Terrible Explosion Occurred at Cumberland Last Night when from 35 to 40 Miners Lost their Lives

Up to 10.30 this morning 25 bodies had been taken from the shaft, fourteen of whom were white men and eleven Chinese. It is said there are still ten bodies in the mine.

SURRENDER IS HOPEFUL SIGN

British Press and Public Takes anguine View of Latest Development in Ireland

LONDON, Feb. 9. — The Irish press has declined to enter into negotiations, it is stated in a report from Dublin. The surrender of Liam Deasy is received with interest by the press and the public as the first hopeful sign for months. Deasy was a close associate of Michael Collins in the fight against the British and he is credited in many quarters as having had the brains of the irregulars' military campaign. In addition to his formal note of surrender, Deasy wrote a long explanation of his position, which was considered a forcible argument for peace.

Old Timers. One of the Last

PORT SIMPSON, Feb. 9.—Mrs. Brentzen, formerly a native of Alaska, but who lived with her husband for many years in the Hudson Bay stockade, has just passed away. She raised a large and interesting family, most of whom remain to treasure the memory of a good mother. The lady who is gone was a kind and favorite of all. She cherished no malice against her neighbors, always speaking well of them. Her passing breaks one of the last links between the past generation and the present.

PEACE MOVE IN IRELAND

Amnesty of Death Sentences
Granted to Facilitate Surrender of Republicans

DUBLIN, Feb. 9.—Richard Mulcahey, minister of defence, yesterday issued a proclamation granting ten days amnesty to prisoners under death sentence to facilitate the surrender of Republicans.

This highly significant peace move was first revealed in army headquarters with the announcement that Liam Deasy, deputy chief of the irregulars, now under sentence of death, was trying to induce Eamonn de Valera and others to surrender and that pending the negotiations the execution of Deasy and other prisoners had been suspended. Hopes are running higher than for some time.

The proposal for surrender contained in Liam Deasy's letter to de Valera and other leading irregulars cannot be considered officially, it is stated at Republican headquarters.

MAKES OFFER TO THE CITY

G.T.P. Development Co. Would Give Over Sections 3, 4 and 9 if Reduction in Acreage
Granted

Suggesting a taxation agreement for his company similar to that enjoyed by the G.T.P. Railway Co., W. McLarnon, representative of the G.T.P. Development Co., at the court of revision, yesterday afternoon asked the court for a reduction in valuation to $50 an acre of some 450 acres of land on the townsite not yet plotted out. In lieu of such a concession, Mr. McLarnon offered to turn over to the city all the company's property in Sections 3, 4 and 9 provided the city undertook to pay this year's taxation. Failing such an agreement, Mr. McLarnon stated it was the company's intention to sell all its lots in Sections 3, 4 and 9 at whatever prices they would bring.

The court explained to Mr. McLarnon that such an offer was not a matter for it to deal with. Eld. Stephens, chairman, asked that the offer be submitted officially in writing to the council. Mr. McLarnon said this would be done.

Some 160 persons attended the lecture given in the Empress Theatre last night by H. Howlett, travelling lecturer for the International Bible Students' Association. The speaker's subject was "The Resurrection of the Dead is at Hand." In delivering his oration, he gave frequent Bible references, basing his remarks upon the passage in the Acts "Ye Men of Athens, I perceive in all things ye are too superstitious." Referring to conditions prevailing on earth at the present time, the speaker pointed out that these clearly proved all are living in the time when the greatest miracle of all is to take place—the resurrection of the dead. L. Dutton presided.

Copper Up And Conditions Better.

Those who own mines or prospects will be much encouraged by the rise in price of copper. As many of the mines in the north contain copper, this will make developing them better worth while, and will also make the smelters keener on getting ore. Everything points to a decided revival in mining both on the coast and in the interior and there is no doubt but the scarcity of copper and the consequent rise in price will be a factor in this revival.

Do Not Accept Pay
To Insert Letters.

The Daily News does not accept pay for the insertion of letters to the editor or for ordinary news items of interest. There are, however, such things as election addresses, cards of thanks and all advance notices that have to be inserted through the business office and paid for at regular rates. One thing necessary is that writers shall sign their names to all communications.

We have received an unsigned letter enclosing a dollar, presumably to pay for publication. The letter will not be published, but if the person writing it will call at the business office and prove having sent it, the dollar will be returned. The letter refers to alleged bootleggers and prostitutes in the heart of the city about which it is said the police seem to know nothing, while others are well informed.

Writers of letters must remember that a newspaper is responsible for what it publishes and cannot make allegations against anyone without absolute proof and even then if anything is wrong there is always a means of setting it right. The police commission is the right body to approach on matters affecting the police department. They are elected for that purpose. The Daily News does not propose to be the censor of the morals of the people although, of course, there are times when newspaper action seems desirable.

At What Age Should Children Earn Money?

The question of the age at which children should commence to earn money, was mentioned at the Rotary Club banquet last evening and it is an interesting one. This is a commercial age and sometimes we feel that we are devoting too much of our time to commerce and not enough to other matters. That seems to be the view of some of the teachers. On the other hand the boys who attend the schools here have to make their way in the world and hold their own financially with the rest of the country, and they must develop a certain amount of acquisitiveness else they will be left behind from a financial viewpoint. To allow a boy to earn money early, gives him an idea of the value of money, shows that it represents labor and often keeps him from spending carelessly and trying to sponge on his parents. On the other hand if carried too far, it makes him forget all the better things and devote his energies to money making as a profession, something which is undesirable.

TEACHERS ARE
ROTARY GUESTSEntertained at Banquet Last Night by Members of the Club

NUMBER OF ADDRESSES

Requirements For Several Businesses or Professions Mentioned

There was a feast of reason following the material part of the banquet last night at the St. Regis Cafe where the public school teachers, high school teachers and school trustees of the city were the guests for the evening of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club. President T. H. Johnson was in the place of honor. Several of the teachers gave addresses and several members of the club also spoke. There was music in the form of community singing led by J. W. Nicholls and accompanied by D. W. Bone on the piano and James Lee on the violin. There were three story tellers appointed for the occasion, Thomas McClymont, Dr. Grant and Consul Wakefield, and each was presented with a prize in the form of a Rotary egg by Supervising Principal Harold Campbell at the close of the proceedings. A splendid supper was served by Host Richmond, also a member of the club, and the party broke up shortly before eleven o'clock. The school addresses were by Principal Brady, C. Woodworth, and D. H. Hartness, while Miss Macdonald of the High School moved a vote of thanks at the close which was seconded by Miss Stone.

One of the features of the evening was a radio speech, supposed to be given by Governor Frank Lamb of Hoquiam on Jack Bransley's instrument but which was really made by Consul Wakefield over a near-by telephone. It was very effective and the party really thought they were listening to Governor Lamb until told by the president that it was a fake.

Principal Brady

The first address was given by Principal J. C. Brady of the High School who spoke of the psychology of the High School subjects. He explained why certain subjects such as geometry were taught. He said geometry had been the great subject studied by the Greeks, the nation of sculptors. This study gave a well developed power. Euclid prepared in logical sequence the geometry much as it was today. This was used in developing the life of the child. The speaker quoted from Abraham Lincoln who stated that he had made an intellectual investment rather than piled up a bank account. Geometry trained the brain so that when a boy wished to specialize later he was prepared for it.

There was grave danger today, Mr. Brady said, that nothing would be considered of value but the dollar. He spoke of the value of algebra in developing the brain so that a boy could do successfully what the ordinary mind could not accomplish. The study of Latin was a great training. If everything else were forgotten, Latin would give a mind that was trained. French was also a useful study.

Banking

J. S. McLeod spoke on what qualities and training he would expect from a young man taking up banking as a profession. He mentioned the need of the basic subjects such as spelling and dictation and good handwriting. He told of the need of a boy being medically fit and of a personality. Two or three years were spent in one branch of the bank and then he was transferred in order that he might get a different viewpoint and a wider experience. Truthfulness and trustworthiness were qualities indispensable to success. Given the qualities mentioned any young man should make a success of banking.

C. Woodworth spoke of some of the phases of the instruction of boys. He mentioned that the boy was essentially good but he was sometimes subjected to influences that were detrimental and it was up to the teachers, parents and others to counteract these. He spoke of the value of correcting petty habits, of the value of muscular and mental control, and of the co-operation of the teacher with the people at home. The boy, he said, feeds on ideas and ideas come from every direction. All these influences were for good or harm and determined his thoughts and character. He spoke of the value of physical training. It was wonderful to see a group of boys acting in unison at the word of command and doing it with joy. He then propounded several questions which he left unanswered.

In Journalism

H. F. Pullen spoke on what qualities or training he would consider essential for success in journalism. He mentioned that a news sense, something which the teachers could not give him and which he either possessed or not, was the first requisite. He would place accuracy at the head of the list in so far as training was concerned. In order to be accurate there must be developed a power of perception and of reproduction and naturally from this would follow the power of analysis and reasoning. Accuracy was essential in all branches of the work.

Keenness and ambition here as elsewhere were necessary and these developed speed which was also necessary. The speaker said he placed general knowledge very high in the list of requirements. A boy should have read Robinson Crusoe, Dickens' works, Scott's novels and dozens of other books before he could consider himself to have the rudiments of an education suiting him for journalism. This wide reading he considered much more important than school home work or the passing of examinations. No general knowledge ever came amiss in the newspaper work.

Added to these the boy should have a general knowledge of the rules of composition, writing and spelling, but a very important thing was self respect. The journalist had to meet all the biggest men in the country and should be prepared to meet them as an equal. The final requisite was common honesty. He should always respect a confidence for this was absolutely essential.

Men's Store

George Bryant speaking of what was necessary to a boy entering his business, first thanked the teachers for what they had done for his boys personally. He said in his business as in all others they had one commodity to sell and that was service. All retail stores dealt in it. He spoke of the success of the late John Wanamaker, who stated that his success was due to the fact that he gave service. He always gave his customers the best possible treatment, and later he had opportunity to serve his country. To teach a boy to be of service was a great asset in his business. Writing was also important, but the crowning requisite was the desire to work combined with good appearance and sound health.

W. E. Williams, speaking on the qualities necessary to the making of a good lawyer, said ideals should be high. A lawyer did a lot of work for nothing for which he never could be paid in this world. If he was not a philanthropist there was no way of getting credit for this class of work.

Mr. Williams said the father a boy he was the more chance he had of reaching the top. He should be of rugged constitution and have at least a mediocre mind. Anything above that he should be thankful for. There was no place where he could use outstanding gifts to better advantage than in the practice of law. He would get the principles of law at a law school. He would have to know common law and where to get the other information from the statutes. No man could ever learn all there was to know. He must have a retentive memory and a capacity for work. Every lawyer at the top of his profession worked until midnight almost every night.

Human Nature

A lawyer, Mr. Williams said, might be one of the greatest

PROVINCE AS EAST SEES IT

Not a Pleasant Picture Painted of Conditions in This Great West

British Columbia, because of government sale of liquor, is getting a publicity not usually accorded a province, says "Social Welfare," a Toronto publication.

Wet advocates, whether representatives of the liquor interests, or liquorites in the guise of Moderationists, or Liberty Leaguers or others, are holding up British Columbia as an example of a province which had successfully solved the vexed temperance problem. Those who want liquor get it, yet—so the "wets" say—none of the evil consequences of the use of liquor are experienced; there is little or no drunkenness, little or no bootlegging, or rum-running, or crime, or drunkenness among the young people. Moreover the government is making large revenues, which ease taxation, support hospitals, etc., etc. They use lots of color, do these wet artists, in painting their attractive picture.

On the other hand the "drys," both residents and visitors, paint a picture of extreme darkness in which liquor consumption in enormous quantities and drunkenness, both in public and in private, constitute the prevailing colorings, together with debauchery in hotels, wholesale bootlegging and rum-running, horrible adulteration of liquors, liquor piracy on the high seas and along inland boundaries, extreme lawlessness and consequent crime, and an enormous increase in the traffic in and use of narcotic drugs.

What are the actual facts about British Columbia?

The writer was in the province from the 8th to the 19th of November and made careful observation and inquiry with the single purpose of getting at the facts. Most of this time was spent in Vancouver and Victoria. More drunks were seen there in one day than have been seen by the writer in Toronto during the whole period of six years since the inauguration of prohibition. And yet Toronto alone has as great a population as all British Columbia. However, much importance is not to be attached to that fact standing alone. It might have been an exceptional day. At any rate it was merely the personal observation of one individual.

Narcotic Drugs

In spite of the brazen assertion that prohibition of liquor results in increased use of narcotic drugs, in this province where liquor flows so freely and is so easily secured the use of narcotic drugs is greater than in any other part of Canada, excepting only the other wet province, Quebec. Montreal is becoming notorious over the whole continent as one of the most important if not the chief centre for the use and distribution of narcotic drugs. In this deadly curse as well as in the traffic in liquor, smuggling, corruption, robbery and what not flourish as in few other parts of Canada or, for that matter, any other country. The Chinese seem to be the chief peddlers, but by no means the most numerous users; and behind the peddlers there is alleged to be a ring of white men higher up, who from safe places behind the scenes, control and above all others, profit by this most diabolical of nefarious traffics.

Don't Be Foolish

Such are the conditions prevailing in British Columbia at the present time, according to the testimony of the press of the province and the testimony of its citizens. It is therefore not easy to believe that the majority of the citizens of any of the other provinces now enjoying the fruits of the prohibition law would be guilty of the supreme folly of introducing a liquor law similar to that of British Columbia with the prospect of similar conditions resulting.

MAY SEND SLEIGHS TO THE JUNK PILE

ALBANY, Feb. 9.—A bill which has just been introduced in the state legislature, if passed, would send every sleigh in the state to the junk pile. It would require that after January 1, 1925, the runners of all sleighs must be 4 feet 8 inches apart, or the same width as automobile wheels. The sleigh now used in New York is similar to the Canadian sleigh with runners about three feet apart.

rather deprecated the taking of jobs after school by boys for this gave them an interest in earning money, which often took them away from school early. Sport was a good thing to encourage, but there was the necessity for school playgrounds. It was much better to hear that a boy had a place in the school ball team than a place on the police records. There should be playgrounds at all the schools with all pupils playing—playgrounds and plenty of apparatus.

Mr. Hartness spoke of the value of reading good literature in order to cultivate the taste and induce emulation of the finest characters.

Final Words

Dr. W. T. Kergin thanked the club on behalf of the trustees for the pleasant evening they had spent. This was the second event of its kind and he welcomed the interest of all the youth of the city. The taxpayers were putting up more money than ever before, and they had better schools and apparatus and also better teachers, he believed. He believed the teaching staff at Prince Rupert was as competent as could be found anywhere. The scholars were taught as well here as anywhere. He often wondered if the curriculum was all it should be and if not what should be added. He thought there should be training in citizenship and responsibility, in loyalty to the nation and the community, and also in the moral virtues. If they had in view the all-around man they must train the body and the moral side of the child. This he thought should be part of the public school education. They could not train the parents so they must try to train the next generation of parents. He believed in technical training which was made necessary by the abolition of long apprenticeships. If the people were to hold their own in trade and business and the technical calling, they must be trained.

Miss Macdonald then proposed the vote of thanks and the teachers sang "For they are Jolly Good Fellows" before leaving.

Sport Chat

With five tournaments yet to be played, seven of the ten teams in the Men's Whist League still have chances of emerging with the championship at the end of the season. The St. Andrew's at present are in the lead with a margin that it is quite possible may be overcome by the Sons of Canada, Valhalla or Oddfellows next week. The Sons of England, the Knights of Columbus and Knights of Pythias are also still in the running though it will require a good deal of good luck and good management to bring them up to the top at this late date. The chance of the Great War Veterans' Association is practically nil and the Moose and Elks, now battling for cellar position, are out of the running as far as the championship is concerned.

The Grotto and Knights of Columbus Intermediate basketball teams will battle tonight for second place in the standing, being tied now in that position. In the Ladies' League, the Maple Leafs and Kaiens will take the floor, victory for the former means gaining the league leadership again over the Adanacs in the back and forward contest that is now waging. As far as the championship of the Ladies' League is concerned, the Maple Leafs have a slight advantage and they will at least be in a play-off for the honor unless they lose to the Kaiens tonight. The big contest will be the miteh between the Adanacs and Maple Leafs next Friday night. Providing things go as they have been going, the Maple Leafs may win the league with victory that night while the Adanacs with victory would tie things up with a post-season play-off settling the matter.

NEWFOUNDLAND FISHERMEN IN BAD CONDITION

Seven Schooners of Herring Frozen in; Nets Sank With Fish in Them

(Mail Correspondence)
CURLING, Newfoundland, Feb. 9.—The winter months, always a period of privation for the scattered population of the western shores of Newfoundland, looms this year as a terrible menace to the hardy fisherfolk along the coast. With months of winter still to come, the government of the Colony already has been called upon to relieve the hunger of the hamlets that dot the coast from Bonne Bay north, due to the partial failure of the herring fisheries last fall, and the freezing in of the herring fleet before the fish could be taken to market.

The first disaster to the herring was the falling off in the catch to less than half of last year's pack. At Bay of Islands, center of the herring industry on this coast, the pack for 1922 was only 9,600 as against 25,000 barrels for 1921. This fact alone spelled a lean winter for the fishermen, who depend on the money paid them by the packers to tide them over the ice-bound, non-productive season. But worse was to come.

Extreme Cold
Soon after the first of December extreme cold set in unprecedented for the season even in these icy latitudes. The herring fleet, setting out to convey the herring pack to the outside markets, was caught off guard and frozen in at Bay of Islands. The packers, with their season's output on their hands, were unable to pay the fishermen. The latter, in turn, were unable to lay in their winter food supplies. To make the situation appear worse, if worse could be possible, the demand for herring "on the outside" has been stronger this winter than usual, and good prices could have been obtained from the pack had delivery been possible.

The Newfoundland government appealed to for assistance when the menace was first seen, lost no time in responding. The steamer Sagoma was sent from St. John's and succeeded in saving 100 of the 200 fleets of nets that had been frozen in. Of the remainder, 50 fleets sank with the weight of herring in them, and 50 more could not be reached. The Canadian government was appealed to and the ice-breaker Stanley was sent up to Bay of Islands, but she was too late. After a desperate effort to break through the ice barrier the Stanley gave up the task and steamed south.

Lost Much Fish
Seven schooners loaded with herring are frozen solid in the ice, to remain until spring. In their holds are thousands of barrels of cured fish, the fruit of a season's labor. Some of the pack is still on shore, but there is little possibility of getting it transported to a railroad for shipment to market. Heavy snowstorms and bitter frost have tied up the Newfoundland Railway for long periods.

Newfoundlanders, familiar with the tragic history of the shore fishermen, say that the west coast faces the darkest days in the annals of the Colony. The task of relieving the fishermen is rendered more difficult by the complete suspension of land and water transportation to their section by the heavy winter. Cargoes of food supplies are piled up at this place and Port aux Basques, while coasting vessels have cancelled their sailings because of the ice barrier.

The Man in the Moon SAYS:

NOT that the goose fat did much harm. It probably kept the skin from getting rough.

APPEALING AT ASSESSMENTS

Several Complainants Appear Before Court and State Their Cases

G. H. Arnold, representing W. J. Alder in an appeal against the $25,000 valuation placed on the corner at Sixth Street and Third Avenue, suggested at the court of revision session yesterday afternoon that a general reduction of 25 per cent in assessment of all city property and a few minor readjustments in individual cases would satisfy everybody.

In objecting to the $25,000 assessment of the Alder corner this year as against a valuation of $22,500 last year, Mr. Arnold took the point that there was nothing to justify the increase. The Municipal Act, which was designed to safeguard property from confiscation, said that land should be assessed at its actual value and the court of revision should see that land was so assessed. The Act, Mr. Arnold maintained, had been disregarded in the valuations that had been made. Referring to property with rock on it, on Third Ave. near Seventh St., Mr. Arnold claimed that more allowance should be made for it. If this policy were followed out, property such as that on which the Prince Rupert Club stood would be worth less than nothing.

Imperial Oil
L. W. Patmore, representing the Imperial Oil Co., said that appeals were being made on several grounds. First, they claimed that the city had no right to assess lessees or tenants. Some years ago, Chief Justice Hunter had decided to this effect and that ruling still stood. Secondly, the Imperial Co. maintained that their oil tanks were personal property and not realty and were thus exempt from taxation. Thirdly, the valuation of $8,400 per acre they claimed was too high.

J. A. Edwards, appearing for himself and on behalf of a group of owners on Fourth Avenue East between Eberts Street and Hays Cove Circle, claimed that valuations of $850 there were too high in view of the fact that lots on the same avenue near McBride Street and on sewer lines were valued at the same figure and much better view lots also nearer in but on the opposite side of same street were valued at only $200.

Others Heard
Other appeals heard yesterday were those of Milton Gonzales, E. W. Hart, E. C. Gibbons, McCaffery & Gibbons, W. E. Williams, A. M. Manson, S. and W. Jabour and James Hampton. The cases were merely heard and some discussion took place but no decisions have yet been made.

VON BISSING IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR CAVELL EXECUTION

Crime Lies at Door of General von Sauberzweig it is Alleged

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Responsibility for the execution of Edith Cavell, the British nurse shot in Brussels during the war, has now definitely been placed at the door of General von Sauberzweig, according to the Brussels correspondent of the Daily Telegraph. The death of Miss Cavell has generally been attributed to General von Bissing, at that time governor of Brussels, but a letter from Baron von Der Lancken to the German foreign secretary, which has but recently been made public, relieves that official of this slur on his name, the correspondent writes.

It is also established that General von Sauberzweig had the power to stay the execution in order to give time for an appeal to the Emperor for mercy. To accomplish this General von Sauberzweig would have had only to withhold his confirmation of an interview I had with him without, however, being able to Baron von Der Lancken was in Brussels at the time as an observer for the German Imperial Chancellery. He wrote the following letter:

"The Cavell affair is known to your excellency in all its details. The effect of it has been what I predicted: von Sauberzweig in an interview I had with him without, however, being able to shake him from his point of view regarding the opportuneness of the execution."

General von Sauberzweig, as successor to General von Kraewel, was ordered to institute a reign of terror in Brussels, the correspondent declares, and throughout arrests and condemnations followed one another without cessation.

ANY DRIVER TO OWN OMNIBUS

Club System Being Inaugurated
in London For Purchase

LONDON, Feb. 9.—An innovation in the intricate omnibus system of London soon will be inaugurated in the form of making it possible for ambitious drivers to become the absolute owners of their buses, if certain plans now under consideration materialize.

Today most of these buses, which crawl through the narrow streets of London like a continuous procession of elephants, are owned mostly by one company, but a movement has been started recently to give adequate reward to good drivers. It is sponsored by a gasoline and accessories company, which hopes to make its money by supplying these commodities to the owner-drivers.

The plan briefly is this: The holder of a one-pound sterling share in the company pays a weekly subscription of ten shillings. When sufficient funds have been collected the subscribers will draw lots, and the lucky driver will be given an omnibus. He will be allowed also to choose his route through the city. He will then pay two pounds sterling a week on the purchase price of the omnibus until the conveyance has been completely paid for.

The plan makes it possible also for drivers and conductors to own an omnibus jointly. The ownership of an omnibus is considered a lucrative source of income, since it is estimated that one omnibus, on a good route, earns approximately ten pounds sterling a day. This earning power is generally fairly equal throughout the year, because the mild winters in London permit passengers to ride on top every month of the 12.

NO INCREASED INCOME TAXES IN MANITOBA

That is Expectation in Regard to Proposals Made to Raise Funds

WINNIPEG, Feb. 7.—Winnipeg's tax scheme has little possibility of being sanctioned by the Bracken administration.

While the attitude of the government will not be officially announced until the proposal is presented to the legislature, it was learned at the parliament buildings that the government caucus has decided not to permit any income tax law to be placed on the statutes of the province this session.

This means the government will not enact the proposed provincial income tax scheme which was brought before the house last session by the Norris government. The demand of the suburban municipalities for the income tax for educational purposes and the city's tax aims will not become law.

One of the main reasons for the government deciding against any income tax this year is the tax conference of provinces with the Dominion government, proposed by Hon. F. M. Black, provincial treasurer. Another reason, members of the government caucus stated, is that the administration is going to endeavor for the present to get along without tapping any more new sources of revenue than are absolutely necessary.

NO MORE POKER CHIPS FOR CONGRESS MEMBERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The miniature department store in the House office building through which members heretofore were able to buy poker chips and almost anything they wanted out of the allotment for stationery, has gone on the rocks.

Before passing the legislative appropriation bill, the House adopted an amendment which stipulated that a member should get through the little store, at government expense, only paper and articles needed for the proper conduct of his office.

During the debate it was reported that a member's wife had sent her shoes to the little store to be patched out of her husband's stationery account, while another had ordered a ton of coal. In a recent row in the House it was charged that pocket liquor flasks were sold under the same roof that covers the offices of men who made the United States dry.

BITING OF A PRETTY BIG CHUNK OF PIE

ALBANY, Feb. 9.—The New York Civic League—known here as the "reform lobby"—have just announced their program for this session of the legislature. This is what they hope to achieve.

Abolishment of Sunday movies, Sunday baseball, and traveling carnivals, and the continuance of the moving picture censorship.

Governor Smith's comment, when newspapermen asked for his views regarding the reformers' program, was brief. "They are biting off a pretty big chunk of pie," he remarked.

AUSTRALIAN LOANS ARE NOW MATURING

MELBOURNE, Feb. 9.—New Zealand has more than 8,000,000 pounds sterling of loans maturing during the year ending March 31, 1923. Arrangements have been made for the redemption or renewal of the issues without materially increasing the interest rate.

During 1922 and 1923 Australia has to face maturing loans (both Commonwealth and State) aggregating 60,819,664 pounds sterling, of which 10,978,000 is redeemable at London and 49,841,664 is redeemable in Australia. The first Federal loan of 37,000,000 pounds sterling is the largest single loan that matures during this period.

BUILDING DECLINES GERMANY DECEMBER

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—Only one-eighth as many new buildings are being put up in Germany today as a year ago, according to reliable trade statistics. In December 458 new structures were reported, representing less than half the number registered the previous month. November's new buildings totalled one-fourth the registry during the same month last year.

Had Constipation for 6 Months Was Relieved by Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills

A free motion of the bowels daily should be the rule of everyone, then there will be no constipation, sick or bilious spells, heartburn, foul breath, sour stomach, etc.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills will regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the bowels, thus making them active and regular, removing the constipation and all its allied troubles.

Mrs. R. E. Hunt, Port George, N. S., writes:—"I have been troubled by being constipated for the last six months. My tongue has been terribly coated, so much so that it made my breath bad. I was talking to a friend about it, and she advised me to use Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, which I did, and now I am perfectly well. My tongue is as smooth as it was before I got that way, and I owe it all to your pills, of which I only used two vials."
