Most of transportation in B.C. is Sandspit which again filled the bill as an emergency landing strip yesterday to coastwise planes. The airport on the Queen Charlotte Strait is not a busy airport but is important to Prince Rupert-Vancouver air traffic and gives pilots easy access to the mainland. Yesterday it was the scene of the third emergency landing of a huge transport plane this year.

93 Violent Deaths Mark Canada's 85th Birthday

32 Planes To Continue Search For Lost RCAF Mitchell Bomber

EDMONTON — Thirty-two aircraft today awaited lifting of weather to resume their search for a Mitchell bomber missing in the Yukon with four men aboard.

Air Force headquarters at Edmonton reported the plane disappeared Monday between White Horse and Mayo, Y.T., some 1,000 miles north of Edmonton while on a summer training exercise for reserve units.

B.C. Toll Takes 9

(Compiled from Dispatches)

Canada's 85th birthday was darkened by the violent deaths of 93 persons, including nine in British Columbia over the four-day holiday.

The black record compares with 84 deaths over the three-day holiday in 1951 when 36 persons were drowned and 48 died in traffic accidents.

CANADIAN DOLLAR JUMPS AGAIN

RAIL EMPLOYEES TO ASK 30 CENTS

OTTAWA (CP) — Contract demands to be served on railways by their non-operating unions tomorrow will call for wage increases of more than 30 cents an hour, it was learned today. The proposed new contracts are for about 125,000 employees in non-running trades, those who do not work on trains.

Paper Town Officially Opens Airstrip; Donates Ball Park

Special to The Daily News

POWELL RIVER — This paper town embarked on a new era over the Dominion Day holiday when Westview Airport and Timberlane Park—both given out of raw forest and mountainland—were officially opened.

The airport, a 3,200-foot strip of gravelled runway, was dedicated Saturday. Timberlane Park, huge soccer field and baseball diamond, was handed over Sunday to the Powell River and District Baseball Association by the Powell River Company, which built the field at a cost of $75,000.

Thrill-packed moment for the 2,000 citizens who crammed one side of the airstrip for the ceremonies came just as official functions were ceasing.

An RCAF paratrooper, Corporal Henry Jenkinson, of Michel, B.C., ended a 1,000-foot jump by crashing into a thicket of trees and brush behind the lone Powell River Aero Club building on the strip. He was not hurt.

He had leaped from an RCAF Canso which was flown to Westview in the morning to take part in the ceremonies.

The airstrip brings Powell River within 32 minutes of Vancouver. Queen Charlotte Airlines has applied to Ottawa to operate three daily trips out of Powell River to Vancouver and add a service to Vancouver Island through Comox.

Another Jump For Canuck Buck

NEW YORK — The Canadian dollar advanced 5/32 of a cent to $1.03 in terms of the United States dollar Tuesday—highest price it has attained since 1934 when it was $1.03 3/4.

The run-up tied in with no particular piece of news. Foreign exchange experts are settling for a stock phrase, "it's a matter of supply and demand," when asked for an explanation.

Typhoon Hits Philippines

MANILA — The full fury of a 115-mile-an-hour typhoon swept into the south central Philippines today.

The northeast Mindanao coast was lashed by heavy winds. Southern Leyte was virtually paralyzed. Manila weather bureau in a bulletin at 7 a.m. located the typhoon centre 80 miles southeast of Cebu City of Cebu.

Winds of 55 miles an hour are estimated within a 60 mile radius of the storm centre.

Americans Kidnapped By Russians

BERLIN (CP) — Gun-brandishing Communist "people's police" arrested four sightseeing Americans, including a Chaplain and a woman, today and whisked them into the Soviet-occupied east zone of Berlin.

West German police reported that the incident occurred at Dusseldorf, where the American zone of the residential suburb of Zehlendorf borders the Russian zone.

Police said a Russian officer and east zone police, armed with rifles rushed the Americans' car when it stopped at the border and occupants began taking photographs.

Police said the Communists entered the American car and forced it across the border.

Plane Crashes Through Homes

The plane plunged into the middle of a government housing development and splattered the pre-fabricated buildings with gasoline. All but nine persons got out of the houses unharmed and nine are not seriously injured.

Divorcee Gets 5 Years

Sentenced was Mrs. Jeanne D'Arc Michaud, 35-year-old divorcee and native of St. Agathe, Que., who contended during her trial that she made a bedroom bargain with millionaire La Vere Redfield, 54, to steal his bulging safe.

Estimates of the value in cash, jewels and securities stolen with the safe have ranged from $500,000 to $2,400,000. Redfield said there is still about $150,000 in cash missing.

The Soviet Union promptly declared it will not take part in the discussion and will veto the U.S. proposal.

Prisoners Riot

CONCORD, Mass. (CP) — Thirty-four tough prisoners, armed with knives, wrenches and table legs rioted at the Concord State Reformatory for three hours yesterday, holding four guards as hostages.

They surrendered meekly after getting a guarantee of no reprisal from State Commissioner of Correction, Maxwell B. Grossman.

Instructors and guards were released unharmed before the prisoners fled out of the barricaded store house.

Oppose Sunday Sales

VANCOUVER — The Vancouver Real Estate Board is trying to do away with the seven day week for realtors by having Sunday sales discontinued. A. G. Greer, manager-secretary, said that in many American cities now "there is a complete clamp-down on Sunday open houses."

Millworker Vanishes RCMP Dogs Join Search Party

POWELL RIVER — A husky millworker, dazed from a blow on his head and bare from the waist up, vanished Tuesday into the rain-soaked woods which fringe this coastal community.

An RCMP search dog has joined hundreds of residents hunting for 26-year-old Arthur Offley, who raced from the sulphite plant where he worked after accidentally striking his head.

The only clue was a report from a resident in Wildwood, about two miles from the mill. He told police of seeing a shirtless man carrying a club who shortly after disappeared into the thicket.

Weatherman Spoils Another Holiday

Prince Rupert's rain refused to take a holiday on Dominion Day and the doubleheader ball game and soccer game were "called because of wet grounds."

The weatherman had forecast some rain, but somehow the day was cold and dull and as evening approached a steady downpour struck the city.

Elsewhere throughout B.C. the sun came through for at least part of the day as Canada's 14,000,000 citizens celebrated their country's 85th birthday.

Street Waste Boxes

SEVERAL months ago city council approved a suggestion by an alderman to purchase street waste disposal units to be set up at various intersections of city streets. These units would prove not only a boon to the street cleaner, but might be instrumental in giving our city a better appearance.

Perhaps we, ourselves, are not so critical of the appearance of our own streets and have accustomed ourselves to the curb deep refuse of paper, candy wrappers, boxes and such, but visiting tourists are likely to make quick mental notes of such a condition.

While street waste boxes would not eliminate the throwing of trash on sidewalks or into the gutter, many a pedestrian will think twice before tossing a newspaper or a handful of candy wrappers away indiscriminately while walking along the sidewalk with a well advertised waste basket just a few yards away.

Investigate All Combines

PARLIAMENT has undertaken the task of revising the Combines Investigation Act. We wish it success in its undertaking.

We hope it will broaden the Act to cover all combines that operate in restraint of trade, including labor, farmer and professional organizations.

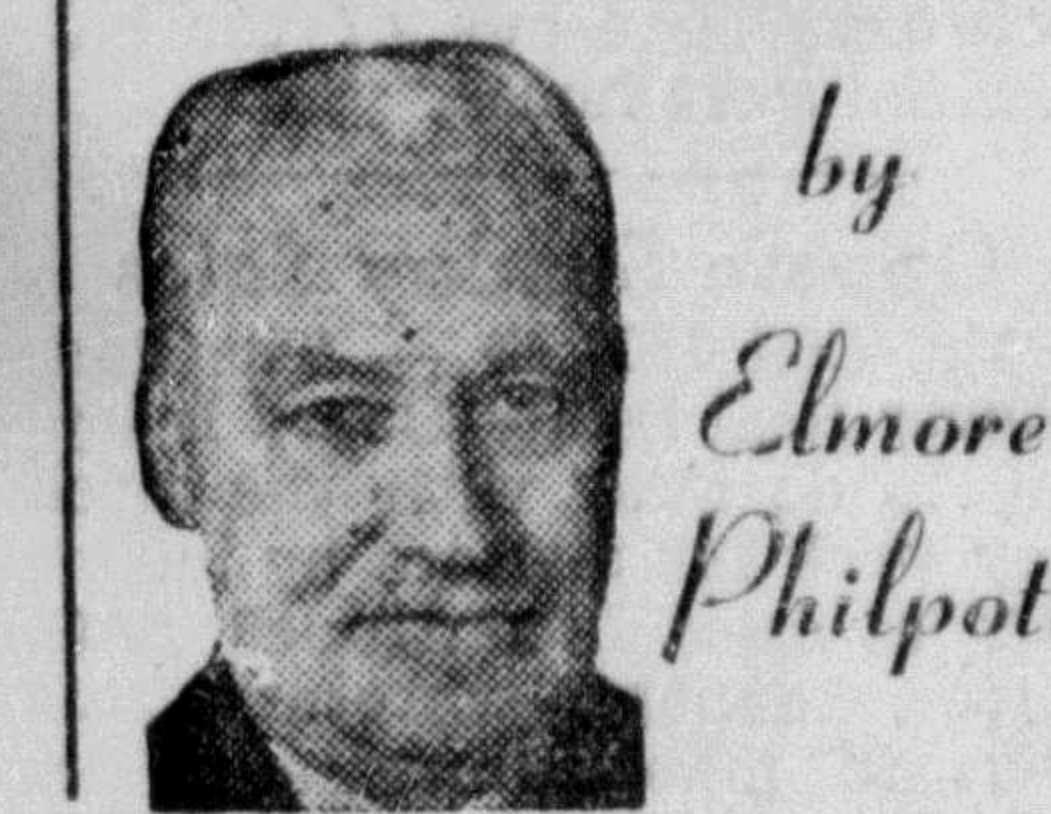

There are sound reasons for legislation to protect the public from the exactions of combines among manufacturers, agents, merchants, etc.

If there are any sound reasons for exempting labor unions, farm organizations, or professional associations from the provisions of the Act, we have never heard of them.

Parliament should include all such organizations in its study of the proposed legislation.

Censorship should be a last resort in dealing with literature, says the Saint John Telegraph-Journal. "Censorship in nearly all its forms has an unfortunate record. It is so easily becomes arbitrary. It is so desperately hard to administer. It calls for well-nigh superhuman wisdom, detachment and moral and intellectual integrity on the part of censors. It is assuredly not grist for the bureaucratic mill."

Straight Vote Best

ONLY one thing emerged from the B.C. election with absolute clarity: The good old British system of voting is best.

Where the voters simply have to mark one X behind the name of the candidate they want you get a better, fairer, more sensible, practical result than you do by all the fancy, numbered systems.

Let it be admitted that the British voting system is "slanted" to give working power to whichever party happens to emerge at the head of the list. It is precisely this "slanting" in favor of the top party that enables the British system to work so well.

The French are so completely logical that they are often impractical. It was from France, and not Britain, that we adopted the basis of the mixed-up voting system that we tried out in B.C. only a few weeks ago. The result speaks for itself.

IT AMUSES me when I hear people talking in terms of horror at the possibility that a CCF government might take over in B.C. although that party polled only about 31 per cent of the votes on first count.

The same people who talk that way think nothing of the fact that Mr. Churchill is also in power in Britain on a minority vote. True, the British Tories did win out by a whisker in actual seats, as against Labor. But they are a minority government, in votes.

THIS BUSINESS of getting into office, in spite of getting less than half the votes, used to worry me. I can remember the first election in which I ever took a real interest. That was the famous Reciprocity election of 1911, when the Conservatives overthrew the Liberals, who had ruled Canada for 15 years.

Our family was split right down the middle—with my father and eldest brother strong for Laurier and Reciprocity. I was a terrific little Tory, British imperialist in those days—and was absolutely sure if President Taft had his way he would annex Canada.

The arguments go so furious in our house (and many others in Hamilton) that we boys would actually fight with fists. But mother ended that by organizing a sort of parliament. She made us debate the election, with so many minutes for each side. The whole neighborhood used to come in to see and hear the fun.

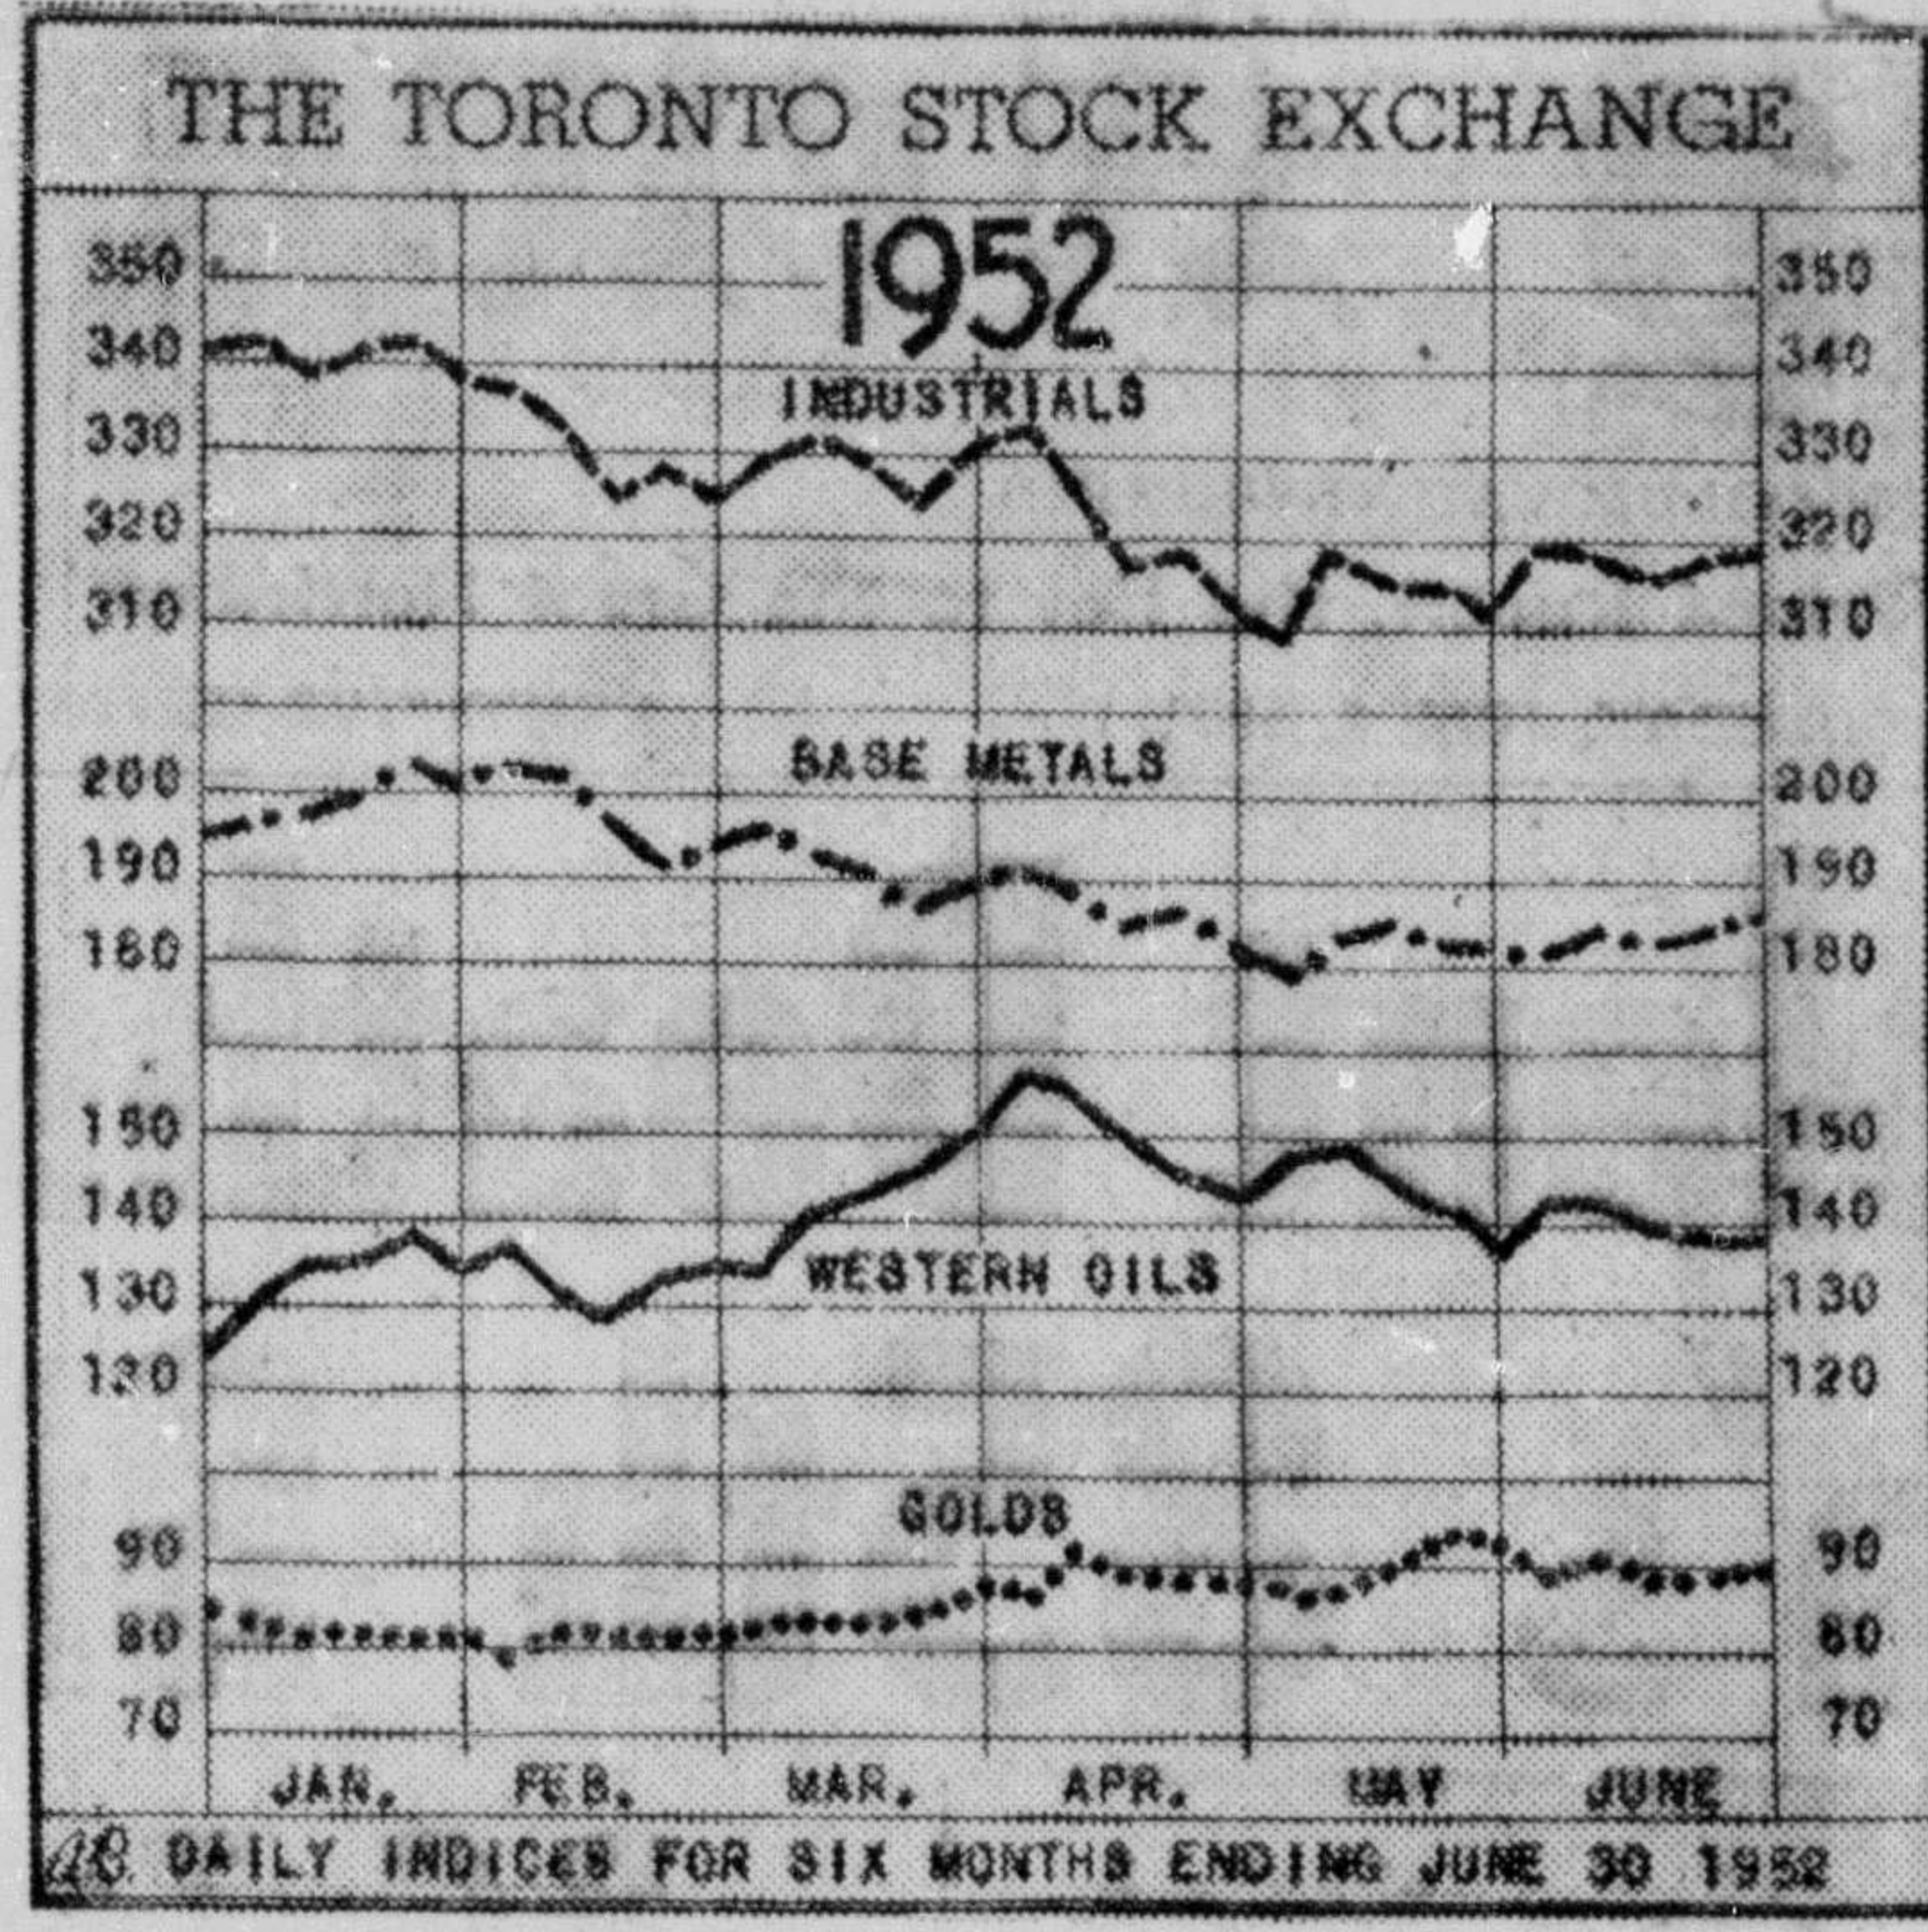

My big brother could wipe the ground with me with all the intellectual arguments. But "our" side had all the emotional appeal. On the night of the election the Liberal wing of the family went down to the Liberal paper to wait for the verdict. I was in the front rank of the Tories. When the result was clear the old Hamilton Spectator flashed a crude drawing on the screen:

"This day we have nailed the Old Flag to the mast, never to be torn down." I cheered till I was hoarse, and feel a glow about it even after all these years.

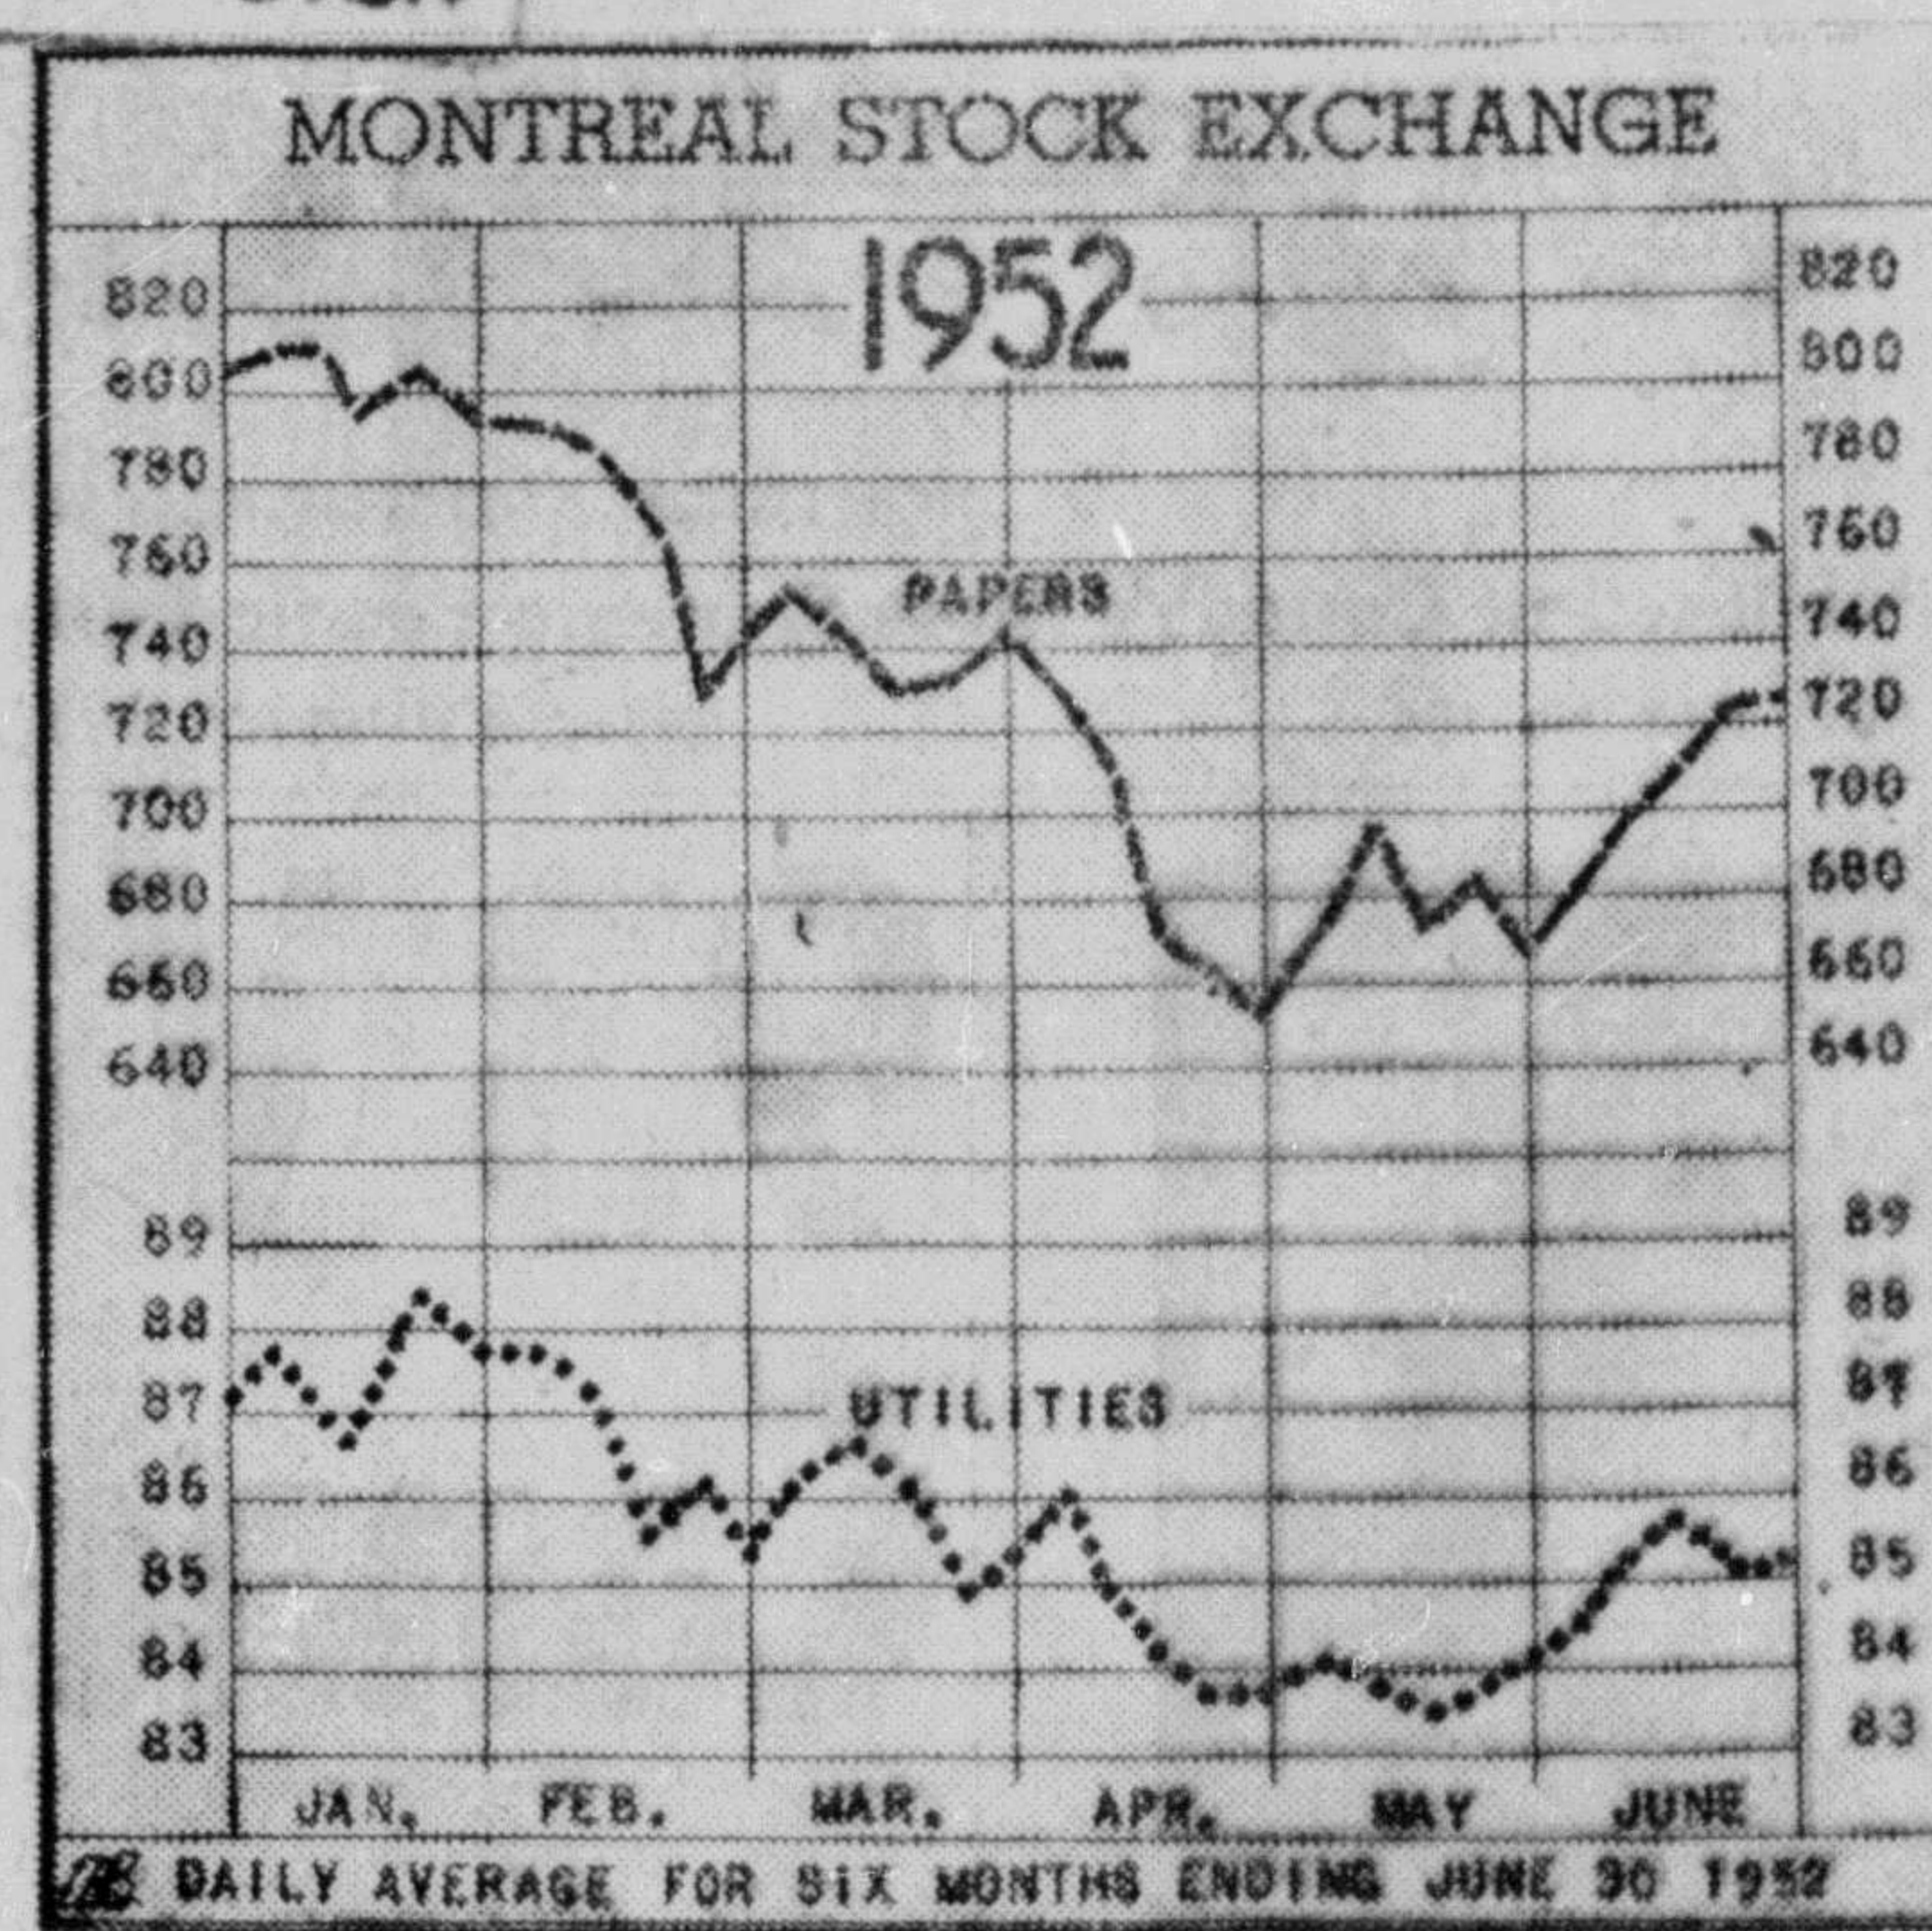

Yet a few weeks later I read in the papers that although the Tories had won most of the seats, the Liberals had won a substantial majority of votes. That baffled me, then.

THE BRITISH system is best because it is frankly based on the principle that "the King's government must go on." Even when the verdict is confused, somebody has to take on the job of running the country. The British system frankly favors whichever party has won the largest number of seats, even though it may lack a clear majority. It may be party A this time, party B the next time, party C the time after that.

The point is—it works—better than any other hodge-podge ever yet invented.

WESTERN OILS UP—Toronto stock prices, as reflected by the exchange's indices, traded within a narrow range for the first half of the year. Industrials and base metals fell slightly from early levels while western oils gained, largely on the strength of spring speculation. Golds were generally inactive. (CP Photo)

UNDER OUR ROOF

Watching our small son making mud pies the other day reminded me of the time when I was living in the old apartment house back East, when Hamish was the assistant janitor and our other house guests, Little Angle and Col. S. Skeffington-Smuts (Ret.) and his wife Anastasia, were tenant-neighbors of mine.

Specifically, this activity of our small son reminded me of the case of Mrs. Harvey Muggles and Rudolph Zitt, the sculptor. Mrs. Muggles was our wealthiest tenant, while Rudolph, who was very poor, occupied a one-room apartment on the third floor back, next to the incinerator.

John Sturdy

He had learned his art the hard way, had Rudolph. He received his basic training in a Montana quarry, after which he graduated to mixing cement for the Acme Construction Company of East Podunk, Kan., but I must admit that he was a sensitive and imaginative artist.

His day of glory came when Mr. Harvey Muggles commissioned him to do a bust of Mrs. Muggles in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary. For weeks the apartment on the third floor back was filled with the sound of Rudolph's efforts. He was not only sensitive, he was a striver after perfection, and it is known that he smashed five Mrs. Muggles' clay ones, that is to smithereens before he "got" her, as he explained it.

Towards the end he put up a large screen between himself and his living model so he couldn't see her. This rather disconcerted Mrs. Muggles and she said something about it, whereupon Rudolph flew into one of his artistic rages and shouted: "Why should I see you? It is your soul I am molding from this clay! You yourself are only a shell."

CABBAGE HEAD

But to me he confided: "when I look at her I am seck!" And he made faces to show how seck that was.

Sometimes, I remember, he would rush out into the hall and sit on the stairs and cry his heart out. "It is no use!" he would wail. "I work and work, day after day, and always she turns out to be a cabbage. I detest cabbages!"

Eventually he told Mrs. Muggles to go home. "I will capture you by thought transference," he told her. "I will produce a masterpiece." Then he looked shocked. "What am I saying?—Everything I do is a masterpiece."

It was then that he threw out all the clay and decided to work with cement (which, after all, was his true medium) and for days men would arrive at the apartment carrying great bags of cement. This went on for several weeks, until Rudolph suddenly announced that the sculpture was finished.

I was invited to the unveiling. Cement was everywhere, clinging to the walls and the ceiling and all over the floor, and in a corner of the room, under a huge bedsheet, was the Great Work.

A wave of excitement gripped the audience when Mr. Harvey Muggles, the husband of the lady about to be immortalized in cement, stepped forward to perform the unveiling ceremony.

As the sheet fell to the floor and Mrs. Muggles—in-cement suddenly appeared before our

May I take a few lines for a purely personal matter? I have read with interest the announcement of the transfer to Vancouver of "Bill" Cruickshank.

While in the service of the CNR passenger department, Mr. Cruickshank not only made a host of personal friends, but also proved himself a good friend to Prince Rupert and district and was a consistently hard worker and booster for our district.

I would like to add my voice to the many others who will have expressed appreciation to Bill, and my good wishes for the future to him and his wife.

Dr. McMillan, MP for Welland, who was a member of the Canadian delegation to the last assembly of the World Health Organization, gave us an interesting report of this humanitarian organization a few days ago.

W.L.C. has as its objective improving the health of all peoples. As the U.N. Charter states, health is a state of complete physical, mental, and social well-being and not merely the absence of disease or infirmity. Unequal development in different countries in the promotion of health and control of disease, especially communicable disease, is a common danger. Governments have a responsibility for the health of their peoples which can be fulfilled only by the provision of adequate health and social measures.

The Senate committee on External Relations has approved the Treaty of Peace (Japan) Bill and the Senate has finally passed the Bill.

The Senate has had a committee working steadily on the new Criminal Code. The committee has reported recommending that this Bill be not further proceeded with at the present session. The Senate concurred in that recommendation, so we will not be faced with the task of considering a Bill consisting of 748 sections and 45 forms at this session.

The Canadian National Railway's Capital Revision Bill is now before the Senate's Banking and Commerce committee where, I think, it will get a very thorough going over.

In order that the Senate eyes, Rudolph shouted: "Bravo! Bravo!" and began to applaud himself.

But the rest of us were stunned. It was Mrs. Muggles' bust all right, but there was something definitely strange about it. For one thing, it was equipped with arms, and one of the arms held a cabbage.

STILL CABBAGE HEAD "It just crept in," Rudolph explained. "I couldn't help it." But that wasn't all. Suddenly we heard Mrs. Muggles scream: "Where is my head? What have you done with my head?"

That was the strangest part, of course—the bust didn't have a head.

"You can't do this to my wife!" Mr. Muggles shouted at Rudolph, who drew himself up to his fullest height and declared: "I am an artist, not a photographer. To me your wife has no head."

"Put a head on my wife!" Mr. Muggles yelled.

I must say that Rudolph was magnificent at that moment. He eyed Mr. Muggles with cold disdain. "Very well," he said haughtily, and picking up a hammer walked over to the bust. With a sharp blow he knocked the cabbage out of the cement arm. Calmly he placed the cabbage on the neck.

"Your head, madam," he announced. Those were the days.

New Turbine Produced By Boeing

By JAMES HUTCHINSON

SEATTLE (AP)—A lightweight gas turbine engine is being groomed by the Boeing Aircraft Company as a future jack-of-all-trades in transport and industry. It went on display in a big truck and trailer unit at the National Truck and Trailer Show at Los Angeles in June after thousands of miles of highway testing and a border-to-border run.

Boeing describes it fondly as "the engine of the future." Weighing only 200 pounds, it is rated at 175 horsepower, can be removed and installed with tools carried in a coat pocket. One man can take it apart and put it together again in six hours.

It will run on diesel oil, kerosene or gasoline. Miles per gallon? Not so good by comparison, but Boeing engineers say they are expecting better mileage with further research.

Tests in a helicopter have been reported successful. Boeing officials plan to try it in an airplane.

Present production is for the Navy, for use as electric generators in minesweepers. The Navy is testing it as a power plant for landing craft. It is an adaptation of the jet airplane engine principle. In a jet plane, the power comes from the thrust of the escaping gas itself. In the new-type engine, the gas spins a turbine and the resulting power turns a shaft.

Boeing lists as some of the engine's features:

It occupies only about 13 per cent of the space of a standard diesel truck engine; it needs no radiator or cooling system; it has only one-tenth as many parts as comparable gasoline and diesel engines of the piston-drive type; it is at least 3,000 pounds lighter than diesel truck engines of equal power.

FEWER DIVORCES Divorces in Canada in 1951 numbered 5,163, compared with the record total of 6,199 in 1947.

Business Spotlight

OTTAWA (C)—Accompanied by an historic shift in the pattern of foreign trade, Canada's exports during May jumped to an all-time monthly high of $385,200,000, a $58,200,000 climb from last year, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The boost was accomplished mainly by an expansion in volume of shipments to Britain and other overseas countries, overcoming a drop in sales to the United States.

As a result, the proportion of total exports going to the U.S. market dropped to 52.2 per cent during May from 64.5 per cent in the same month last year.

Exports jumped $289,000,000 to $1,735,900,000 from $1,446,700,000, but the proportion absorbed ed by the U.S. dropped to 53.8 per cent from 64.5 per cent in the same period last year.

This was a reversal of the trend in the last decade which saw Canada lean on the American market as her chief export outlet. For example, the U.S. absorbed 41 per cent of Canada's exports in 1939, but took more than 64 per cent in 1950 and 1951.

A major factor in the 1952 shift undoubtedly was foot and mouth disease which cut Canada's meat and cattle shipments to the U.S., but there also was a decline during May in the value of shipments of such items as wood, paper, fibres, textiles and chemicals.

In a previous statement, the bureau estimated Canada's imports during May at $387,900,000, down from $405,100,000 last year, but still ahead of exports. This caused a $2,600,000 monthly deficit, the first of the year.

American Meat Markets Closed Off

With the American markets closed off to Canadian meats, total shipments of all products to the U.S. during May declined slightly to $202,900,000 from $211,300,000.

Exports of animals and animal products declined to $11,000,000 from $27,500,000; wood, wood products and paper to $85,900,000 from $95,100,000; and fibres, textiles and products to $1,466,000 from $2,584,000.

by X-RAY shoe fitting

In fact, it's dangerous to have your child's shoes fitted in any other way.

The tender child foot with its soft bones and plant muscle can be compressed into almost any type of shoe. The child, feeling no pain, cannot tell if the shoe fits properly or not.

That's why we insist upon fitting children's shoes by X-Ray. That's the only way we, and you, can be sure that your child's shoes will help to develop normal, healthy feet for a lifetime of foot health and comfort.

Many Friends Attend Open House Golden Anniversary

A lot of people think a lot of the Caseys. There can be no mistake about that when at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Casey, 1122 Eleventh Avenue East, more than 100 guests came to congratulate the couple on their 50th wedding anniversary yesterday evening.

And many others sent cards from out of town as the pair, with all of their six children at home for the occasion, held open house for their friends.

"Old George" was dressed up in his Sunday best, including a button-hole carnation, and Mrs. Casey was charming in an afternoon frock on which she wore a carnation corsage as the two welcomed guests for the better part of the evening in their home where they have lived nearly all the 42 years they have been in Prince Rupert.

Heading out-of-town visitors were George Jr., and Darrow Casey. George is employed at the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. Ltd., Trail, while Darrow is fire chief at Tadanac, B.C.

Daughters from out-of-town were Mrs. Frank Warne, Mrs. Alfred Teed, both of Vancouver, and Mrs. Mary Lucas, of Qualicum Beach.

In Prince Rupert is another daughter, Mrs. George Hills, who with her sisters joined to make preparations for the important event.

The procession of friends bade the couple many more years of married bliss, as Karl Gustafson, one of the Caseys' long-time friends paid tribute to Mr. Casey's life-long work for the "working man" and the "under-

SUMMER WARDROBES seem to be such a problem for most of the feminine set because we always seem to need so many more clothes now than at any other time of the year.

The fortunate ones who can sew are really in luck this year! Everywhere we look we see nothing but cottons and more cottons. It is being used for dresses, suits, bathing suits and even evening dresses. Why? Because it is terribly smart, looks so nice and washes and irons beautifully. The simple, clean-cut lines this year also are a great help for those doing their own sewing. Why not choose one good basic style and make it up in a solid color, a cotton print and a candy stripe? It makes for easier sewing, too.

cooked. Simply allow one beef cube per two cups of the liquid, a little salt and pepper. Serve hot. It's economical and full of the vitamin goodness of the vegetable.

SALADS are always a welcome addition to any meal, particularly now with hot weather coming on. So why not mix up a jar of your favorite French dressing and be prepared? If you are not already familiar with using Mexican chili powder in your recipe, try it sometime and see the tang it gives it. We would suggest about one-eighth to one-quarter teaspoon per cup of dressing, according to your taste.

COOKED DESSERTS are among the things that most home-makers shy away from in the summer, but one you can serve which requires practically no time at all is spicy gingerbread with whipped cream. Just use a prepared gingerbread mix—and in a matter of minutes, there's your dessert.

BEAUTY CARE for the summer is most important, but it can be done well and without too much trouble, if you begin immediately. First of all, try to avoid the hazards. Don't expose too much of your skin too long at a time! Granted there is nothing nicer than to see a person attractively tanned, but DO take it slowly. And always use some protective sun lotion, making sure to cover every inch of skin bared to the sun.

For your hair, try to keep it well covered. Nothing is so drying to the hair and scalp as direct sunlight, so it's a good policy to give your hair quite a bit of extra attention in the summer. Brush it vigorously daily and shampoo it often.

A FRAGRANT TRICK is to spray your hair well with cologne before setting it. This not only acts as a very good setting lotion, but also leaves your hair fragrantly lovely.

MEAT CAKE, UPSIDE DOWN

—Here's a tempting meat-stretcher that will delight and surprise a family. Lightly brown chopped onion and ground beef in shortening in a frying pan. Add one 8-oz. can of tomato sauce and seasonings. Leave in bottom of frying pan and cover with half a package of corn meal mix, to which water has been added. Bake in a hot oven for 20-25 minutes. Invert on a platter and serve. If green peppers are a favorite in your home, try half of one chopped and cooked with the meat and onion.

A DELICIOUS SOUP can be made from the water in which asparagus or broccoli has been COCKTAILS—This white wool top strapless cocktail dress by Manguin of Paris with black grosgrain trim and bow to the strapless neckline was displayed at Britain's annual fashion fortnight. Forty-four famous houses—11 each from Britain, the United States, France and Italy—designed woolen outfits viewed at London's Savoy Hotel by 300 delegates from many countries including Canada. A matching monkey jacket is added to this cocktail dress on less formal occasions.

Eskimos Say Thanks With Muskrat Furs

FORT McPHERSON, N.W.T. (CP)—The Anglican mission at this Arctic settlement will look like a raw-fur trading post Sunday when residents hold their thanksgiving services, four months ahead of time.

Along with dollar bills and coins the collection plates will be piled high with muskrat skins—the Eskimos' way of saying "thank you" to God for a bountiful harvest. The official trapping season in the Mackenzie River delta ended June 15. At St. Matthew's Mission in Fort McPherson, 1,200 miles northwest of Edmonton, the services are held both in English and in the tongue of the Loucheux Indians.

The traditional Eskimo custom is also carried out in Aklavik, where Eskimos, Indians and white trappers take part, each in their own language.

The practice dates back to 1861-62 when Rev. W. Kirby first preached the gospel to the Eskimos and Indians. Those were the days when cash was scarce and animal hides and furs were used as the medium of exchange, particularly the pelt of the white fox.

In each of the prayer books of the western Arctic Eskimo, the Loucheux and the white Anglicans a selection is set forth giving thanks to God for his blessings received in hunting and trapping.

A regular collection plate is passed around for money and a larger one is used to collect the skins. The furs are later cashed in the Hudson's Bay Company trading post and credited to the mission's account.

The collection varies from year to year, but usually one-third to one-half of the offering is in muskrat pelts. The value of the pelts, ranging from $1 to $3 each, depends on current prices. Last year 80 skins were collected in addition to the cash offering.

All of the 400 residents of Fort McPherson take part in the ceremony. In some quarters the event is referred to as "Rat Sunday," but the mission priest, Rev. E. P. A. Timmons, says the church prefers the term "Thanksgiving Sunday."

Mr. Timmons, a native of Ireland who attended Emmanuel College in Saskatoon, was appointed last year as priest-in-charge of the Fort McPherson mission.

Although collections now are made at the Fort only at Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter, he says it is hoped to follow the more general custom of Aklavik of regular weekly offerings to keep the mission financially sound.

TRAVELLING EXPENSES—Per capita expenditure by Canadians on transportation in 1951 was officially estimated at $110.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

This Time Mr. Heinsite Makes Wrong Signal

It's easy enough to signal when you have one or more of the top cards in a suit your partner has led. Sometimes, however, it is desirable to signal for continuation of a suit when you have only small cards. Such a situation arose in today's hand.

Of course, Mr. Muzzy's club overall was atrocious, but at least it told Mr. Heinsite that Miss Brash could not possibly hold more than one club.

Mr. Muzzy opened the king of clubs, the trey went on from dummy and Mr. Heinsite played the deuce. This discouraging card made Mr. Muzzy pause even though Miss Brash had dropped the queen.

After some thought he shifted to his lone heart with the idea that he might trump a heart return. This would have done him no good because he had a sure trump winner anyway.

In any case, Miss Brash won the heart, took three top spades, then led to the ace of diamonds and returned a diamond. Mr. Heinsite took the second diamond and fired a club. But it was too late.

Miss Brash ruffed and just led diamonds until Mr. Muzzy took his good jack of spades. After that the rest of her hand was good.

"Just continue clubs at trick two and she hasn't got a chance, Muzzy," said Mr. Heinsite hastily. "You've told me a thousand times," complained Mr. Muzzy bitterly, "that when you play a deuce, you don't want a suit continued."

It's true that continued club leads by the defenders would have shortened Miss Brash's trump holding to the point where she lost control of the hand.

But I think the blame lies with Mr. Heinsite. He, too, should have been able to read easily that Miss Brash's club was a singleton. From the looks of the dummy and his own hand he knew that a shift to any other suit was not particularly desirable.

13-Inning Tie Ends Home Series As Rain Cancels Doubleheader

Ketchikan—Rupert Battle Until Dark

If it ever stops raining long enough to play a ball game, Prince Rupert and Ketchikan All-Stars will attempt to wind-up the international series on Alaskan soil after a 13-inning tie here Monday night and a double-header cancellation yesterday.

The two teams battled in a deadlock under threatening skies Monday evening until umpire-in-chief Andy Letourneau called the game shortly before 10 p.m. due to darkness. Prince Rupert was leading 1-0 up to the fifth inning when the Alaskans tagged home pitcher Jack Lindsay for three hits—one a double—and a walk, scoring two runs.

Tie run was scored in the first half of the seventh inning which also saw the end of Lindsay's pitching and the beginning of Jack Sharpe's two-hit run performance for the remainder of the game.

Ketchikan's Leon Bass—one of three Bass brothers—led off that inning with a single that cracked his bat. Catcher Robinson grounded out and Carroll Bass was walked intentionally, for he has the reputation (and the appearance) of a heavy hitter. Bill Bass singled bringing home brother Leon. Then Sharpe took over from Lindsay, pitching no hit ball for the rest of the inning.

Meanwhile, Ketchikan's veteran ball player and manager of the Alaskans, Harry Ludwigcelled, but the baseball association lost financially. Said Alex Bill, one of the directors, today:

"We are likely to lose about $400 on this, series which means we start next year in the red. But that's the breaks we get every so often."

Rupert has promised to play the final three games of the series in Ketchikan, a trip which is estimated to cost more than $500, money which was to be raised by the home series. Ketchikan hopes to pay for its trip to Rupert from the games held there July 3 and 4.

Wet weather has cursed Prince Rupert baseball this year, already having rained out two proposed Ketchikan-Rupert series, not including yesterday's and postponed several league games. This compares with last year when only two games throughout the season were postponed due to rain.

Catcher Dave Abel tagged Ludwigson twice with singles and twice more came within a few feet of a home run, but was caught out near the left field fence. Abel, Dahl, and Hartwig who batted a double and the longest hit for Rupert, were credited with the three runs batted in.

FINANCIAL LOSS

Prince Rupert ball players are sad over the way the weatherman spoiled the home series. Not only was the best baseball affair of the year can-

NEW ZEALAND SWIMMER—Jean Stewart of Dunedin, N.Z., is the lone swimming representative of New Zealand's Olympic team. The 20-year-old school teacher was second in the 110-yard backstroke event in the 1950 British Empire Games and has shown considerable improvement since then. (CP PHOTO)

Collins Downs Pep with TKO

BOSTON (CP)—Hard-punching Tommy Collins of Boston, took a boxing lesson from Willie Pep for three rounds Monday night and then gained a six-round TKO verdict over the former featherweight champion. Collins weighed 130½ to the Hartford, Conn., veteran's 126½.

Late in the fifth round Collins dropped Pep with a terrific left flush to the jaw. Referee Joe Zupatas managed to count seven before the bell clanged to end the round.

Pep was still wobbly when he came out for the sixth. The former champion was unable to lift his arms as Collins belted him mercilessly and the referee halted the bout.

Of all the mileage run up by motor-cars in Canada, it is estimated pleasure driving takes only nine of every 100 miles.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By TED SMITH (for Gayle Talbot)

LOS ANGELES — "Just one more," said the big man with the broadening waistline. His friends laughed cynically. So he took it in his hand, jiggled it a bit and jerked his neck back and forth with a nervous gesture, tapped his left toe rapidly on the ground, and threw the shot 55 feet.

"Slipped off my hand," said Jim Fuchs. "Just one more."
"No, leave it alone," said Coach George Eastman.

"Just one," said Fuchs, and grunted as he put. Then he jumped out of the ring set in the green grass of the lowering Memorial Coliseum where the 1932 Olympic games were held. Fuchs, who holds the world's record in the shot put at 58 feet 10 1/2 inches, bids for a place on the 1952 American Olympic team in the final shot put trials.

He is fighting the longest, darkest fix of the Olympic games. World champions have had uniformly bad luck in the event.

In 1908 Wesley Coe of the United States, former world record holder, was three feet under his best effort and wound up fourth in the Olympics.

In 1912 Ralph Rose, world record holder, was beaten by a fellow American, Pat McDonald, in his last put.

In 1920, McDonald, Olympic record holder, was injured and finished fourth.

In 1932 three former world record holders—Zygmunt Hejzaj of Poland, Frantisek Douda of Czechoslovakia and Emil Hirschfeld of Germany—were beaten by an American, Geo. Sexton.

In 1936 Jack Torrance, first of the great modern shot putters who held the world record at 57-1, was a sad fifth at 50-5 1/2.

In 1948 Charles Foville, the Michigan Negro who had just set the world record at 58-1/2, hurt his back and couldn't even make the U.S. team.

TORN LIGAMENT

Fuchs has a torn ligament in his right foot. He received the injury five weeks ago and has been unable to rest properly because of the need to get in shape for the games. Although below par, he should make the team, and between now and the start of the games July 19 he might get back into top shape.

Chief rival of Fuchs is Parry O'Brien of Southern California, who did 57-4 1/2 in the A.A.U. championships to win Fuchs did 56-1 1/2. And breathing hard down their necks are Otis Chandler, Darrow Hooper, Stan Lamberd and Bernie Mayer—all capable of 55 feet or better. It's the best group of shot putters ever assembled in track and field competition.

Fuchs must battle these cordial giants as well as the strange fate that has pursued record holders in the Olympics.

CHAMPION WALKER—Ferd Hayward, Newfoundland's walking champion, crosses the finish line first in a field of five walkers in the Canadian championships held at St. John's, Nfld. Hayward set a blistering pace over the hilly Conception Bay highway to win the Canadian 50-kilometer (31 miles, 120 yards) title and a probable trip to the Olympic games at Helsinki next month. His time of four hours, 58 minutes and 11 seconds was more than 30 minutes ahead of the second-place walker, Bernard Molloy, also of Newfoundland. Greeting the winner at the line is Aubrey Wight, president of the Newfoundland branch of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Association. (CP PHOTO)

Last Rites for Well Known School Teacher

(Special to the News)

BURNS LAKE—Funeral of Mrs. Ethel Wilson, well known and beloved school teacher of Burns Lake, was held here from the Anglican church. Mrs. Wilson was sixty years of age. She was a member of the Eastern Star and White Shrine.

After being a patient in the Burns Lake Hospital for some time, Mrs. Wilson was taken to the Vancouver General Hospital where she died.

The Rev. J. E. Whittles of All Saints Anglican Church in Vancouver, accompanied Mr. Wilson back to Burns Lake. Rev. Whittles preached the funeral service, assisted by the Rev. Canon Hinchliffe of Smithers and the Rev. A. W. Atkinson of Burns Lake.

Mr. Whittles paid eloquent and touching tribute to Mrs. Wilson and the wonderful work she had accomplished during the long years that he had known her. He told of her many activities, particularly her works of love among the children and also of how she had so often, in her quiet way, brought cheer and real help to those in need of these. He had words of comfort for the many friends who would mourn her passing, especially for the one whose loss was greatest.

Mrs. Collins of Vanderhoof, at the organ, played the hymns "Breathe on Me Breath of God" and "Unto the Hills Around do I lift up my Longing Eyes."

Jack Brown sang Nunc Dimittis, "Lord, Now Lettest Thou Thy Servant Depart in Peace."

The various children's organizations in town had each a representative at the church service and all the students of the Burns Lake schools attended in a body at the service at the grave.

Pallbearers were Dick Robinson, Jack Brown, Clarence Saunders, Geoffrey Crowe, Aubrey Fisher and Carman Gibson.

Honorary pallbearers were Jim and Gordon Rush, M. F. Nourse, Cliff Kilpatrick, Barney Mulvany, Bert Francis Roy Minger, Hume Linton, Billy McKenna, Bill Saunders, Don Gerow, Mark Connelly, Ted Wright and Tommy Jeffrey, and it required all of them to convey the beautiful floral tributes from the Chancel of the Church to the waiting cars. Many letters and cards of condolence accompanied the floral offerings from far and wide, as well as a number of cheques donated to the cancer fund of British Columbia in memory of Mrs. Wilson.

Other officers are J. Roxborough, vice-president; Don Stewart, recording secretary; G. S. Weatherby, financial secretary, treasurer and business agent.

Clifford Priestly, general organizer for the union in Western Canada, installed the officers, following which he gave an outline of the development of industry in B.C. and cited the part of organized labor "keeping the wheels of industry turning."

Brockington Speaks At Conference

Special to The Daily News

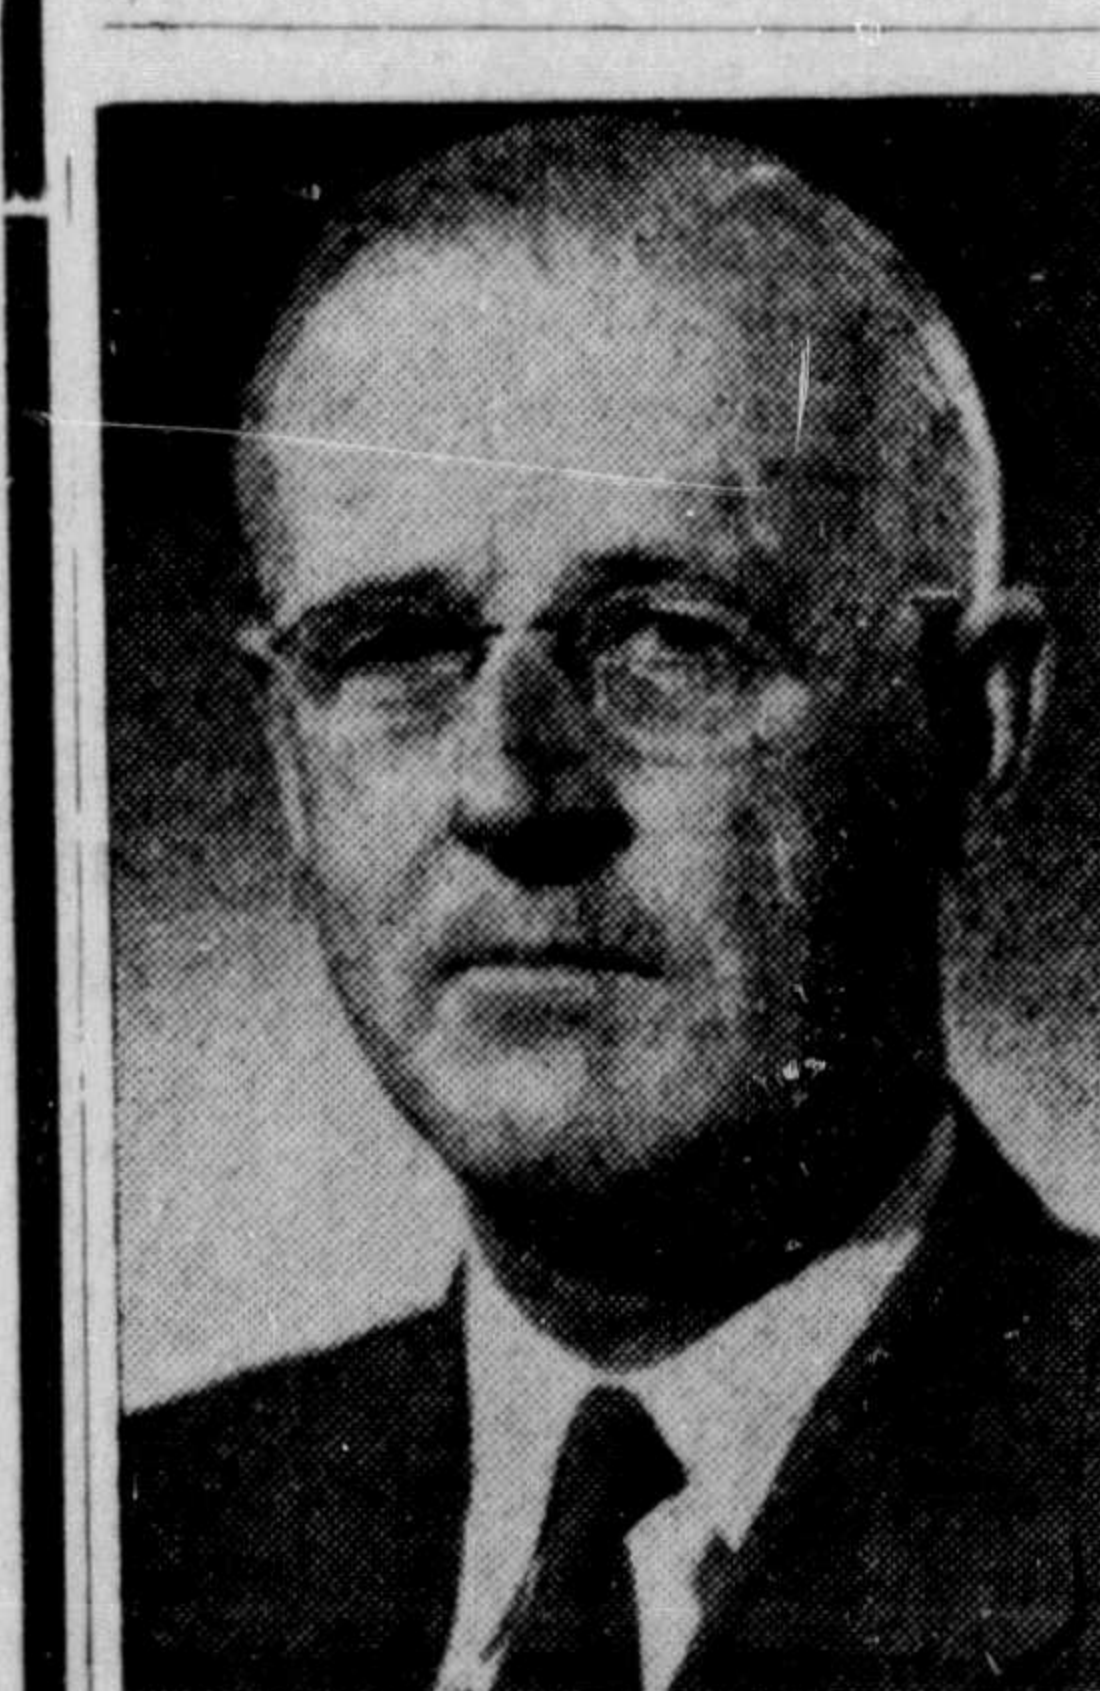

CALGARY—Leonard W. Brockington, Q.C. noted commentator and special wartime assistant to the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King, was among prominent speakers at the 15th annual conference of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities here on Dominion Day.

Mr. Brockington spoke of Canadian unity and said he was pleased to see delegates from Quebec and all the provinces of Canada among the delegates. The conference began here on Sunday and concludes tomorrow.

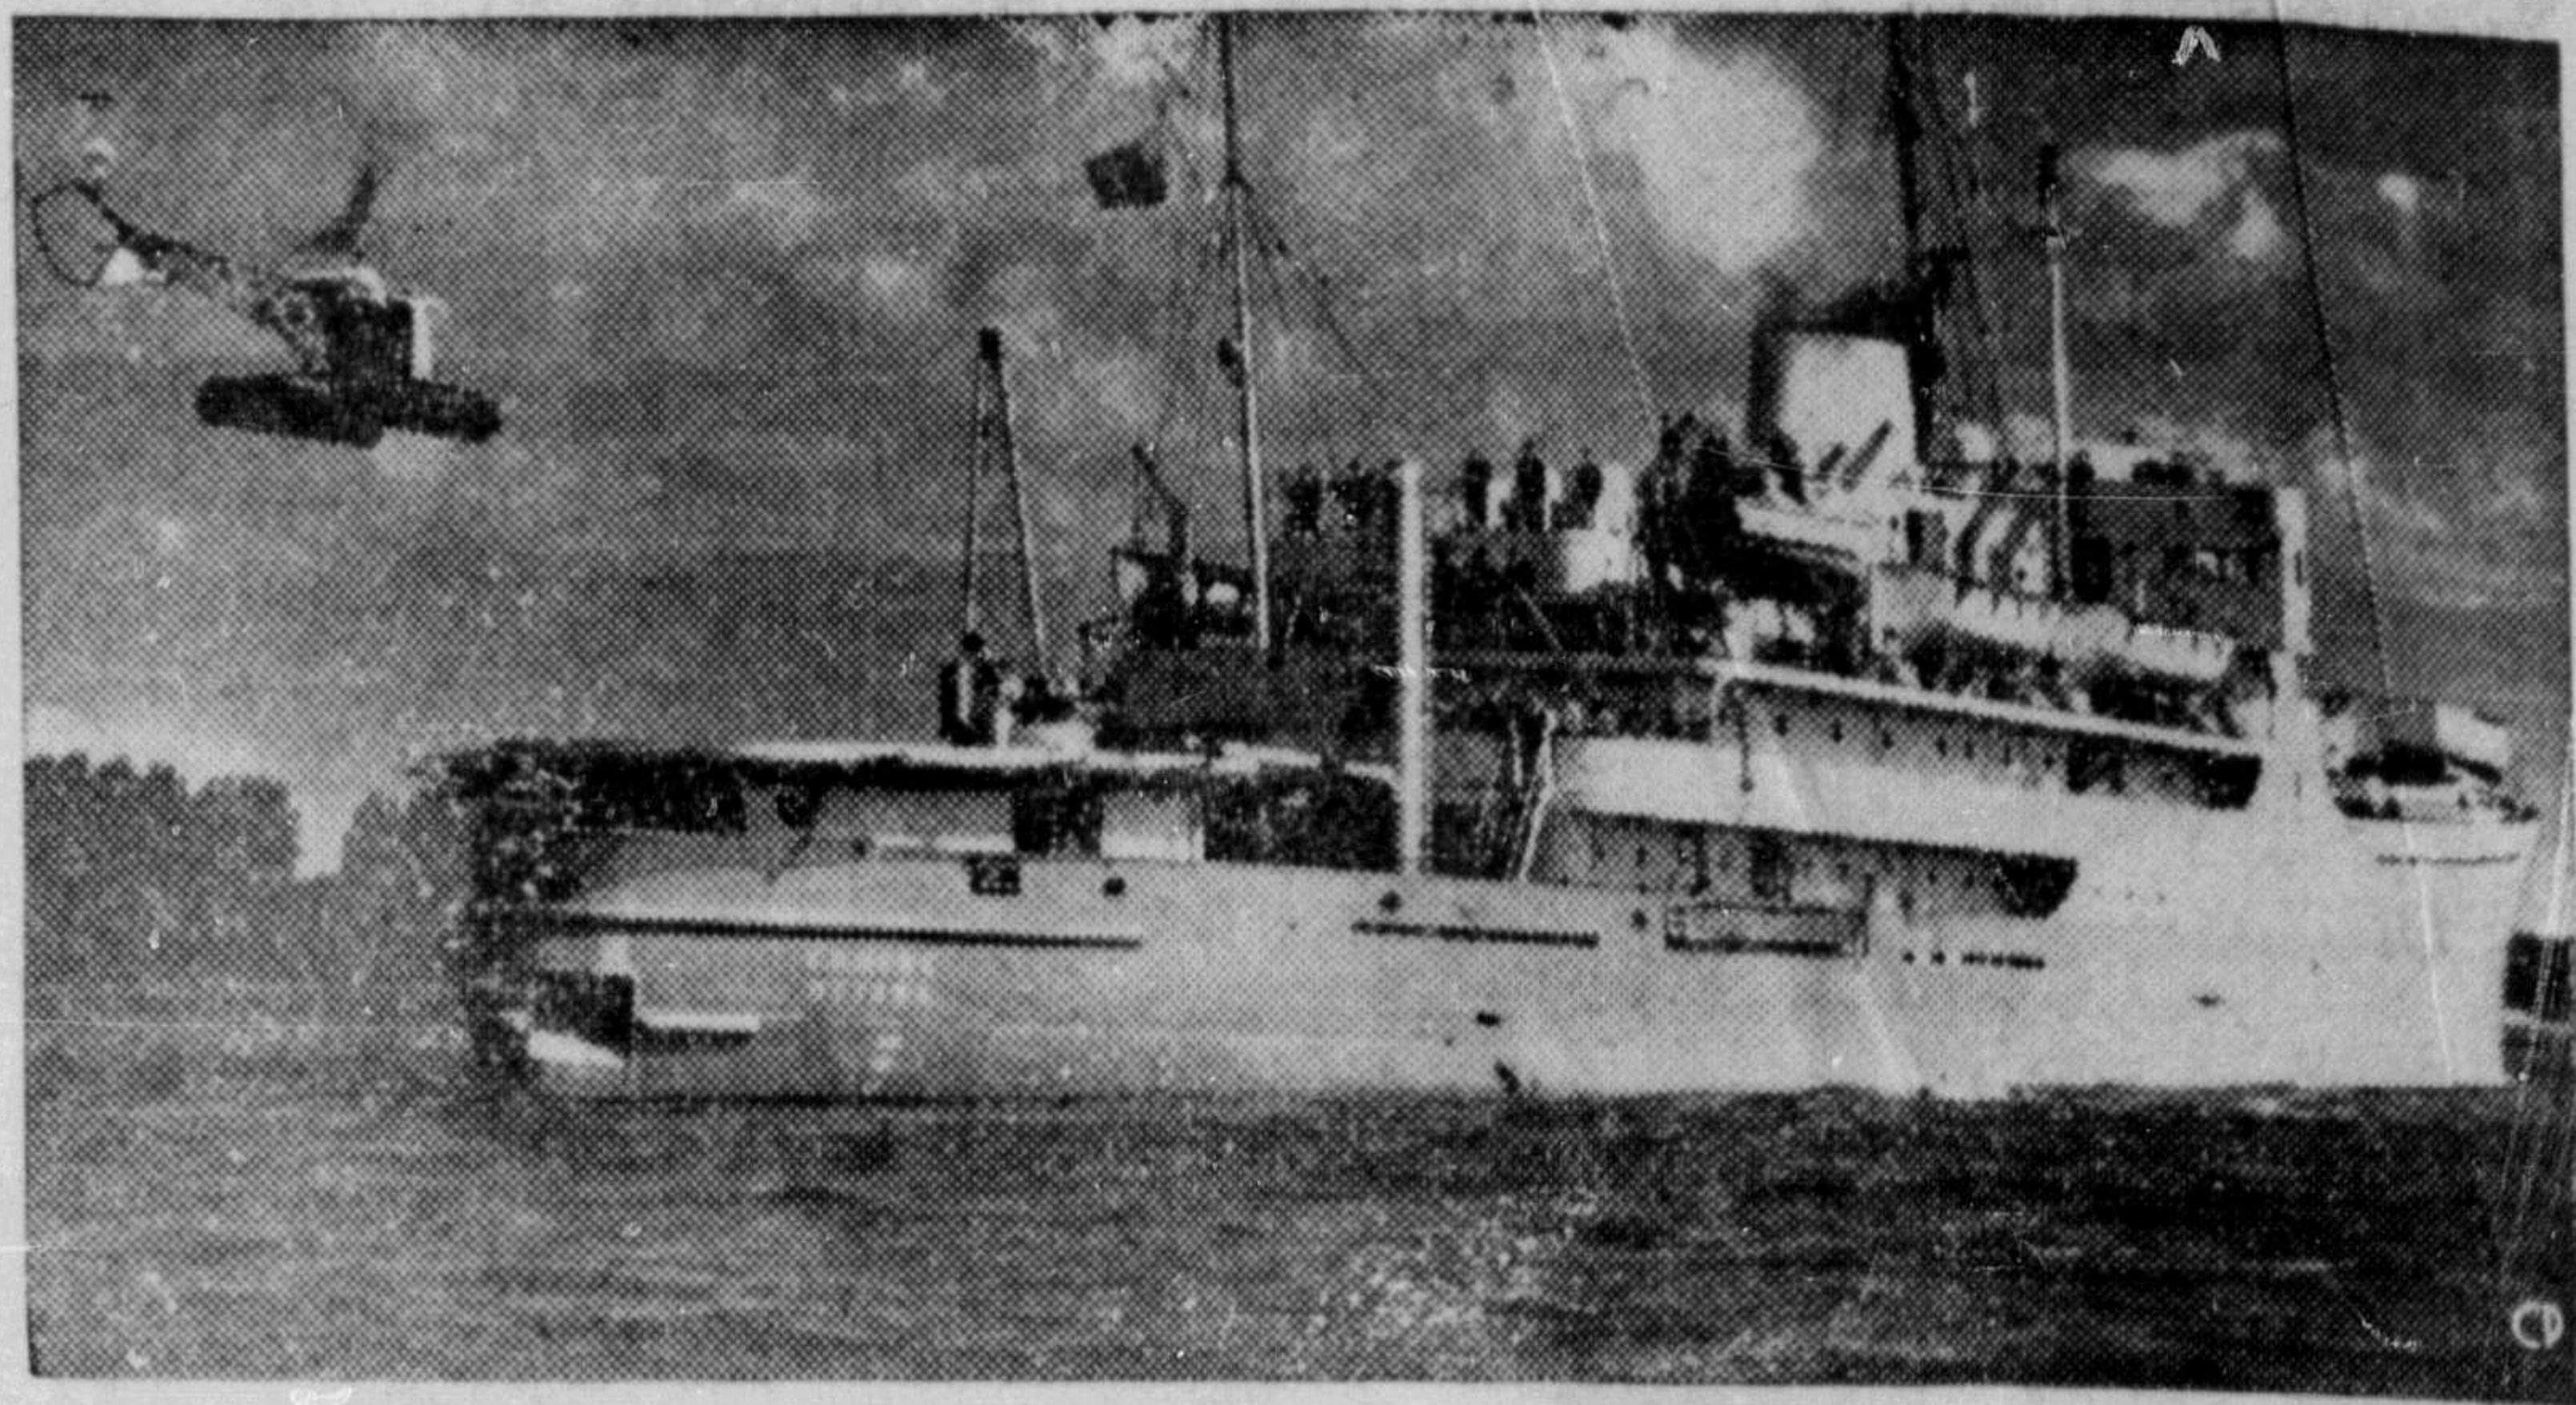

Alderman George C. Miller of Vancouver, president, said a "special feature of this year's program is the consideration being given to the role that the municipalities can play in the nation's security program."

During the day, General F. F. Worthington, federal co-ordinator of civil defence, spoke on "civil defence in action" and later delegates—numbering close to 500—watched a field demonstration illustrating aspects of Canada's defence program.

Purpose of the demonstration, under the direction of Major-General Chris Vokes, General officer commanding Western Command, was to provide an insight into the organization and preparedness activities of the defence establishment and possible implications for municipal governments.

Gordon Speaks To Forestry Association

MONTREAL—As a servant and a partner of industry, the Canadian National Railways system has long recognized the value of Canada's forest resources and the need for improved methods of protecting these vital national assets, Donald Gordon, chairman and president, said today in a message to the Canadian Forestry Association.

"Our forest industries are so important a factor in the Canadian economy that their maintenance through fire prevention and other forest management measures is essential to the continued health of all business in this country," he said.

"The railway, of course, has a particular economic interest in Canada's forests. From the forest industries along our system, the Canadian National Railways draws revenue from freight shipment. Last year, forest products accounted for 20 per cent of the total freight tonnage carried on our lines," Mr. Gordon continued.

"We are also aware of the fact that wooded areas are one of Canada's biggest tourist attractions and help in this way to bring up passengers and hotel guests. As one of Canada's chief exports, moreover, timber products are an important source of national income and are helping to keep our Canadian dollars in a strong position."

Mr. Gordon said that Canadian Forestry Association has pioneered in reminding Canadians of the value of their forests and of the need of protecting them and the Canadian National Railways heartily endorses these efforts in the hope that they may continue with increased vigor.
