World's Greatest Trade Treaty Signed

Twenty-Three Nations, Including Canada, Are Involved In Agreements

GENEVA (CP)—Twenty-three countries, including Canada, today signed the biggest multilateral trade pact ever negotiated. It was described by Max Suetens of Belgium, who presided at the ceremony, as "a landmark in economic development of the world."

Detailed terms of the treaty, binding the United States, Great Britain and other trading powers to tariff concessions covering between 76 and 86 percent of their total import trade, remain secret until November 18.

RAMADIER SUSTAINED

PARIS (CP)—Socialist Premier Paul Ramadier was given a 300-to-280 vote of confidence today following his demand in a special session of the National Assembly that he be given a mandate for his middle-of-the-road government.

The result of the vote was as expected, political observers having thought he would win by a small margin with the support of his own Social-Radical Socialists and members of the Movement Republican—the parties from which Ramadier drew members of his cabinet newly streamlined to meet the pressing economic and political issues facing France.

CITY AGREES TO SALE OF HOMES

War-time houses on the upper reaches of Rushbrook Heights may be made available for sale to private buyers following the waiving by city council on Tuesday night of its objection to their sale on grounds that the city might find itself responsible for utility maintenance in a sparsely settled district.

However, the provision, which was appended to the city's agreement with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation last July will be waived only if the Corporation will agree not to enter sale agreements until buyers are found for at least half of the 82 houses.

In order to protect itself against having to pay costs of maintaining sewers and water works in an area which the council thought might be only sparsely settled in future, the aldermen obtained informal assurance from Central Mortgage and Housing that the houses on Piggott Avenue and Herman Street would not be sold "indiscriminately."

Pope's Appeal For Freedom

VATICAN CITY (CP)—Pope Pius today denounced postwar totalitarianism which he said sought to submit the church to the state although he declared it an error to believe that the two could be entirely separate.

"The same arguments which tyrannical governments of yesterday adduced against the church in the fight for defence of divine rights and justly dignity and human liberty today are being used by new rulers to combat her persevering action in behalf of truth and justice," he said.

ATTLEE UPHELD BY PARLIAMENT

LONDON—Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill's resolution declaring that the Labor government "lacks leadership, competence and measures" to meet the current crisis in affairs of the nation was rejected by the House of Commons yesterday by a vote of 348 to 201.

EVACUATION OF KASHMIR

NEW DELHI (CP)—Fifteen Royal Air Force Dakotas were expected to complete the evacuation today of British civilians from Kashmir where Indian and state troops are reported repelling Pathan tribesmen from Pakistan's northwest frontier province.

The evacuees, mostly retired civil servants, vacationists and school children, will total between 200 and 250. A high military source at Indian headquarters said it was unlikely that military operations would be completed in Kashmir for some months.

MINISTERS, ASSISTANTS

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King today announced the appointment of six new parliamentary assistants. They are:

Ralph Maybank, Winnipeg-South Centre, assistant to the minister of health and welfare (Hon. Ian Mackenzie).

Walter Harris, Grey-Bruce, assistant to the secretary of state (Hon. Colin Gibson).

P. E. Cote, Verdun, assistant to the minister of labor (Hon. Humphrey Mitchell).

Robert McCubbin, Middlesex West, assistant to the minister of agriculture (Hon. J. G. Gardiner).

Gleason Belzile, Rimouski, assistant to the minister of finance (Hon. Douglas Abbott).

R. H. Winters, Queens-Lunenburgh, assistant to the minister of national revenue (Hon. J. J. McCann).

Mr. King intimated that the appointment of four more parliamentary assistants was planned.

The prime minister also announced that Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent would be acting prime minister during his absence to attend the wedding of Princess Elizabeth.

COMMUNIST PLOT AGAINST CHURCH

QUEBEC—Premier Maurice Duplessis' office has denied that the government had uncovered a plot whereby Communists had planned to destroy property of the Roman Catholic Church.

Each Side Blames Other In Strike

MERRITT (CP)—Ninety-four workers walked off their jobs in the Nicola Valley Sawmills here late yesterday in a strike ordered by the International Woodworkers of America and D. D. Rosenberry, owner of the mill, declared the strike illegal. The union said the owner had refused to sign an agreement reached by the union with other interior lumber manufacturers.

MARSHALL IS AT HIS DESK

In Washington to Whip European Rehabilitation Plan Into Shape

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall returns to his desk today to take a leading role in shaping final recommendations to the United States Congress for a four-year European recovery program that may cost up to $20,000,000.

The program, which Marshall and top administration officials expect to turn out by next week, is expected to be laid before congressional committees on November 10 with argument that it offers a "reasonable" chance of saving Europe from economic disaster and preventing a vast westward expansion of Russian communism.

Marshall will later leave for London and the Big Four foreign ministers' conference on the German peace treaty.

Hollywood's Deep Plot

Washington Committee to Hear About Attempt to Steal Atom Bomb Secret

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—"Sensational evidence about atom-bomb espionage" was promised at today's semi-final round of the Communist-in-Hollywood investigation.

The House of Representatives committee on Un-American Activities promised to "blow the lid off" the current inquiry by producing a mystery witness. This witness, a committee official said, had evidence to show that certain Hollywood Communists were key figures in a plot to steal the secret of the bomb.

American Motor Industrialist Got His Inspirations In Early Days Here

QUEBEC—Prince Rupert figured prominently at the two-day convention of the Federation Automobile Dealers' Association which closed yesterday in this beautiful and quaint old city. Prince Rupert's delegate was singled out as the one who had travelled the greatest distance to attend this annual meeting. There were over 800 delegates from all parts of Canada.

The principal speaker was James D. Mooney, president and chairman of the board of Willys-Overland Motors Inc., Toledo, Ohio, who devoted about ten minutes to speaking about the early days in Prince Rupert's history. He mentioned many of the old timers. He told the meeting that it was in Prince Rupert that he had gathered many ideas and views which to this day he used in daily contact with the public.

Mr. Mooney continued his address with a discourse on mutual economic problems of Canada and the United States.

Harry I. Wilson of Calgary was elected new president of the association. J. Lawson Oates of Vancouver was named British Columbia representative on the board of directors.

The 1948 convention will be held at Banff.

MORONIC CRUELTY IS FOUND BY JURY

VANCOUVER (CP)—The killer of Roddy Moore, aged 7, bludgeoned his tiny victim to death and then trampled on the boy with heavy boots, the coroner's jury found yesterday at the inquest into the death October 17 of the Vancouver youngster. The jurors recommended that all city lots covered with brush be cleared. The city council is already moving in the direction of having this done.

PLEADS GUILTY OF SUPPLYING

In city police court Wednesday, Robert Leclair was fined $50 with an option of one month in jail after he pleaded guilty to a charge of supplying liquor to an Indian.

On Haines Cut-off Now Being Negotiated

Corridors May Be Exchanged to Facilitate Highway Construction and Use Around Borders

VICTORIA (CP)—British Columbia and Washington authorities are in the middle of pre-negotiations in a deal which may result in exchange of leases on strips of land to facilitate construction and use around the inter-boundaries in north and south of the province.

Carson, minister of roads, said yesterday he would meet United States representatives in Seattle on Oct. 31 to discuss a plan for the southern highway through the Yukon territory to avoid mounting the linking of the Cascade and Cascade is near and Patterson near

IN HOSPITAL—Condition of 80-year-old Edward Lipsett, pioneer Vancouver business man and head of the Prince Rupert marine supply firm bearing his name, is reported to be in "good" condition in Vancouver General Hospital following a heart attack which resulted in an automobile accident. He was stricken while driving on Point Grey Road in Vancouver, his car colliding with a bicycle which was being ridden by a boy. The car mounted the curb and landed in a gutter.

Peace River Oil Scheme

Oklahoma Company Makes Deal with Provincial Government to Prospect Billion Acres

FORT ST. JOHN.—The Phillips Petroleum Co. of Bartlesville, Oklahoma, applied Tuesday for a licence to prospect for oil in an area of a million acres west of the Alaska Highway between Hudson Hope and Fort Nelson. The Alaska Highway News, farthest north newspaper in the province, announced yesterday that the Phillips company had inserted a legal advertisement in the paper for Thursday of this week stating that the application was being made for the right to prospect on a potential area larger than that of Saudi Arabia.

The company will post checks with the provincial government for over $50,000. It will pay $1,000,000 if and when it proceeds to drill for oil. If it brings in production, it will pay $500,000 annually to the province plus royalties on crude oil.

GOV'T HAS CLOSE CALL

Abolition of Gas Ration Sustained by Margin of Only 24 Votes

LONDON—The Labor government early today had its closest call yet on a parliamentary division. By a margin of but 24 votes, the House voted to end the debate on the abolition of the gas ration except for essential purposes, this being one of the government's new austerity measures.

BERNARD ALLEN PROMOTED IN CANADIAN NATIONAL SERVICE

WINNIPEG—Bernard A. Allen, B. Sc., general superintendent of the British Columbia district, Canadian National Railways, has been appointed manager of the company for British Columbia, according to announcement today by W. R. Devenish, vice-president, western region. Mr. Devenish points out that the increasing company activities on the Pacific Coast make it necessary for a change in organization in order to meet the growing demands of railway and steamship services.

"This appointment is made," states Mr. Devenish, "in order to have an official representing the company with a greater measure of authority so that all business matters contingent upon transportation, rail or water, can be more satisfactorily handled in the business interests of British Columbia and the Pacific Coast."

"General industrial activity in British Columbia has increased to such an extent that the Canadian National Railways is setting up a larger organization to handle the situation. In promoting Mr. Allen to manager for British Columbia, we do so with a full appreciation of the growing importance of the Pacific Coast from a transportation point of view," declared Mr. Devenish.

Mr. Allen takes over the management of the company facilities in the province with a very full knowledge of the transportation requirements of the Pacific Coast. He graduated from the University of New Brunswick with the Bachelor of Science degree and started his railway career in 1913 as instrumentman with the car ferry terminals operating between Cape Tormentine, N.B., and Borden, P.E.I. He was promoted assistant engineer in 1918. In subsequent years he served with the St. John drydock and shipbuilding company.

He was promoted assistant engineer in 1918. In subsequent years he served with the St. John drydock and shipbuilding company.

WAS MANAGER OF LOCAL DRY DOCK

From 1920-21 he served with the Department of Railways and Canals on Grand Trunk arbitration work. In 1924 he joined the Bureau of Economics of the Canadian National Railways as assistant engineer. In 1929 he was appointed assistant economist, Bureau of Economics. From 1941 to early in 1942 he acted as manager of the Halifax lighterage facilities and effected many improvements. He was transferred to the Pacific Coast in 1942. One of the important positions he took over at this time was the operation and management of the Prince Rupert shipyard during the war and under his supervision minesweepers and 10,000-ton freighters were built at the northern port.

Mr. Allen was moved to Vancouver in 1946 as assistant general superintendent and assumed the general superintendency early this year. He has kept in intimate touch with the business life of the province and brings to his new position a wealth of transportation experience.

PORT ARTHUR MAN IS COMING WEST

The new manager announces the appointment of John F. Cooper, formerly superintendent of the Port Arthur division, as the new general superintendent for British Columbia with headquarters at Vancouver.

John F. Cooper was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, and, after coming to Canada, commenced his railway career as a clerk with the Canadian Northern in the audit department, Winnipeg.

BERNARD ALLEN—Appointed manager of Canadian National Railways for British Columbia.

in 1917. Shortly after this he obtained leave of absence for service in World War I until 1919.

In 1920 he returned to the company as draughtsman in the engineering department on the Portage division and remained at this work until 1936 when he was appointed acting roadmaster of the Portage division. In 1941 Mr. Cooper was appointed roadmaster of the Portage-Brandon division and a year later was promoted to assistant superintendent at Brandon. He carried out the same duties at Melville, Saskatchewan. In 1944 and in 1946 was promoted to be superintendent of the Port Arthur division, with headquarters at the Lakehead.

WARTIME HOUSE PURCHASERS TO BE GIVEN VOTE

Purchasers of wartime houses from the Central Mortgage and Housing Association up to the October 31 deadline for municipal voters' list registration will be able to get on the list as property owners, according to announcement of City Clerk H. D. Thain. To get on the list it will be necessary for such new property owners to make statutory declarations of their purchases before tomorrow night.

Ordinarily property owners become automatically registered as voters but, in the case of these wartime house purchases, many of the agreements have not yet been finally completed. Some 160 purchase transactions have so far been made.

In addition to property qualifications, voters must be British subjects and of the full age of 21 years.

Unite Against General DeGaulle

PARIS (CP)—Maurice Thorez, French Communist leader, called in the National Assembly yesterday for a united front to defend the republic and democratic leadership against General DeGaulle's United States-supported Fascist bid for power.

What Kind of Hallowe'en

FOR TWO YEARS NOW we have expressed pre-Hallowe'en hopes in this column that activities of the night of October 31 would be kept within due bounds but, despite our appeals and those of others, there have been unfortunate depredations. Last Hallowe'en damage, entirely wilful, ran into a thousand dollars more. Culprits were apprehended, confessed, were put on parole and have been reporting to the police since. Presumably they are reformed and may be trusted not only to behave themselves tomorrow night but to discourage others from similar perversity.

There is no intention to object to good, clean, honest, above-board and harmless fun that does not involve costly and silly damage. The older and more sedate folks can, doubtless, be patient and understanding for one night and tolerate a certain amount of disturbance and pranks.

There will be regular and special police patrols on hand tomorrow night although, if everyone would be honorable and sensible, there would be no need for extraordinary precautions.

But the patrols and the precautions notwithstanding, the onus is upon the celebrants themselves. If there are some irresponsible perverts—old or young—who find it impossible to keep their actions within the bounds of good sense and good citizenship, it is to be anticipated that, having been appealed to and warned, they will be dealt with not so easily as they were last year but with some measure of severity.

There may, of course, be the odd moron around but, once again, we are expressing the hope that the young folk will really behave themselves this Hallowe'en. They are on the spot and we hope we will be able to praise instead of upbraid them on the morning after.

Incidentally, we would commend to the attention of all the Hallowe'en message of the chief of police, published elsewhere on this page. The chief has been doing a lot of good work since last Hallowe'en in organizing against juvenile delinquency. We hope the young people, in whom he places so much trust, will not let him down and that their parents, as he suggests, will co-operate in making a safe and sane Hallowe'en in Prince Rupert after the last two disgraceful ones.

In passing we might also congratulate such organizations as the Kinsmen's Club and Junior Chamber of Commerce which have been actively interesting themselves in making it a better Hallowe'en. They are entitled to the fullest measure of co-operation by all concerned instead of being also let down.

LOSING TOURIST DOLLARS

THE DAILY NEWS does not consider itself entitled to be included in chidings of tourists at the failure of Prince Rupert merchants, be it by civic bylaws or their own choice, to accommodate themselves to the presence of tourists in the city and make the most of them. The last time we made a gentle suggestion along these lines, after hearing complaints from visitors and seeing good business being lost, we ourselves were taken to task by some of those merchants themselves.

Nevertheless, we think the following letter written by a New York tourist to a Vancouver newspaper and directly complaining about Prince Rupert will be of interest. It is not the Daily News talking this time. We are just passing along what some one else has said and offer it for what it might be considered worth.

"I have just returned from a trip to Canada and Alaska. In Vancouver all stores, from the largest department stores to the smallest specialty shops, are closed all day Wednesday. How can a country that needs to sell its goods in order to keep its trade balance expect to do business that way?"

"We took a boat from Vancouver through the inside passage to Skagway, Alaska. We stopped at Prince Rupert and went at once, together with many other tourists, to see what there was to buy. Many desirable things were on display—furs, tweeds, Indian handicrafts. Inasmuch as we were going on to half a dozen other towns in Canada and Alaska, we did not all purchase at once, but selected what we planned to pick up on the return trip. Some people definitely ordered tweeds and furs to be packed and ready. One tourist, at least, ordered $50 worth of woollens, decided later to double the order, and also interested others in the excellent materials. We were a little late on the return trip and docked at 8 p.m. Another boat full of tourists had arrived just before us. Dozens of people hurried out in the pouring rain to buy. Not one shop was open. If a dozen people had bothered to open their shops for one hour they would have taken in good American dollars which they so badly need.

"There are boats full of tourists several times a week all summer long, but it does not occur to chambers of commerce, if any, to get busy. The general atmosphere is charmingly relaxed and pleasant, but irksome when one reads the local newspapers with their broad hints about a loan of dollars from us.

"Farther north are the towns of Alaska, and what a difference there. All shops that can sell anything to anybody are open till midnight, if need be. Even the curator of the museum in Juneau opened up the place in the evening and showed his exhibits until 11:30 p.m. The whole atmosphere was different, full of activity.

"Canada has much to offer, and tourists may seem a small item now, but many countries in Europe used to find their economy greatly helped by the tourist trade. Why should not Canada be a little more enterprising?"

DOMINIONS CONFER—Hon. James A. MacKinnon, Minister of Trade and Commerce, who has concluded his official program in South Africa as head of the touring Canadian Trade Mission, converses with Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, Prime Minister of the Union, on the steps of his official residence, "Libertas." After a strenuous three-week tour of the Union, during which the Canadians reported they were received with "generosity and hospitality second only to the Royal tour," the Mission is rested for three days in Johannesburg before proceeding by air for their scheduled visits to the Mediterranean area, including Cairo, Athens, Rome and Lisbon. Their itinerary covered every part of South Africa and Southern Rhodesia, where they conferred with government and trade officials, and attended numerous special meetings of the various local Chambers of Commerce and Chambers of Industry.

Police Chief's Hallowe'en Appeal Calls Upon Parents

Once again we are thinking about Hallowe'en, of the pleasure it brings to some and the destruction it may bring to others. A year ago, wilful damage done to glass alone totalled more than $1,000 in Prince Rupert. As a result of this damage, twenty-four of our young people were prosecuted and the damage they did had to be paid for by those who were found to be responsible.

I am not going to lay stress upon the disgrace such conduct brought to the city but I am most forcefully going to stress the fact that the parents of the children of this city have some responsibility on Hallowe'en night and it is imperative that they shoulder this responsibility this year and advise their children against doing damage to other people's property. If they will do so and supervise them to some extent, they will, I am sure, contribute much to a sane Hallowe'en.

Ald. Casey Reprimanded

Alderman George Casey's methods of protesting the interdiction of four residents of the Pioneers' Home last week got him in hot water with his colleagues on city council Monday night and resulted in him making an apology to the Pioneers' Committee which he sandwiched between challenges for the committee members to prove their legal right to take interdiction proceedings against the elderly men.

The octogenarian alderman got into difficulties with the committee when he allegedly entered the Pioneers' Home on October 22 and obtained permission from Mr. Montchall, the superintendent, to address the men there. He insisted on Mr. Montchall remaining.

According to the committee's indignant report to council, Mr. Casey placed the blame for the interdictions on Mr. Montchall and accused him of "using Hitlerite tactics in conducting the affairs of the Home."

Mr. Montchall requested Alderman Casey to leave and, on Alderman Casey's refusal, he offered to tender his resignation.

The committee report read as follows:

"As the discussion and argument was having an adverse effect on the inmates present, he then phoned the police department, and Alderman Casey left the premises when requested to do by a police constable.

"Your committee further goes opinion that it should not be necessary to point out to anybody, especially an alderman, that if he has any grounds to be dissatisfied with the conduct of any city official or appointee, the correct procedure is to approach the committee affected.

"Your committee further goes on record as being completely satisfied with the method in which Mr. Montchall is discharging his duties and recommends: (a) that Alderman Casey be reprimanded for his conduct and be asked to apologize to this committee and, through them, to the superintendent of the Pioneers' Home, and that he be asked to refrain from such conduct in the future."

OBJECTS TO INTERDICTION

In discussion of the report, Alderman Casey reiterated that he could find nothing in the bylaw governing the Pioneers' Home wherein the committee had authority to take interdiction proceedings against any resident of the home.

"They have no authority as far as I am concerned," he declared.

However, he finally cooled down and declared that he would apologize to the committee for his method of protesting the interdiction of the men.

"I was out of order," he admitted.

Said Mayor Arnold: "I would like to state that no alderman has the right to enter any institution of the city with that kind of protest. They should go to the committee in charge first."

Evening of Spiritual Stimulation

Salvation Army Chieftain Welcomed and Delivers an Inspiring Address

The local citadel was crowded last evening for a citizens' rally to give a fitting welcome to distinguished officers of the Salvation Army now on a tour of Northern British Columbia. They are Commissioner Charles Baugh, territorial commander of the Army for Canada, Newfoundland and Bermuda, and Brigadier T. H. Mundy of Toronto, the territorial Young People's secretary. Mayor Nora Arnold presided over an enthusiastic and stimulating representative gathering.

Scripture reading by G. R. S. Blackaby, Regular Baptist Church, followed the opening prayer by Mrs. J. T. Gillingham and of the first hymn, after which Mayor Arnold was introduced by Brigadier Gillingham. In doing so, he complimented the mayor on the excellent record made by her in the administration of civic affairs and the gratitude felt by the Army in her acceptance of the invitation to be present and the kindness and co-operation always shown.

In extending the city's welcome, Mayor Arnold made fitting reference to the important position held by Commissioner Baugh in Salvation Army affairs. He was an officer of world-wide experience. He had, personally, been practically in all parts of the globe. He was in the British Isles during the war. He was born in England but, having come as a child to Canada, he had absorbed the Canadian scene with the Canadian outlook and point of view.

Field Captain J. Offutt, representing the native Salvationists of the district, read an address of greeting to Commissioner Baugh and Brigadier Mundy, expressing the high regard felt. This was followed with remarks by P. H. Linzey, First Baptist Church, and Canon W. F. Rushbrook, Anglican Church.

Mr. Linzey's brief address was appropriate to the occasion and Canon Rushbrook lauded the praiseworthy services of the Salvation Army in the north and among the people of a newly settled land. He recalled that 38 years ago he was one of a small group that witnessed the late R. L. MacIntosh inaugurate the postal service here.

Brigadier Mundy played accordion solos with the congregation joining heartily in the choruses.

ADDRESS OF MUCH INTEREST

Commissioner Baugh's address "Around the World on Salvation Army Service" was the kind that made time pass all too quickly.

In his preliminary remarks, he explained how the Salvation Army started. There had been no set plan or design. In a way, it had all come by happy chance. Nor had its vast development been the fruits of any individual leadership for the Army's work stood by itself. Gradually it has grown and become strengthened until it was recognized all over the earth and had become a great international force for good.

Telling of the duties which, through the years, have taken him to South America, to Africa, to India, Australia, the East Indies and even to that remote, far northern little land of Iceland, Commissioner Baugh narrated numerous incidents, impressions and experiences all of which were of surpassing interest.

In speaking of Iceland, he told of arriving at the capital city of Reykjavik for the first time. The hour was 1:30 in the morning and he was a complete stranger. Nevertheless he soon

STAG PARTY AT PR. RUPERT CLUB

Members of the Prince Rupert Club rallied in goodly number last night for a stag party to mark the opening of the local business men's winter social activities. There were the usual card games and the big billiard table was the centre for the serving of sandwiches and coffee. The house committee, of which W. D. Lambie is chairman, was in charge.

Mrs. Flecknel is the former Jean Storrie. Mr. Storrie, whose condition is reported fair in Vancouver General Hospital, was employed at the gas plant.

SCOUTS PLAN BUSY WINTER

Plans for the annual meeting of the Prince Rupert Boy Scout Association, which will be held on November 27, were discussed at an executive meeting of the organization in the Civic Centre last night at which progress of the local scout groups was reported.

The former Wartime Housing group, now sponsored by B.C. Packers, plans an active season under Scoutmaster Harry Quick and Cubmaster Robert Ferguson. Announcement was made of plans for the organization of a Presbyterian Church group in the near future. The Cathedral Cub pack, led by Rev. Basil F. Prockter, is also looking forward to a busy winter.

Chairman of the meeting was F. E. Anfield, association president. Other members present were Col. Keith Doxon, A. Van Meer, Robert Cameron, Earl Gordon, L. Bevington, Rev. B. F. Prockter, Roy Brain, Robert Ferguson, Harry Quick and Constable William McLatchie.

BOBOLINK IS SALVAGED

The Nelson Bros. Fisheries floating boat repair scow Bobolink was salvaged from Bacon Point on the north shore of the harbor this morning and towed back to the dry dock from which it broke loose, piling up on the rocks during last Thursday night's gale.

Relieved of her maze of machinery over the weekend, the Bobolink was lightened to such an extent that she could be floated, despite the holes in her bottom where she grated on the rocks during the storm.

The salvage job was directed by Norman Nelson, head of the company, who flew to the city on Monday. Repairs to her damaged hull will be made at the drydock.

The Bobolink, formerly a federal Department of Public Works river snag scow, had just had her hull re-caulked and copper painted before her lines snapped in the storm and she drifted across the harbor.

Ordinarily she is moored at the company cannery at Port Edward.

STILL USED TODAY

Sixteenth century armor manufacturers discovered that fluting metal gave it added strength and rigidity without adding weight, a principle used today with corrugated iron and steel girders.

TEN TO ATTEND ELIZABETH AT ROYAL WEDDING

Two Pages and Eight Bridesmaids Will Head Procession at Westminster Abbey Nov. 20

(By NORMAN CRIBBENS)
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (AP)—Eight of the most envied girls in the world will soon be getting measured for bridesmaids' dresses to wear at London's most important wedding in many a year.

They have been chosen by Princess Elizabeth to attend her wedding when she is married at Westminster Abbey Nov. 20. Most of them are connected with the Royal Family.

Heading the procession of 10 bridal attendants—including the two pages, Prince William of Gloucester, 6, and Prince Michael of Kent, 5,—will be popular Princess Margaret, the bride's 17-year-old sister.

Then comes Hon. Margaret Elphinstone, 22-year-old daughter of the Queen's eldest sister, Lady Elphinstone. Dark-haired and jolly, an adept horsewoman, she is a close friend of Princess Elizabeth, frequently seen with her at theatres and supper parties.

"The girls have practically grown up together," a friend says, "and they invariably laugh at the same kind of jokes."

Hon. Pamela Mountbatten, vivacious 18-year-old daughter of Viscount and Viscountess Mountbatten, is returning from India for the wedding. A close friend of Princess Margaret, she has a similar fondness for mild practical jokes and is fond of horse-riding. She is only just recovering after being thrown from a horse in New Delhi last July.

Another close friend of Princess Elizabeth, often seen with her at theatres and dance parties, is 23-year-old Lady Mary Cambridge, daughter of the Marquess of Cambridge and a grand-niece of the Queen. Dark and statuesque, she has been a bridesmaid at three previous weddings including that of the Duke and Duchess of Kent in 1934.

PRINCE RUPERT YEARS AGO

(October 29, 1912)

Alex Stowell, who for the last few months had been on the staff of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, resigned and accepted a position with the Mack Realty Co. Mr. Stowell, who came out direct from England, was a non-commissioned officer in the Earl Grey Rifles and was an ardent theatrical amateur.

Warren Kissick, one of the pioneer real estate men of the city, associated with the firm of Pattullo and Radford, returned on the Prince George from an extended visit to his former home in Nova Scotia.

The main condition of the Prince Rupert Hydro-Electric Co.'s proposed agreement with the city was laid before the city council. It provided that the city rent the poles to the company and buy power from them at a cheaper rate. By this means, the city would be in a position to provide power to users for more than 40 years.

(October 29, 1922)

The Board of Trade passed a resolution calling on the Dominion Government to place a bounty on dog fish. Before the resolution was passed, the Board heard George Bushby declare that "those who contribute toward the destruction of those pests are public benefactors." (That was before the value of dog fish livers, a rich source of vitamin A, was realized.) Dog fish livers have made large contributions to the wealth of the coast in the last decade. (Ed.)

Rev. John Bennett of Camrose, Alberta was appointed to succeed Rev. W. H. Redman as minister of First Baptist Church. Mr. Bennett was due to arrive on December 1. In the meantime, services were led by J. G. Johnstone and P. H. Linzey.

A strong gale did considerable damage about the Hart Block, Third Avenue. A big plate glass window at the side of Gil's Cigar Store was blown in and the awnings of Steve King's clothing store and M. MacArthur's boot shop were torn.

BACTERIA WELL FED

YORKTON, Sask. (AP)—Bacteria on dishes in Yorkton restaurants never had it so good.

Thanks to inspectors of the provincial public health department they now are fed on their favorite food and are kept at ideal temperatures in made-to-order living conditions as part of an educational campaign to ensure proper sterilization of restaurant utensils.

Using the Jamieson kit test developed in Winnipeg, inspectors swab the inside of a freshly-washed cup or dish with a wad of cotton which is rubbed over a gelatinous substance on which the bacteria feed and multiply.

The growing bacteria are put in a glass vial and kept at the proper temperature so the restaurant employees can watch them multiply.

Colonies of bacteria are counted after three days and inspectors can judge the efficiency of the restaurant's dish-washing methods.

J. E. Hockley, government inspector here, said sterilization was becoming a more important problem as more people now were using restaurants and inexperienced help had increased the problems of restaurant owners.

Kitty Becomes Cat, Flees Mine Prison

PERTH, Australia. (CP)—A hard-bitten, 61-year-old Australian miner saved the life of a kitten trapped in a mine shaft by feeding it for six months with titbits and water lowered 25 feet on a string.

Harry Dahlin, the miner, was camping alone by Marlana Shaft, Western Australia, when the playful kitten fell in.

Every time Dahlin climbed down to get it, the kitten ran off into a narrow drive and could not be induced to leave. So pieces of fish, meat scraps, and tins of milk and water were lowered into the shaft—400 times in all.

The miner repeatedly lowered ropes, and kitty bravely attempted to climb out, but the task was too much for it. At first it reached three feet up, before long 12 feet, but never the top.

But passing time and constant food finally made a cat out of the kitten and gave it the strength it needed. A rough wire cage was lowered, it clambered in and hung on. Then Dahlin hauled it up to the light, half a year older, but more than twice as wise about mine shafts.

WEDDING CAKE FOR PRINCESS

A wedding cake, five feet high, is pictured as it arrived, all cartoned, from Australia. It is a gift to Princess Elizabeth from the Australian "Country Women's Association." It arrived in six separate boxes and members of the crew of the plane which carried it are pictured unloading the cargo. It was made by David Jones of Sydney, and the ornate icing decorations were done by C. de Mars. It took eight days to lay in color, four small plaques at the base of the cake, bearing the Australian coat-of-arms.

Each tier is inscribed with the name of a different Australian state. Britain's royal bakers will have a delicate job assembling it.

HOW CAN I ???

By ANNE ASHLEY
Q How can I conceal scratches on the wall paper?
A By moistening a scrap of the paper which has been saved, and then carefully scraping off the coloring with a sharp knife. Apply this coloring to the scratch, and when dry it will scarcely be noticeable.
Q When preparing potatoes, place them in a kettle to soak in cold water for an hour before cooking. After they have boiled and are ready for the table, they will be white and dry.
Q How can I prevent drawers from sticking?
A Try rubbing some floor wax on the slides and also on the drawers. Polish well, because unless rubbed in thoroughly, the wax forms a sticky coating.

RAT ROUTS CAT IN AIRPORT EPIC

Prince Rupert's rats are assuming a boldness that probably will send neighborhood cats into tactical, defensive huddles and which will add to the fervent hopes of humans that no radio-active atoms ever get loose to transmute the vicious rodents into greater size. A certain Seal Cove cat undoubtedly has an opinion on the subject.

The cat, according to Alf Rivett and H. D. Thain, who witnessed the incident, was the object of an unprovoked assault on the part of a rat at the gate to the Seal Cove airport yesterday. He put the cat to rout, failing to do him in only because the cat was the more nimble of the two.

Tabby, in the manner of cats, was sitting philosophically at the doorway of the airport guardhouse, no doubt believing that he was doing a pretty good job of guarding all this surplus war property, when the attack took place. The rat meant business.

It made a running attack, followed by a vicious slash of his sharp teeth which nipped Tabby and knocked him over. The rat then dove in for the kill but the feline was too quick. It made off across the road with the rat in full pursuit, only a tail-length behind.

The last two witnesses say of the affair, the cat had managed to get beyond the rat's limited line of vision and the frustrated rodent was snapping at the air and trying to locate his quarry by feverish use of his sense of smell.

Hatching Chore Irks Papa Kiwi

Says Five Months Too Long As Mama Lays Another Egg

NAPIER, N.Z. (CP)—Tension has developed in the only kiwi family breeding in captivity. New Zealand's strange wingless bird is becoming rare and a pair at the Hawke's Bay Acclimatization Society's game farm are the only ones producing Kiwi chicks under protected conditions.

Now, however, the male bird has a grievance. Male kiwis hatch the eggs and this one has just finished sitting patiently for 77 days to hatch out his third chick. Immediately the female crept into the nest and laid another egg, so her mate has another 77-day task ahead. So far he is tackling his task grimly, sitting on the new egg and keeping the new chick warm against him, but he plainly thinks it is too much of a good thing.

DOG CENSUS

NEW YORK, (CP)—A survey indicates that there are approximately 664,000 dogs on farms and in cities of all sizes being fed canned dog food, and, in addition, about 2,800,000 dog owners who intend to return their pets to this balanced diet which was off the market during the war.

FINAL RITES FOR HARRY BURTON

Final rites for the late Harry Burton, 64-year-old fisherman, who died last week, were held Monday at Grenville Court Chapel with Rev. R. A. Wilson officiating. A large number of friends were present, and there were many floral offerings.

The congregation joined in singing the hymns "Rock of Ages" and "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Mrs. J. C. Gilker was organist. Pallbearers were D. Ritchie, James Batt, Frank McDonald, Archie March, R. Cook and Bert Sheppard.

SUPPORTED MART AID BONAR LAW

LONDON, (P)—How Lord Beaverbrook bought huge blocks of shares in which his dying friend, Andrew Bonar Law, had an interest, in order to sustain the price, is related in "The Real Lloyd George" by A. J. Sylvester.

Sylvester, private secretary to the late Earl Lloyd-George, served for a short time in a similar capacity to Law when he was prime minister. Law, like Beaverbrook, was Canadian-born, and "I do not know two men in the field of politics who meant more to one another."

"During his last illness, one of the things which Bonar was exceptionally interested in was some investment which he had made in, I believe, copper shares," Sylvester writes. "Every time Beaverbrook called Law asked about the price of copper and every time the question was asked, Max (Beaverbrook) was able to tell his friend that the price of copper was rising and with it the value of shares."

"The rise in values was maintained daily and was a mystery to the most adept student of stock market fluctuations. Not until after Bonar died was the secret of the sensational rise in values disclosed. Day after day Lord Beaverbrook was buying them, huge blocks at a time, not because they were of value to him, but in order that the market price would be raised and so bring comfort and happiness to his friend Bonar."

Old Country Letter—

Parliament Among Pubs

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Britons Air Their Views Between Drinks

There is only one official parliament but in the countless pubs of Britain there are informal parliaments that have no speaker, no sergeant-at-arms and no solemn rules of parliamentary procedure to govern their conduct.

Debates covering an infinite variety of topics are controlled by the common sense and native humor of the customers with rare interference by landlords. Often a chance remark on some burning topic of the day will precipitate a discussion lasting until closing time.

A typical pub parliament is found in the red-curtained bar of the Horse and Groom at Twickenham, Middlesex, where each evening the firelight flickering on the low-beamed ceiling, gleaming fitfully on old pewter and brass, creates an atmosphere that is cozy but provocative.

"It shouldn't be allowed," says a mild and bitter with one elbow resting on a swilly counter.

"And why not?" counters a brown ale next to him. "It's a free country, ain't it?" Then the fun starts. A well-dressed whisky and soda on his right says vehemently that Britain ceased to be a free country when the Labor government took office and soon every voice in the bar is raised in political debate.

"What you call a free country meant freedom for the rich and slavery for the worker," says an aggressive light ale in the corner.

"Class prejudice again," sighs the whisky and soda. "Don't you fellows know you were better fed and clothed under the Conservatives than you are now?"

AND SO THE BATTLE GOES
"Purely circumstantial," answers a rum and lime judiciously. "Fat lot the Conservatives cared about feeding and clothing the worker. If they was in now we probably would be lining up for the dole like we did after the last bust-up."

The battle rages hot and strong with fleeting pauses while the debaters replenish their glasses. However angry he may be, it is rare when a protagonist does not stand his opponents a drink or receive one in return.

* Only once in six years have I had to clear the bar," says the full-stomached landlord. "And that was when two old gentlemen what should have known better started scrapping with umbrellas."

Pub parliaments are found everywhere but the Free Masons' Arms in the Hampstead district of London has taken the first step toward organized debates.

Each Friday evening at eight one of the regulars—usually a well-known local figure—is nominated to open a discussion in one corner of the saloon—usually on some aspect or other of the national crisis. The speaker has 20 minutes, after which glasses are refilled and the subject is thrown open to discussion.

"This is the very essence of democracy," said a quiet, elderly man on the outskirts of the debate. "So long as we have parliaments in pubs we shall have a parliament in Westminster too."

$30,000,000 KITTY AID TO NEWFOUNDLAND

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., (C)—Newfoundland's salt codfish industry, worth $8,000,000 annually, has weathered the crisis posed by Britain's suspension of the convertibility of sterling by the use of the Island's accumulated surpluses in London.

During the war U.N.R.R.A. purchases sent Newfoundland codfish into countries which it had never reached before and exporters had hoped to hold these markets in peacetime.

With the industry facing collapse and fishermen expecting heavy losses, the people of Newfoundland were bewildered by the sudden closing of one of their chief outlets for fish by Britain's action until W. H. Finn, commissioner of natural resources, stepped to a microphone in a St. John's radio station.

He announced that the $30,000,000 kitty piled up by Newfoundland during prosperous war years would be used to help. The dollars would be exchanged for the sterling which was paid to Newfoundland exporters and the sterling held on Newfoundland's behalf in London where the Island has a debt of $78,000,000.

Although another problem might have to be faced next year, Mr. Finn said, fishermen were assured by the government's action of steady prices this year for cod, running from $10 to $14 a quintal—112 pounds.

HIGH SCORER IN FOOTBALL

TORONTO (CP)—Big Bob McFarlane, hard-hitting halfback of the rampaging University of Western Ontario Mustangs, enjoys the fastest scoring average in Eastern Canada football with 35 points in three games.

Statistics compiled by the Canadian Press show that the speedy McFarlane, one of the Dominion's fastest runners, stands within striking distance of the scoring leaders in the two non-college unions although he has played only one-third as many games as the Big Four's Virgil Wagner and the Ontario Rugby Football Union's Joe Farley.

Hoop Season Commencing

Good Melon Tossing Card Lined Up for Saturday Night

The Prince Rupert Basketball Association, at a meeting this week, completed arrangements for the opening to the basketball season this Saturday at the Civic Centre gymnasium.

The Junior Leaguers will raise the curtain with 65 Taxi taking on High School.

The Intermediate League starts with Bo-Me-Hi vs. Fashion Footwear.

The main attraction brings together Brownwoods and Savoy. Brownwoods were the last year's High School Intermediate champs after moving up late in the season to senior company.

The Savoys are the same squad as last winter, strengthened by Sev Dominato playing as guard.

The civic band will be in attendance and Prexy Art Murray has other features to make Saturday night a grand opening for the melon tossers.

25 Years Ago

In SPORT

(October 30, 1922)

The usual fall lull between the summer's outdoor season and the winter's indoor sport was at its height. Baseball, football and lacrosse games were over for some weeks. And next on the program was to be billiards, basketball and possibly indoor baseball. In the meantime, sports fans had little to do but talk about prospects for the winter. If the winter were clear, they hoped to have a few unseasonal outdoor sports games.

MAKES POPPIES FOR LIVING—This elderly veteran has been earning his living making poppies in a Vetracraft shop for many years. Many other veterans who are unable to compete in the commercial world earn a good income this way. Here he is shown wrapping the stem of a large poppy.

Regal or Royal Lily, one of the best.

Lily bulbs for gardens are most plentiful this fall, thanks to rapidly growing domestic production. Bulbs grown in this country are available earlier than those imported from Europe, and many consider them to have superior vigor. So far Japan, which formerly supplied most of our lily bulbs, has shipped only negligible quantities. Lilies are not difficult to grow.

For most varieties a medium garden loam, such as will grow good potatoes, corn or root vegetables, will answer well. An abundance of humus is of importance in lily culture, and may be added in the form of well rotted manure (never use fresh manure), leaf-mould, peat moss, compost or sawdust from hard wood. Manure is best spaded in a season before planting lilies.

Good drainage is necessary to all lilies; even swamp-loving species are found growing wild on dry hummocks and they thrive under garden conditions. Bulbs perish in damp soil. Where there is doubt about drainage, elevating the lily bed to a foot above the surrounding surface is advisable.

Recent investigations make it doubtful if any sharp line between acid-loving and lime-loving varieties of lilies can be drawn. For no species can it be said that it requires an acid or a neutral soil. The site of the lily bed should have free circulation of air, without being exposed to the full sweep of high winds.

Shade from the midday sun is desirable for most lilies; but they should not be planted near enough to trees so that they suffer from the competition of their roots. A northern slope is preferable, since here the soil is cooler and dries out more slowly; but on a southern slope the flowers will come earlier.

Wagner, Montreal Alouettes halfback who came to Canada from the United States last season, lengthened his Big Four lead Saturday by scoring two touchdowns to bring his season's total to 50 points. The hard-driving native of Belleville, Ill., has been averaging a touchdown a game this season. Behind him stands Joe Krol of Toronto Argonauts with 39 points in nine games.

Joe Farley, from Lake Placid, N.Y., also stretched his lead in the O.R.F.U. with eight points Saturday for a total of 38 in nine games in his first season in Canadian football. Two players are tied for second place with 25 points apiece behind the Ottawa Trojans' outside wing—Bill Murmylk of Hamilton Wildcats who went pointless Saturday and Don Crowe of Toronto Indians who got six.

Canada's "Unwritten Rule"

THERE'S a rule in Canada which appears on no statute books, yet it is engraved in the hearts of the people.

Constant, day after day observance of this rule is what makes Canada a country where freedom of thought, word and deed is truly respected and practiced.

It's the Rule of Moderation—moderation in all things.

And moderation, as The House of Seagram has frequently pointed out, includes temperate enjoyment of the luxuries of life.

Also in the use of whisky is the observance of the Rule of Moderation a credit to the Canadian people.

On the list of the world's most temperate nations,

Canada's name stands high—and bright!

Men who Think of Tomorrow Practice Moderation Today!

PARIS BUBBLES WITH SUNSHINE

Has Been Amazing Year For Champagne

(By ROBERT C. WILSON)

PARIS — There are 40,000 Frenchmen bubbling with joy because the sun shone 324 hours in August. Nothing like it has happened since 1898, when in August the sun came out for 313 hours and gave birth to the "coronation cuvee."

Consequently, 1947 promises to be for connoisseurs the world over what 1945 was to atomic scientists and international politicians.

In a word, it is an amazing year for champagne. Never, in the memory of wine makers, have there been such beautiful, healthy, golden grapes," said Count De Vogue, one of France's major champagne producers.

That brought up the question of what actually gives champagne its flavor and what makes it bubble and Count De Vogue explained that:

"Wine-growing is a science as much in its infancy as medicine was 100 years ago."

But this much is known: 1. There are 20,000 families engaged in growing grapes for champagne, and another 20,000 persons processing, producing and marketing it.

2. Champagne brings France about $200,000,000 in foreign exchange.

3. The average sunshine in August in France is 280 hours.

4. One difference between champagne and other wines is that champagne is blended wine—usually 80 percent new wine, and 20 percent older ones.

5. Champagne bubbles. It bubbles because it is allowed to ferment, producing carbon dioxide. This fermentation is encouraged by adding sugar to feed the bacteria, or whatever it is, that causes the fermentation. The grapes are picked in September or October, and placed in casks to ferment. About February the wine is tasted and blended. It is put into bottles about May.

That's where the non-scientific aspect comes in. It is put into bottles then simply because the sap begins to rise in the vines in May. Why? Count De Vogue doesn't know.

It apparently is done for the same reason the American Indians used to plant by moonlight in the belief it bettered the crop.

In any case, once bottled it takes five or six years to ripen. So, if you're planning to get married, you might put it off to 1953.

CHANGES IN OFFICIALS

W. C. Owens, Retires as General Manager of Canadian National

WINNIPEG—Bringing to a close a railway career that dates back to 1904 when he commenced work with the MacKenzie and Mann Company as a clerk, Walter C. Owens, general manager for the Canadian National Railways, Western Region, retires from active service today under the pension rules of the company. This announcement is made by W. R. Devenish, vice president. During Mr. Owens railway life of close to half a century he has served both in Eastern and Western Canada, although the greater part of his service has been west of the Great Lakes.

A further announcement by Mr. Devenish is the appointment of Howard H. Sparling to succeed Mr. Owens as general manager. Mr. Sparling was formerly assistant general manager and is well known throughout the west.

According to an announcement by Mr. Sparling, J. R. McMillan, formerly superintendent of the Edmonton division will come to Winnipeg as assistant to the general manager. Mr. McMillan is a former Winnipegger and for many years served with the company here.

Mr. Sparling also announces

The George Matthew Adams Service, Inc.

the appointment of James J. Behan as assistant general superintendent of transportation. Mr. Behan was formerly superintendent of car service, western region and will continue to exercise special supervision over this department.

MR. OWENS WAS RAISED ON FAKES

Walter C. Owens was born in Manitou, Man., and, after spending some early time on his parents' farm, moved to British Columbia. In 1904 he took up work with the construction department of MacKenzie and Mann and continued at this until 1908 when he started as brakeman with the Canadian Northern at Brandon.

In 1911 he was promoted to conductor and from then on held various positions in the operating department throughout western Canada until 1930. Mr. Owens was then moved to eastern Canada and had general supervision over freight service under the chief of transportation. In 1931 he was moved to Saskatoon as general superintendent of the Saskatchewan district. He subsequently served as general superintendent of the Alberta and British Columbia districts before being promoted to general superintendent of transportation, Winnipeg. His promotion to general manager followed in 1944.

J. R. McMillan was born in Winnipeg and started his railway work as a stenographer in the general passenger agent's office in 1925.

In 1926 he transferred to the general manager's office where he remained until 1929 when he joined the staff of the vice president of the western region. In 1938 he was appointed assistant superintendent at Mirror. He was moved to Edson in 1939 and the following year was transferred to Edmonton. In 1944 he was promoted to superintendent of the Edmonton division.

James I. Behan was born in Toronto and started his railway life there in 1911 as a clerk in the accounting department of the Canadian Northern. He served overseas in World War I and returned to the general superintendent's office in 1919. In 1923 he was transferred to the staff of the chief of transportation, Montreal, remaining there until 1927 when he was promoted to district superintendent of car service. In 1939 he was appointed superintendent of car service, western region, with headquarters at Winnipeg and retained this position until his present promotion.

Howard H. Sparling, was born in Rockwood, Ontario and started his railroading as a relief operator with the Grand Trunk on the southern district in May, 1902. After serving at various places in the East he moved to Fort William as despatcher and worked at Graham and Sioux Lookout later. In 1924 he moved to Winnipeg and became chief despatcher in 1925. For the next several years he served as acting superintendent of transportation and rule instructor and in 1937 was appointed superintendent of transportation at Edmonton.

Mr. Sparling was promoted to superintendent of the Edmonton division in 1939 and moved to Saskatoon as general superintendent of the Saskatchewan in 1942. He returned to Edmonton as general superintendent of the Alberta district in 1944. From November 1944 until the spring of 1946 Mr. Sparling was chief of transportation in Montreal and returned to Winnipeg in April 1946 as assistant general manager, western region.

EAGLE ATTACKS TREE CLIMBER

VERNON—A large eagle, with five-foot wingspread, was captured near here after it attacked James Harvey, 23, forest insect ranger, as he climbed toward its nest at the top of a 200-foot tree.

During the climb Harvey was under attack from the dive-bombing mother for 45 minutes, beating off the big bird by swinging an axe as he, clung precariously to slipper-rain-soaked branches.

"She would fly high in the air and then come straight at me, pulling out of the dive when I swung my axe," Harvey said. "Her wings would open up about two feet from my face and she would swoop again. I was nearly blown off the tree by the wind-force of her wings."

He finally reached the top and there a lucky swing injured the eagle's wing, resulting in its capture. In the nest were one osprey and an egg.

"Ma wants to know can she borrow a package of crisp, delicious Grape-Nuts Flakes until tomorrow?"

"Sure thing, Ukluq, we always keep an igloo full of malty-rich, sweet-as-a-nut Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes."

"Brother, we can use that good nourishment in Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes: carbohydrates for energy; proteins for muscle; phosphorus for teeth and bones; iron for the blood; other food essentials."

"Those two golden grains, wheat and malted barley sure are cleverly blended, baked and toasted to achieve that glorious flavor and honey-golden crispness of Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes."

"Know what? We're going to cook up some cookies and muffins too, from those recipes on the Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes package. Better make it the big economy size."
