Southern Municipality Requests Province to Take Over Its Affairs

Burnaby Council Feels This is Only "Honorable Course" For it to Take Following Victoria's Refusal to Guarantee its Bank Loan

EDMONTON, B.C., Dec. 21: (Canadian Press)—"This council has no other honorable course but to ask the provincial government to immediately assume control of Burnaby's affairs and, accordingly, makes such a request," the Burnaby municipal council stated in a resolution passed last night. ## SPEECH IS INSPIRING

Gyro Club Hears Impressive Address at Luncheon by Rev. Dr. Westgate of Winnipeg

National Ideal

Righteousness Prescribed as Duty Which Will Lead Church to Greatness as Nation

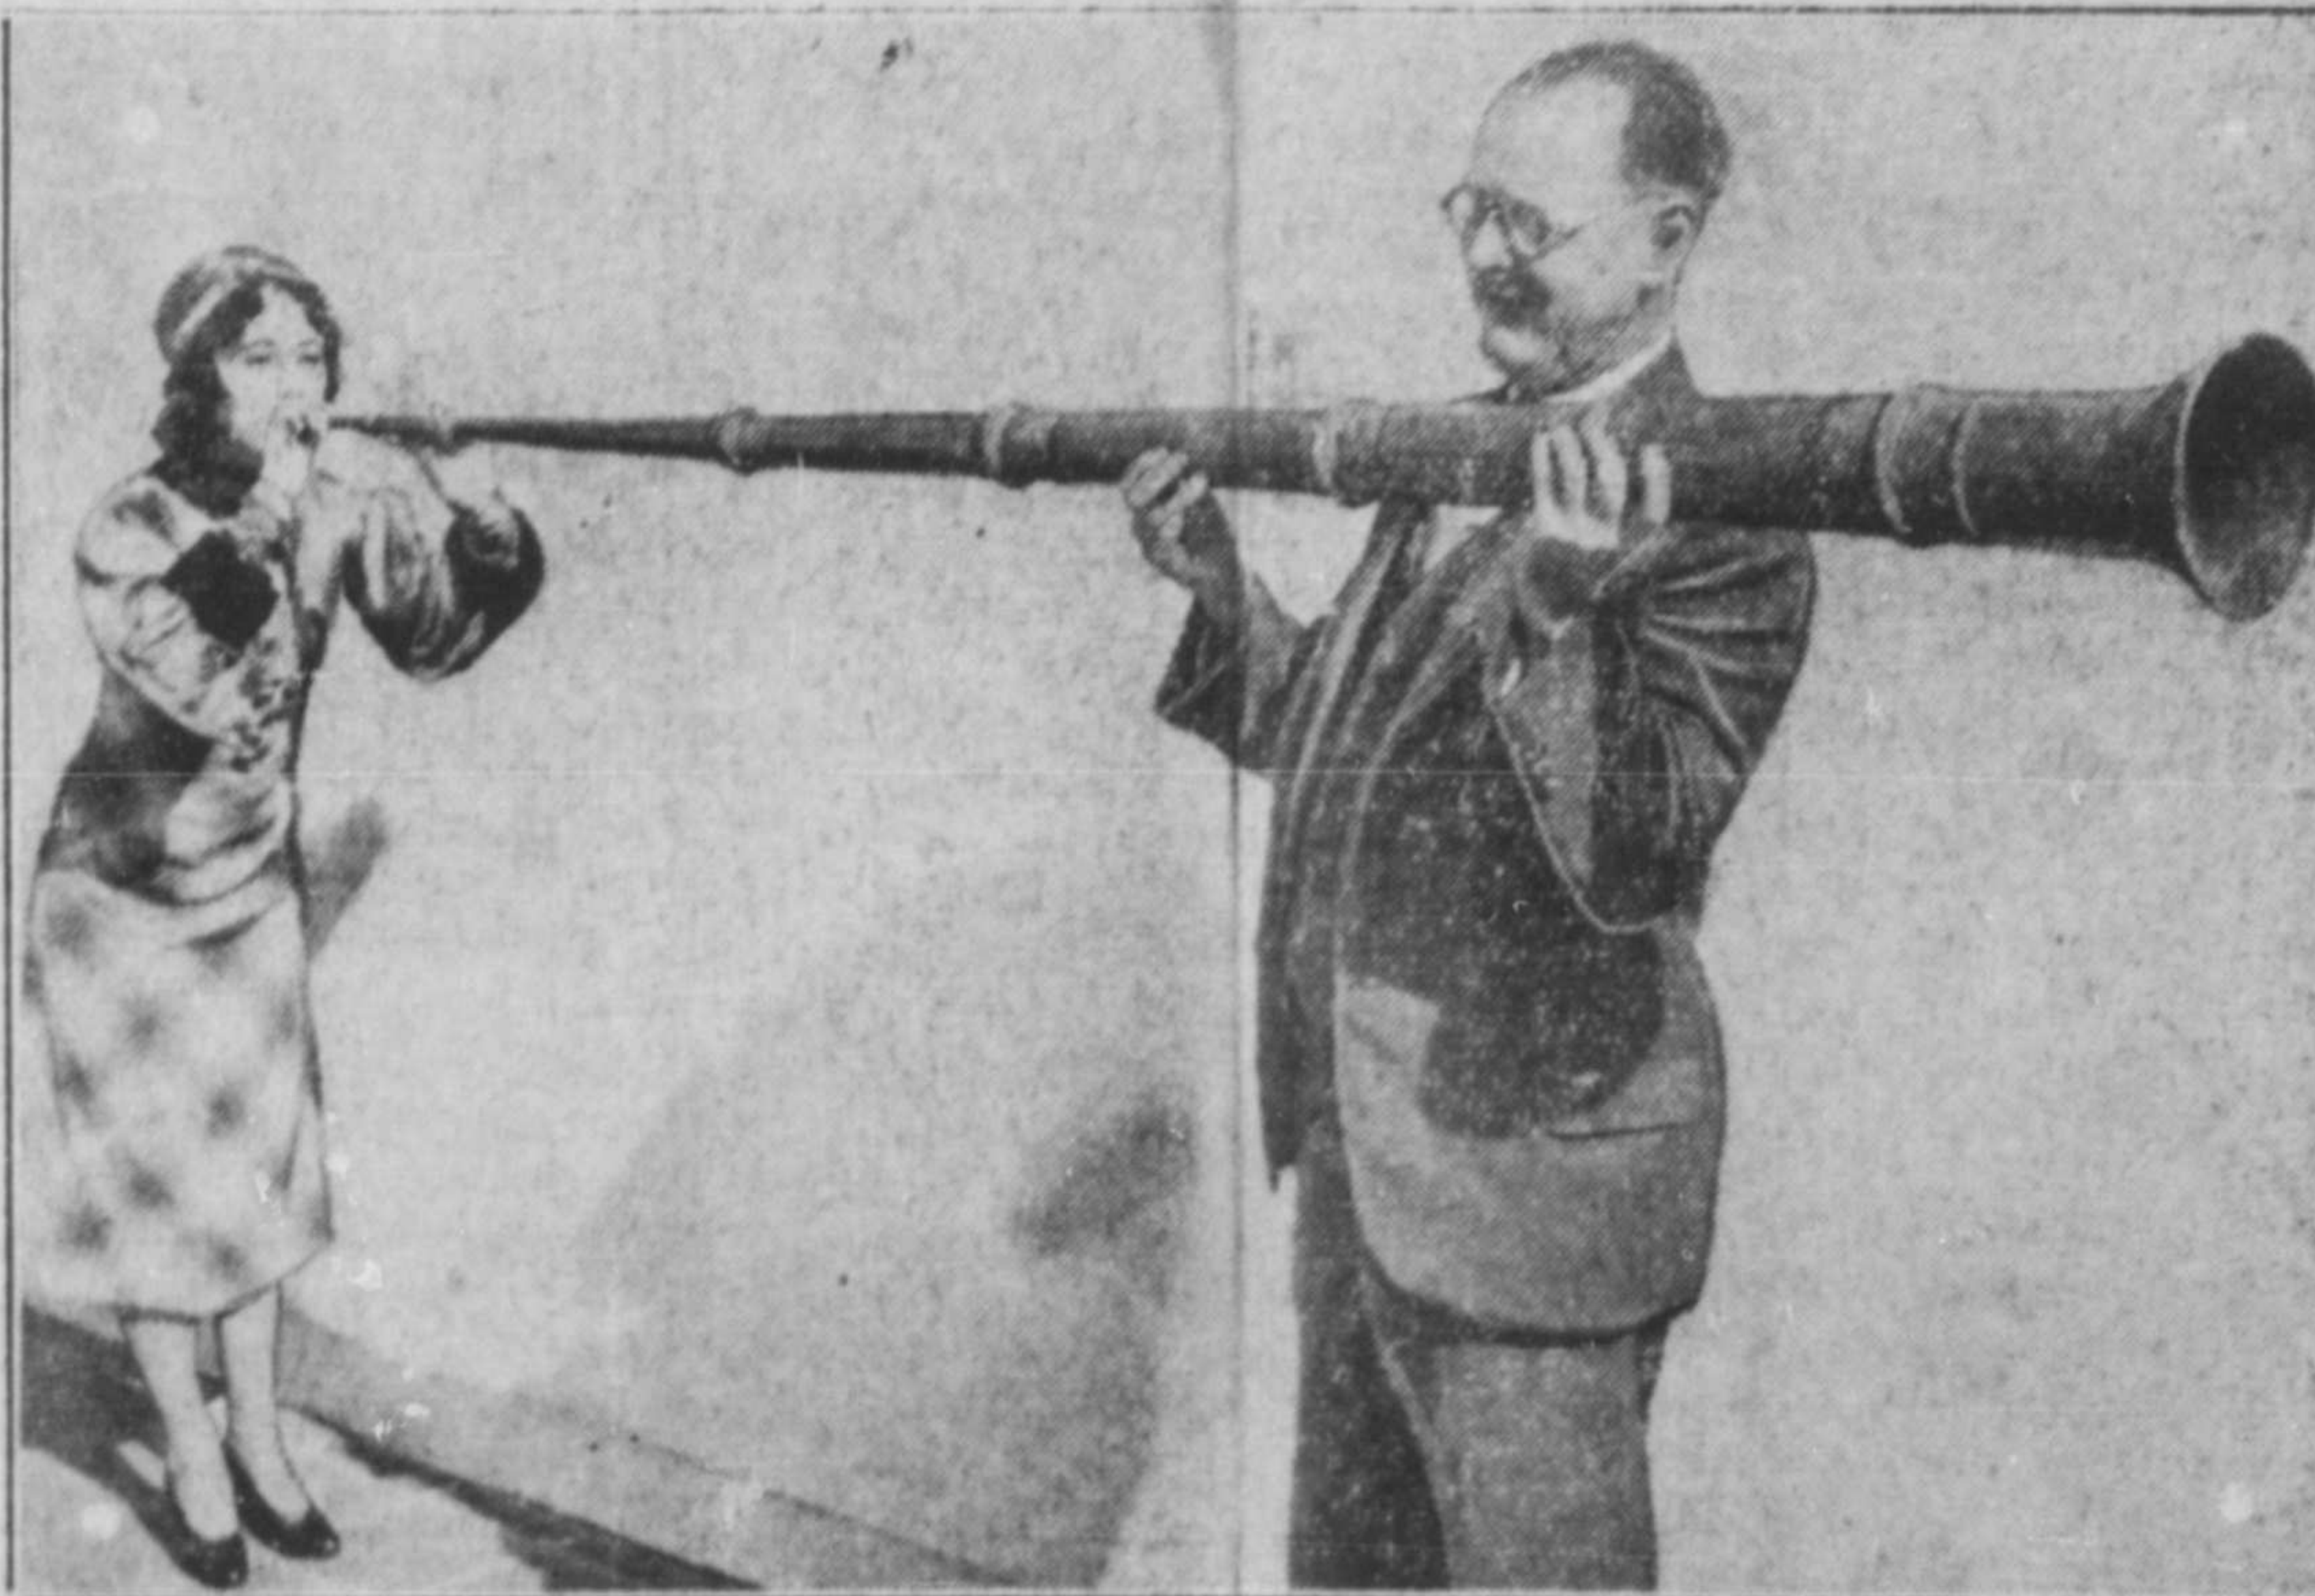

Righteousness in the performance of one's duty towards God and towards man and the observance of the Golden Rule of doing unto others as one would have others do unto one's self were prescribed as a national ideal for Canada by Rev. Dr. T. B. R. Westgate of Winnipeg who delivered an inspiring address before the Prince Rupert Gyro Club at luncheon yesterday, his subject being "The Formation of a National Ideal for Canada." "Righteousness will alone exalt a nation—it is a polestar which never varies and which must ultimately lead to greatness," declared Dr. Westgate in exhorting his listeners to accept this as a national ideal for Canada.

In the promotion of a national ideal, Dr. Westgate urged the cooperation of such organizations as the church and the service clubs. In opening his address he asked: what should be adopted as a national ideal? Some of the nations of old such as Assyria and Egypt had had war as their national ideal. But war had eventually been the ruin of those nations which had all but passed away.

France had accepted glory as a national ideal and that nation had paid dearly ere it had come to find that glory was but a vain ideal. Warns Against Mammon Canada and the British Empire had not accepted either the false ideals of war or glory as national ideals but could Canada and Great Britain plead not guilty to worshipping at the shrine of another false ideal—the gaining of money? If this were the ideal, then they were on the same level as the ancient nations which had worshipped Mammon.

Liberty was another national ideal about which one heard much. But what was liberty? If the ideal was to be liberty, it would have to be a liberty founded on sound fundamental principles? The liberty of the individual must be subordinate to that of the class, that of the class must be subordinate to that of the community and that of the community must be subordinate to that of the nation. Liberty, therefore, seemed an impracticable ideal. (Continued on Page 2)

RELEASING OF MONIES

City Council Asking For Amending Legislation in Connection With Hydro-Electric Fund

Having already obtained the consent of the Power Corporation of Canada to the proposal, the city council is now making application to the Legislature for an act to amend the "City of Prince Rupert Bylaw Validation Act 1929" whereby the council would be at liberty to apply any of the monies received from the Power Corporation of Canada in connection with the sale of the local hydro-electric utility three years ago for the purpose of paying interest and principle of debentures falling due in any year representing the outstanding liabilities of the Corporation of the City of Prince Rupert under that particular consolidated bylaw in respect of the assets acquired by the company.

The permission being sought applies particularly to a trust fund of $176,000 which was set aside when the hydro-electric utility was sold on the agreement that $23,500 of this fund would be released annually to cover the hydro-electric bonded indebtedness, principal and interest, annually as it became due. In this fund some $140,000 is now left.

In view of the present financial crisis, the city is asking for control of the remainder of the trust fund so that the city might have the opportunity of buying up, if the 1933 council so sees fit, the outstanding hydro-electric debentures at a great discount.

The change, it is felt, might have the effect of facilitating city financing during the next three years or so, be instrumental in reinforcing the city credit and, possibly, permit of the mill rate being lowered materially in 1936 providing no additional capital expenditures are incurred in the meantime as, between now and the end of 1936, other city debentures involving payments in the intervening years totalling $56,830.41 will have become paid up, making that much less to raise by taxation.

It is necessary to make application for the amending legislation at this time if it is to come before the Legislature at its forthcoming session.

Miss Margaret Beattie, who is attending school in Vancouver, arrived in the city on the Prince Rupert this morning from the south to spend the Christmas and New Year holidays here with her mother, Mrs. A. M. Beattie.

of several hundred "hunger marchers" suffered severe bruises when the police broke up an attempt to parade to the legislative buildings. One Royal Canadian Mounted Police constable was slightly injured. Two alleged radicals were arrested.

Wonderful Change of Sentiment In Italy Following Revolution And Press is Brought up to Date

(By Victor Basso-Bert—This is the last of a series of seven articles. So great has been the interest in them that Mr. Basso-Bert has been asked to write two more, one comparing Fascism with Socialism and the other with Bolshevism.)

Fascism has realized internal peace through order and discipline in work. It has permeated all classes with a spirit of equity and justice, thus establishing the well-balanced and fruitful collaboration of all citizens in the corporative state. Fascism has accomplished the great work of the creation of a new and most modern form of economic life—a state of affairs that has rejuvenated and transformed the mental attitude of forty-five millions of people. A peaceful social atmosphere and an absolute faith in the future, together with a sense of law and order, prevail among the masses.

The Italian people recognize and appreciate the fact that the strong hand of Il Duce was the hand of a savior. To demonstrate this let us cite a few facts. Turin, the Detroit of Italy, was between 1918 and 1922 ruled by the extreme reds. For the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the revolution Mussolini started on a tour covering the whole northern part of Italy, beginning at Turin on October 24. The reception given him there was beyond description. Four to five hundred thousand people gathered in the Piazza Castello to hear him. He further spoke in the F. I. A. T. (motor factory) to 35,000 workers urging them to join the fascist political organization in recognition of the work that the regime had done for the toilers, an outstanding and unique treatment of social justice. The response was such that next March 20,000 of the workers will go to Rome to pay homage to Il Duce.

From Turin he moved to inaugurate the opening of the new autostrade (auto road) connecting Turin with Milan, 247 kilometres of cement highway with no crossings, all passages being above or under. These autostrades are reserved for motor cars only. A small fee is paid to enter them and one can travel practically all through Northern Italy on them, taking in Turin, Milan, the Italian Lakes, Brescia and Venice. A branch connecting Genoa, Turin and Venice is under construction.

At Milan Mussolini spoke in Piazza del Duomo to between six and seven hundred thousand people with a reception similar to that of Turin. Then at Brescia, Monza, Pavia and other places—a real triumph wherever he went.

Revolution of the Press
The law regulating the public press was passed by Parliament in 1925. With the inception of the new legislation, journalism ceased to be a private fact and became a national fact. It passed from a regime of irresponsibility to one of responsibility. The law has imposed well-determined moral and cultural requisites for the exercise of the journalistic profession. It has specified the responsibilities of editors and reporters. It has made it possible to identify the sources of life of the newspapers and has given to readers a guarantee of the ability and dignity of the organs and persons aspiring to become spokesmen of public opinion and educators of the people.

A well known American writer, McClure, in 1927 wrote: "Journalism in Italy is now a great instrument for the development of culture and the welfare and prosperity of the nation. It is interesting itself in national problems, explaining the work that the nation is accomplishing and to be accomplished. More than that of any other country, the journalism of Italy is an instrument of civilization."

When the transformation of Italian journalism has been definitely accomplished it will be the most complete journalistic revolution ever brought about in any land because Italy will be the first nation to demonstrate with facts that the public press must not be the sewer of the nation but the most important means for the education of the people.

Mussolini, in speaking to journalists of all lands assembled in Rome, stated: "In some lands newspapers are serving groups of plutocrats or parties or individuals; in others the press is reduced to the low function of buying and selling excitable news. In still other countries the press is grouped in the hands of a few individuals who consider the newspapers to be an industry like iron or leather."

"Italian journalism is the freest in the world. It is free because it is serving only one cause and one regime, that is the supreme interest of the nation. It is free because, within the laws of the regime, it can exercise and is exercising the function of control, of critic, of propagation. It is free because, as we want that journalism be a mission, well then, any mission must be accomplished by a high sense of responsibility."

The Italian journalistic contract was subjected to ample discussion at the international labor bureau at Geneva and was unanimously considered to be the most complete journalistic contract existing. Stephen Valot, editor of L'Ouvre, Paris, and president of the international federation of journalists declared: "In this contract the Italian journalists are the vanguard of the journalistic profession."

CHRISTMAS OBSERVED

Successful Christmas Tree, Concert and Dance at Usk

USK, Dec. 21.—The Usk School concert was held on Saturday last in the Usk Community Hall in conjunction with the annual Christmas tree and dance.

The concert was prefaced by a short explanatory speech by P. Skinner, secretary of the school board, concerning the traditional Christmas practices of the community and the financial status of the funds to date.

Miss Kathleen Durham presented her usual successful concert, the children performing their parts with great spirit. The program was composed of the usual recitations, songs, plays and drills at the close of which Santa Claus paid a visit. Upon Father Christmas' hasty exit with rousing booms from the local orchestra, the hall was quickly cleared for the dance which continued with the customary happy spirit of the times. The dance was a great success despite the occurrence of several persistent aquatic showers from overhead.

Much credit is due to the children, Miss Durham and master of ceremonies, Bert Wilson, for the very successful affair.

Here's how you can help them out, and do yourself a good turn too. Check off on this list some articles you could put to good use, what sizes you take, color preference, etc., then see that some of the family get hold of it. They'll do the rest.

Your folks know that at Bryant's they get good standard brands of apparel that will "stand by you" at most reasonable prices; that necessary after-Christmas exchanges are cheerfully made; that we have a twenty-one year reputation for fair dealing to maintain, year in and year out. A close watch for Irish Free State Grand National sweepstake tickets going to England on vessels crossing the Irish Sea has been kept for some time by the customs authorities at Liverpool. One of the largest seizures of sweepstake tickets ever made was carried out one week-end on the arrival of a certain boat in the Mersey from Dublin. The tickets, estimated to represent $450,000, were confiscated and sent to London. They were ready for distribution when seized. Customs officers have been specially instructed to be vigilant in their search for Irish sweepstake tickets. Tickets have been found in passengers' baggage and also hidden away in vessels after the passengers have left. Scarcely a week passes without a consignment being seized.

The Ladies' Golf Union of England intends to send a British women's touring team to visit South Africa and Australasia next year. Intensive practice will go on all winter. In order to gain a place on the team one must win the British Ladies' Open title when the championship is played in May. The qualifying rounds are to be retained. Both the open and the close championships this year produced unexpected in that the runners-up were not among the original favorites, so everyone will feel they have a chance of being the lucky one to come through. In the selection of the touring team two courses may be considered. One is to send the strongest player from each of the four countries, viz.: England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales; and the other, to send the four or five strongest players from the British Isles, irrespective of country representation.

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism.

Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication.

The Letter Box

VOICE FROM DORREEN

Editor, Daily News:—
In answer to A. Worker's article written from Usk in the December 16 issue of the Rupert News, I think this gentleman has not met the severe test of $9.10 a month, and if he had a garden which we have not and it seems he has also gotten in a good supply of mountain goat meat. At various points along the line men have been pulled up before police for slaughtering these animals. And moreover you state that said unemployed have a garden and possibly farm stock which may make the $9.10 go a little further at these high priced stores.

If Mr. Worker makes $5 a week for four persons is sufficient food allowance in this vicinity or anywhere else in Canada, let him try his best and get a bare existence. It is most likely he has containers for berries from past years of prosperity. These containers are not so easy to obtain in this part of the country but maybe they grow on trees at Usk.

When he speaks of clothes I realize from his letter that he has been getting his right along without any interference and has sufficient blankets to keep himself warm at night. When a man has gone a year and one half on clothes from charitable institutions $14 doesn't get him much at said store prices. I quite agree with Mr. Worker about we workers who have to pay for what we get, mostly when we have to pay unheard of prices. In future he might sign his name to article he contributes.

Hoping this will appear in print and oblige.

Yours truly,
G. H. TAYLOR.

Dorreen, B.C.

CITY BUSINESS

Editor, Daily News:—

Reading your paper yesterday must have been gratifying to the taxpayers of this city. It seems quite illustrative of the way the city "business" is carried on.

First of all, it was interesting to note that His Worship, the Mayor, for reasons best known to himself, decided not to trust the people or allow them to express an opinion as to whether they wanted the number of aldermen reduced or not. This in spite of the fact that a petition, apparently properly signed as required by law, had been presented asking such opinion to be obtained.

On the other hand, it would seem that the police question is to be an annual event. This matter was quite fully discussed and in no uncertain way decided a year ago. What is the particular reason for bringing it up again at this time?

While the question of the number of aldermen is one that has not had consideration for some considerable time and might very properly be submitted as requested, there is no good reason why the police matter should be brought up again now.

It would appear to me that the city business is getting worse from day to day. And in these trying times the mayor and council have not shown much inclination to exemplify economy as far as their own remuneration is concerned. I am not referring to the amount involved but to the principle.

A few years back it was my privilege to visit an American city of about 15,000 population and, in conversation with the city clerk there, I learned that the mayor and aldermen served without pay.

Useful PRESENTS

This is a time when useful presents are being given. We have them in great variety. Let us show them. Our prices can't be beaten.

MONTREAL IMPORTERS

Twenty years ago, when there were council meetings every week and sometimes several meetings a week, the members of the council had to put in considerable time and, in a sense, "earned" their pay. But compare that with present conditions. As things are now, it should be an honor to serve our city as mayor and aldermen without pay.

The city is in default in regard to its obligations. A municipality in the south in a similar position had a commissioner appointed the other day to bring it back on a sound basis. Judging from various expressions along this line there is apparently a strong feeling among our taxpayers that this would be the proper procedure for our city. In their own interests it may be advisable for the taxpayers to take this step, because it does not seem feasible to pull out of our present position the way things have headed during this year. Increased taxation, decreased revenues and business generally stagnant. How long will the taxpayers be able to carry the burden? The sooner we realize our position and take whatever steps possible to protect our city, the better for all. If steps are taken now to secure the appointment of a commissioner the city would be saved the expense of the annual election.

A TAXPAYER.

Charles Graham, inspector of mines, returned to the city on the Cardena yesterday from a trip to Anxox and Stewart on official duties and left on this morning's train for Telkwa.

DRAMA IS GRIPPING

"Skyscraper Souls," Featuring Warren William and Maureen O'Sullivan, at Capitol

For gripping drama and tension, few pictures to come out of Hollywood can equal "Skyscraper Souls," which is the mid-week feature offering on the screen of the Capitol Theatre here, it is said. The world's tallest building—a 102-storey New York skyscraper—is the locale of this story and through the eye of the camera are shown incidents and problems, loves, joys, struggles and despairs of the occupants of the building. As a result, a very engrossing picture has been produced.

Warren William, as the giant of finance whose treachery brings all in the building to disaster, and Maureen O'Sullivan, as the leading romantic figure, have the principal parts in the play. Veree Teasdale, New York stage actress, and Jean Herscholt also have important parts in the film which revolves around the financial magnate's attempt to use all those around him as pawns in his scheme to gain ownership of the great skyscraper. Other players in the cast include Anita Page, Norman Foster, George Barbier, Purnell Pratt and Gregory Ratoff.

As the weekly revival feature, the picture "The Side Show," featuring Winnie Lightner, is being offered in addition to the full regular program tonight.
