Agreement Basis With Swift Company Reached

Prospects Brighter for Settlement of Packing House Workers Strike

TORONTO (CP)—United Packing House Workers of America (CIO) announced early today that agreement had been reached with the Swift-Canadian Co. on a basis of negotiations to settle the packing house workers' strike.

Fred W. Dowling, Canadian director of the Union, said the terms of the agreement were subject to ratification by 3000 members of the Union employed in Swift Co. plants throughout Canada.

Details of the agreement were not made public immediately.

Canada Packers Ltd. and Burns & Co., others of the Big Three affected by the strike of 14,000 workers, had already accepted a settlement formula.

AUTO ASS'N IS ACTIVE

President Harry Black Reports to Membership at Meeting This Week

Although the meeting of the Prince Rupert Automobile Association held this week was the first in almost six months, the executive had not been idle. President J. Harry Black reported to the membership.

Said Mr. Black's report: "We have attended the annual meeting in Terrace, held a meeting with Hon. E. C. Carson, minister of highways, also meetings with Hon. E. T. Kenney and District Engineer Brady, all of these being on road problems.

Mr. Black reported that the Public Works Department is about to call for tenders for reconstruction of slightly under one mile of roadway from the city limits towards Galloway Rapids bridge. "We have been promised that crushed rock and gravel will be placed on the Terrace Highway where needed most during this fall and winter. The Kwinitsa slide diversion which was instigated by this association is now nearing completion.

In the latter part of August Mr. Black attended a western conference of AAA organizations in Vancouver where he had the opportunity of meeting key men of the tourist industry of the west coast. From this conference he found out what the organization was doing across the country in the way of safety measures, student driving lessons and general tourist information. Mr. Robertson of Prince George and Mr. Black held a meeting with the delegates and for three hours told them of the northern and central interior and answered questions regarding travel throughout this district.

Volumes of mail covering reservations and enquiries were handled throughout the summer by the local association for many tourists here this year.

"I feel," said Mr. Black, "your executive have done good work in this regard and my thanks goes to them. I do think, however, the general membership of the organization have let us down by non-attendance at meetings that have been called, and also in not renewing their memberships. By this neglect, you are not only hurting yourselves by losing the benefits and advantages of the organization but you are weakening the strength of the organization when we want to press for new legislation with the provincial government."

Showler said it was anticipated the company's new ten cent offer would be voted down tomorrow. (The union has been demanding a 20 cent hourly wage increase and a 40-hour week.)

The Sunday meeting is considered a last-ditch stand in a series of eleventh-hour attempts to avert a transit tie-up.

Lloyd Easler, Vancouver union president, said he was not hopeful that the meeting on Sunday would avert a walk-out.

Its construction, would take some time.

Mr. Kenney, accompanied by the deputy minister of forests, C. D. Orchard, is leaving by car Monday for Terrace where he will spend a few days before proceeding to Prince George whence he will enplane for Vancouver enroute back to Victoria.

of highway matters, Kenney expressed his hope it would not be too long before the Skeena River Highway, hard-surfaced all the way from Prince Rupert to Terrace, though he admitted that could not be expected until the road had duly settled and in view of the nature of the

GULF STREAM TOTAL LOSS

POWELL RIVER (P)—Salvage officials said that they believed the $185,000 motorship Gulf Stream, would be a complete loss following the crash on Dinner Rock. They said the cost of salvage and refitting would be too great as damage to the diesel engine was reported alone at more than $60,000.

Police reported no success in dragging efforts for the body of eighteen-months-old Jean David of Refuse Cove.

The bodies of four other persons had been recovered earlier. Diver George Unwin said "chances of finding the body were very slight" because a two-knot tide was sweeping through broken cabin windows.

DYNAMITING LOGS AT LAKE TUQUE, QUE.—The greatest pulp log drive in Canada's history is now taking place. Lumberjacks are breaking all records as 12,000,000 logs are boomed down the St. Maurice River into Lake Tuque in Quebec. It's Canada's answer to a world-wide paper demand. Logs make paper and paper makes the wheels of industry turn. Log jams are commonplace and require frequent dynamiting to keep the pulp logs running down the stream. Pictured is one of those jams being dynamited. Logs fly like matchsticks in a gale.

Ghastly Mishap Claims Life of 27-Year Old Terrace Man

Ronald Cole Dies After Accidental Encounter With Circular Saw

A sawmill accident claimed the life of a 27-year-old Terrace man shortly after 5 o'clock Friday morning when Ronald Cole, edgerman at the Little Haugland and Kerr mill, stumbled onto a roller platform which carried him against a spinning saw as he was leaving for home at the end of the day's work.

The huge saw cut off the unfortunate man's leg and a portion of the lower abdomen. He died on his way to the Terrace Red Cross Hospital where he was being rushed by Dr. Stanley Mills.

Cole slipped and fell as he was stepping over the rollers which carry lumber to the saw shortly after the 5 o'clock whistle sounded, signalling the end of the shift.

An autopsy was conducted by Dr. Mills this morning and an inquest was set by Coroner Will Robinson for this afternoon.

Born and brought up at Terrace, Mr. Cole was an overseas veteran of the last war. He is survived by his wife, the former Hazel Coombs, whom he married in August, 1946, a small stepson, his mother, Mrs. Edward Cole, a brother, Edgar, and two sisters, Dorothy and Shirley, all of Terrace.

Eyewitnesses of the accident will be called to give testimony at the inquest which will be resumed next week. This afternoon the jury viewed the body and adjourned.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon from St. Matthew's Anglican Church at Terrace. Jurymen serving on the inquest are George McAdams, Stanley Smith, Mike Kohut, William Osborne, William Christy, and Lloyd Johnston.

STILL SEEK SETTLEMENT

Last Minutes Efforts Being Made to Avoid Transit Strike

VANCOUVER (P)—Strike deadline for 2800 Vancouver, New Westminster and Victoria street railwaymen is still 4 o'clock Monday morning but another meeting of parties involved is proposed for tonight or Sunday. Bert Showler, president of the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council, with which the trammen's union is affiliated, said he had been authorized by the council's executive to call a meeting on Sunday at which Hon. Gordon S. Wisner, attorney general, would preside.

Showler said it was anticipated the company's new ten cent offer would be voted down tomorrow. (The union has been demanding a 20 cent hourly wage increase and a 40-hour week.)

The Sunday meeting is considered a last-ditch stand in a series of eleventh-hour attempts to avert a transit tie-up.

Lloyd Easler, Vancouver union president, said he was not hopeful that the meeting on Sunday would avert a walk-out.

Wants to Settle Issues With U.S. and Britain

BUT IS READY TO WAIT UNTIL THEY "REGAIN THEIR REASON"

WARSAW (CP)—Eight Labor members of British Parliament touring Europe said tonight that Prime Minister Joseph Stalin told them in Russia that he had no thought of making war and wanted to settle political and economic issues with the United States and Great Britain.

The Britons, headed by Konni Zilliacus, said that Stalin added that, if the United States and Britain did not desire to settle the differences, "we shall wait until they regain their reason." Zilliacus said he and the seven other Members of Parliament, on their visit to Moscow to study Russian trade unions and factories, were flown in a special plane to Stalin's villa at Sochi on the Black Sea. There Stalin voiced his desire to reach an understanding between east and west and to dissipate fears of a new conflict.

Doctor Is Condemned

Montreal Physician Sentenced To Hang for Illegal Operation—Is Appealing

MONTREAL—Dr. Charles A. Molleur, 63-year-old Montreal physician, who was sentenced to hang yesterday for the murder of a 23-year-old girl upon whom he performed an abortion, will appeal the conviction and sentence.

In one of the first of such cases—if not the first—in Canadian criminal court annals, the doctor was found guilty by a jury and was sentenced to death by Mr. Justice Lazure in King's Bench court.

Before the same judge, Molleur was charged with an illegal operation ten years ago but was acquitted.

"Today you are before me on a charge of murder and have been convicted," said Mr. Justice Lazure. "You have nobody to blame but yourself."

PIPE GAS TO COAST

Premier Hart Discusses Extension of Pacific Great Eastern Railway

VICTORIA (P)—Possibility that natural gas might be piped all the way from the Peace River to Vancouver was seen by Premier John Hart yesterday in discussing extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

Mr. Hart said that six major oil companies had applied for permits to explore the Peace River country for oil.

If negotiations for a partnership in extension of the line by the two railways and the federal government failed, the Premier said he would reopen negotiations with United States interests who this week renewed earlier overtures for a right-of-way through British Columbia to Alaska.

An Air Epic at Sea

SKILL, bravery and endurance combined to save life when a westbound plane with more than sixty passengers including women and children, alighted on the Atlantic because of exhaustion of gas. Fall gales were sweeping the sea. Spotting their plight, another plane came down and, sharing the peril, stood by until a start was made under perilous circumstances of transferring all on board to a coastguard vessel. Some waves were described as thirty feet in height. How to transfer, how to avoid collision presented problems of peculiar difficulty and chances, and called for no small degree of cool courage, judgment and stamina. When airplanes rise and fall on thirty-foot waves, one must have his wits about him. The case of the flying boat Bermuda Sky Queen and the Coastguard ship Bibb was an unparalleled example of bravery and resourcefulness at sea.

THE APPLE

APPLE BLOSSOMS in season, scent the air as far east as Nova Scotia and as far west as Prince Rupert. This is not saying that Prince Rupert exports Kaien Island pippins or even enjoys home-grown fruit. Fact is, there isn't much if any. Yet, the apple family has made a beginning here. Some seed, dropped years ago, has managed to survive and is coming along. All that's needed now is encouragement.

Salute the apple, in many ways, our finest fruit! There is something so cheerful and stimulating about the color, the blending tints, the juices, flavor and taste! The apple is good, raw or prepared, or merely as part of a decoration. Since Eden, we are told, the apple has been with us, but be it understood, all this has nothing to do with the serpent—that wily and unloving creature.

Praise ye the apple, which grows practically all over the world, and nowhere in greater profusion and higher quality than in Canada. British Columbia is blessed with many splendid orchards. The same is true of the eastern provinces as well as down Okanagan way. It's big business in Ontario, as well as Nova Scotia.

In the old days of the French regime, the apple was introduced in the Annapolis Valley of what was then known as Acadia. Ever since, the industry there has grown and expanded until today the trade has reached large scale dimensions. In early summer, the spectacle of mile upon mile of pink and white blossoms gives to the whole landscape a fragrant charm.

Apple dumpling, apple pie, baked apples or just apple "sass." It's O.K. any old way.

THE AMUSEMENT TAX

ONE OF CANADA'S big moving picture exhibiting concerns is campaigning for the removal of the present 20 percent excise tax, promising that, if and when it is removed, reduction will be passed on to the public in the way of reduced admission prices, further promising that admission prices will not be increased for at least twelve months after the tax is removed. This raises the argument as to whether moviegoing is a luxury or necessity, a point which may have considerable bearing on whether or not the removal of the tax is justified.

Roly Young, a Toronto Globe and Mail columnist, contends that moviegoing is more of a necessity than a luxury, pointing out that, even from the Roman days, it was recognized that entertainment came second only to food in assuring and stabilizing the morale of men.

"The theatre," says Young, "is a psychological necessity and, as such, is just as necessary as bread or clothes." He continues: "The amusement tax is directed primarily at the people who have little to spend on entertainment. It comes from the ordinary people."

There appears to be a measure of sound reason why the amusement tax might be at least moderated apart from the mere general fact that to do so would be popular among the people who enjoy and desire the odd movie.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

IT WAS with pleasure that the Daily News presented Friday a new news feature dealing with the activities of Booth Memorial High School. Students of the school, under the leadership of J. E. Kenny of the teaching staff, are co-operating by supplying the news and we are hopeful of making this a regular feature throughout the year. We are sure that it will prove of interest to our readers generally and, particularly, of course, the students themselves and their families and friends. If it proves instrumental in bringing the school and its activities to the attention and friendly general interest of the public as a whole we will be glad.

It might also be added that we would welcome such contributions not only from High School but from all the schools. Not only that but we are very anxious to have such news.

I want to know
On what friends could your wife depend?

A man may have scores of friends—good ones too—but it's a rare, rare case where he could depend on or expect his friends to look after his wife and family in the way they deserve, if anything happened to them.

The best friend a man can make for his wife and family—and one that he can depend on for practical help—is well-planned life insurance designed to fit his circumstances and his family's needs.

MAN'S FOLLY

(By REV. EARL SOILAND, St. Paul's Lutheran Church)
The kingdom of heaven is like unto a certain King, which made a marriage for his son, and sent forth his servants to call them that were bidden to the wedding; and they would not come.

—Matthew 22:2-3.

Jesus Christ would have all men know that there is an invitation open to everyone to enjoy the blessedness of heaven. He tells us of the way in which God has planned the salvation of man, so that by faith all may receive the forgiveness of sin. He gives us a picture of the love of God that reaches out to every human being. He climaxes the which we now experience. We lower our thoughts to that of the brute beast which has no interest in the things of heaven.

The response of mankind is its folly. Instead of taking Jesus Christ at His word, many try other ways and means of getting contentment for their souls. They try to do the best they can, and find that it ends in frustration. They look for excuses and find them in abundance. They judge themselves by the lives of others and find that they are just as good as many people that they know. They set up their own standard of righteousness and always allow for variations. They seek to pacify their outraged conscience by good works and never know when they have done enough. In the pride of their own imagination they set themselves up in the place of God and think that they have the right to determine how they shall enter the kingdom of God.

No matter how logical an excuse you can find, nor how valid or plausible it may sound in your ears, there remains one fact. No one can enter the kingdom of God in any other way than by accepting the invitation which God extends to you and me. If we reject this invitation, we say that we are not interested in heaven. We turn ourselves aside from the glories of eternal life. We say in effect that the only life that concerns us is that

Jesus Christ reminds us, "I am

Up to noon today, according to word received at Station CFPR, it appeared doubtful that there would be an emission from here this evening of the National Hockey League broadcast but interested parties were still working towards having necessary arrangements made and Manager C. Recently communications were sent by the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, Prince Rupert Public Relations Council, Canadian Legion, Northern British Columbia Power Co. and Edward Lipsett Ltd. commanding the recent broadcasting from here of the World Series and urging that similar arrangements be made for hockey broadcasts.

LIFE in this Prince Rupert by BIDDEE JINKS

If there is anything more annoying than pebbles taking advantage of open toes it is being disturbed at your favorite radio program. Crystal sets spring up at will for the convenience of young listeners in the family and one goes to wondering if twin radio sets might not be as catching as twin beds.

Isobel, "Got a range hasn't she?"

"Yeah—but so has Bob. Different kind, of course."

"Do you really want to listen to Hope?"

"Not if you don't dear," sweetly.

And the dial stays as was and one goes to wondering if twin radio sets might not be as catching as twin beds.

It behoves women to be lenient about the radio in the evening for the radio is their own most of the day. From the hours between 9 and 6, "Ethel and Albert" comes in promptly without any sermonizing on "soap operas" and such drama to entertain persons slightly below par intellectually." And when the World Series baseball came on, I fluffed the chair nearest the radio, decided I had been working too hard lately and prepared to take my rest. On second thought, mending—heaps of things left out of sight heretofore—came in for careful attention. Felt more conscientious.

It was wonderful until the fourth day when it was nip and tuck all the way. In my anxiety for the Dodgers I forgot to be discreet, so that when the man I married telephoned I left the radio loud and one ear turned in that direction. There was a great shout. "Something's happened—at the ball game I mean" I babbled into the mouthpiece. "I've got to go listen—" which I did.

But not for long. Almost immediately the phone rang. A stranger inquired at length for my husband. He hung up only to ring right back. "Are you by chance listening to the ball game? Could you please tell me the score?" Could I tell him! I was more than enthusiastic on both counts. To my ear that "please" was pathetic. Imagines the disadvantage of being a man, especially on a day like today! Here was I, free to arrange my work to suit myself—and listen—but that poor fellow had to keep to schedule. I lost an "out" sadly weighing the lot of some folk.

However, those sentiments were short-lived. The phone continued to ring in two and three minute intervals. Always, it was a new and strange voice, always asking the same questions with slight show of imagination. No, my husband was not at home. No! Yes, he'd be in at lunchtime. Yes, I was listening to the ball game and I did know the score. Shortly, there was so much time spent at the mouthpiece of a certain black demon on the wall that I was no longer sure how the game went. But I did my best—long after I got the feeling that something in Denmark had gone wrong. Even after I distinctly caught a snicker at the other end of the line and faintly, the din of thousands of people yelling themselves hoarse. Nowhere do crowds roar like that except Brooklyn—yet at that moment I might have launched into close competition.

For the next ring I was ready. This time I knew where the gentleman was. "You must be mistaken," my caller suggested ingeniously and hastened on to question number three. Yes, I expected him home for lunch—"If he dares to come!" added under my breath.

Lavagew, saved the day, when he hit that run the Dodgers won. And because he hit it all Dodger fans were happy—including me. Even after a gentleman I know extremely well telephoned home to inquire if the phone was in working order. And did I have time to talk to him—now?

Haines Cut-Off Route Is Champion-

Prince Rupert—Tricky
Marine Moving Job

Use of the port of Haines, Alaska, as an embarkation point for tourists making the "circle tour" to Alaska via the Alaska and Skeena River highways has a real champion in George H. Byres, of Vernon, New York, who brought his jeep and 20-foot trailer to Prince Rupert from Haines on the Princess Louise this week.

Travelling alone, Mr. Byres has been in Alaska all summer, living the type of free-and-easy life that he dreamed about during four wartime years in the south Pacific. He has developed a vast liking for Alaska and northern British Columbia but it is the Haines Cut-off and the boat trip to Prince Rupert that he thinks will have the highest interest for automobile tourists.

"After travelling about 2,000 miles over the Alaska Highway, it is a wonderful thing to make a boat trip of 500 miles through the most scenic water in the world," he said. "When more people find out that it is possible to drive from Prince Rupert to Prince George, that 'circle tour' will be swamped with American tourists."

Mr. Byers, a tall, slender man with iron-gray hair, says that he makes his living by "doing a bit of writing" for travel and adventure magazines. Before he settles down again he plans to travel from "Alaska to South America" in his jeep and trailer.

He left his home at Vernon, New York, on June 15 after picking up trailer. He had wintered at St. Petersburg, Florida. On the way north he visited Yellow-stone, Glacier, Waterton, Banff and Jasper Park, thence to Edmonton and the Alaska Highway.

In Alaska he spent a large part of his time at Fairbanks and McKinley National Park. He likes to hunt and fish but his main hobby is color photography and he is keeping a film record of his travels.

He is looking forward to travelling through the central interior of British Columbia and plans to spend time south of Burns Lake, on advice of E. T. Appiwhaitie, local Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Incidentally, his experiences

p.m. from the south and sailed at midnight for Ketchikan. The Catala, Capt. William McCoomb, arrived from Vancouver via Bella Bella at 5 a.m. and sailed at 9:30 a.m. on her return south. With a new schedule for Union Steamship vessels coming into effect, the Camosun is making the last of her Vancouver-Ocean Falls-Prince Rupert - Ketchikan runs. Effective next week, she will start a run which extends further north to Petersburg and Wrangell, eliminating Ocean Falls both northbound and southbound with a direct run between here and Vancouver. The Catala is now resuming the Ocean Falls call on her run northward from Vancouver to Prince Rupert and is now being scheduled to arrive here from the south Friday evenings, sailing at midnight on her return south.

TROLL FISH CAN BE LANDED HERE

Fisheries committee of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce this week undertook to investigate a report that troll-caught salmon from outside the three-mile limit could be landed at Vancouver or Alaska but could not be brought into Prince Rupert. The committee found that no such discrimination actually existed and that landing of such fish could be made here but it was necessary to establish that the fish did actually come from outside the three-mile limit. There is agitation now on foot to have the coastal trolling areas opened again in the fall as was permitted until some years ago when, at the suggestion of the fishermen themselves, the close season was extended from the month of January alone which was at one time the closed period.

The 5,000-ton cargo ship Nootka, Capt. Melville Jack, arrived here shortly after 1 o'clock northbound for Skagway carrying 3,000 tons of lumber and general cargo for that Alaska port. She neither loaded nor discharged cargo at Prince Rupert. The Nootka belongs to the British Columbia Coast Steamship service of Canadian Pacific Railway but is at present under charter to Frank Waterhouse Co.

Centre section of the former Wartime Housing number two staff house, which Millerd Cannery Co. plans to move in sections to Vancouver where it will be re-assembled as quarters for cannery workers, is at the dry dock here being loaded onto the 174-foot scow Retriever. The 15-ton section, 30 feet long and 26 feet wide, was hauled from its standing site on Hays Cove Circle to the dry dock during the early hours of a morning last week on a special trailer towed by a truck. Loading the section onto the scow is a tricky business in which allowance must be made for tides. The section is being rolled onto the scow on skids by a crew of Millerd workmen. Four other sections of the same staff house, and the whole of number one staff house will be moved similarly.
