Work Mourns Passing of "Little" LaGuardia, Thrice Mayor

NEW YORK, (CP)—America's largest city Sunday mourned the passing of swarthy, fiery, Fiorello LaGuardia, three times its mayor whose activities bewildered, exhausting, and often amusing. His death, the people of this city, state and nation lost a great patriotic citizen," his successor, Mayor William O'Dwyer said following his death Saturday.

LaGuardia died in his sleep, Dr. George Baehr, his attending physician said. His wife, their two children, and Mrs. LaGuardia's sister were at the bedside. His final major public office was that of Director General of the United Nations Food and Rehabilitation Administration which he ran with similar energy and compassion as he had run the city of New York during his terms of office.

As New York's first third-consecutive term mayor, "The Little Flower" (which is what his first

Thousands of coast guard bluffs shipmaster had to collapse bridge at 5 a. m. as the vessel White Rocks at the end of Banks Island. The ship left Prince Rupert hours before.

Cabinet Meets On Palestine

LONDON, (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee presided Saturday over a full meeting of the Cabinet, called especially to make final decisions toward the United Nations Palestine Commission's partition recommendations.

The meeting also planned to "brief" the British delegation on the subject for the second general assembly of the U. N. in New York.

EXPROPRIATION APPEALED IN COURT HERE

Presided over by Justice C. G. O'Connor, the current session of the Exchequer Court is hearing the appeal of W. C. Little of Woodcock against the action of the Crown in the expropriation of part of his farm land in 1942.

The land in question consists of 167 acres of which about 67 acres are cleared, 95.5 partially cleared and 3.5 acres untouched. In 1942 the government established an airport on the land and had offered Mr. Little $200. Mr. Little would not agree to this amount as the value and in 1942 the crown took expropriation action.

Under question by his attorney, R. M. MacLeod, Mr. Little stated that the land remaining in his possession consists of 80 acres north of the Canadian National Railway right-of-way. Of this amount there is about 9 acres under cultivation. It is here that he has his house and other buildings which according to his evidence has been greatly reduced in value through the loss of the largest productive area of his farm.

He claims that loss of the southern part of his land has left him without the means of earning an adequate income and caused severe loss through having to dispose of most of his livestock and farm machinery.

The Crown, represented by G. L. Fraser, K. C. of Vancouver, will try to prove to the court that the settlement offered to Mr. Little is a just one.

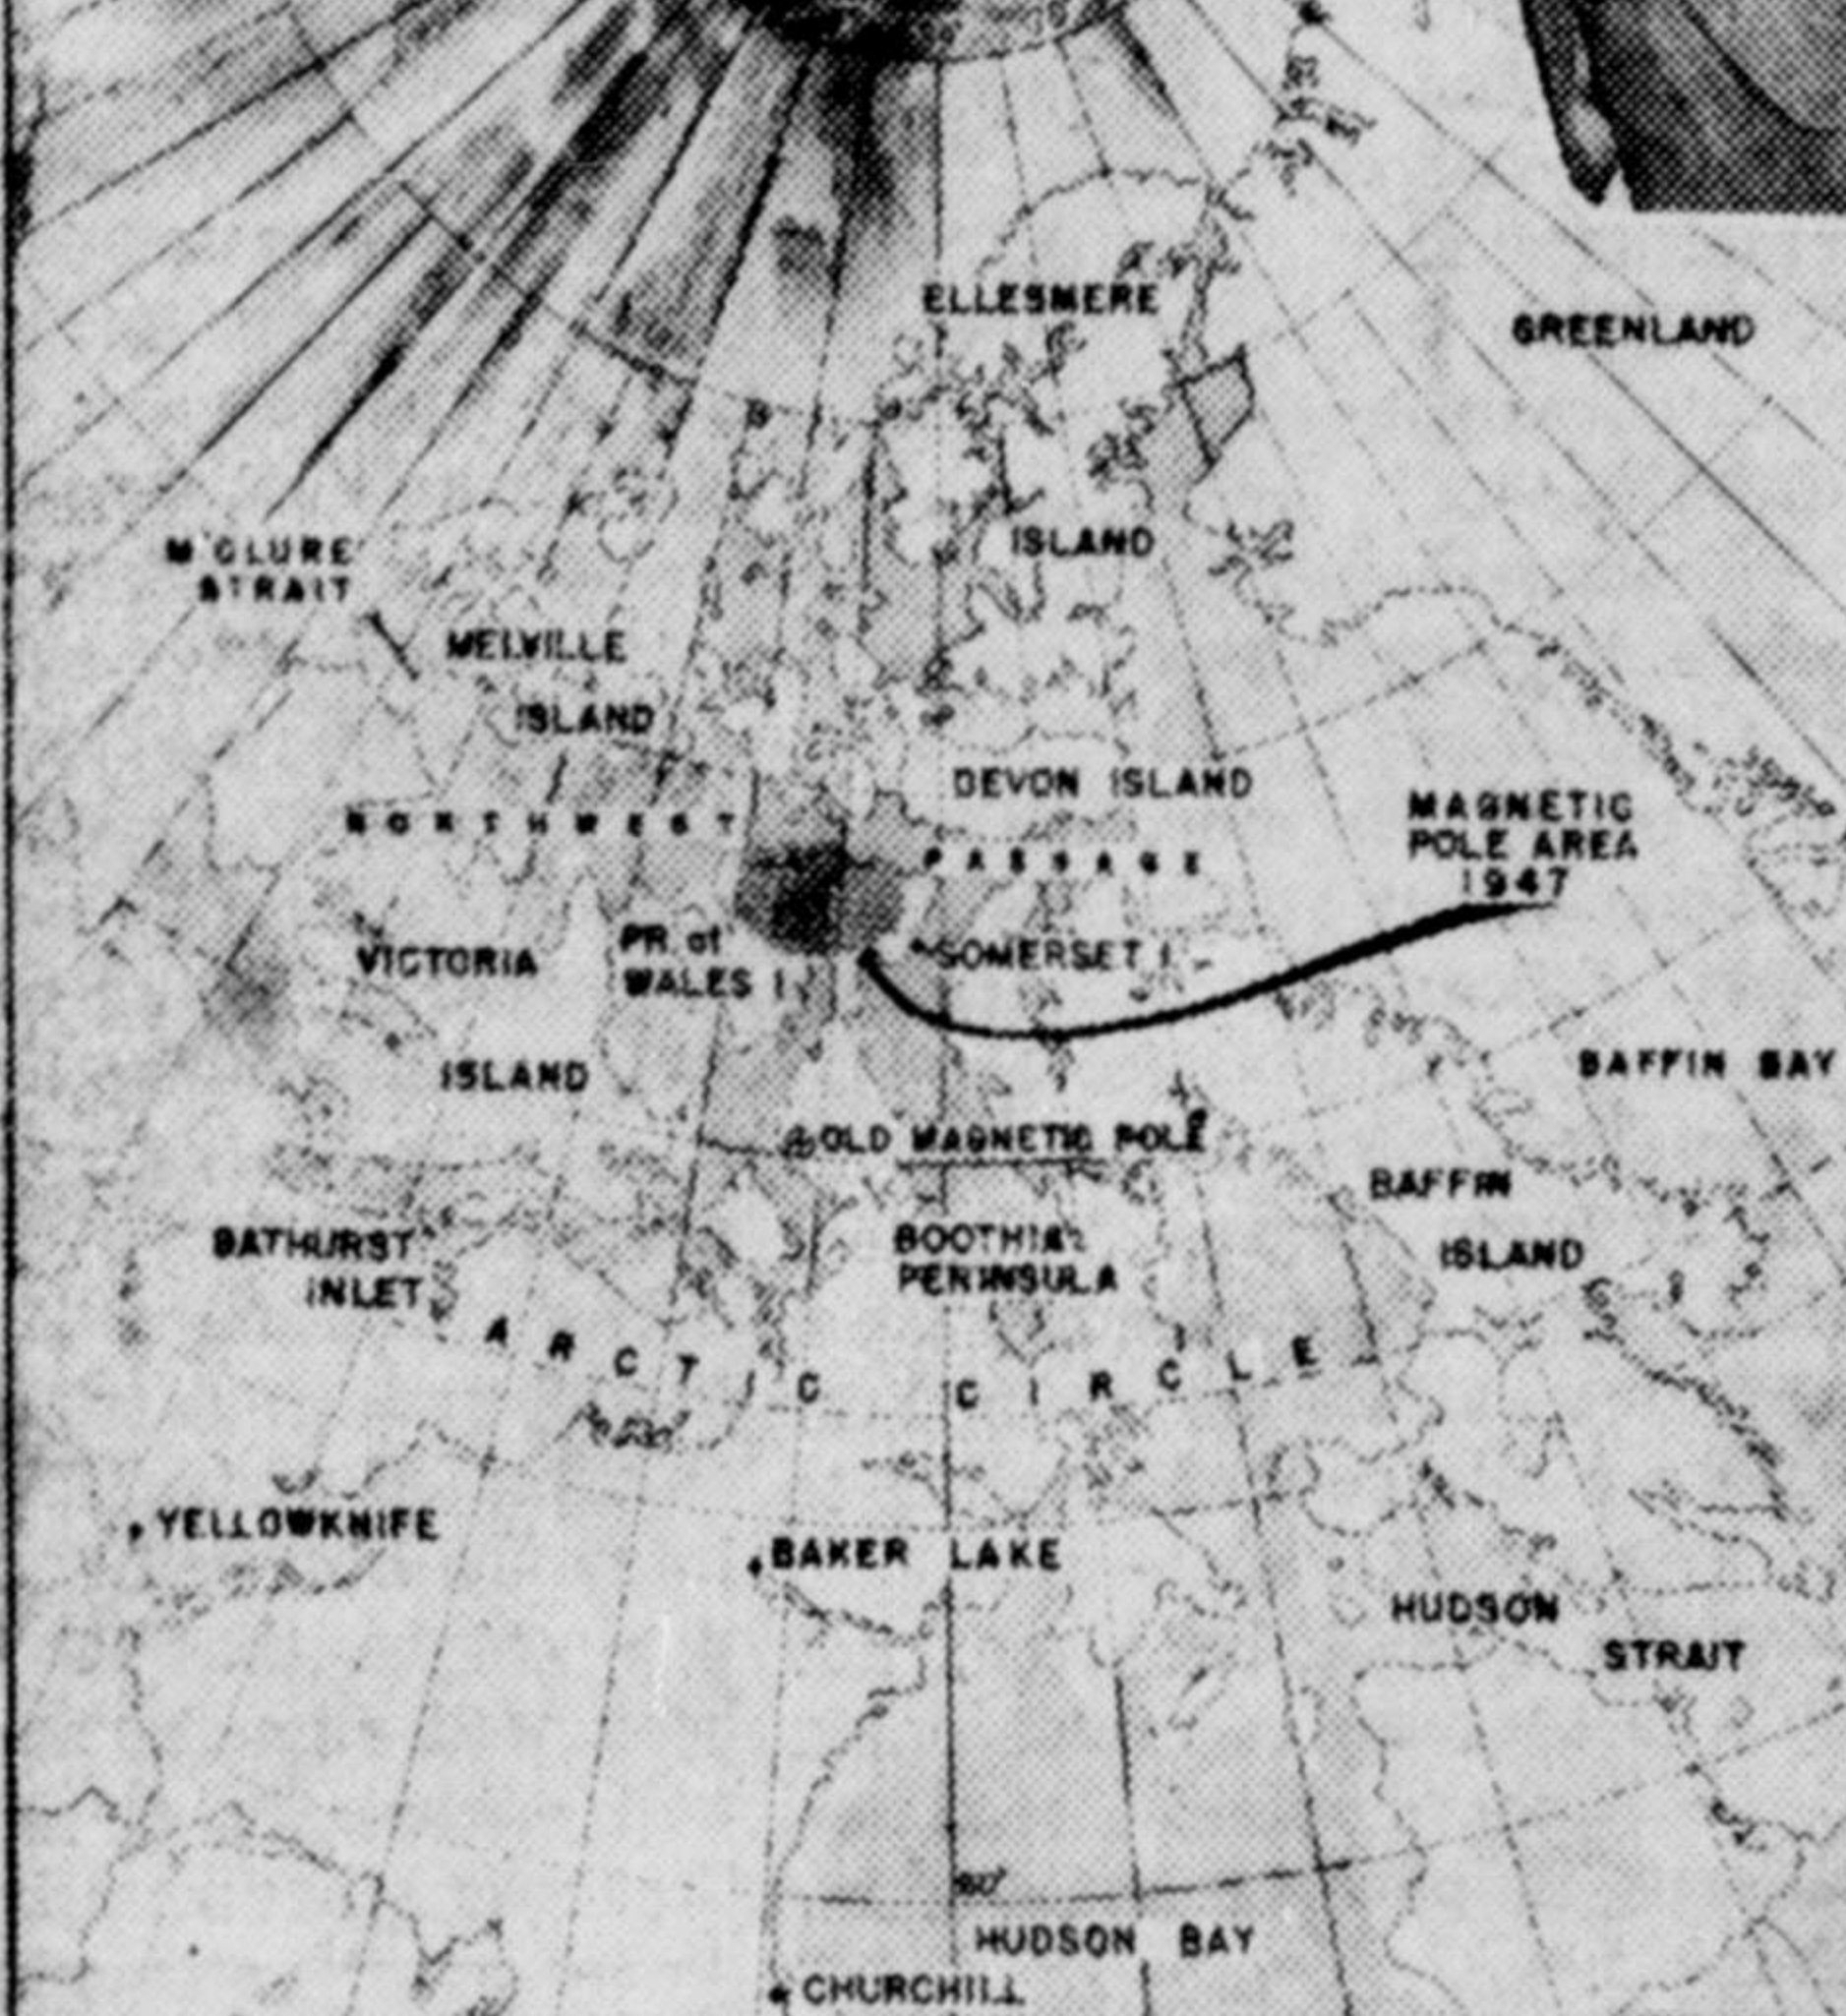

BURIAL GODDESS

Libitina was the Roman goddess of funerals.

1. Few recent scientific expeditions into the Canadian Arctic have stirred so much interest as that of two young scientists, Paul H. Serson, Ottawa, and John F. Clark, Bounty, Saskatchewan, of the Dominion Observatory, Ottawa, who returned September 10 at the end of a seven week safari by R.C.A.F. amphibious Canso aircraft to report on latest position of the North Magnetic Pole. Both men are members of the staff of the Department of Mines and Resources Surveys and Engineering Branch. With them went two geologists, Dr. Y. O. Fortier, Quebec City and Harold Steacy, Ottawa, Mines and Geology Branch. Shown here, left to right, Dr. Y. O. Fortier, Harold Steacy, Flying Officer J. F. Drake, Victoria, B.C. in command of the aircraft, Paul H. Serson, Scientist-in-charge, Dr. C. S. Beals, Dominion Astronomer at Rockliffe airport, Ottawa, upon returning of the party.

2. "Here's the works, sir!" Scientist Serson hands down results of seven weeks of magnetic survey work in the Canadian Arctic to R. Glen Madill, who is in charge of planning and directing the Observatory's long range program of magnetic research. Prosiac-looking black briefcase contains data which will mean re-drawing of magnetic charts used by aircraft, shipping, trappers, miners, prospectors, explorers—all those whose business lies in the Canadian Arctic.

3. Success of a mission, Paul H. Serson, young scientist in charge of North Magnetic Pole expedition is greeted by his Chief, Dr. C. S. Beals, Dominion Astronomer, on his return to Rockliffe Airport, Ottawa.

4. Paul Serson makes magnetic survey at Aberdeen Lake, Northwest Territories, using instrument in which he designed and helped to construct last winter for use on the expedition. Instrument is for the making of precise magnetic observations in the vicinity of the North Magnetic Pole; was successfully used where older instruments proved ineffective.

Russ Troops Strong Enough To Sweep Britain and United States From Western Europe

WASHINGTON, (CP)—The Armored Cavalry Journal said recently that reliable authorities estimate Russia could probably invade and occupy the whole of western Europe against resistance from present American, British and French troops in Europe in a matter of 48 hours.

"This is possible because of the high state of training and conditioning that has been maintained in the Russian army since the end of the Second World War," Myjor Hal D. Steward, associate editor, said in an article "The Russian Army Today?" in the unofficial United States military publication.

Conceding the difficulty of getting information on Russian forces, Steward said: "It can be stated, however, that the Russian army stands today as the best trained and most nearly prepared for actual combat of any army in the world."

"The Russian army, according to best informed sources, now has 10 mechanized armies in all Europe, with each believed to have from 50,000 to 60,000 men, or a total of 500,000 to 600,000 in mechanized set-ups."

Indications are that the Russians are striving for complete army motorization as quickly as possible, Steward added. The strength of the army as a whole is believed to be between 3,500,000 to 4,000,000 men at present, and "Russia is said to have a potential military strength of 40,000,000 persons," including fit males and females 14 to 60.

Steward said Russian training compares with the best.

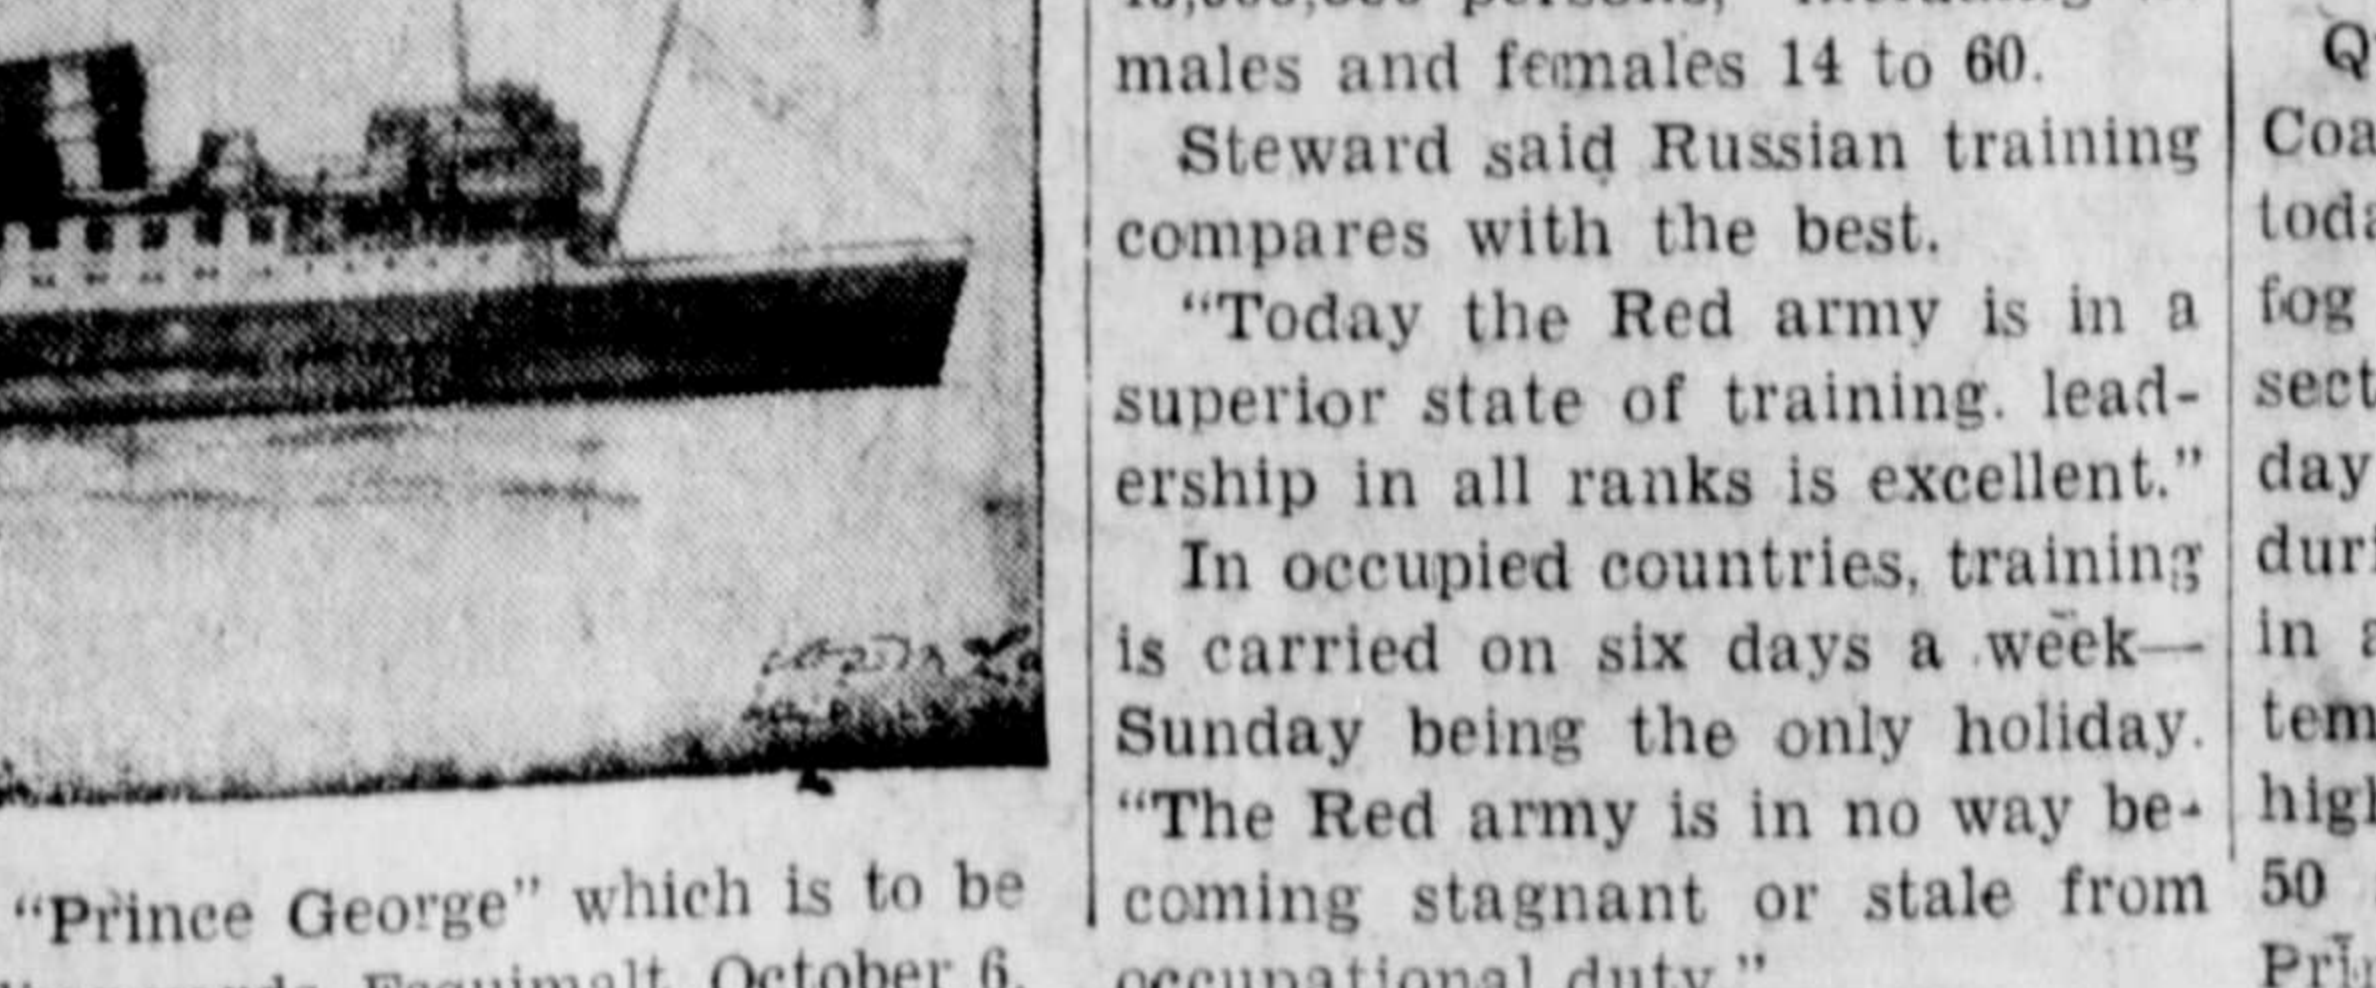

"Today the Red army is in a superior state of training, leadership in all ranks is excellent. In occupied countries, training is carried on six days a week—Sunday being the only holiday. The Red army is in no way becoming stagnant or stale from occupational duty."

NEW C.N. SHIP "PRINCE GEORGE"

MONTREAL—The largest passenger steamship ever to be built on the Pacific Coast will be launched at the Yarrow Shipbuilding yards, Esquimalt, Vancouver Island, Monday afternoon October 6th.

The vessel, designed for service by the Canadian National Steamships between Vancouver and Alaska, will be christened by Mrs. Lionel Chevrier, wife of the Dominion Minister of Transport. She will give the ship the name "Prince George," a name that for thirty five years has held an honorable place in the maritime history of Pacific Coastal waters.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Surtees of Winnipeg, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. Rennie at Port Clements, arrived in the city Sunday on the Cassiar enroute back to their home.

SETTLE PACKERS' STRIKE
TORONTO—Proposal for a conciliation scheme sponsored jointly by the provinces held hopes today for a settlement of up to 12,000 packing house workers now in its seventh day on a country-wide basis. Indications are that the four western provinces were nearing agreement on the Saskatchewan-initiated plan to appoint a common conciliator to mediate the strike.

SERIES SOLD OUT
NEW YORK—"If you haven't ordered your tickets for the 1947 World Series, don't bother. There are none left." The Brooklyn Dodgers announced Wednesday that no more orders were being accepted as they are oversubscribed. The New York Yankees were sold out some time ago.

THE WEATHER
Synopsis
High pressures and warm dry air are combined over most of B. C. today with the result that skies are still clear. The extreme northern section however is still under the influence of a moist westerly flow which is causing extensive cloud development.

Heavy fog banks are being reported from the Port Hardy and Prince Rupert areas. These will clear by afternoon and reform tonight.

Temperatures will be above normal both today and Tuesday in southern areas of the province.

Forecast
Queen Charlottes and North Coast—Southern section clear today and Tuesday with dense fog during mornings. Northern section variable cloudiness today and Tuesday. Fog patches during the morning. Light winds in all sections. Little change in temperature. Low tonight and high tomorrow. At Port Hardy—50 and 60. Massett 50 and 85. Prince Rupert 50 and 62.

Storm-Hit South Fearing Floods

NEW ORLEAN (CP)—The hurricane-ravaged Gulf of Mexico coast and battered Southern Florida counted 38 known dead today, anxiously watched rising flood waters and kept a wary weather eye.

Late reports said a second storm attended by winds forty to fifty miles an hour and not yet classed as a full-blown hurricane was south of Cuba on a northward course at twelve to fourteen miles an hour.

Florida's damage is set at thirty millions. New Orleans' Mayor De Lesseps set the city loss at seven millions. Floods are the biggest threats in both cases. Forty square miles around New Orleans are under water from Lake Pontchartrain.

FISH COMPANY ABSCONDER TRACED TO EDMONTON, LEAVES 'COLD TRAIL'

Movements of John Barry Sanders, alleged absconding officer man of the Canadian Fishing Co. at Butedale who disappeared recently co-incident with the disappearance of $11,000 of company cash, have been traced as far as Edmonton, but from there it is a "cold trail."

Evidently, his eastern excursion had been carefully planned. Sanders, after arriving here in a small boat, appears to have hired a local taxi to drive him to Fort St. James where he chartered a plane and flew to Edmonton. He was posing it appears, as a lumberman making a trip to Queen Charlotte Islands on a "big deal." He had assumed the name of Taylor.

A warrant for Sanders arrest has been issued.

Local Prospectors Unimpressed By "70-cent" Assay of Quartz

Hopeful "prospectors" who have staked claims in Prince Rupert's "Park Avenue gold strike" remained unperturbed over the week-end at Vancouver reports that samples assayed in the southern city showed a trifling 70-cents-per-ton value.

CHARGES PUNJAB "MASS MURDER"

NEW DELHI, (CP)—Master Tara Singh, Sikh leader, estimated on Saturday that some 200,000 Hindus and Sikhs were killed in recent communal outbreaks in West Punjab (Pakistan) while less than 100,000 lost their lives in the East Punjab (India).

Tara Singh told reporters that the Pakistan killings included "mass murders" in Bhowalpur State, which is affiliated with Pakistan, and has a population of 70,000 Hindus, 3,000 Sikhs and more than 1,000,000 Moslems.

"I emphatically refute Pakistan propaganda that this was a Sikh uprising motivated to create a Sikh homeland," he asserted.

So far, no effort has been made to move the large quantity of rock where last Wednesday's blast went off, and thus to determine what type of rock structure lies beneath. The group apparently is content to wait until the arrival of a power shovel to replace one which was destroyed by fire some time ago.

The claims recorded this morning are each 1,500 feet square, and cover an area running from the western extremity of Roosevelt Park more than a mile southwest to Fairview Cemetery.

Other claims, so far unrecorded, have been staked in the near-by Westview district of the city by several other hopeful people. Actual number that have been staked in that area is not known, although it is estimated that it might number as high as 20.

Mr. Howe said this morning that part of the claims which he and Mr. Black staked take in a portion of the cemetery.

Mining recorder and Government Agent G. F. Forbes so far is officially unimpressed by the claim filings, which he says, has not been above average for the whole Skeena mineral district.

"There has been no rush as far as recording of claims goes," he said. "We had 11 filed this morning, which is not unusual for the district. However, I won't go so far as to say we might not have a rush."

Canada Receives 26,000 Migrants

OTTAWA, (CP)—A total of 26,522 immigrants came to Canada during the seven month period ending July 31. Most were from the British Isles. The total did not include Britons coming here under Ontario's aerial immigration scheme. More than 1,000 are from displaced persons' camps in Europe.

Reparations Result Waited

BERLIN (CP)—German industries and workers, as well as reparations claimants are waiting anxiously for the publication expected this week of the British and American list of German plants available for reparations in combined Anglo-American occupation zones.

There are bound to be disappointments on both sides and British authorities in the Ruhr are preparing for protests and possible strikes when the dismantling picture becomes clear.

Arabs Threaten "Complete Break"

LONDON (CP)—An Arab office spokesman said today that the Arab world agreed to make "a complete economic and cultural break with Europe and the United States if the United Nations attempts to partition Palestine. The spokesman made the statement after a British authoritative source said that Britain would accept such a partition if the other U. N. members help to carry out the plan.

Next Year's Food Crisis

THE WORLD WILL HAVE to tighten its belt in 1948. That is the grim prospect held out by the latest grain survey by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations.

At the same time, despite the qualms of some of the delegations, the FAO conference at Geneva has voted to suppress the International Emergency Food Council by December 31 of this year and transfer its functions to FAO—though that body will not be in a position to exercise executive functions for months or years to come.

There has been persistent resistance by some of the leading Powers to a genuinely international approach to the food problem. Typical of the attempt to "tone down" FAO action is the British delegation's move at Geneva to refer in the conference report to the food "situation" instead of the food "crisis."

But everyone—including the Russians, who are not members of FAO—knows that it is a crisis. The Russians expect a large harvest, allowing them to export a considerable amount of grain where it will do the most good—political good. Here is one explanation of the reluctance of some of the other Powers to bind themselves to international action and surrender the political leverage afforded by unilateral action in shipping food.

This is a sad "situation." Hunger knows no politics. If national policy rather than human need is to determine food exports, then only self-discipline and humanity in the exporting countries can make this course more than a shadow solution of the world food crisis.

CIVIC CENTRE CAMPAIGN

THE ANNUAL CAMPAIGN for membership in the Prince Rupert Civic Centre is to be held towards the end of this month. We can only speak and hope for its complete success and we feel we have every justification in urging widespread and unhesitating support for the drive. The drive, we understand, is not designed to raise revenue for capital expenditure but for current operation, the policy of the Centre management being to pay its way without dipping in any way into capital.

Now and then there may be criticisms heard, there may be differences of opinion as to certain matters of Civic Centre policy. The deciding factor however, which must convince every citizen of his or her duty to support the Civic Centre by at least becoming a member is the great place the Civic Centre and its variety of activities are playing in the live-in making comment if they are not duly qualified as members or possess an even greater investment in this fine and valuable community utility.

REGISTERING NEW SHIP

IT IS REPORTED, and it is to be hoped that the information is erroneous, that it has been decided to make Vancouver the port of registry of the new steamer being built at Victoria for Pacific Coast service.

There may be some curiosity expressed as to why, if it has been, Vancouver should be considered as the port of registry over Prince Rupert.

There was considerable disappointment that this new vessel was not built at Prince Rupert. However, the situation was accepted and there developed a feeling of pleasurable anticipation that we are at least to have a fine new ship to feed travel over the local railway line and also, we hope, to foster, as the Canadian Pacific is intending to feature, automobile carrying between the Skeena River Highway from Prince Rupert and the Haines cut-off to the Alaska Highway from Haines.

The Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce requests that the new ship be registered from Prince Rupert which has been in name, if not in complete fact, the home port of Canadian National Steamships from the old Grand Trunk Pacific days and which is the only exclusively Canadian National port on the Pacific Coast.

TOT KILLS SISTER WITH SHOTGUN—Their mother had gone in search of a larger apartment. She left little William Taylor, four, right, in charge of his sister, Betty, eight. When Mrs. Viola Taylor returned to their Waukegan, Ill., home, Betty lay dead on the floor, victim of a shotgun blast. It appeared that they had quarrelled, as children will. The shotgun had been hidden under a davenport. The police said that Billy apparently crawled under and, finding the gun, fired.

LETTERBOX

CO-OPERATION

Editor, Daily News:
It was a surprise to read in your paper an advertisement that announced the forthcoming "Fall Fashion Show" to be held in the Capitol Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Surely the management knew in advance that a local organization was sponsoring the same type of display to be held at the Civic Centre, the following night. In view of this I cannot see why the management of our theatre could not have postponed or advanced their additional attraction one week instead of having it the night previous.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,
LAURA MITCHELL.

"TAP OR BOTTLE"

Editor, Daily News:
In a recent issue of your newspaper, my name was brought up by a correspondent in connection with the chlorination of the city water, which, with your permission, gives me an excuse to rush into print myself.

Had your newspaper given as full an account of the opposition, voiced to the recommendation to chlorinate, as it did to the Medical Health Officer's statements, your correspondent "One Against Chlorination" would probably never have considered it worthwhile to mention my name in the matter.

Three of the aldermen, Rudderham, Casey and myself spoke most vehemently against the proposal, which really was "sprung" on the meeting, insofar as I am aware. I consider that before a measure of such a controversial nature is brought before a city council meeting to be voted upon, some notice in advance should be given, not only so that the aldermen could think it over, but also that the citizens in general would know about it.

To my mind the reasons put forward advocating chlorination were trivial. Such as "tests not being up to standard" due most likely to the repairs that have been recently made to the water system. "Typhoid" that had been brought to the city from outside points, and a few cases of diarrhoea amongst children, as if there is anything peculiar about that, as from what I know about kids, most of them have diarrhoea once or twice every summer. They would not be normal if they didn't.

As Vancouver, Victoria and Nanaimo now chlorinate it was inferred that Prince Rupert also should do so. It will be noted that these places have enjoyed a goodly quota of polio cases, while the other two coastal cities that have not chlorinated, namely, Prince Rupert and Port Alberni, have had no polio cases originate within their borders. Not that I intend to imply that chlorination caused the polio, but as Alderman Rudderham stated, there would be just as much sense in doing so, as there is in some of the reasons advanced in advocating chlorination.

THIS AND THAT

"Let's stop fighting for a while, George, I want to hear the battle next door."

I agree that some drinking water systems require chlorination or similar treatment, but Prince Rupert water will have to get a whole lot worse than it is, before I will believe it requires such treatment.

Another feature in addition to the undesirability of the measure, is the cost. I will be much surprised if it does not add another mill onto the taxes.

In regard to your correspondent's kind inquiry, "whether the writer (Alderman Brooksbank) is well enough to start drinking chlorinated water" I would like to assure him or her, whichever it might be, that I have always been well enough, and still am well enough to drink anything that any other person in Prince Rupert can, irrespective, whether it comes out of a tap or a bottle. But I want to remain that way, and I don't believe chlorination will help me.

Regarding a plebiscite on the subject, I am all for it. I believe the city council alone should not presume to rule indefinitely on such a controversial matter. But in order to get a plebiscite granted, those interested will need to exercise some strong action that will bring pressure to bear on the city council members supporting chlorination, and remember, the election is very near, there is no time to be lost. A minority on the council is powerless, it can only talk.

Apologising Mr. Editor, if this letter appears morbid and thanking you for the space.

EUROPE FACES GRIM WINTER

(By Donald A. Schwind)

LONDON (AP) — Europe is moving inexorably toward another grim winter with the key to her recovery still hidden in the smoky hollows of the Ruhr. The output figures of the Ruhr an area which before the war gave Europe 22 per cent of her coal, are expected to play a major role in determining the nature and extent of aid which the United States might make available to European countries under the Marshall aid plan.

The Ruhr's pre-war output per man-shift was 1,625 tons but that figure has shrunk roughly 55 per cent.

The Ruhr mines were produced before the collapse of Germany. In 1938, 400,000 tons of coal a day V-E Day found a bare 30,000 tons being raised, a quarter of the miners' homes flattened by the fighting, half the remaining houses damaged, barely a quarter of the normal German working force at work, and hordes of wartime forced labor straggling homeward.

However, the report of Anglo-American experts published last week in Washington indicated that production has been forced slowly upward to a daily postwar record of 244,080 tons produced September 4.

Meanwhile, Europe remains in the grip of a bitter anomaly—more men are producing less coal than before the war.

Four of Europe's six major coal producing countries are going into the winter with substantially more mining workers, above and below ground, than in 1938. Poland had 149,000 miners in 1938 and has 191,090 now; France with 220,970, now has 318,700; Belgium's pre-war total of 138,130 has increased to 162,497, and Holland has 38,027 as against a pre-war estimate of 39,408.

Airlines Plan Global Weather Information

MONTREAL — The International Air Transport Association announced here today that creation of a world-wide information service to provide accurate and up-to-date flight data for crews of international airliners was one of the recommendations produced by its annual technical conference held at Nice, France.

Plans for the route intelligence service will be forwarded to the International Civil Aviation Organization for discussion and action. They were drafted by technicians of 20 airline companies from all continents during the 10-day session which closed September 12.

The communications and radio aids group of the conference, surveying the use of ILS, the electronic blind landing system recognized as a standard aid by the international lines, found that early installation has been delayed by shortages of equipment.

It reported, however, that extensive ILS installations should be completed in Europe during 1948; that the United States expects to have 100 ILS systems installed this year; that Canada, the South American countries and many others also are conducting large scale installation programs.

"Upon completion of this world program, it is hoped that

PRINCE RUPERT YEARS AGO

September 22, 1912

The scroll of welcome in the form of an eight-page book which was to be presented to His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, Governor General of Canada, on his visit to Prince Rupert, was a real product of the north. The scroll was handsomely engraved on moose hide tanned by northern Indians. Morrie Craig was the artist.

Construction of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway was to commence at once, and the road was to have been finished within two years, said W. Stewart, the president.

September 22, 1922

Cost of reconditioning Booth Memorial School would reach $21,000, the school board was informed. Secretary Vance estiimated that work already done had cost $15,000 and that another $6,000 would be required before it was completed.

Sale of assets of the bankrupt Prince Rupert Pulp and Paper Co. was ordered by Mr. Justice Macdonald in Supreme Court in an unopposed action by the Emerson estate as first mortgage bondholders against the company. Assets of the company included a large sawmill at Prince Rupert and large pulp limits.

W. E. Hodges, liquidator of the Prince Rupert Drydock and Engineering Co. and A. Johnson, deputy minister of marine and fisheries, were expected to arrive in the city to lay before the company's creditors an offer of settlement on behalf of the department.

name means) was a bustling, bouncing, everywhere-at-once man, one of the busiest public officials in the nation.

He blithely ignored time, distance, fatigue, opposition and the supposed limitation of human endurance.

He was unpredictable, incredible. A squat little man, who liked to wear big black hats, he was widely admired and widely disliked.

There were a hundred contradictions in his nature. He was variously a republican, an American Labor Party member and a strong supporter of President Roosevelt's "New Deal." He gave critics the rough side of a very rough tongue and then again was kind and gentle.

He was short (five feet, three inches), dark, pudgy, energetic, aggressive, dynamic and explosive. He denounced politicians in season and out, meaning politicians in the unflattering sense, although he unquestionably was a politician and a very shrewd one himself.

The son of an Italian immigrant, he was born in New York City, December 11, 1882. As a boy he lived for a time at Prescott, Ariz., where his father was an army bandmaster. After completing high school he entered the United States consular service and spent several years in Hungary, Austria and Italy, returning to the United States as an interpreter at the Ellis Island immigration station.

He was graduated from the New York University School of Law and for three years was a deputy attorney general of New York State. It was not long after that that the high and often angry voice of "The Little Flower" began to be heard in the national House of Representatives.

AVIATOR IN WORLD WAR

He voted for entrance of the United States into the World War in 1917 and then, suiting action to word, enlisted in the air force. He served with a bombing squadron on the Italian front and when the war was over he was a major. He went back to Congress in 1923 and served for ten years.

In 1929 he made an unsuccessful campaign for mayor of New York, bowing to the then popular and dapper James J. (Jimmy) Walker and Tammany.

Undaunted, he came back in 1933, gave Tammany a beating this time as the Republican and Fusion candidate and took over New York's ancient city hall in a major political explosion.

And things began to happen. New Yorkers finally put aside their amazement over their mayor's unpredictable actions.

In 1929 he married Marie Fisher, who had been his secretary for many years. His first wife, who was Thea Almerigotti, died in 1921, two years after their marriage.

MANY JOBS AT ONCE

While holding the mayoralty he was also president of the United States Conference of Mayors, and chairman of the United

CONDITIONS IN NORWAY FOUND GOOD

Conditions in the Scandinavian countries are "very good indeed" and show signs of a healthy economy, according to Dr. Jens Munthe, Norwegian Vice Consul at Prince Rupert, who returned home at the weekend with Mrs. Munthe from a three-and-a-half month visit overseas.

"It is amazing how they have made a come-back over there," said Dr. Munthe. "The people are working hard and are well-dressed and well-fed, despite the fact that Norway and Sweden must import much of their necessities."

However, Dr. Munthe confessed that he was "glad to be back in Prince Rupert," where he is a dentist.

He and Mrs. Munthe travelled to Norway via the Panama Canal, returning from Denmark direct to New York. From New York they went by train to Vancouver, then by boat to Prince Rupert.

STRIKERS WILL CANVASS TOWNS

VANCOUVER, (C) — Over 200 taggers are scheduled to go out from Vancouver as a detachment for a province-wide, fund-raising drive by A.F.L. and C.C.L. unions to aid the striking furniture, packing house and steel workers. Union officials said every city, town and hamlet in the province will be patrolled by the taggers.

Hospitals to Get Meat Preference

Hospitals and public institutions will be given preference in distribution of Prince Rupert's dwindling meat supply, according to a statement made this morning by R. E. Moore, manager of the local plant of Burns and Co., as the city begins to feel the pinch of the nationwide packing house workers' strike.

Burns and Co. received a number of steers and lambs from the interior late last week for slaughter at the local plant. These, apparently were the last which will be received here for the duration of the strike.

"Our supply of meat is gradually running short," Mr. Moore said. "There already is a reduction in the selection of meats available. Hospitals and public institutions will get preference in distribution as long as we have any."

Prince Rupert residents, however, did not seem to be getting excited about the prospects of facing a meat famine. Butcher shops reported no "runs" on their stores by housewives hoping to fill their freezers before the supply is cut short.

"The rest of Canada is up against it so I guess we can face it, too," one housewife said casually. Anyway, we won't run short of fish."

That seemed to be the general attitude throughout the city.
