WITHOUT SALARY

It seems altogether probable that whoever serves as mayor of Prince Rupert this year will have to do so without salary or emolument of any kind, at any rate after the first month. As soon as a commissioner is appointed, both executive powers and salary of the mayor will doubtless be abolished.

At the same time a mayor is needed who will represent the city on official occasions, do the honors to prominent visitors, attend conventions at his own expense and cooperate with the president of the Chamber of Commerce in forwarding the interests of the city. Such a man would be invaluable to the city and may be in a position to take action to forward her commercial or industrial interests in a most effective manner.

We are all looking forward to a period of expansion within the next few years and one of the first steps is to select such representatives as will keep the city well in the forefront commercially, industrially and politically.

ONE OF FIRST STEPS

Some time ago we intimated that Prince Rupert people would be likely before long to hear of a project or projects which would tend to help the city industrially. The first of these was announced yesterday when Francis Millerd stated that he would build a cannery in the city. Such an industry here is quite another matter from a cannery on the Skeena River. It is of greater benefit to the city in that it will provide a payroll for local people instead of for people who live elsewhere and who come here only for the season, taking their money away with them at the close.

We hope Mr. Millerd will be successful with his enterprise.

Marxian Socialism is Obsolete
Theory and Being Replaced by Fascism Which is Practicable

(By Victor Basso-Bert)

Karl Marx, the great agitator for the emancipation of the working class, was largely influenced by the French revolution and other historical events. For him history was a rhythm of action and reaction. His aim was the violent overthrow of the bourgeoisie by means of revolutionary action, just as the bourgeoisie overthrew feudalism.

According to the Marxian conception, revolution is a product of historic necessity. This materialistic conception of history leads to the inevitable clash of the classes. The heroic barricading spirit of Louis Blanc and Blanqui was making passionate appeals to the people like Abraham Lincoln in advocating a government of the people, by the people, for the people.

Marx's appeal is directed to the working classes. He proclaims the utter impossibility for employers and employees having anything in common and launches in his manifesto the famous aphorism "Workers of all lands unite; in union there is strength; in strength there is love; you have nothing to lose but your chains, and a world to gain." Hence the well-known theories spring out of his dialectic—class consciousness, economic determination and class struggle.

To have a clear conception of these matters it is necessary to have a chronological idea of the principal factors of social evolution of the classes—patriarchal, plebeian and slaves in the ancient Roman world; feudal lords, vassals and burghers under feudalism; bourgeoisie (derived from the word burg) burghers and the wage workers of today. Let us quote a German interpretation of Marxism:

"Socialism is an organic product of things. The current of history drives the proletariat ship to the inevitable shore of socialism." Britain, the cradle of trade-unionism, with her mother of parliaments, was the laboratory of observation of Marx. The regime of semi-liberty conquered by the trade unions with the law of 1825 was only achieved in France in 1834. In Germany and Italy the old regime was definitely conquered as late as 1900. The efforts of Chartism in 1837 to 1842 failed to move the trade unions from their agnostic attitude on political action. It was the influence of John Burns, Tom Mann and Kier Hardie that started trade unions on their political career. The

SPORT CHAT

Terrace is having a very successful basketball season this winter with junior, girls' and senior leagues in operation. Three games are played each Saturday night. So far, play has been of a fast and exciting character and the hoop game is enjoying its usual popularity in the interior town. After the New Year a strong schedule will be arranged including games with Vancouver and possibly other points.

Hands clasped behind back and body bent at right angles, a powerful figure once known as the "human dynamo" may be seen occasionally these days at Lily Lake, skating centre for Saint John, N.B. He is Charles I. Gorman, one of the greatest skaters ever seen—winner of the world's championship—establisher of seven world's records. Gorman, now 35 years old, retired from competitive skating towards the end of 1928 and is in business at Saint John, where he was born.

SMITHERS WON OVER LOCAL BASKETBALL TEAM LAST EVENING

The local Canadian National Recreation Association intermediate basketball team was defeated in its game at Smithers last night by a score of 18 to 14, according to word received here from the interior today. The match was as fast as it was close. The local team plays at Telkwa tonight and is due home on tomorrow evening's train.

PORT SIMPSON, Dec. 30:—Port Simpson Young People's Association defeated the Metlakatla (Alaska) team in last night's basketball game here, the score being 19 to 16. It was a hard battle in which the home team clearly demonstrated its superiority although the visitors did not give up until the final whistle.

Defeated Ottawa to Resume First Place in American Division Of N. H. L.
NEW YORK, Dec. 30: (Canadian Press)—New York Rangers regained possession of first place in the American division of the National Hockey League by defeating the Ottawa Senators here last night. The Boston Bruins, who had been in the lead, were idle.
At Montreal, the Canadiens played a three-all draw with the Detroit Red Wings and took exclusive possession of fourth place in the international division, leaving the idle New York Americans in the cellar.
Last night's National Hockey League scores were as follows:
Montreal 0, Toronto 1.
Detroit 3, Canadiens 3.
Ottawa 2, New York Rangers 4.

PORT SIMPSON, Dec. 30:—In the first of a two-game series here Wednesday night, the Port Simpson Athletic Club was badly beaten by a score of 35 to 12 by the Metlakatla All Stars, holders of the Alaska hoop title.
The Athletic Club made a brave effort to rally at the start but it was quite futile against the brilliant play of the visitors.
The Metlakatla team played against the Young People's Educational Association team, champion basketball aggregation of Northern British Columbia, last night.

Be Sensible about the FLU

With every epidemic of influenza comes an epidemic of advice. But if you have the flu—or you even suspect its presence—there's just one thing to do. Call a doctor immediately.

There are, however, some simple, sensible precautions that everyone should take at this time. Try to keep in good physical condition. Guard against colds or sore throat by avoiding contact with all coughers and sneezers. The germs of disease will often fasten upon the man or woman whose vitality has been lowered by a severe cold.

If you should catch a cold, Aspirin will help you to fight it. Keep a supply of these tablets in the house and take them according to directions at the first sign of any cold. Crush three Aspirin tablets in about half a glass of water and gargle as directed, if there is any soreness of the throat.

Be sure to use the genuine Aspirin tablets; they are of proven efficacy.

Above all, don't delay calling your doctor if you have reason to suspect that you have caught the flu.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

Editor, Daily News:—

Considerable discussion is taking place at present concerning possible legislation in respect to unemployment insurance—a matter of vital concern to all workers and on which, I hope, you will permit me to express my opinion through the medium of your paper.

It appears there are two points of view on this matter amongst the workers; some are favoring contributory and others non-contributory forms of insurance.

Looking up data compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics the latest available figures show 1929.

Net value of manufacturing products, $1,997,350,365; wages and salaries, $813,049,842; subtracting one from the other we get a value added by labor during the manufacturing process, $1,184,300,523.

This is the surplus value and a question arises, who gets it?

Now the direct relief is and the benefits from the coming insurance act both together would amount to only a small fraction of this huge sum. So where is there any justification for the implied sting of a dole respecting non-contributory insurance?

And what about the C. P. R. who were granted by the Dominion government $1,500,000 with no interest attached and presumably for the purpose of financing employment of the C. P. R.'s workers when a few days later the same C. P. R. has loaned to the same Dominion government $2,000,000 with the interest of 4%?

The underlying principle of unemployment insurance in England and Germany is that only those who have contributed a specified amount into the insurance fund in the course of so many weeks would be eligible to whatever benefits there may be. Well, what about the unemployed who have nothing to contribute? And why should the employed be expected to contribute towards the fund after they already have produced surplus value that some one else got away with?

According to the estimates arrived at by technocracy 45.5% of the present working force are doomed to permanent unemployment due to technical progress in the process of production. Now since the workers are not responsible for this state of unemployment which is due to the anarchy of capitalist production and exchange and the displacement of labor by automatic machinery for the purpose of augmenting of profits and financed by bankers it naturally follows that bankers and other beneficiaries stand the consequence of their own doings.

In view of the wholesale cutting and slashing of wages and salaries and in view of the surplus value already mentioned, it is difficult to understand that a section of the workers would allow their minds to become so influenced by capitalist propaganda as to voluntarily agree to the additional expropriation of the product of their labor.

Yours for abolishment of capitalism.

M. ANDERSON.

MISS PITT'S POEM READ

Delightful Christmas Message Heard By Rotarians at Their Luncheon Yesterday

The following interesting poem by Miss Elizabeth M. Pitt of Premier entitled "The Spirit of the North" was read by President G. A. Woodland at the luncheon of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club yesterday: Why go to the south for Christmas tide?

It loses all its thrill Of wakening up and seeing the snow Upon your window sill.

With palm trees swaying in the breeze, And hot sun beating down, You are sweltering in the heat And wearing a summer gown.

And what do you know of Christmas cheer? Of frost and snow so nippy? Of dark blue skies with little stars That twinkle and look pretty?

And Madam Moon that gently glides Across her star-strewn way, And brightens all the earth below, And changes night to day.

There beneath that clear blue sky, The huskies' howl is heard, Every man goes to his rest, Then silence. There's not a word.

These are the nights for Santa Claus To ride out far and wide. Here Christmas Spirit paves his way, And joy with all abide.

Christmas cheer then, strong and true, Lives in this Northern land. A bit of it I send to you, By proxy shake your hand.

John Gurvich and his sister, Miss Nellie Gurvich, sailed last night on the Prince Rupert for a trip to Vancouver.

TWO GREAT FILMS HERE

"Lottery Bride" and "Congorilla" Presented This Week-End at Capitol Theatre

"Lottery Bride," featuring Jeanette MacDonald, the popular musical star, and "Congorilla," a fine African natural life picture made by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, the famous jungle explorers, are being presented on a splendid double bill which is being offered at the Capitol Theatre for the end of this week. It promises to be an outstanding entertainment program.

"Lottery Bride" is partly in technicolor and, in addition to affording plenty of opportunity for Miss MacDonald to use her fine voice, presents a thrilling story of the air. John Garrick heads the supporting cast for Miss MacDonald and Joe E. Brown and Zasu Pitts have important comedy roles. The musical score is by Arthur Hammerstein.

"Congorilla" was made in the very heart of the great jungle of Central Africa. The picture reveals that truth is, indeed, more thrilling than fiction in this case at least. The picture depicts the hair-raising and death-defying experiences of the Johnsons on a two-year safari in the unexplored corners of the dark continent. The picture features gorillas and pygmies although many other forms of African wild life are also shown.

John Gurvich and his sister, Miss Nellie Gurvich, sailed last night on the Prince Rupert for a trip to Vancouver.
