and under its inspiration boys are learning to serve their King and country. It develops manly men with honor as their high ideal."

"The object of the movement is to put some of the wild man back into the boys, that is to say to infuse the pioneer spirit into them, to teach them to be at home in the wilderness, or at least in the open country, to take care of themselves, to be self-reliant, robust and natural. But this is only the physical side of the training. There is also the ethical side."

"One of the main purposes of the movement is to teach courtesy and deference to the weak and helpless. We seek to inculcate a spirit of patriotism to mould character and to teach preparedness. We have a rule that every boy scout must do one good turn a day to some person or thing. A good turn done to a child counts most; to a woman something more than to a man; done to a man something more than to an animal; but a good action to some living thing must mark every day. The object is to make good citizens and bring out what is best in the boy."

In the scouts there was no military training and even if there were the Judge said, he believed in military training for all nations. If there had been military training in this country he doubted if there would have been fifty per cent of the young men of the country unfit to take up arms when the war broke out. He referred to the "piffing maudlin nonsense" often heard in this connection. While he would not wish his boy to become a prize fighter he would want him to know enough about the art of self-defence to prevent someone pummeling him.

Another institution mentioned by the Judge was the Junior Red Cross. At present Miss Urquhart was here with the object of forming a Junior Red Cross society in the schools. People here would never regret letting their children join. The goal of that organization was:

"That the boys and girls of today might be taught to think first of others. To serve humanity. To serve the country as good citizens. To care for the health and cleanliness of body and soul. To cultivate tolerance. To spread the desire for peace among nations. To help with efficient love wherever help is needed. To think and act nobly." He thought it a good thing that boys should belong to such organizations and take part in all manly sports. If they got the proper training when young it would be all right to hand them a hatchet at twenty and ask no questions.

ANNUNCIATION CHAPEL IS SCENE OF WEDDING MUCH LOCAL INTEREST

Miss Patricia Meagher United in Marriage to J. J. Muldoon, Father McGrath Officiating

One of the most interesting weddings of the spring season was solemnized at 8.30 last night in the Annunciation Catholic Chapel. Rev. Father P. J. McGrath officiating, when Miss Margaret Alice Patricia Meagher, of this city, became the bride of John Joseph Muldoon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Muldoon, of Montreal, Quebec. 11

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a navy blue travelling suit with picture hat to match and a corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley and pink Bridal roses. Miss Erlamonde La Trace, the bridesmaid, wore a suit of navy blue tricot with hat to match and a corsage bouquet of pink roses. Fred Benning supported the groom. 11

The chapel was crowded with well wishing friends of the contracting couple. The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful sapphire locket and the bride's present to the groom was an amethyst stickpin. The present to the bridesmaid was a gold bar pinned with pearls, and to the groomsmen, a stick pin. 11

Supper Served

After the ceremony, the bridal party and a large number of those who attended the wedding repaired to the home of the bride's parents where a buffet supper was served. Dancing and music was enjoyed until the happy couple left for the steamer Prince Rupert on which they embarked to spend a three week's honeymoon in Vancouver and Sound Cities. They were given a rousing send-off. 11

At the reception were on display a large number of beautiful gifts which testified to the esteem in which the bride and groom were held by a wide circle of friends. These included silver, cut glass, china, linen and aluminum ware. Noticeable was a down comforter presented by the bride by her grandmother, Mrs. Alice Meagher, who is 80 years of age. The handsome present was worked by Mrs. Meagher with her own hands and without the use of glasses. Mrs. Meagher came here from Vancouver especially to attend the wedding and will remain here until the couple return. 11

Will Reside Here

After the honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Muldoon will take up their residence in the Rand Apartments on Fulton Street. Mr. Muldoon is accountant for P. Burns & Co. Ltd. here. 11

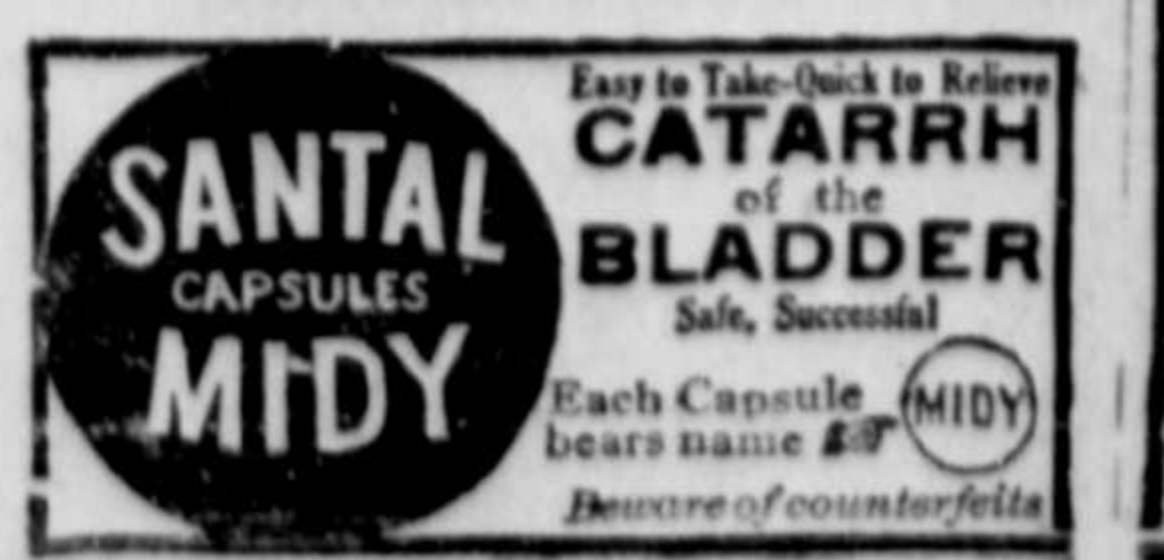

CIVIC EMPLOYEES CONSIDER STRIKE

Power to Act on Matter Left With Executive Committee—New Officers Are Elected

The Civic Employees' Union, at its regular monthly meeting last night, considered the action of the city council in rejecting the finding of the Board of Conciliation on the wage dispute and voted on the matter of a strike, leaving the power in the hands of a committee of three from the executive of the Union to call a strike if, in their judgment, the situation warrants it at any time. Action now is being deferred until next Monday night's council meeting at which time the situation as affecting the employees will be dealt with again. The strike committee consists of J. A. McRae, George Letts and Fred Clarke. 11

J. A. McRae was elected president of the Union in place of George B. Casey who has resigned, and George Letts was elected vice-president, succeeding D. S. Cameron, also resigned. 11

Mrs. Palmboom, formerly Miss Margaret Morgan, arrived on the Venture this afternoon from Surf Inlet with a man named Johnson, for admission to the General Hospital. Johnson had his head injured while logging. He was working for Morgan & Williams. 11

BUCKLEY BAY HAS ATHLETIC CLUB STARTED

Boxing Tournament Took Place Last Saturday With Six Lively Bouts

BUCKLEY BAY, May 11.—The Buckley Bay Athletic Club has been formed here and the second boxing tournament under its auspices took place last Saturday night.

The results were:
George Richards won over Skipper Finlayson.

David Adams won over Freneby Blanchard.

Henry Edenshaw and Isaac Parnell, draw.

Bert Marks and Col. Spence, no decision.

Slim Thompson won over Kid Van.

Jack Sherman won over Billy Morgan.

The last-mentioned match was the main attraction of the evening and Sherman just managed to squeeze a decision over Morgan.

In the first round Sherman showed great style with Morgan on the defence.

In the second round there was considerable give and take and in the third Morgan was very fresh keeping Sherman busy taking back what he gave in the first round. The bell rang at last, with Sherman on top.

H. Hawthorne was referee, and the orchestra, led by Walter Overend, played in the intervals.

At the next meeting, George Richards will meet Slim Thompson, and H. Hawthorne will box Jack Sherman. Both will be three two-minute round bouts.

Following is the list of football and baseball clubs so far organized in the city this season and the trophies for which they will compete:

Senior Baseball

Sons of Canada, Grotto and Gils, Nickerson Shield and Spalding bats, starting May 21.

Intermediate Baseball

Colts, High School and White Sox, Colts Cup, starting May 29.

Senior Football

Sons of Canada, Sons of England and Grotto, Mohley Cup, starting May 14.

Junior Football

High School, Public School and Colts, Rochester Shield, starting May 17.

Organization of the Junior Baseball League has not yet been completed and the number of teams and their names has not been finally decided upon. Also the McBride Street grounds are not yet in shape for league games although a good deal of practice is being indulged in there by the prospective players. It is hoped by the management of the league that arrangements will be in such a shape that it will be possible to start off the season with the opening game next Monday evening.

The city council at Ottawa has decided that amateur baseball will have the preference over professional ball in the use of city parks this year and the indications now are that the Canadian capital will have no professional ball this summer. A determined effort is being made to bring lacrosse back, Senior, Intermediate Junior and Midget, and football promises to have an unprecedented popularity. Golf will hold its usual prominent place in the city's sporting activities.

NEIL BONDS MINES ADMIRALTY ISLAND

Man Who Formerly Managed Premier Interests Himself in Alaskan Property

R. K. Neill, prominent mining man of Spokane, has taken an option on 69 gold quartz claims located on the west side of Hawk Inlet, on Admiralty Island, according to a statement made today by Charles Williams, one of the original locators and now owner of the property. Mr. Williams returned to Juneau on the steamer Princess Mary from Seattle where the deal was consummated.

FAIRBANKS CARRIED SPECIAL INSURANCE

While Douglas Fairbanks was playing Robin Hood, the big picture that is coming here next week, he carried nearly half a million dollars in life insurance, all of which was in addition to the usual amount of protection of this kind that has been written for him. The exact amount of the insurance carried during the filming of the Robin Hood picture was $180,000, written in two policies by Lloyds. The first policy of $300,000 was for death from any cause, accident, and all sickness, from April 1 to July 31. The second policy was for death from accidental death and covered the same period of time. The reason for this large amount of insurance, said to be one of the biggest sums ever carried by an individual, was due to the danger and risk attendant to filming of this extravagant picture. That portion of it was collected in advance to the bank of the magnetic and acile Douglas.

Advertised in the Daily News.

After the camp has been constructed work of driving the tunnel and blocking out ore will be started. Mr. Williams expects to leave Juneau for the mine on the freighter which is bringing the supplies. Most of his crew, coming from Seattle, will arrive here next week. Mr. Neill will probably visit the property in the early part of July.

Mr. Williams has held the mining property for five years this coming July. He was formerly associated in partnership with R. D. Brown, of Spokane, but took over entire control last summer, buying out Brown's interest.

Mr. Neill who is well known in mining circles, financed the Premier mine when that property was in the category of a prospect. He still retains his interest in the mine.

THE highest degree of flattery a man can receive is to be told he is human. Possibly that is because so many engage in monkey tricks.

THERE is no objection to the ordinary man getting the blues but when the milkman gets it, we like to take porridge in the morning.

SOME men are like a guest towel. They are made to look at and even for that purpose are not much good.

THERE is one worry off the minds of a great many people this year. They do not have to sit up nights worrying how to evade the income tax.

SEVERAL of the nurses want a home. Now then men, what is the matter with you?

measure to the co-operation of active members of the association. The same feeling had prevailed among them all as had prevailed among them when, in France, the feeling of "never say die." He had to extend a good deal of praise to the secretary of the association, Alex. MacKenzie, who had done so much to make the building a reality, and he thought the secretary would be satisfied to know that as long as he lived the building would stand as a monument of his endeavors. Great credit was also due to their architect and advisor, Comrade Landry, who saw that they had obtained dollar for dollar in value and that the contractor had lived up to the contract. He also could say that the building would stand as a monument to his skill as an architect and to his honest supervision. He also had to extend words of praise to the contractor, W. W. Watts, who had given all that he knew how in the way of putting material and work into the building.

Building Paid For

Continuing, Mr. Denning said that while the G.W.V.A. had a home second to none in Prince Rupert he would go further and say that the association had sufficient funds to pay for everything that had been done and a little in the bank to boot. They were in a happy position, notwithstanding the industrial depression, of saying that they could meet all their liabilities and still have a little to spare. The G.W.V.A. had had a good deal of kindly assistance from the citizens who had given advice whenever needed and who had also helped them when they had been in difficulties. The piece of ground, on which the building stood, had been given by the citizens as a tribute to the men who went overseas, so that they could build a home and make it a social stamping ground. The association had enhanced the value of the ground and had shown the citizens that they were in dead earnest in building a home worthy of the city and worthy of British Columbia. Mr. Denning said that sometimes they heard very hard knocks against the association but that the proof of the pudding was in the eating. He did not know of any institution in the city that had spent $12,000 on a building and shown their practical faith in the city as the G.W.V.A. had done.

Benefits Given Out

Continuing, Mr. Denning said that in the course of the year the association had given out from $1,000 to $1,500 towards helping the returned man on his way. Many a returned man had said on a Christmas morning as he saw the well filled stocking of his youngster, "God Bless the G.W.V.A." The association had fought the way of the returned man in getting the government to

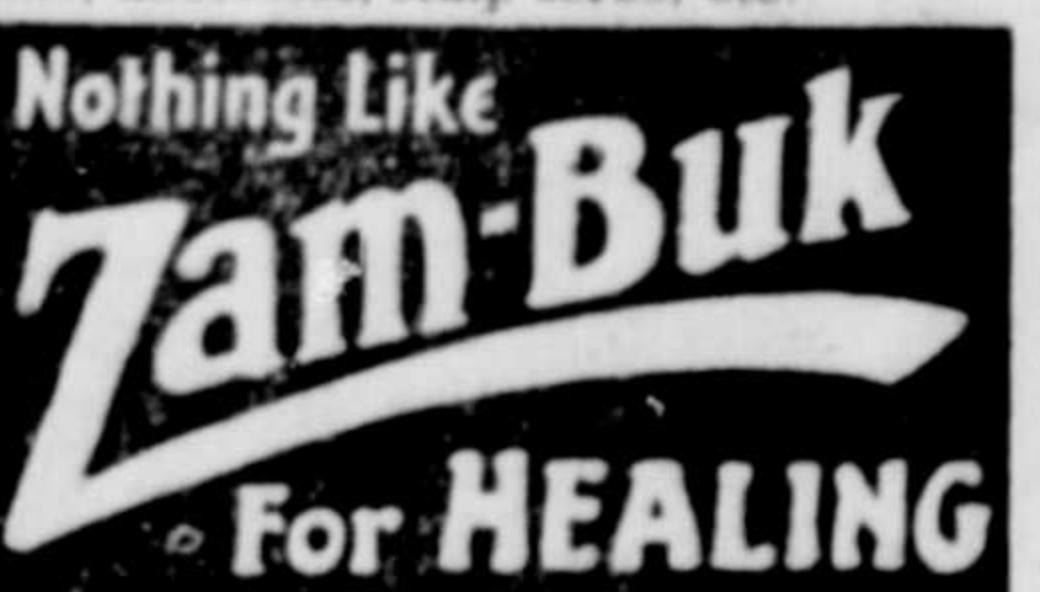

"When Hazel cut her foot, poison got into the broken skin causing a bad sore," writes Mrs. D. S. Green, of Kingston, Ont. "For some time the limb remained terribly painful and swollen."

"Then I left off ordinary salves and used herbal Zam-Buk. This soothed, cleansed and healed the sore so well, that in a few days Hazel was able to wear her shoe and again attend school. This experience taught me the wisdom of keeping Zam-Buk always handy."

A SURGERY IN A TWO-INCH BOX!

Every cut, burn, scald, scratch or other injury needs this grand herbal Zam-Buk. It is not only instantly soothing and healing, but it gives broken tissues thorough protection against poisonous germs. Every home needs Zam-Buk for troubles like eczema, ulcerated legs, piles, poisoned sores, pimples, boils, abscesses, scalp sores, etc.

live up to its pledges. If it had not been for the unity of the returned men in backing up their president and executive, they would not have attained the results they had today.

Mr. Denning said there was such a thing as national pride, provincial pride, civic pride, and there was pride in the institution they belonged to. The pride and the faith that they threw into their institution was reflected exactly in the government that was making the laws of the country. He thought sometimes that they were losing sight of the pledges and ideals they had during the high fever of war time when people had said there was nothing too good they could do for the returned man, and that there was nothing too good they could give to the orphan children and to his dependents. Sometimes he thought the people were getting away from these ideals when they got mixed up with business that demanded dollar for dollar. The cripple had left his one hundred per cent efficiency in France. He would say G.W.V.A. The association had fought the way of the returned man in getting the government to member that he had left his one hundred per cent efficiency in France in fighting for the rights of the empire.

The president then called for the observation of a one minute silence as a token of remembrance and esteem to departed comrades. Upon the conclusion of the one minute silence he then declared the building open and said that it would stand for all time as a memorial of the esteem and veneration which they felt for their absent brothers.

Mayor Newton's Address

Mayor Newton in his address said that it gave him great pleasure to be present to participate in the opening of such a splendid building which reflected the greatest credit upon those who had been engaged in bringing it to such a successful conclusion. He hoped that the new building would prove a rendezvous which would not only add to the strength of membership but would bring the comradeship still closer than when the members of the G.W.V.A. mixed in foreign fields, and that they would be made all the more firm in their convictions as proved by them in the past. It reflected great credit upon the association to be able to build such a magnificent edifice and to be able to start out with a clean sheet. The G.W.V.A. had to be proud to be in such a position to make so proud a boast. Mr. Newton said that he was reminded of the fact that when most of those present went into foreign fields to tackle, what seemed to be a very precarious struggle, that they had done their part nobly by staying with it through thick and thin but nevertheless they had had the grit to stay in the struggle until the job was finished. Having accomplished such a purpose as that he was inclined to think that Dr. Grant and others of them would realize more firmly than ever the determination which they had displayed in being able to carry such an undertaking as the erection of the new and substantial building to such a successful conclusion. In speaking of the criticism Mr. Newton said that every institution was liable to criticism of some sort but that if it was sifted down to the fine point the criticism usually came from quarters which they could well afford to ignore. If the association could go along in so good a work knowing that they were raising themselves on a safe, assured and well found construction they could easily afford to pass up any criticism, and that they would find that the work they were carrying on would find recognition by the right thinking people of the community. In closing the Mayor wished every member of the organization prosperity in the future and a full reward for all the many efforts and worthy deeds they had tried to do in the past.

Major Macgregor, V.C.

In making a short address Major Macgregor, V.C., said that it was the first time he had seen the institute building and hoped it would be a building that would be a credit to Prince Rupert and a place for ex-service men to get together and show the spirit of corps which they had shown together in France. He was heart and soul in the movement of the G.W.V.A. but owing to his calling in life he had found it impossible to take an active part in its splendid work. He hoped that the new home would be made the home of many returned men and that it would always be a credit, not only to those present, but to the men who used to be their comrades. While he thought it was a great thing for a man to pay respect and honor to the men who had fallen in the Great War they must not lose sight of the fact that there was honor and respect due to those brave men who had fought for liberty and right in previous wars. He thought that it was one of the finest examples of good citizenship that any man could exhibit when he went forth to fight for his country.

Dr. Grant's Speech

Dr. Grant in opening his address said that when he looked into the determined faces before him he could well believe that towards the end of the war the Germans refused to face the Canadian army. He congratulated the Great War Veterans' Association very sincerely on the magnificent headquarters which had been created for a lot of good fellows who were seeking to help themselves and to help strength for our own welfare and each other. In speaking of the national conditions of the world, he thought that we had got to fight for our rights in northern British Columbia. He thought a strange condition existed in B.C. We had a heavy population to the south and sparsely populated in the north.

Those who had come here to develop should get something for their pioneering work. We had to be helped to some extent in this vast territory in making it our own.

Other speakers included E. C. Gibbons, president of the Board of Trade and Magistrate McClymont.

Musical selections were rendered during the evening by the G.W.V.A. band under bandmaster Beal. The concert and refreshments were excellently handled by B. Warrior and H. Waldorf, with the assistance of Sgt. Jepson, A. Connor and N. Short. Those contributing to the musical program included Bob James, Cpl. Bowler, Frank Morris, Eddie Craggs and Wright Davis. Sid Thompson and Frank Stevens played the piano accompaniments.

The Last Post was sounded at midnight by Trumpeter Rance, and the playing of O Canada and God Save the King, by the band brought a memorable occasion to a successful close.

TEACH ENGLISH TO CANADIANS

Nova Scotia Has Undertaken That Stupendous Task and Is Succeeding

HALIFAX, N.S., May 10.—(By Canadian Press.)—Nova Scotia, long regarded as a "well of English, pure and undefiled," is about to have its waters ruffled by a spirit in the person of Rosamond M. de Wolfe Archibald, a member of the staff of Acadia Seminary at Wolfville, in a drive for better English.

Miss Archibald has a brand new system of teaching the spoken word—her own invention by the way—and is credited with having revolutionized the speaking of English in the common schools of the town in which she lives. Invited by the Canadian Press to explain her method, Miss Archibald submitted the following statement:

"Were you ever challenged by a German student to better the common speech of your people? Did one of them ever call you 'a race of slovenly speakers'? Did the thought of the economic waste of education in general that fails to make the splendid gift of the 'cross roads' equal his scientific peers in the spoken word, ever keep you awake nights? That is exactly what happened to me."

"With years of preparation back of me and boundless enthusiasm, I began to teach English to Canadians, following up my own preaching of 'Canada First.' I used every method I knew with the usual results—body was speaking correctly outside my class room."

Light Dawned

"One day, during the war, light dawned. I realized the swift change from a raw recruit to a finished soldier that a month of military drill produced. Then I saw that amazing folly in our methods of teaching 'correct' speech. I reasoned: Did I learn that 3x3—9 by seeing that 3x3 is not 10? Did I learn first the reason why 7x9—63 or simply that 7x9—63? Why, then, continue teaching English speech by such methods? In a trice I had cast off all the inefficient methods of the past. I called my pupils to their feet, to stand at attention, to salute the flag, and to recite in concert a few correct sentences, drill fashion! How they responded! Then I sent them forth to correct errors, copying down correction only (get my point?) of all mistakes detected at home, in school, in public speaking. The effect on their speech was magical. In a week of practice we had accomplished what a lifetime of theory has often failed in accomplishing."

"Then we put on weekly 'drives' during the term, awarding small prizes for 'points' in correction. We insisted on courtesy, the lack of which on the part of any contestant caused his immediate disqualification. Playing the Game

"As a result, today, parents are playing the game of corrections with their children and, incidentally, benefiting by it. Public speakers throughout the Maritime Provinces, especially, are aware of note books for correction in their audiences. The child links up his language with his flag which for centuries has been dyed in the blood of our race for the preservation of our Mother Tongue. He is made to feel that it is just as treasonable to make a mistake in his speech as to dishonor that flag. He catches a vision of greatness in language never before realized. His motto is—

"To think clearly and to speak the King's English."

Better English Week

"Nova Scotia is about to launch a Better English Week Drive, May 25-June 1. Leading newspapers are giving it prominence. Teachers are flocking to the standard eager to adopt a method so simple, attractive, and philosophically sound. Educationists, including eminent psychologists are approving of it."

"The fervid thanks recorded in letters flooding my mail box leads me to believe that I have found something to give my people whom I delight to serve. I believe we may safely look forward to a National Better English Week for Canada. By-the-way, my home town, Wolfville, Nova Scotia, intends to win in the competition!"

RUMBLINGS AND ROARS SAYS ALASKAN PAPER

Canada is feeling the effects of the American tariff on the fisheries products says the Ketchikan Alaska Chronicle. Rumbly and roars from the other side burst forth every once in a while; in fact, quite regularly. The reason is that the tariff measure is helping the American fisherman in his own market to a degree but in nowise as he would have been helped if Congress had not, through the selfish work of a few politicians, been misled into killing the so-called Poundsterling amendment to the revenue bill.

In going part way, by imposing a duty, the American fisherman was helped somewhat, and if Congress had gone all the way as Ketchikan urged, the fishermen would have gained much more, as would have Alaska.

W. T. Barnes, who has been in the city for the past fortnight on business, returned last night to Victoria.
